A DAY AT THE SOUTHERN MIDDLESEX HEALTH CAMP

This summer there are 145 children at the Southern Middlesex Health Camp at Sharon. These children are under weight and in poor physical condition, needing all the advantages of a summer in the open under the best of care and supervision.

The children sleep in bungalows among the trees. They are under the supervision of counselors.

There is one counselor in charge of each group of 10 children. These counselors are trained to work with children and knowing that only happy children can gain physically they do all in their power to keep them happy and busy.

Only the best of food is given to these children. Fresh vegetables from the camp garden, plenty of milk, fresh fruit and home made cake and desserts are served every day. The children express their appreciation by their steady gain in weight.

Miss Mary C. Hoisington is the camp director; Mrs. Weatherbee of Stoneham, the cook; Miss Louise Easton of Arlington, the program director; Miss Margaret Conboy of North Dakota has charge of craft work. The counselors are Adele Asiner, Revere; Eleanor Asiner, Revere; Marion Allard, Reading; Lilla

Andrews, Wellesley; Helen Cataldo, Franklin; Irma Duplin, Stoneham; George Frenault, Newton; Harry Gray, Newton; Virginia Hewitson, Dorchester; Eleanor Hall, Milton; Mary A. James, Malden; Irene Peters, Lynn; Thelma Stiles, Framingham; and Clythroe Watling.

Would you like to spend a day with me at the Southern Middlesex Health Camp? Let us follow John today and see what is done to improve his physical condition and keep him happy.

John is 10 years old and sleeps in Bungalow E with 20 boys of his own age. He is awakened at 7 a. m. by the camp bugler, Miss Hewitson, blowing reveille. In five minutes he is dressed and on his way to the wash room. Dressing consists of putting on shorts and shoes. Soon he is called for setting up exercises, after which he takes part in flag raising. In a few minutes he is with the 60 other boys waiting for the call to breakfast. What a breakfast he consumes: a dish of fruit, two large servings of cooked cereal with milk and sugar, several slices of bread and two cups of milk.

After breakfast he hurries to his bungalow to make his bed and help clean up for inspection. Inspection is over and the honor banner went to a girl's bungalow. Bungalow E forgot to empty their waste basket.

Today John's first class is Camp Craft. He is making a chair from saplings. Soon he will help with a fireplace for outdoor cooking. A whistle blows and John goes on the run to the bathing beach. Two periods of swimming he shouts as he goes. He has passed many of the swimming tests and is working on the crawl.

After swimming he goes to craft class where he is making a sail boat which he expects to enter in the race on water sports day. When the next whistle blows John puts his boat away and goes to the lawn to write letters or play games. Now he can do what he has not found time to do all morning. Soon he must rest and then wash for dinner.

In line for dinner there is much talk about ice cream for this Wednesday. On Sunday and Wednesday there is always home made ice cream. John's bungalow helped in the garden last night so they know what vegetables to expect.

After dinner John follows the crowd to the bungalows for a two hour rest. He knows that at 3:30 he will have a chance to go rowing and then a period of tumbling before supper. After supper there will be a period of free play, then a big camp fire with marshmallows to roast. Is it any wonder that John is ready to go to bed at 8 o'clock, tired but happy?

MAKE ONE CORRECTION

To the Editor of the Star:
The obituary of my father, Frank D. Marchant, was well written. I want to make one correction. My father spent the first year of his ten years' residence in Winchester with me. Then for several years he lived near me where we could see one another every day. As he grew older and not so able to walk long distances he wanted to be near the center where "things were going on," so went down town to live. For the last four years he lived at Mr. Charity White's on Main street. The last year he needed a lot of attention and she was very good to him. The time he went to the Soldiers' Home in Chelsea was when Mrs. White was too ill to take care of him.

I want, in this public way, to express my appreciation for all that she did for him.
We are judged not by our color, but by our measure of service to mankind.

BOY STRUCK BY CAR

John F. Gilgan, Jr., of 215 Main street, Woburn, was bruised about the face, shoulders and arms about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening when he was struck while at the corner of Sylvester avenue and Upland road by an automobile, owned and operated by Harry T. Boyd of 62 Water street. Boyd was making a right turn from Sylvester avenue into Upland road when the accident occurred. The boy was attended by Dr. Daniel Joyce of Woburn.

SEEK MAN FOR VACANCY IN FIRE DEPARTMENT

Fire Chief David H. DeCoursey informed the STAR this week that he is seeking a man to fill the vacancy existing in the permanent force of his department. Thus far there have been no Winchester applicants and though Chief DeCoursey naturally prefers a local man, it may become necessary to go out-of-town to fill the gap.

The applicant must be not less than 35 ft. in height and not less than 150 lbs. in weight. He must pass the regulation civil service examination for firemen which includes a physical examination. He must have a grammar school education or its equivalent to be eligible for appointment.

A Winchester man is of course desired for the job, but thus far there has been no great rush of local applicants for the opening and there is none on the list. There are apparently plenty of men out of employment and it seems strange that a good paying job which is steady should go a-begging. We can imagine what indignation will be aroused if an out-of-town man is appointed to the Fire Department here, but this seems to be exactly the situation the Town is facing.

LEGIONAIRES NEGOTIATE FOR CORSE PROPERTY

Three members of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, former Commanders W. E. Ramsdell and Vincent P. Clarke and P. T. Foley, have entered into a preliminary agreement with Ralph P. Sylvester of Main street for the possible purchase by the Legion of the old General Corse property at the corner of the Parkway and Washington street as a Post Headquarters.

The town's decision to remove the present Legion home on Washington street in connection with the erection of the new library building has made it necessary for the Post to secure new headquarters. Those Legionnaires who have examined the old Corse house believe it will make ideal quarters for the Post. The house is situated on a large lot and is particularly adaptable to the needs of the veterans, who have often been handicapped by their limited room in their present building.

WINCHESTER TENNIS TEAM LOSES

In an Old Colony Tennis League match played on the Palmer street courts last Saturday, the Windsor team of Watertown defeated Winchester 4 to 3, winning two of the singles matches and two of the doubles. The summary:

Singles
Thompson (Windsor) beat Farrar (Winchester) 6-3, 6-2.
Freeman (Windsor) beat Benson (Winchester) 6-3, 6-2.
Perkins (Windsor) beat Gannan (Winchester) 6-3, 6-2.
Clark (Windsor) beat Blanchard (Winchester) 6-3, 6-2.

Doubles
Freeman and Perkin (Windsor) beat Farrar and Benson (Winchester) 6-3, 6-2.
Clark and Brad (Windsor) beat J. Riley and Bates (Winchester) 6-3, 6-2.
Burth and Butler (Windsor) beat Packer and Bates (Winchester) 6-3, 6-2.

This was the first match in which Winchester has been defeated this season and with four more matches left, the team expects to dig in and hang on to first position in the league standing.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Crowell of 12 Madison avenue west, were among the recent guests at Landlord's Inn, Templeton.

A new "blinker" has been placed on a pole at the corner of Mt. Vernon street and Highland avenue. We do not think much of it.

Why, with all the objections repeatedly voiced by residents in the vicinity of the Mystic Lakes for many years over the bathing at two beaches on the Parkway, should the Commission finally decide to select Sandy Beach for the site of the proposed Metropolitan bath house and carnival grounds? Surely conditions at that place have been such during the long period as to give adequate illustration of what such a bath house would mean. It is true in every sense of the word that the Metropolitan area is open to objection for all the people in the district and that no single group should be favored at the expense of the rest. But with a little diplomacy all this storm now breaking over the situation could have been avoided. Open land removed from the best residential district is available at the corner and of the Lower Lake. Residences are comparatively removed from such location and the slightly wooded hill further means privacy, while its nearness to electricity makes it much more available for universal use than other of the two existing beaches. It is to be hoped that the commission will give further consideration to the subject and location before it turns the beautiful section with its rapidly increasing settlement of fine suburban homes into such a resort. The land lying between Winchester and Melford and Arlington offers the finest site for houses of moderate means in the whole Aberjona valley, and the erection of such a bath house in the center of it would beyond question spoil its ruin.

GOVERNOR ALLEN OPENS "SAVE-A-LIFE" CAMPAIGN

Governor Frank G. Allen of Massachusetts this week presented a definite program for the permanent department of highway safety as a final move in launching the "Save-A-Life" campaign in session with the governors of the New England States. Stressing the value of the intensive drive scheduled simultaneously throughout the entire region for the month of August, he nevertheless added as a complicating stroke a call for a lasting effort which will progress far beyond the period of the campaign.

The Governor offered his plan at a luncheon of the Governors and motor vehicle administrators at the Algonquin Club, where the executives were guests of his committee on street and highway safety. Previous to the lunch all these officials participated in a unique session in the Governor's council chamber at the State House. Five Governors and one Lieutenant Governor, representing the entire New England district, signed proclamations and issued calls launching the automobile safety drive before a battery of microphones of Stations WJZ and WEBA in the first broadcast of an executive session ever made from the State House.

By airplane and motorcycle, state troopers will distribute the proclamations today to every city and town in Massachusetts. Officer Michael D. Shea of Troy D will leave the East Boston airport on the 9 a. m. ship of the New England and Western Air Express for Springfield, bearing the proclamations for the western part of the state. A squad of motorcycle officers will meet him at Springfield airport and start immediate distribution while similar delivery is being made in eastern Massachusetts.

The drive will start on Friday with the opening of the period of compulsory inspection of equipment on all cars in Massachusetts and an intensive educational campaign. Similar campaigns will be carried on simultaneously in the other states.

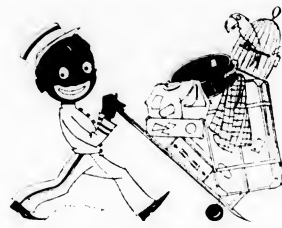

The program suggested by Governor Allen covers four phases of the motor vehicle problem: legislative, engineering, education and enforcement. Massachusetts has made a beginning in most of the items of the schedule, but much work remains to be done, he pointed out, in making them effective. The experience of this state thus far, he added, has demonstrated the tremendous value to be expected, should all the New England states definitely make a move toward adopting such a program as possible.

A uniform state traffic act is one of the first pieces of legislation which Governor Allen advocated and practically the only point on which Massachusetts has as yet made no headway. Other legislative suggestions of Governor Allen were a uniform sign, signal and marking code, a uniform accident reporting system and uniform laws or regulations providing for periodic compulsory inspection of motor vehicles and equipment.

Under the head of engineering he suggested the desirability of establishing a state division of traffic engineering; the development of a definite scheme for elimination of physical hazards; adequate warning and direction signs; and a program of grade crossing hazard elimination.

Adoption of a state course in safety education is the main point suggested by Governor Allen under the education heading. This should be a regular feature of the department of education, he said, for use in all public schools. The educational work, he suggested, should also include stimulation by a central body of highway safety activities conducted by local groups. Finally he stressed the importance of the establishment of a definite policy of strict and impartial enforcement of all motor vehicle laws.

The various states, as well as the cities and towns in them, he added, should be sure that they are provided with adequate and trained police personnel for the regulation of traffic as well as enforcement of the laws. Back of the whole program, the Governor points out, must be set up an organization such as his own committee on street and highway safety, with local branches which will see to it as the agency to promote the work necessary to secure the desired objectives.

There were no set speeches at the Governors' luncheon. Governor Allen was introduced by Howard Conley, chairman of the Governor's committee on street and highway safety. ## SCOUTS IN WINCHESTER FOR DATA ON JAPANESE BEETLES Field scouts of the United States Department of Agriculture, Plant Quarantine and Control Administration, began scouting operations for the Japanese beetle in Winchester on Monday. A crew of three scouts has been assigned by the Department of Agriculture to cover the area in and about this locality.

The Japanese beetle was discovered in this country in 1916 near River, in the west central section of New Jersey. It is believed to have gained entry to the United States in the grub stage in soil surrounding Japanese iris or azalea plants imported from Japan. In the intervening 14 years since its discovery, the pest has spread until now isolated infestations exist as far north as Springfield, Mass.; Providence, R. I.; Hartford, Conn.; Binghamton, N. Y.; and Sayre, Pa.; as far west as Williamsport, Lewistown, and Chambersburg, Pa.; and as far south as Norfolk and Cape Charles, Va. The areas regulated by the Department of Agriculture on account of the insect are approximately 42,888 square miles.

In order to determine the extent of spread of the beetle, each summer scouts are assigned to scout the areas of likely infestation. These men examine the preferred food plants of the beetle or other foliage on which the adult beetle is likely to be found if present. To do this it is necessary to enter the yards of residences and other premises in which plants may be found. The scouts are in uniform and are furnished with identification cards which will be exhibited upon request. The scouts will not molest any plants or property on the premises and will make their survey with as little inconvenience to the property owner as possible. The activities of the Federal scouts were reported to the local police department before scouting activities began, in order that the operation of the police could be secured in explaining any complaints or inquiries on the part of residents whose grounds have been entered by the scouts.

The Federal scouts are engaged only in making observations to determine Japanese beetle infestation. The limited time assigned to the scouting activities in Winchester does not permit them to give detailed information to identify or suggest control measures for plant diseases or insect pests other than the Japanese beetle. Detailed information concerning any phase of the Japanese beetle work may be obtained by addressing the Japanese beetle quarantine headquarters of the United States Department of Agriculture, 1200 Pierce avenue, Camden, N. J. Inquiries concerning other insect pests or plant diseases should be addressed to the State Agricultural Experiment Station at State House, Boston. The Federal men have requested the cooperation of the residents of Winchester in facilitating their work as much as possible.

The Japanese beetle is a member of the same group of insects as the Colorado potato beetle, and resembles the latter somewhat in size. The adult Japanese beetle, however, is a beautiful and brightly colored insect. It is bright metallic green, except the greater part of the wing covers, which are coppery brown. Five spots on either side of the abdomen and two white spots near the tip of the abdomen of the insect furnish distinct characteristics for the Japanese beetle's identification. Any specimens resembling this description observed by local residents should be collected and given to the scouts or mailed to the Japanese beetle headquarters office at Camden, N. J. The adult beetle is a voracious feeder, causing great damage to foliage and fruit. Among the preferred host plants are apple, peach, elm, linden, willow, grape, rose, hollyhock, smartweed and saffron. The grub, or overwintering stage of the beetle, causes considerable damage to lawns and soil.

In addition to trap control measures and chemical treatments applied at points or isolated infestation, a strict Federal and State quarantine on the movement of nursery and ornamental stock, sand, soil, earth, peat, compost and manure from the infested areas is enforced throughout the year. Additional restrictions are placed on the movement of farm products and cut flowers. Road inspection posts are maintained on the principal roads leading from the infested areas to prevent the illegal movement of quarantined plant material by truck or passenger vehicles. Transit inspectors are also stationed at transfer terminals to check the movement of uninspected quarantined articles via the United States Mail or by common carriers. An inspection service is provided whereby quarantined articles may be inspected and certified for movement from the infested areas.

The scouts operating in Winchester are J. N. Hopkins of Danville, Va.; Alfred Shaw of Uxbridge, Tenn.; and K. L. Mumford of Elliott City, Md.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HAD TWO WEDNESDAY

The Fire Department received two calls on Wednesday within ten minutes of each other. The first alarm came from Box 15 at noon for a fire on the roof of the barn of Thomas Flynn on Pond street. The blaze, which, owing to the prompt arrival of the department, did little damage was thought to have been started by sparks from a nearby steam shovel. At 12:08 Box 35 was sounded for a fire at the residence of Mr. Andrew Conita at 14 Winter street. Upon the arrival the men found that some one had set fire to a quantity of hay which had been stored under the front veranda of the dwelling. There was little damage done.

Mr. William E. Cobb with her son, Mr. Frederick Cobb, of Lloyd street, left last week for a vacation at Hedding, N. H.

MORE OBTAIN TO BATH HOUSE

July 29, 1930

To the Editor of the Star:
"Strange are the ways of men," said the poet. The beauty spots of New England and a residential community second to none, north of Boston, is jeopardized by a group of legislators, who if the game hangs on the matter, certainly kept them so quiet that the secret did not leak out.

In the first place, no one who has lived in Winchester for long believes that the Abenaki River can supply water pure enough to bathe in with safety. In the second place, no person with an eye for a God given beauty spot, would think of despoiling it, as has already been done on Upper Mystic. They say nothing of further increasing the dirt, filth, noise, obscenity, immorality, insults to motorists, and a rabble, who would come in ever increasing numbers, should a bath house be constructed at "Sandy Beach." Who ever saw a public bath house where the surrounding property was kept clean and does a bath house prevent a gang of "free" bathers taking advantage of a so called bathing beach?

Go down Mystic Boulevard any warm day or early evening and see the shambles that an unearring crowd of for a portion of Winchester, one of the cleanest towns in the Commonwealth.

In the third place, why should a community, where residents have been lavish in their expenditures to further beautify the locality and add to its value, be endangered without due opportunity to raise their voice in protest to any such an undertaking?

This thing has apparently been "jammed" through, and have you read carefully the "jokers" in the wording of the bill covering "concessions"? We have at present as fine a group of men on our Metropolitan District Commission as it is possible to find, but what might some future group do with this privilege? "The commission may, upon such terms and conditions and at such rate as it may deem proper, let concessions or privileges in connection with said bath house for the sale of refreshments or for the sale or rental of such other articles as it may determine, and may provide adequate quarters therefor, and may establish rules and regulations and make reasonable charges for the use of said bath house."

Some future commission might rent concessions, from hot dog stands to forns wheels and yet the residents of Winchester, in which town this "Concession Island" would be, could have little to say about it.

A word about public opinion concerning this project. It has been my privilege to interview a considerable number of people in Winchester and not one person with whom I have come in contact has been in favor of the building of this bath house. It may interest readers of "The Star" to know that the Boulevard is frequented by motorists who occasionally drive up the Boulevard have remarked to me that they do not see why the Park Commission allows the Boulevard to be blocked with automobiles during the summer time and why boys should be permitted to insult motorists because they will not give them a free ride.

Citizens of Winchester, I earnestly implore you to use your every influence with any and all legislators, members of the Metropolitan District Commission, the Governor of the State and the Selectmen of the Town of Winchester to have repealed the nuisance stopper, for I give you fair warning that if this bath house is built, the well known prestige of Winchester will greatly diminish and the property values in the town will decrease to a very great extent.

Earnestly and sincerely yours,
Ernest Dudley Chase

TRADERS' DAY NEXT WEDNESDAY

Winchester's housewives will do well to remember that next Wednesday, Aug. 6, is Traders' Day here, and from all indications the business section of the town will be closed tight all day.

No plans have been made for a formal observance of the occasion by the local merchants, each of whom will enjoy the holiday as suits his particular fancy. According to the Winchester Chamber of Commerce there is to be a general closing of the town's business houses which means that every one should stock up well the day before. Don't forget the day, Wednesday, Aug. 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Merrill, with their daughters, Misses Margarette and Virginia, of Rangely road returned to Winchester on Wednesday from Hull where they spent the month of July. Miss Virginia Merrill left yesterday to spend the remainder of the summer at Womansett, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Strickland (Marjorie Aseltine) have returned from their wedding journey which was spent touring England and Continental Europe.

CHOICEST AND FRESHEST

Here's a Bargain $8000

The like of which we haven't seen for years. The house is located on high land, on quiet residential street of the East Side, convenient to stores and center and contains nine rooms, double living room, dining room and kitchen on the first floor; five chambers and bath on second floor and a finished room and storage attic above; new painting outside but is in almost perfect condition inside. The property should be worth by all rules about $10,000, but must be sold to settle estate at once at low price of $8,000. Wouldn't you like to see it?

LEGION TO MEET WALTHAM CITY CLUB

Winchester Legion will get another real testing tomorrow afternoon when the strong Waltham City Club visits Manchester Field for a game with "Charlie" Flaherty's ponies.

Those who have seen the Waltham team in action rate it the strongest of the teams the Legion has faced this season, and several good judges of baseball believe the locals are in for a trimming tomorrow.

It will take a real cluck to beat the Legion for the boys are hitting the ball hard, finding well and getting high class pitching from "Ken" Wagner. No team that isn't playing consistently good baseball could hope to win on successive Saturdays from Lord Tanning, Concord Elks, Summer Progressives and the O'Haras of Salem. Most of these are all time clubs.

With five of the local boys batting well above the coveted 300 mark the Legion has an offense which will test the defense of the best club in the city.

Manager Flaherty will be called upon to face tomorrow.

Heard, the Waltham hurler, has had considerable success in league play and will be a hard nut for the Legion sluggers to crack. The visitors have a great catcher in Sullivan and one of the best first basemen in the semi-pro ranks in Hanney. The latter had a try-out with the St. Louis Browns and fished in big time fashion, but the big center rather than go to the minors when his hitting failed to measure up to his defensive play.

Manager Flaherty shifted his batting order for the second game with the Concord Elks Monday evening, sending Hevey down to eighth place and placing Calver at No. 2. Every one will agree that the change will probably be beneficial to "Jackie" but Calver is too hard and timely a hitter to be filling the eighth roll.

The Fitzgeralds and Calver have accounted for about 35 runs among them, and the combination is too good to break. Calver's batting would be a better bet following "Ned" Murray as both can lay it down. "Brad" is batting at a .311 clip while Francis Coon in the rack. Calver is a good base runner and all in all would seem the logical man for that No. 2 berth. Calver should remain where he has been.

FLAHERTY-OMELIA

The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth O'Melia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony O'Melia of 10 Parkway, Stoneham, and Francis Thornton Flaherty of 111 Broadway, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Flaherty of 16 Oak street, took place Sunday evening, Aug. 3, in the rectory of St. Patrick's church, with the Rev. Fr. Donahue officiating.

Miss O'Melia was attended by her sister, Miss Alice O'Melia of Stoneham, and the bridesmaids were Misses Mary and Elizabeth Flaherty of Winchester was his brother's best man.

The bride wore a wedding gown of egg-shell satin with a veil of tulle. She carried a large bouquet of roses, and a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Her attendant's gown was of pink tulle and with it she wore a pair of white gloves, contrasting with her pink stockings. Her flowers were pink rose buds.

Following the ceremony an out-of-door reception for more than 100 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents where a wedding supper was served by P. H. Randall, local caterer. Upon their return from a wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty will make their home in Stoneham.

The bride is a graduate of St. Patrick's High School, Stoneham, and before her marriage was employed at Randall's in Winchester. Mr. Flaherty attended the Winchester City Dramatic club, and is associated with the Gulf Refining Company in Winchester.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATION NOTICE

All High School students who have studied during the summer will have an opportunity to make up examinations in any of the regular High School subjects in which they have failed on Monday, Sept. 8. The examinations will be given in the high school building at 9 o'clock in the morning and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A student will receive a full year's credit for any subject in which he passes the make-up examination.

In order to be eligible to take examinations, students must have notified either Mr. Grindle or Miss Palmer not later than Tuesday, Sept. 2, and submit evidence of summer study in preparation for the examination. a20-1111-an-9

German police dogs cause the police plenty of trouble, the usual complaints being about barking, biting or jumping upon pedestrians. Occasionally they figure in a raid upon a hen house, but on last Saturday, headquarters received a novel complaint of their activities. On that day a resident of Irving street notified the authorities that a police dog was molesting a goat which had been put out to graze on a nearby field. The police located the owner of the dog and notified him of the complaint.

The Winchester "Yankees" continued in winning form Monday, defeating the Winchester "Sluggers" in a hard fought 12 inning ball game on Manchester Field, 7-6. Smith scored the winning run in the 12th on a single by Collins. The batteries were: for the "Yankees," Holland, Collins and Smith; for the "Sluggers," Edwards, McTague, Giovanni and Josephson.

Monday's game was the second of a five game series between the two clubs, the first of which was played on the previous Friday, with the "Yankees" winning, 14-12. The batteries for this game were: for the "Yankees," McNeilly, Collins and Smith; for the "Sluggers," Murray, Fremont and Giovanni, McCormick.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Manley Ives of this town, who are spending the summer as usual at their Norwood Heights home in Annisquam, have decided on Dec. 8 as the date for the debut of Miss Eleanor D. Ives, their second oldest daughter. Miss Ives will be presented at a dance to be given at the Algonquin Club on that day. Several small informal affairs are being planned for her during the summer.

WINCHESTER MAN HELD IN SHOOTING

Donato Rosa, 42, of 36 Hemingway street was arrested in Woburn last Saturday afternoon after a shooting affray in which Joseph Maglietti, 42, of 13 Arlington street, Woburn, was shot through the left side.

According to the police the men had an argument the previous night and meeting again on Saturday afternoon, continued the altercation. After the second argument Rosa, it is alleged, drew a revolver and fired three shots, one of which struck Maglietti. The shooting took place on Vining court in Woburn where Maglietti was found on the veranda of a house by Chief Charles R. McCauley of the Woburn Police. The wounded man was removed to the Chote Hospital where physicians said he would recover.

Meanwhile Patrolmen Edward McDonald and William F. Kennedy located Rosa on Garfield avenue and the Winchester man was taken to the hospital where he was identified by Maglietti. He was then locked up in a cell at local headquarters.

Monday morning Rosa appeared in the District Court at Woburn to answer to the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to murder. The case was continued until Aug. 14.

POLICE DEPARTMENT COMMENDED

Lieut. John A. Harrold, Winchester Police Department, Dear Lieutenant Harrold: Not only do I desire to thank you for the activities of your department bringing about the return of the bicycle stolen from my son near our residence at 30 Swan road, but also would I like to congratulate you on the very efficient way the members of your department handled this matter. Working on the most meager clue to the securing of the bicycle in Cambridge within three hours from the time it was stolen, is something you may be proud of.

Very truly yours,
H. B. Richmond

NEWSPAPERS

Lillian R. Whitman of 6 Perkins road notified the police that while she was driving her Chrysler sedan north on Highland avenue from Everett road last Friday evening, the rear bumper of the car was struck by an Essex sedan which was also going north on Highland avenue. The driver of the Essex did not stop and Mrs. Whitman chased the car through Madison avenue, Main and Washington street before she lost it at Forest street. She secured the number of the car and an investigation disclosed it to be registered to James A. LeFave of Glen road, Wilmington. The Winchester police notified the Wilmington authorities who were unable to locate LeFave.

President George F. Arnold of the Chamber of Commerce with Mrs. Arnold left last Sunday to spend three weeks at Orr's Island, Me.

Greater Enjoyment from Your Radio

You have never had the best from your radio receiver until you have relaxed and listened to it without further thought or annoyance.

At last you can retire and relax or read while listening to your radio without the inconvenience of getting up to shut it off or the worry of falling asleep and having it turned on all night. Just set the A-L SENTINEL for the time you wish the receiver to run and PRESTO!—off goes the music and the light for thoughtful designing has provided a socket in the SENTINEL for your reading lamp as well as one for the receiver.

The A-L SENTINEL is a fool proof time switch for shutting off radio receivers, hall lights, small window display lights and signs and many other devices. It requires no winding—is entirely automatic in action hence nothing can be forgotten.

The A-L SENTINEL is carefully designed and constructed of the highest grade material. Finished in beautiful satin silver with brown bakelite trim. It is made to operate on all voltages from 4 to 250, both direct and alternating and regardless of cycle. It will carry 5 amperes at 110 volts and 3 amperes at 220 volts.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

It was out of a bitter experience that St. Paul wrote: "Whatsoever a man sows, that shall he also reap." Tompkins prayed that out of man "the ape and tiger" might die. There is in human society much of the animal, a great deal of it in the individual human life. It must be worked out if earth is ever to reach her heavenly best, if ever man is to measure up to his true stature.

What Winchester in common with the rest of the country is suffering from is a deficiency of idealism, where there is not a total lack of it. Prosperity, good trade, bank balances, luxury, pleasure, it is by the presence or absence of these that we too often measure civic greatness and individual success. What interferes with any of these is condemned, and what ministers to and increases them is praised. It sometimes costs quite a tidy sum to rise above such things, as it cost a herd of swine to cure the mental disorder of two men.

It is gratifying to know as it was then and there are many right here in Winchester who refuse to pay it. Whatever the cost the old standard must be maintained, and church and school and home must combine to demand it and to make men see how indispensable it is if human life is to be raised and kept above the level of the beasts. The choice still is between the angelic and the hogish, between the Good, the life and the life of "ape and tiger," between what is beautiful and what merely "pays." and borrows a great deal of information from the neighbors.

Seems to us that too much political lunk is being discussed these warm days on Winchester street corners.

Winchester mess has a suggestion for a popular song: "Ain't I a lunkin' sweet in a ramble seat?"

The most distressing of all vacations, with the exception, that is, of a gnawing stomach, is an empty fountain pen.

Despite the ancient reminder that you can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear, there are good women here in Winchester who go on and on trying to make a swell dish out of spinach.

All the shady places are not under Winchester trees.

The other day two gentlemen in autos bumped each other and didn't get out, argue, take license numbers and generally snarl up traffic. But they were only little boys and they only had play automobiles.

We know a very smug Winchesterer who, although a tee-totaler, feels perfectly confident that he could carry much liquor gracefully if only he saw fit to indulge.

"Tiet up with the birds and you'll feel like singing all day," muses a friend of The Paraphraser's. Trouble is, most of us Winchesterites get up with the mules.

Definition of a good Winchesterite: One who attends to his own business and pays his debts. But maybe the first can be eliminated in these days.

Winchester fed turned up the bottle. And took a drink. The starry eyes of his friend. The steady way he lit his hand. He thought he was struck by lightning.

We censure our modern girls for showing a glimpse of brilliant silk bloomers when they sit down, but forget that in grandmother's day a foot or so of fluffy pantalettes were shown when she appeared in public.

Winchester mosquitoes seem to be well fed on account of the adoption of thin silk stockings by the women.

city, says a bulletin from the Winchester, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society, is both the capital and largest city of the North West Frontier Province. It is the nucleus of most of the trade from India to Afghanistan by way of Khyber Pass and is not quite 200 miles from Kabul, the Afghan capital.

A City of Gates

The city is surrounded by a brick and mud wall which has 16 gates.

The chief of these, the Kabul or Edwades Gate opens on Peshawar's leading business thoroughfare and widest street, the Kissa Kahani, or Street of the Story Tellers.

An endless parade of the onlooker. Mohammedan ladies riding donkeys astride look like white ghosts in their billowing veils.

Caravans of camels march down the street, and figures that might have stepped from the Arabian Nights march along the Kissa Kahani.

Mustachioed Pathans drive in horse carts in which the women of the family are ensconced, and occasional motor cars drive by, heavily armed, immaculately uniformed soldiers on horseback.

The foot traffic is even more varied. Hawk-mongers Pathans with their lungs as hard as steel to leave one eddy flying in pigtails effect stride along beside tall Rajputan in brilliant turbans. Almond-eyed, mongoloid Uzbeks from Uzbekistan mingle with indolent Persians from Shiraz.

The keen-eyed Afghani from the hills with their bushy beards contrast with the thin dark Hindus from the south of India. Jews from Turkmenistan are distinguished by their distinctive coiffures of cork-screw curls.

Rows of shops line the Kissa Kahani. Above the shops lodgings are for rent and each topmost floor has an overhanging balcony. This street is paved but the rest of the city consists mostly of unpaved squares and markets and narrow streets and byways.

Sherbets, Shoes and Sewing Machines

Peshawar's bazaars, which are famed through Central Asia, are found mainly along the Kissa Kahani. Waxwork, cloth, ornamental needlework, knives and carved wood carvings are special manufactures. In the bazaars where the workers sit all day affairs of chony kid inlaid with gold in the popular upturned toe effect.

The sherbet sellers sit in little booths and ladle out their delicacies while the vendors of tea squat beside huge, steaming samovars. A perpetual din features the coppersmiths who hammer away all day hammering trays, dishes, ewers and bowls into artistic and useful articles.

Among the customers one may see sophisticated city dandies with roses tucked under their turbans over each ear and their eyes darkened to accent their brilliancy. Pashas, or traveling merchants, with their wares from Bokhara and Samarkand, mingle with the throng. Fakirs, filthy and diseased, mutter weird incantations and beg for alms. A dark-skinned Madrasi will sell sewing machines in a booth next to that of a smart Turkoman with a wholly Oriental stock of gold thread, precious stones and pearls, or sheepskin coats.

There are few structures of architecture of note in the city. The mosque of Mohabbat Khan shows its tall minarets in relief against the sky and contrasts with the flat, monotonous roofs of the mud and brick houses. Many of the women, who are in purdah or seclusion, escape to the roofs for their diversion. Only women of questionable social status need not veil their faces.

Wall at Chinese Border

The second of the proposed railways was laid to Langson, a Tonkin town just short of the Chinese border, and an extension was run for a few miles along the frontier; but the French have the rails cross into China and penetrate 35 miles to the Chinese town of Lung Chow and beyond, has never been carried out.

Porte de Chine." On the Chinese side, the wall was built up to the level of the French in 1885 when they drove Chinese troops from Tongking and followed them to Kwang-Si.

Lung Chow was made a "treaty port" soon after the French became established in Tongking. Some trade is carried on over the highway between the city and the border. Its volume, however, has never seemed to justify extension of the railway. Much of the trade of the province follows the river valleys down to Canton.

THE TONGKING BORDER: FRANCES BACK DOOR TO CHINA

The Tongking border, where the territory of France in Indo-China touches China proper, is reported to have been the scene of recent clashes between French troops and Chinese communists. The region is the subject of a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The Chinese-Tongking frontier, northeast of Hanoi, capital of Tongking, was looked upon as a new and promising trade door to China by the French colonial leaders who entered Tongking in 1885, says the bulletin.

A back door that it was hoped could be remodeled into a front door. But the region has proved to be economically disappointing.

Railways Into China Planned

Kwang-Si, the Chinese province that touches Tongking on the north, is one of the "inner provinces" of China. Scarcely, it is a wonderland of hills and valleys, crags and towering mountains, all marked by luxuriant vegetation. But it lacks wealth, and even many of the conditions that promise a development of wealth. Much of the population is relatively scant, and consists largely of backward and diverse tribes.

As the French extended their newly acquired region of Tongking, two major railway extensions into China were planned. One was to penetrate northwestward into Yunnan province, and the other northward into Kwang-Si. The first was built for more than 200 miles from Yunnan to Yunnan city, and has proved a valuable outlet and inlet for trade.

Wall at Chinese Border

The second of the proposed railways was laid to Langson, a Tonkin town just short of the Chinese border, and an extension was run for a few miles along the frontier; but the French have the rails cross into China and penetrate 35 miles to the Chinese town of Lung Chow and beyond, has never been carried out.

GOING TO SCHOOL FOR THE FIRST TIME

Just about 30 days now before school starts. Some 80,000 Massachusetts youngsters will for the first time pay attention to the school bell and become first graders. How many in this army of little people are ready physically prepared for the big task before them. How many will be allowed to start this new, difficult life free from any remediable physical defect?

Early last spring the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, through the Division of Child Hygiene and the local communities, sponsored "A Get Ready for School Project." Parents were urged to take this "first graders" to the family physician for a complete check-over, and then, if things were found wrong, the whole summer reformed for corrections. A trip to the dentist was in the line-up so that no troublesome tooth need annoy his first school days—or even worse, demand that he lose valuable school time.

Early vaccination and, if not already secured, the three successive weekly toxan-tetanus inoculations to prevent diphtheria, were included in this getting ready for school program.

Surely a more sensible and forward procedure could not be imagined. You would not take an automobile trip without making sure that the engine was in good running order and yet many a child is expected to succeed in school when he is unable to see the board or hear the teacher or has a mouthful of lead chewing teeth or a throat crambled with diseased tonsils.

Yes, 30 previous years, when Hassen you six year old to the doctor and the dentist and find out if he is really ready. You could accomplish some correction in even one short month. And above all, find parents, do not be the procrastinator who puts off vaccination to the very last minute, and thus add the burden of a sore arm to those very trying first days of school.

MAY THE GOOD WORK GO ON

To the Editor of the Star:
The Park Board never did anything more pleasing than making the start to remove the old grass from our beloved Abernethy in the heart of the Town. Congratulations to the Board! May the good work go on until all the old grass is out, and some other times that may be found in the water. When the town meeting voters come together next spring, no one will deny the Board any reasonable appreciation they may ask for to further the care of this trouble-free stream which we all pass so often.

Patrolman James P. Donaghey had quite an interesting time last Sunday attempting to discover the identity of a two-year old boy who had been picked up by a householder while wandering about Irving street. After questioning a number of children about the neighborhood, Patrolman Donaghey succeeded in learning where the youngster belonged and he was returned to his home.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In 1886 the W. C. T. U. was responsible for the passage of a National law making the carrying of alcoholic liquors in the public schools. It is true now that the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment has tried to get control of the public schools in order to prevent this teaching. On page 419 of the Lobby Investigation Report, the following account for Irene de la Font is found in the files of Captain Clayton, president of the board of directors of the A. A. P. A. It throws light upon their activities in the schools.

"The Wilmington, Del. Board of School Commissioners will shortly appoint a new superintendent to replace Mr. David A. Ward, who recently resigned. It occurs to me that our association (A. A. P. A.) should endeavor to help select a new appointee in order to establish contact with the school system in Wilmington and thereby prevent the teaching of dry propaganda originating with the W. C. T. U., the Anti-Saloon League and kindred organizations. I have discussed the matter with Captain Clayton and he is in full accord with the idea, and with this thought in mind I was instrumental in having Prof. C. W. W. Schantz, now superintendent of the Southern special school district, make application for the position."

Members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union feel this to be a direct effort on the part of the present law is complied with, and proper time be given for the teaching of scientific temperance in the schools.

We are glad to note that the schools in Winchester are receiving this instruction. Each year the local Union offers prizes for the best essay. Any public spirited citizen wishing to help in this great work, please confer with the president, Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton.

Many thinking people feel that the educational program which has been carried on for over 50 years by the W. C. T. U. has done more to bring about the 18th Amendment than any other one force, and that the continued teaching will do more than any thing else in helping to keep our great law.

DR. MALCOLM ACCEPTS POSITION IN MISSOURI

Rev. William W. Malcolm, Ph.D., who for the past year has been director of Religious Education at the First Congregational Church, has accepted the chair of Biblical Literature and Philosophy at Missouri Valley College, Marshall, Missouri. He will begin his duties there when the college opens in the fall.

Dr. Malcolm came to Winchester from Hartford Theological Seminary where he received his Doctor's degree, last September. He is a native of Canada and a graduate of Dalhousie College, Nova Scotia. Dr. Malcolm came to the First Congregational Church as a temporary position. His desire was to accept a college position as soon as one was available. His many friends in Winchester will be happy to know that he has received a college appointment so soon.

Dr. Malcolm returned to Winchester this week from his July vacation in Canada, and will be here for pastoral duties and to preach the last three Sundays in August, as already announced. Dr. Malcolm's family consists of Mrs. Malcolm, a daughter, Margaret, and a son, William, who leave with him for Missouri in early September.

FAIR WINCHESTER WILL NOT BE ENDANGERED

Aug. 5, 1930

To the Editor of the Star:
Through the medium of your paper I wish to offer my humble apologies to those citizens of fair Winchester whose lives were endangered by a plane flying over the town on Saturday morning, July 19.

I have been brought to realize that I made the most lamentable mistake of assuming Winchester to be more air-minded than it actually was.

In all future visits to my home, I promise to terminate the flight at East Boston Airport and thus prevent any additional cases of heart failure, cataplexy and mild daze.

Yours truly,
Marshall Fay,
2nd. Lieut. U. S. A. R.

FUNERAL RITES FOR JOHN J. O'CALLAGHAN

The funeral of John J. O'Callaghan, bass drummer of St. Mary's Life and Drum Corps who passed last week Thursday evening, was held Monday morning from his late residence, 13 Middlesex street. High Mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's Church by the Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quirbach.

Honorary pallbearers were Hugh Daley, James J. McGerty, John McKeering, representing Division 58, A. O. H., and Patrick Sweeney, Bernard McGurn and John Barry, representing John E. Redmond Branch, I. N. F. Six nephews of the deceased, Charles McGonnel, William Callahan, John Mahoney, all of Woburn, and Timothy McKeering, John McKeering and Richard Mahoney, all of Winchester, were active bearers. The services were largely attended and there were many floral tributes. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. O'Callaghan was a native of Ireland, but had made his home in Winchester for the past 20 years, having been employed as a gardener on some of the larger estates of the town. He is survived by his mother, a brother and two sisters, all living in Winchester, and by a third sister, living in St. John, N. B.

BISHOP'S PAPERS FILED

First Asst. Dist. Atty. Warren L. Bishop of Middlesex County, candidate for the office of District Attorney, has filed nomination papers with the Secretary of the County. He has certified names of Middlesex voters, obtained from all sections of the county.

Mr. Bishop, who has been connected with the Middlesex prosecutor's office as an assistant for almost eight years, is rounding out an intensive campaign which has netted him enthusiastic support from all sections of the 54 cities and towns of the district.

Pledge to carry on the policies which have marked the successful administration of the present District Attorney, Robert T. Bushnell, to whom he has been first assistant for almost four years, Mr. Bishop has won the wide-spread support and endorsement of Republican leaders and voters throughout the county.

Numbered among these is Mayor Sinclair Weeks of Newton, who, last week, sent Mr. Bishop the following letter:

"I am very glad to endorse your candidacy for District Attorney of Middlesex County. I believe your long and creditable service in the District Attorney's office entitles you to the promotion which you seek. You have my personal endorsement and are at liberty to use it in any way you desire. With best wishes for your success, I am, sincerely yours, (signed) Sinclair Weeks."

TRIPLE COLLISION AT THE SAME OLD CORNER

No Due Hart in Crash at Main Street and Mystic Valley Parkway

Shortly after 10 o'clock last Saturday night three cars were in collision at the junction of Main street with the Mystic Valley Parkway. A Hudson coach, owned and driven by Arthur E. Soreness of 28 Shepard court, while going south on Main street at the Parkway collided with a Buick coupe which was crossing Main street to go west on the Parkway. The Buick, which was owned and driven by Frank A. Fichinger of 63 Liberty avenue, Somerville, was forced by the impact against a Studebaker sedan, owned by J. F. Winn & Co. and operated by John D. Cuckley of 9 Russell road who was driving east on the Parkway. All three cars were badly damaged but no injuries were reported.

It is reported that the Engineering Department of the Town has gone in for "Tom Thumb Golf" in a large way and each noon can be seen practicing intricate shots in the rear of the Town Hall. We haven't been able to learn who is high man in the department, or rather, who is low man, for golf is one of the few games where quality not quantity is at a premium.

WINCHESTER MAN'S STAMP COLLECTION SHOWN

Much interest has been aroused by the air mail stamp collections of Mr. Alfred H. Marchant of this town, on display in the windows of R. H. White Company in Boston, in connection with the second annual Philatelic Exhibition which opened Monday in Horticultural Hall, Boston.

Outstanding air mail stamps are included, covering Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's inauguration of the seven-day air mail service from New York to Buenos Aires and the latest flight of the Graf Zeppelin from Friedrichshafen via South America to Lakehurst and return to the German Base.

Colonel Lindbergh's air mail stamps started from Miami in April and the envelopes carry the first stamps going by air mail to various South American air mail stops. The points included in the collection are Miami to Havana, Guayaquil, Ecuador; Talara, Peru; Cristobal, Canal Zone; Toluca, Colombia; Medellin, Peru; Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua; Montevideo, Uruguay; Ovalle, Chile; Buenaventura, Colombia; Pimental, Peru; Lima, Peru; Arica, Chile; Santiago, Chile; Antofagasta, Chile; Trinitario, Peru; Graf Zeppelin stamps of United States issue of a previous trip were used on Lindbergh's envelopes.

The Graf Zeppelin's South American flight from Europe and return is graphically shown by the stamps from every stopping place of the gigantic dirigible; from Friedrichshafen to Pernambuco, Rio Janeiro, Lakehurst, and home again, from Seattle to every stopping place as well as from Rio Janeiro and Lakehurst.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE BY DRINKING GLASS

The Winchester Police were notified last Friday afternoon that a resident of Dunster lane had attempted to commit suicide by drinking ground glass in water. The man had been removed from his home to the Symmes Hospital in Arlington by the Arlington Police, but had refused medical assistance.

Lieut. John Harold sent Patrolman James P. Donaghey and Motorcycle Officer John F. Hogan to the Symmes Hospital and the two policemen removed the would-be suicide from the Symmes, to the Psychopathic Hospital in Boston. It was thought at the Psychopathic Hospital Tuesday that the man would have to be for a time at least placed in a sanatorium.

Carmine Luongo of 378 Washington street reported to the police that as he was backing his automobile out of his garage shortly before noon last Friday a boy named James Garbino of Swanton street attempted to hang on his rear bumper and sustained a broken bone in his ankle. The boy was treated by Dr. Allan Cunningham.

Greater Enjoyment from Your Radio

You have never had the best from your radio receiver until you have relaxed and listened to it without further thought or annoyance.

At last you can retire and relax or read while listening to your radio without the inconvenience of getting up to shut it off or the worry of falling asleep and having it turned on all night. Just set the N.L. SENTINEL for the time you wish the receiver to run, and PRESTO!—off goes the music and the light—for thoughtful designing has provided a socket in the SENTINEL for your reading lamp as well as one for the receiver.

The N.L. SENTINEL is a fool proof time switch for shutting off radio receivers, hall lights, small window display lights and signs and many other devices. It requires no winding—is entirely automatic in action hence nothing can be forgotten.

The N.L. SENTINEL is carefully designed and constructed of the highest grade material. Finished in beautiful satin silver with brown bakelite trim. It is made to operate on all voltages from 4 to 250, both direct and alternating and regardless of cycle. It will carry 5 amperes at 110 volts and 3 amperes at 220 volts.

The Star wishes to call attention to the series of articles upon Winchester's history which start in this issue. We feel that every one will find them interesting and of value. Many favorable comments have reached our ears about the anecdotes which Mrs. A. Bortie Thompson has been sending the Star for some weeks now, and we feel that the new series by Miss Lydia J. ### FROM THE GOVERNOR'S COMMITTEE ON STREET AND HIGHWAY SAFETY

One-fourth of all pedestrian victims of automobiles come to grief while crossing the street between intersections, according to reports of a nation-wide survey, including Massachusetts, sent by the national safety council to the Governor's committee on street and highway safety. Further indication of the serious consequences of this habit of haste is revealed in the fact that deaths from this cause increased 13 per cent from 1928 to 1929 and injuries rose 10 per cent over the same period.

The largest increase in pedestrian deaths and injuries occurred in cases where the victims walked across protected crossings, maintaining the signal rights, fatalities rising 51 per cent and non-fatal injuries nearly as much. This type of accident, however, constituted only 9 per cent of all pedestrian automobile accidents and consequently does not present as pressing a problem as the restraint of pedestrians between intersections. The survey shows further that the blame for intersection accidents cannot wholly be laid at the door of the pedestrian, for there has also been a large increase in the number of pedestrians struck by automobiles while crossing with the red light. The record shows an advance of 1 per cent in fatalities and 21 per cent in non-fatal injuries from this type of accident. In total, however, they constituted only 1 per cent of all pedestrian accidents.

These increases in the total number of accidents at the critical crossings of the survey points out, are mostly due further to an increase in the number of intersections so equipped. Persons who are not careful when there were no signals faced much better—probably for two reasons: first, these intersections usually carry heavy traffic; light, and let vehicles pass through on their own resources, are more careful. Fatalities at these crossings increased only 3 per cent in 1929 and non-fatal injuries rose no more than 7 per cent.

In contrast to this record of accidents in large measures attributable to carelessness, the record shows that children are taking fewer chances than in the past. The total of motor vehicle accidents resulting from playing in the street and hitching rides fell below that for 1928. Fatalities alone decreased 7 per cent and injuries almost 1 per cent. This was considered especially significant by the safety experts, for in 1928 these accidents accounted for 21 per cent of the total for pedestrians.

Although the total number of pedestrian deaths from all causes increased only 7 per cent—about half the increase recorded for all types of accidents—fatalities as shown in a survey made in June, the more detailed study was undertaken because the pedestrian deaths still constituted 10 per cent of the total motor victims. The survey dealt with reports from communities with a population of 10,000 or over, covering the total number of accidents involving nearly 75,000 pedestrians.

STRAND THEATER, MALDEN

Beginning Saturday the patrons of the Strand Theater, Malden, are to be treated to the finest entertainment they have seen. When the picture played the main attraction is the comedy sensation "The Cuckoo" with Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, the two stars of Rio Rico. When the picture played the Keith Memorial Theater recently the laughter of the audience could be heard on Washington street.

Filled with music, waggery and delicate fun, "The Cuckoo" is a new type of screen musical comedy which seems to come about the closest to 100 per cent pure appeal to any picture his yet achieved. Never before has any screen production presented comedy throughout and succeeded in making every moment one of unadulterated fun.

"Zame Grey" "The Border Legion" with Richard Arlen, Jack Holt and Fay Wray is the second feature and is a smashing picture. The week the Strand has an interesting and novel advertising stunt on the picture "Singing Hallelujah." A trapeze has been placed high above the stage on the marquee and a beautiful girl gracefully swings to the music of "My Guitar" the theme song of the picture.

"Houses" of Red Indians

American Indians did not build log houses before the coming of the white man. They lived in bark and log houses in the sense that the settlers did later. But many tribes built wooden houses, composed of poles for framework and walls and roofs of bark and thatchwork. A few tribes even put logs together for their habitations, but they did not put them together after the fashion of the regular log house.

WINCHESTER TERCENTENARY EVENTS IN THE TOWN'S HISTORY

The form of government of these tribes was patriarchal and hereditary, as we may infer from the history of Naneapashent's family as it has been preserved by our forefathers.

The king at his death left a widow, Squa Sachem, and three sons, the widow becoming Queen of all the Paw-sachem and the sons, Sagamore John of Mystic, Montevampate, Sagamore James of Lynn; Wenepoyken, Sagamore George of Salem, the latter of whom, became after the death of Squa Sachem, the great Sachem of the Pawtsachem about 1684.

Captain Edward Johnson in his "Wonder Working Providence" says of the "Solomonic Embassage" at Annamours Court, 1637; "they were entertained royally with respect to the Indian manner. Boiled chestnuts in the White River, which was very sweet, as if they were mixed with sugar; and because they would be extraordinary in their feasting, they were served for variety after the English fashion, buying buildings made of oaten corn, putting there in great store of black berries, somewhat like currants. They having this, they feasted them, afterward gave their Audience in a State-house, round about fifty foot wide, made of long poles stuck in the ground, like your Summer-houses in England, and covered round about, and on the top with mats, save a small place in the middle for the orator, to give vent to his smoke. The Indian Sachem lay along on the ground, on a Mat, and his Nobility sat on the ground, with their heads doubled up in his hands, touching their Chin; with much sober gravity, they attend the Interpreter's speech."

The few traditions and relics of the past supplied here, "Waterbury" contain mostly to deeds of savage cruelty or the implements of war.

The following incident is recorded in Richardson's Memorial by Vinton (1719).

"In the afternoon of April 16, 1675 Mr. Samuel Richardson was employed in cutting manure in his field adjacent to his son Samuel, a boy between five and six years old. Looking toward his house, he was surprised at seeing fathoms flying about it and other tokens of mischief within."

He also heard the screams of his wife. Approaching that Indians might be there, he hastened home with his gun. He found two of his family murdered, namely, his wife Hannah, who had been lately confined and his son Thomas, twin-brother to him who had been killed in the field. He further search, it was found that the infant, only a week old, had been slain by the same ruthless hands. The mother, it appeared, had sought refuge in her arms upon the alarm of danger, and was making her escape to a Garrison-house in the vicinity; but so she had been overtaken by the savages, finding that she could not have herself and the babe too, she let the babe drop, and the Indians dispatched it at once. Mr. Richardson, who went with him in pursuit of the enemy. Following them sometime, they espied three Indians sitting on a rock, fired at them, killed one and drove the others away."

The history of King Philip's War abounds in incidents of equal barbarity.

Many of the families of Winchester are descendants of those who lived in continual peril, who, "asleep or awake, in the day or at night, in constant jeopardy." Among the memories of the tribes that dwelt upon our Winchester soil are the arrow and spear, bow and arrow, and pestles, occasionally found, and doubtless many families have gathered such relics while tilling the ground in the vicinity of Squa Sachem's house (now Cambridge Street) and the stream of water which takes its rise near the school house in the Hill District, flowing down the valley west of North place, through the lands of the late Stephen Swan and Edmund Dwight and into Mystic Pond has borne the name of Squa Sachem Brook.

The celebrated reservation for the Indians was situated on the western shore of Mystic Pond, where the remnants of the tribes could plant and hunt without molestation; the weir above the ponds nearly opposite the

University Theater

A curiosity equal to that which was occasioned by the appearance of the "The Cuckoo" in the South Pole picture has been aroused in connection with the showing Sunday at the University Theater of Lon Chaney's picture, "The Unholy Three," in which the "man of many faces" will introduce movie audiences for the first time to his many voices.

The picture is an adaptation of the story, "Marco Himself" by Octavus Roy Cohen, will be seen as the garage mechanic with an army-taught skill at polo who tries to go high and low when he becomes a member of the polo team of a ritzy country club in his home town. It is a story of polo but not so good at pinpoints, and thus it is he falls off his social high horse and finds solace in the arms of a splendid cast and a gripping mystery make the picture one of the best of the year.

The picture presents Chaney in the role of a ventriloquist and proves he is a man of "a thousand voices" as skill at faces. His impersonation of an old woman is one of the most startling things he has ever done. Aside from the voice—a great story, a splendid cast and a gripping mystery make the picture one of the best of the year.

of adventure, to the United States. The feature film which will show Thursday for three days, is a continuous drama, filled with adventure, humor, thrills and romance. The entire picture was made in Little America, situated on the Bay of Whales, in the old cast 750 miles surrounding the South Pole.

"Jack" Oakie and "Skeets" Gallagher, who, teamed so well in "Close Hauled," will be seen again as their own wisecracking selves in "The Social Lion," the companion picture. Oakie, in the title role of this film based on the humorous story, "Marco Himself" by Octavus Roy Cohen, will be seen as the garage mechanic with an army-taught skill at polo who tries to go high and low when he becomes a member of the polo team of a ritzy country club in his home town. ### Where 'Coon Makes Home

Home to the raccoon is a hollow tree, usually an elm. The 'coon enters by gnawing in one of the big limbs or high up in the trunk. The hollow sometimes extends down to the roots, and when the tree is felled, the animals are found in the stump at the base of the ground. Three or four of the only truly animals sometimes live together in the same tree.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Turn the Searchlight on Wet Victories

The average reader of the metropolitan newspapers has little conception of the real prohibition situation.

Getting his impressions from the headlines and editorials of these anti-prohibition journals, he takes it for granted that public sentiment is turning against the dry law. Is there any foundation for this impression? Of what victories, legislative or otherwise, were the wets boast?

There have been many victories. The extensive wet propaganda put over by organization newspapers and by a number of multi-millionaires is all the anti-prohibitionists have to show. Take for example their failure to accomplish anything in the last Congress, notwithstanding the determined efforts of their representatives to obstruct and prevent the passage of dry legislation and appropriations for enforcement, and to secure a vote on measures for modification and repeal of the dry law.

In the following four outstanding particulars the wets have met with failure:

1st. Wet Congressmen were unable to get even 10 per cent of the members of the House of Representatives to sign a petition to bring up the repeal and modification measures.

2nd. The wets better opposition to the passage of enforcement measures proposed by President Hoover, and the appropriation bills for the same purpose came to naught, and almost the entire program of the President was adopted.

3rd. The primaries so far held in the various States offered a chance for the Association Against Prohibition to demonstrate its strength. The poll of the Literary Digest purported to show in advance of these primaries that there was a preponderance of wets in the States. But, alas, the results of the primaries, with the exception of New Jersey, showed that dry sentiment was very strong in the States after State nominated Dry Congressmen, or Dry candidates. New Jersey ran true to form, voting wet as it always has done.

4th. The wets have boasted much through the press that they were intending to bring on referendums on repeal of prohibition in various States. It will be recalled that in three of the largest States where the attempt was made, California, Colorado, and North Dakota, they utterly failed, being unable to get the number of necessary signatures legally for this initial step.

In Massachusetts the Legislature turned down the referendum proposition, but the wets did succeed in getting a large number of signatures, in gaining the privilege of putting the referendum on the ballot at the November election. It is the duty of every member of the W. C. T. U. and kindred organizations to unite with all Christians and law abiding citizens of our State to defeat this proposition.

The English word "road" probably comes from the old English "rod," compounded from a verb meaning to ride a horse, while our word "street" comes from the Latin strata, a paved way, one of those streets of beautifully matched stones which the modern traveler may still see, while the wets made by the chariot wheels of the wretched citizens, in Pompeii and Herculaneum.—New York Times.

African "Monkey Bread"

Monkey bread is also known as baboon, ambrosia and diphtheria. It comes from Africa, and grows on trees that usually stand from 40 to 70 feet high. Monkey bread is an oblong, woolly fruit, growing from 3 inches to 18 inches in length. The juice is considered to have some medicinal properties, and is used in treating tropical fevers. The ashes and bark are frequently boiled in rancid oil and used as a kind of soup by the natives.

"Roads" and "Streets"

The English word "road" probably comes from the old English "rod," compounded from a verb meaning to ride a horse, while our word "street" comes from the Latin strata, a paved way, one of those streets of beautifully matched stones which the modern traveler may still see, while the wets made by the chariot wheels of the wretched citizens, in Pompeii and Herculaneum.—New York Times.

Color in the Sea

The most beautiful of tropical sea-fish is the moonfish, often called the ghostfish because of its paper-thin form of a silvery color. The moonfish is as gayly colored as the rainbow and with trailing fins of contrasting tints. The sea-trout has a deep coral shade and great dark eyes. The porpoise attracts attention as much by its gorgeous colorings of turquoise blue, plum, purple or bright green as by the peculiar bony back.

are named arid wolves of the Siberian plains.

American speed is exemplified in this Russian city of 120,000 people which has grown from a few mud huts in 1847, says a bulletin from the Siberian branch of the National Geographic Society.

Cosmopolitan Buildings in Pioneer Town
Novo-Sibirsk (it appears as Novo-Nikolaevsk on older maps) is now the metropolis of the Siberian area of the Russian Socialist Federative Soviet Republic. The latter republic includes most of old European Russia and most of Siberia. The city lies in southwest Siberia on north Asia's largest river, the Ob. To the west of its stretches the Barabinsky steppe, hundreds of miles of flat, monotonous prairie. East of it, hilly wood steppe reaches to the Altai mountains. "Siberia," "Chinook," the Russians call the city.

Novo-Sibirsk's main street is paved. Most of the others are not so fortunate. But they have modern names that breathe of the Soviet influence. Political heroes are not unrepresented. There are Maxim Gorki and Sverdlov streets. Detskaya, or October Street, commemorates the October Revolution. Soviet and Communist-chekyaya streets may be Russian, but their names are self-explanatory.

Distinctive public buildings are the aim of Novo-Sibirsk's architects. Tall gray structures with stripes in dark blue or some other contrasting color strike a modern note. Their contrast with the usual colorless dwelling places, where a minimum amount of decoration is expended.

Novo-Sibirsk, "SIBERIA'S CHICAGO," GETS NEW RAILWAY

Movie houses, where Russians, Tartars, Finns and Chinese view American films, are a feature of Novo-Sibirsk, northern terminus of Russia's newest railway. Electric lights light up the silent Siberian steppes in the evening, and the city is a modern city. Grain elevators, banks and drug stores now stand where 40 years Soviet clubs are fashionable. The Club of the Youthful Leninists has the honor of celebrating the Fifth Anniversary of the October Revolution.

American Machinery on Siberian Steppes

"Mangled" best describes Novo-Sibirsk's population. Newspapers are printed in Russian, Tatar, Latvian and Estonian. In the Casino, a government-controlled combination, cafe and gambling house, yellow-skinned, slant-eyed Mongols sit with blonde Russian girls. Koreans and Chinese are in the assembly.

A Finn or a Tatar may drive one of the automobiles or horse cabs that have such a time negotiating the muddy streets. Business offices, a postal telegraph building, the German consulate and the town museum give an accidental touch to a city with an oriental population. The leading number with oriental artlessness is called The Village Truth.

Not for nothing is Novo-Sibirsk called Siberia's Chicago. Flour mills, grain elevators, saw mills and tanneries take care of the large trade in grain, wood and hides. Electricity runs the plants and American machinery is much in use. Brick works are kept busy supplying the thick bricks which must be used in the city's structures to keep out the winter cold of 50 degrees below zero.

Siberia's Butter Capital
In the summer, Novo-Sibirsk's "butter heists" begin. Trains are made up here which take butter to Leningrad and Moscow and eventually to Paris and London. From 10 to 14 times a week, the trains start out from the town with several trucks carrying a few hundred tons of butter. At Omsk, Kurgan and other transit centers, new cars are added. The train is usually 25 trucks long by the time it reaches Chelabinsk in European Russia.

Transportation means are Novo-Sibirsk's least worry. It lies on the Trans-Siberian Railway. A branch railroad has run for some time southwest to Semipalatinsk, and now this road is extended by the new line to the railway system of Central Asia. Another road runs southeast to Kosh-Arakh, on the Mongolian frontier. And steamboats ply the Ob River to the north and to the south.

English Delicacy
Clotted cream is what is known as Devonshire cream in England. It is made by taking rich milk, placing it in a vessel and heating it to 175 degrees Fahrenheit. This will cause the cream to rise to the surface, where it can be skimmed off. In England this is sold in small earthenware jars, and is considered a great delicacy, to be served with fruit or cereal.

Modern Observation
Modern poets appear rather to tease their words into a fury, than to infuse them with the deliberate heart of their untrained conception, and strive to replace the capture of the mind with a fervid intensity of phrase.—James Russell Lowell.

WINCHESTER WON FROM WALTHAM CITY CLUB

Great Double Play Ruined Visitors—Weaver in Fine Form

Winchester cut down another top pitcher last Saturday afternoon when the Legion nine defeated the Waltham City Club on Manchester Field, 5 to 2.

The visitors came to Winchester with an impressive record and fielded a club which surely looked like the best outfit the league had faced. Juppings out a 2 run lead in the second, Waltham looked good to win the ball game, and might have done that little thing except for just one stumbling block.

"Ken" Weaver was too good for Manager Maher's boys, the big school-boy right hander holding Waltham to 4 hits which came in the second, fourth, fifth and eighth innings. Four hits might conceivably win a ball game, but not when the other club is picking up 11.

That's what the Legion dugger did with Maher's shoots, yet the visiting line-up looked like a good pitcher. "Jimmy" Fitzgerald's right field double was the only extra base feat of the matter.

In the field Waltham was immense and the catches made by Donahue and Maher off Hevey's second and fourth Collins were a sweet middle base combination.

Winchester was both good and bad. "Brad" Coates, "Tony" Collins and "Ned" Fitzgerald all craved at times, but each and every one of them turned in corking plays to set their ships.

Weaver it was, however, who held the fortress, and "Ken" deserved a shout-out. Sloppy fielding permitted Waltham to score three runs in the second. In the second Gumbert led off with a soft hopper to shortstop which Coates muffed up while encroaching on Coates's territory. Stumpff laid down, N. Fitzgerald to Hevey, sending Gumbert to second. Collins lined one to left which Murray muffed and then muffed. Gumbert reaching third, Collins went to second on the throw, and in the stage was set. With the infield in close Maher rapped to Hevey, the latter making a corking stop and with no chance to get the runner at the plate got the batter at first. Sullivan's grounder took a bad hop for Collins and Collins scored on the hit. Weaver muffed Sullivan trying to steal. Weaver to N. Fitzgerald to Hevey.

"Nicky" Fitzgerald hit to left with one away in the third, a few Texas leaguers which Thibault hit after a run. The Waltham left fielder batted the ball after his miff and was rewarded with the game, Fitzgerald reaching second. "Jim" Fitzgerald doubled along the right field line to score Nicholas, but was trapped at third on Coates's rap to Gumbert. "Tony" was forced at second on Tansey's hopper to Collins.

In the fifth Murray singled past shortstop and was sacrificed to second by Coates. N. Fitzgerald singled to center to score Murray, but was out trying to stretch it Stumpff to Collins. J. Fitzgerald fanned.

The seventh was the Legion's big frame. Weaver led off with a clean single to right and on the hit-and-run Murray hit safely through Gumbert. Sullivan tried to sacrifice but muffed to Sullivan. Minahan hit N. Fitzgerald to fill the bases. J. Fitzgerald hit a slow roller to Collins who tried for a sac-out at second, but the throw was too late and every one was safe. Weaver scoring and Murray reaching third. Maher made a great running hit. The plate-catch of Collins's fly in short left. Murray scoring after the catch. Tansey's clean hit to right scored N. Fitzgerald, but Hanning took Hevey's rap unscathed.

That ended the scoring, but mention should be made of the fifth inning which was the turning point of the game. Maher fied a single and Collins fied a double and when N. Fitzgerald dropped the ball trying to get the Sullivan on the latter's attempted sacrifice, both men were safe. Maher, however, struck out Ben Collins, but Mc-Gilbert's base with a double, a fly in short and the bases were full as only one away. The Waltham crew were pretty well worked up and it looked bad for Winchester when Donahue reached on a bunt and shortstop Coates went over for what the ball on a bunt and needed to Hevey who relayed to N. Fitzgerald for a possible a double kill as one could work for it. Waltham only got one man to first base thereafter.

Miss Elsie Wulkop of this town is superintendent of the Children's Island Sanatorium on Lowell Island, Marblehead Harbor, now in the 45th year of its existence. Every summer over a hundred children from the hot and crowded districts of Boston and neighboring communities—children suffering from tuberculosis, joints, from the after effects of infantile paralysis, from the various manifestations of malnutrition—are sent to the island by social service departments of hospitals and dispensaries. A distinguished list of workers have volunteered their time at the sanatorium during the month of August.

TABS ON CAMP WINCHESTER

To the Editor of the Star:

During the past week, camping activities have followed the general routine for the most part. The outstanding features being overnight hikes to Wood's Island on Lake Quantababook and to Sar's Island on Penobscot Bay. The former was under the direction of "Simmer" Flaherty and "Pat" Hessian and the latter under "Dim" Himes. The fellows who took the lake trip went in the camp boats and canoes and the islanders either sped down in modern cars or wheeled along at 20 per in a 1921 Ford. Whether the boys got rather wet from a rough boat trip or were jolted over roads which could have been smoother, both trips proved highly successful and much was accomplished in the field of scouting.

Monday morning the annual canoe trip left. Doctor Wilcox of Woburn being in charge. The course of the excursion, taken by the party down through Seneca Lake and will last three or four days at least. As many are now eligible to use canoes, the party which left camp will be carried back by auto while another group will paddle back. In this manner 11 boys will have a chance to go on this popular trip, enjoying the great Maine woods and the streams therein.

For those who are not able to take this trip, hikes are planned to Mount Tom and another boat trip to Wood's Island. It may be rightly said that the overnight trips are prominent parts of the camp's program and do a great deal for the advancement of scouting experience. The two major trips planned for this season's termination are to historic points of interest, one to Castine, Me., and the other to Fort Knox.

For those who are interested in the two contesting groups at camp, it may be said that the competition is keener now than ever before. The Aces are slowly but surely overtaking the Eagles and unless the latter group moves swiftly in the future, the former will eclipse their present glory. A great deal of credit is owed to Tony Fienicola for the Aces' drive but John Crosby of the Eagles is no means asleep and the prospects for a hotly contested finish are in order.

Until next week.

Two of the Winchester boys at Tilton School last year will matriculate at college this fall. Henry Brown, former business manager of the high school year book and a member of the championship tennis team, enters Dartmouth, while "Maury" Tompkins, football and hockey player, goes to Brown.

The perennial job of tearing up the crossing in the center commenced again yesterday. A badly split rail was discovered early in the morning by foreman Fred Keith of the railroad section crew. Only a miracle prevented a bad accident as several fast trains must have passed over the defective rail before it was noticed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman R. Smith (Ruth) Gates are the parents of a son, David Lyman, born Aug. 5.

The Star learns that papers have been filed for Edward F. Maguire of this town for the Democratic nomination for representative in this district, and also that ex-State Senator Thomas M. Vason will oppose the present Representative, Thomas R. Bateman of this town for the Republican nomination this fall.

Mounted Officer Ned Shea and his men in the Fells tipped what might have been a bad fire on reservoir land last week. With everything so dry the blaze would soon have assumed alarming proportions, had it not been discovered in time. As it was only about 200 square feet were burned over.

Commutors to the early morning trains saw an unusual sight Wednesday morning at the former Joy lot on Washington street. An out-of-State car had been driven into the driveway and its occupants had evidently spent the night on the lot. A tent and camping equipment were beside the car, a woman was busy with the preparation of breakfast and a man was already busy with the first course soaked upon the running board of the machine.

It is good news to Winchester sports followers to learn that "Art" French, former Winchester High star half-back, is to return to Cambridge this fall as head coach of the Harvard freshman eleven. "Art's" charges did not do so well a year ago, but his reappointment as head coach proves conclusively that the Crimson authorities in no way hold the former Crimson captain responsible.

Winchester got three seconds in Wednesday's racing off Marblehead. Mrs. Frances Carter's "Skeezix" won second in the 7 mile race for Class K. Souders, Henry Worcester's "Sealene" took second in the Triumvirate Class 7 mile event and Albert Hale was second with his "Fleisch Fish" in the race for Annisquam Fish Boats over 1 1/2 mile course.

Deputy Chief John J. Gorman with Firemen James Callahan and Ray Hanson represented Winchester at the annual convention of the Permanent Firemen's Association held Tuesday at Taunton.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The public schools will officially open on Tuesday, Sept. 9 with professional meetings held by the Superintendent of Schools on Monday, Sept. 8. The Committee strongly urge that every child who expects to enter the public schools, enter promptly on Sept. 9, both for the pupils' interest as well as for the teachers.

Pupils to be admitted to the kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1931. Pupils to be admitted to the first grade must be six years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1931. If there are parents who believe that their children may have advanced more rapidly mentally than their age would indicate, they may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Winchester 1780, for a special mental test which will be given at the Superintendent's office on the following dates: Sept. 4, 5, 6, 8.

The office of the Superintendent of Schools will be open during the month of August from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon, and on Saturdays from 9 to 11:30.

ANOTHER BREAK AT WATCH-HAND FACTORY

For the second time within a few weeks, the watch-hand factory of J. H. Winn & Sons, situated off Washington street at the Highlands, was broken into last Friday night, apparently for the purpose of robbery.

An attempt was made to force open a safe in the office with a chisel, but without success. Very little was taken by the thief or thieves who gained access to the building through a rear window. Upon the request of the police a finger print expert from the Department of Public Safety came to Winchester and made a thorough examination of the office and safe for possible clues to the identity of the burglars.

The police were notified that an attempt had been made to break into the automobile and radio shop of Oscar Bodder on Church street last Thursday night. The marauder attempted to gain access by jimmying the door of the shop.

THREE ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

The week-end motor accidents commenced last Friday when a Nash touring car, owned by Chester C. Hardy of 7 Fitzgerald road, Woburn, while parked at the corner of Main and Richardson streets, was struck by a truck which skidded while going south on Main street. The truck was owned by the Middlesex Supply Company of 44 Ware street, Lowell, and driven by Sidney Cohen of that city. Both cars were damaged and Hardy complained of an injury to his head.

Friday's second accident occurred in the center in front of the Splendid Lunch Room. An Oakland sedan, driven by Belton O. Mauldin of Baltimore, Md., now living at 18 Croswell street, Everett, while leaving the cutting in front of the Splendid Lunch, was in collision with a Packard sedan, driven by George D. Williams of 11 Woodland street, Everett. Both machines were damaged but no one was injured.

Wilfred J. Lovelle of 281 Kingle avenue, Cambridge, reported at police headquarters Sunday evening that while his Chevrolet coach was stopped at the traffic lights at Bacon and Church streets, the machine was struck in the rear by an automobile driven by John P. Vorder of 69 Tyler avenue, Melford. Mr. Lovelle claimed that Vera Russell of 281 Kingle avenue, Cambridge, and Lena and Kenneth Kerr of 28 Wedgewood street, Cambridge, riding in his machine, were injured.

FIREPLACE WOOD USERS!!!

We are pleased to announce that we are entering our eighth season in supplying Winchester people with Grade A fireplace wood. To be sure we have had much competition but in spite of this we have grown to a point where it is seldom necessary for us to name a neighbor as reference to a new customer. However, we are ever ready to do this and respectfully solicit the new as well as the old trade. We continue our policy as in the past by guaranteeing satisfaction. Roger S. Beattie, tel. Wob. 0439.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Shaughnessy and family are on a motor trip to the White Mountains and New York City.

CARROLL—COSS

Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Morrill, pastor of St. Mary's Church, officiated at the marriage last Sunday evening in St. Mary's rectory of Miss Anna A. Coss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Coss of Salem street, and Walter J. Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Carroll of Lincoln street.

Miss Coss was attended by her sister, Miss Mary E. Coss of Winchester and Vincent G. Carroll of Winchester was his brother's best man.

The bride wore pale blue chiffon with picture hat and slippers to match and carried a bouquet of old-fashioned flowers. Her bridesmaid wore beige chiffon with matching hat and slippers, and carried pink rose buds with baby's breath.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents who assisted the young couple in receiving with Mr. and Mrs. William Carroll. Upon their return from a wedding journey through Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll will make their home in Winchester.

Mr. Carroll is well known in Winchester, as is his bride, who was graduated from St. Mary's High School and is a member of St. Mary's alumnae.

TUTEIN WON AT COUNTRY CLUB

E. A. Tutein, Jr. was the Class A winner of the handicap medal play golf tournament at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon, his card reading 82-72. Sears Walker with an 84-74 had second best net. L. D. Wood had an 82 to tie with Tutein for best gross.

In Class B J. P. Bushell's 92-72 was the winning card, but S. W. Ryan, who finished second, had the best net, his card being 92-74.

The summary:

Class A
E. A. Tutein, Jr.	82-72
S. Walker	84-74
A. D. Dickson	89-76
L. D. Wood	82-74
Class B
J. P. Bushell	92-72
S. W. Ryan	92-74
J. W. Kider	107-75
J. F. Ryan	114-82

SIDNEY PAINE WON JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP AT TEDESCO

Sidney L. Paine, former Andover Academy tennis captain, brought Winchester its second North Shore title when he won the boys' junior singles championship from Richard Hosmer of Sharon, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4, on the courts of the Tedesco Country Club at Swampscott last Saturday. Paine played plenty of consistently good tennis to work his way through the field and into the championship round where he maintained the fine form displayed in his earlier matches.

Mrs. Daniel Ferguson gave a bridge last Friday afternoon at her home on Hancock street.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Illicit Dealers Were Numerous in 1900

People who listen only to the propaganda of the "Wets" firmly believe that illegal liquor selling, bootleggers, hip flasks and speakeasies came to our country after we had the prohibition law. We who know better ask the public to take a look back.

In 1900 the "Pittsburg Leader" told of the operation in that city of 2300 unlicensed saloons. The "Minneapolis Journal" of March 26, 1908, carried as a news item the statement of the retail liquor dealers association of that city to the effect that there were 4000 illegal liquor dealers in the country, or ten illicit dealers to every licensed grocer. All of the licensed saloons were openly and shamelessly violating the laws that each saloon keeper was bound to observe.

This item appeared on Sept. 19, 1896: "Another spasmodic attempt is being made in Chicago to enforce the midnight closing of the saloons. The alarming prevalence and unusual daring of robbers, burglars and sand-baggers have aroused the chief of police to show some action and some 50 saloon keepers have been arrested." Archibald A. Figg in the "Danville (Ind.) Gazette" says "hip flasks are not a new invention, boys of my day carried them. I did it myself, and girls, nice girls—not wild women drank from them." We see by such testimony that evil existed even in the "good old days."

In the face of all this what is the duty of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union?

Teach law enforcement and respect for the Constitution of the United States. Teach prohibition because it is a part of the Constitution and the law of the land. Moreover, all vociferous wet propaganda to the contrary notwithstanding, it is the earnest desire of a vast majority of the citizens of this country that the law be enforced. We must teach prohibition because it has brought immense benefit to us in wealth, in health, and in happiness. A much smaller percentage of our people indulged in the use of liquor than ever before. The gangster, the beer runner and the bootlegger's friends will object to such teaching, but we remember that the manufacturer of alcoholic drinks and the saloon keeper objected to the enforcement of liquor laws, and the use of our people indulged in the use of liquor more than ever before prohibition went into effect. So the W. C. T. U. will keep right on teaching loyalty to the Constitution and the enforcement of all laws.

GLADIOLUS EXHIBITION AND FLOWER SHOW

Tomorrow will witness the opening of the big Gladiolus Exhibition and Mid-Summer Flower Show at Boston, in Forest Hall, for two days, Aug. 22, 23. There will be no charge for admission, and the doors will be open to the public at 2 p.m. Saturday and 12 noon on Sunday, closing at 9 both days. The exhibition is held by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society and the New England Gladiolus Society. A big list of prizes will make attractive competition. Medals, challenge cups and money prizes and other awards are offered for gladiolus of distinctive merit. Newest varieties, best varieties, English, Scotch and Australian varieties and true species will be on exhibit. The new seedlings clones will be of especial interest to all; novice and amateur classes; big displays and baskets arrangements.

Exhibitors and visitors from many parts of New England and other States will be present.

FORMER WINCHESTER PRINCIPAL NAMED SUPERINTENDENT

A news dispatch from Ashland this week states that Arthur F. Crowell, former principal of the Wadleigh School, has been appointed superintendent of schools at Ashland and Hopkinton, succeeding Warren B. Lyman who has held that position for 13 years. Mr. Crowell was, previous to 1925-26, principal of the Wadleigh School for five years.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF WINCHESTER

Second Instalment

It is further recorded: "On the 25 of 6 mo. 1641. Things going heavily on and many Blocks in the way especially sundry of their own company disheartening, this day was set apart for humble seeking the Lord by fasting and prayer whom they found grations in keeping up the spirits of sun to the work." By the next entry (the next day) it seems that those whose "spirits" were kept "up to the work," engaged in an arduous undertaking: "26 of 6 mo. 1641: A Bridge was made across Horn Pond River; though the place was so boggy it swallowed up much wood before it could be made passable, yet it was finished and called Longe Bridge." (Main Street at Wedge Pond.) The location of this bridge was, beyond doubt, on the ancient highway from Woburn to the Converse mill in the year of the present history of Mr. Sullivan Cutter, in Winchester. (Cutter's Village.) This is proved beyond controversy by the results of recent research, by Mr. W. R. Carter, and others.

Later than the date last mentioned (1652), Edward Johnson, the author of "The Wonder Working Providence," writes that "the situation of the town of Woburn was in the highest part of the yet peopled land" and "full of pleasant springs and a great variety of very good water." The abundance of water, he remarks, "the summer's heat caused to be more cooler, and the winter's cold maketh more warmer." The meadows were not large, "but lie in divers places to particular dwellings," the same "doth their springs." There was no great quantity of "plain land" in any one place, and the land was very fruitful in many places, and the rocks and swamps yielded "very good food for cattle." The people, says Johnson, were "very laborious—if not exceeding—some of them."

Not much is known about the building of the first house. It was built during the year 1640, and on January 1, 1640 (O. S.), a meeting of the settlers was held in its location near the site of the house of the late Benjamin F. Thompson on Main street, (opposite Thompson Street) Winchester. It was on the easterly side of the road, and between the road and the river. This mill was on the opposite side of the road, formerly W. R. Carter's mill. The house was overshadowed by a large and shady elm, standing on the same side of the road with the house, and immediately in front of it, as is common with ancestral shade trees. The tree was cut down about 1841. Sewall speaks of this tree in his diary (1702). After the Converse occupation of this house for several generations, Abel Richardson, in 1774, became the owner of it, probably the same house built, owned and occupied by the original Edward Converse. Abel Richardson, a soldier of the French and Revolutionary wars, died here at great age, in 1831, and in a few years his estate was sold. There is a description of this house as it appeared in 1798, and a picture of the same accompanies this sketch. It was thirty-five feet by thirty; area 1050 square feet. There were nineteen windows and one hundred and fifty-five square feet of glass. The house was two stories in front and one in the rear. With the land only on which it stood, it was valued at six hundred and fifty dollars. The other buildings connected with the estate were an old wood house, a chaise house, a barn, and a grist mill. By 1841 the old house had disappeared, and it must, therefore, have stood about two hundred years.

After the Boston and Lowell railroad was opened through South Woburn, now Winchester, in 1825, a village soon grew up. The inhabitants were mainly farmers, and there were a few mills on the larger streams. In 1830 the village was incorporated as the town of Winchester, and from that time the growth has been constant, owing to favorable railroad facilities and superior natural attractions; and today it is widely known for its fine residences, its cultured and wealthy citizens, and the elevating influence of its institutions.

A few other matters which have a particular relation to Winchester territory are here alluded to, as of especial interest on this occasion.

There is in the first volume of the Woburn town records a description of estates near the center of Winchester, of date, 1692 to 1699. These lands belonged to the Converses and there is a description of other lands located in this part of Woburn of date also as early as the year 1673. We are unable to particularize here; but the similar names of Horn and Indian Horn Pond, Winter Pond, Wedge Pond, the Aberjona River, Blind Bridge, and Indian Hill are there mentioned. Waterfield, Rockfield, Cold Bridge, Long Bridge, and Elbow Hill have not retained their original names. Would it not be well to revive some of the names in the future naming of public places? Blind Bridge, (west of Main street at Cutter's Hill) first named Long Bridge, had a greater vitality as a name than some of the above mentioned, and is familiar to the oldest citizens. Ridge Hill (near the site of the Unitarian church) was the evident successor of Elbow Hill and is remembered by persons now living, though the height itself has been levelled. Indian Hill, now Andrews' Hill, is mentioned in a deed of 1650, and this name appears in Edward Converse's inventory of 1662. Our "common" is mentioned in Edward Converse's will, 1659, and he expresses therein a wish for its continuance. Ridge Hill is mentioned in the inventory of a descendant of Edward Converse in 1707, and Wedge Pond Hill is another name common at this time.

The celebrated reservation for the Indians was situated on the western shore of Mystic Pond, where the remnants of the tribes could plant and hunt without molestation; the weir above the ponds (nearly opposite the street called being reserved for the Indians to fish at while their queen lived. She died about 1662, drowning herself, it is said, in the waters of a brook, still bearing the name, "Indian Brook," which flows into Mystic Pond a few rods from the present Winchester and Arlington line, near the County Club.

In Winchester limits also was the farm of John Harvard, the minister from whom Harvard College was named, and of Thomas Graves, master of the first ship built in Boston, and afterward, rear admiral under Cromwell. Here were the lots of numerous and long lived families of the Richmonds, of the Converses, Carters, Gardners, Johnsons, Symmes, Nowells, and others. The River is mentioned in the early Charles-town grants of 1638; it is called the Aberjona in 1641.

In 1670, the tragic death of Samuel Converse, the son of Edward, occurred at the old Converse mill, from an injury caused by the water wheel. This Samuel Converse left one son, who was the ancestor of the Hon. Edward S. Converse, of Malden, conspicuous for his noble and charitable deeds.

Winchester also was the scene, on April 10, 1676, during King Philip's war, of a triple murder perpetrated by Indians. A land of Indians entered the house of Samuel Richardson (Washington street, near Prince avenue) while he and his son were at work in the fields, killed and scalped his wife Hannah, and his son Thomas. The nurse seized the babe Hannah, and fled to the garret house (near the Joseph Stone estate, Washington street opposite Stone avenue). To save her own life she dropped the babe, whom the Indians killed. The savages were pursued by Mr. Richardson and a party of neighbors, and one was shot near a rock on the west side of the present North Reservoir; the rest were pursued to Lynnfield, but escaped the punishment due them.

A few interesting military events of this period are as follows: In 1691, the selection of Woburn appointed "Lieut. James Converse and Sergt. Matthew Johnson to seek out to procure a supply of ammunition, according to law, for the town." This was in response to an order from the high-change of linen in his pocket; never waiting for anyone, yet always behind in starting. Once on the Massachussetts River, was left at Memphis, but before the boat got to the next landing he was there, ready to spring aboard on its arrival. He was a man, writes one who knew him, "impelled by a mind intensely nervous and surpassingly active." When he went to South Woburn in 1836, it was a small place with a blacksmith and a wheelwright shop, and a little grocery store; Cutter's mill was grinding corn and beginning to saw mahogany. The first user of a stove was a shoemaker's shop, about 10 by 15, which answered every purpose, till the increase of the village rendered a larger building necessary. This building was opposite Lyceum Hall; a second and third building were erected here, each larger than its predecessor. In 1822 after bitter opposition, the depot site was fixed at the present location. For two years after the opening of the railroad, few changes were observed. But there was a man whose eagle eye saw the advantages of South Woburn for business and the probability of the founding of a new town. This was Samuel Steele Richardson, a large manufacturer of shoes in Woburn, and then considered a rich man.

He was born in Woburn, July 19, 1806, of Caleb and Sarah. The family were residents of Richardson's row, (Washington street at North Winchester) now embraced in Winchester. He was active in whatever he undertook. His manner was inspiring, and he gave life and vigor to all his undertakings. He possessed some treasured ideas. For instance, "From Portland to New Orleans he would travel often in advance of railroads and steamboats, with his coat under his arm, a shoe in his hand, and a tract of land adjoining it, and repaired or entirely rebuilt the old mill and built several dwelling houses, and a shoe factory where the Lyceum Hall afterwards stood. He also purchased the Black Horse tavern and farm.

Wednesday forenoon a resident of Winchester place informed Fireman "Jack" Flaherty that a pole was affixed beside the barn of the Kelley & Hawes Company. Fireman Flaherty investigated and found a short circuit in a large cable smoldering within a few feet of the barn. There was no immediate danger and the Edison repair crew was notified and an emergency car quickly sent to repair the damage.

Much is spoken and written of Crowd Psychology, and one can understand, if not condone, certain phases of crowd behavior when the element of excitement, hatred or morbid curiosity enters into the reckoning. We can't, however, get a clear idea of the mental reaction of a group of sane, English people, who, when asked to aid the project which caused them to congregate, contribute about $100. Girls and children went into the crowd at the Italian fireworks last Saturday evening, selling tags. There was no price asked. Each one could give as she saw fit.

Nothing would have been refused. We saw only two in our immediate vicinity buy tags, and we did see many refuse to buy them. Many of those who would not contribute were strangers, and very probably just the ones who kept the Star from being rung the bell last Friday afternoon to find out what was to be done about the fireworks. They wanted to see them, they came to see them, and they brought their families and friends; yet they weren't willing to help those putting on the show they enjoyed so much, even to the extent of giving a quarter of their part payment of expenses. Not alone at the Italian fireworks does one meet these selfish individuals, who take all, contribute nothing, who like and pay nothing. There are plenty of them at the ball games on Manchester Field. And the strange part of it all is that those who would not contribute, would pay, if an admission fee was necessary to get them to the show in question. They pay when they have to, and don't when it is impossible to make them. As we said above it's all just one phase of crowd psychology we can't understand; but of this we're certain: those who benefit from anything and won't pay, just because they can't be made to, are the ones who are what they get and say nothing. They have no kick coming.

NO BLAME AT SANDY BEACH

Assuming that the qualifications of the various political candidates up for election this fall are such as to command the respect and attention of Winchester voters, it may be said that, nevertheless, to cite a few facts regarding the Sandy Beach bath house episode. While this matter was not in any way a serious political issue, the affair has attracted much wide-spread attention and has already been referred to as a possible feature in the political campaign.

Now that the bath house question appears settled in a manner satisfactory to everyone it should be allowed to pass into oblivion. Both of our State representatives have shown their ability and interest in solving this problem, and for their efforts Winchester may extend its thanks. That the bath house was to be erected at Sandy Beach and that the unusually large sum of $50,000 was appropriated therefor is nothing which our representatives may be blamed. Rather they deserve commendation.

There is not a known resident of Winchester who ever opposed a Sandy Beach bath house until it was found that the Seaside bath was derelict; then everyone woke up and shouted. What are the facts?

Years ago a sheltered, sandy shore on Mystic Lake at the north end of young children as a bathing spot. The water was clean and the place most suitable. Automobiles were not thought of and a bathing season was a long and tedious undertaking. The place was quiet and enjoyable.

Then came the bicycle and automobile. The young children became largely replaced by older children, and through the years still older boys and girls began frequenting it. The conditions became such that observers felt that some sort of a bath house was necessary, and the parents of the little children largely abandoned the spot.

The place grew with the years. Men and women largely replaced the children, and their actions and numbers increased the agitation for a bath house. There were all sorts of objections raised to the conditions, but no one heard anything other than a constant cry for a suitable bath house. A bath house was needed and a bath house was wanted.

That a bath house was proposed and a bath house was gained is something for which neither of our representatives may be in any way blamed. They never heard any objection to it; all they received from their constituents was agitation in favor of it. In the passage of such a bill they were backing up their district. Now they have remedied the situation by uniting with Representative Trevelock of Melford in placing it where it is most satisfactory to all concerned.

The facts of the matter are that beyond the erection of the bath house, no one voiced an objection. Men and women largely replaced the children, and the advent of the automobile had contributed to create a condition which is unquestioned. Not until the eyes of the residents were opened by the huge appropriation and what it meant did public opinion rise up in protest.

It is therefore apparent that no blame in any measure can be attached to our public servants, and both gentlemen deserve great credit for so ably handling the situation and preserving the Sandy Beach section for a continued development into one of the most beautiful residential spots in the Abington Valley.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

The incomparable Greta Garbo in her second talking picture, "Romance," and "For the Defense," starring William Powell, will make up the selected program the big Granada Theater in Malden will offer for seven days starting on Saturday. It provides Miss Garbo with Sheldon's famous play for her second talking appearance, and restores Miss Garbo to the glamorous type of role for which she is famous. Garbo as an opera prima donna in the charming period costumes of the New York of 1865 holds world-wide attention. He is so successful in defending his clients, many of them criminals with vicious past records, that he incurs the enmity of the police. It is this animosity which plays a part in bringing Powell himself before the bar of justice for the first time. Kay Francis, called the best-dressed woman on the screen, plays the role of Powell's sweetheart.

Lon Chaney in his first talking picture, "The Cable," which is the program now playing at the Granada. Lila Lee heads Mr. Chaney's support.

TABS ON CAMP WINCHESTER

To the Editor of the Star: Camp Winchester is bringing to a close one of its most successful seasons it has ever experienced. The group, although a bit smaller than last year, has had a spirit worthy of the principles to which scouting officials aspire, and the work accomplished by the same, has been very creditable.

The annual camp trip which started on Monday, was one of the features of the week. Although passage was difficult on account of low water, the trip lasted for nearly five days. The days of this week, the last one, have been the best of the season and the program for the remaining days is most complete. On Wednesday, the trip to Castine, which had been postponed from Monday on account of adverse weather conditions, will be held. On Thursday, scouting activities will be brought to a close by a final campfire, which will be held. At this time awards for accomplishments during the season will be presented and the campers, who have done well, will be given a month can sit back while the counselors dive into the dish pan and do their bit towards "cleaning up."

Friday will probably be spent in preparation for the trip home and that evening the boys who are planning

WINCHESTER TERCENTENARY EVENTS IN THE TOWN'S HISTORY

Compiled by Miss I. J. South for the Winchester Public Library

WATERFIELD

It is the opinion of some that John Smith held a number of acres of land around and about Charlestown and that he seems to have been shot into the world at random and dropped into the region called Waterfield.

In the very first record of the very first proceedings of the immigrants who arrived at Shawmut—a little later called Charlestown—as it was regarded, in some sense, the property of King Charles, we read "It is pointed out that each inhabitant have a two-acre lot to plant upon, and all force in common."

From this time onward, for several years, the division of the soil constituted the chief legislation of our incipient commonwealth. "It was done," says Frothingham, "and without justness and content," and the General Court would be appealed to, to regulate and adjudicate. In practical detail the individual colonists, however, assumed the work of division of land upon the principle that the majority could determine personal ownership. This democratic theory of ownership was of course beset with many necessary, as well as unnecessary, difficulties. Complaints must arise, so long as human nature endures any of its inherited frailties, that the poor would receive too small a proportion of these common possessions; the item described as "common" would lead to the poorer and richer allotments; "newcomers" especially if consequential in society, must be generous to the poor, etc. Thus the organization of the individual allotments soon became a very complicated problem, and serious controversies required the attention of "common-law" appointed by town or church authorities or by the General Court, to hear the causes and adjudicate them. Finally, methods of distribution were followed: A tract of land acquired by the town of Charlestown, for example, was designated by terms denoting some prominent natural feature, such as Waterfield, a section abounding in water courses and ponds; Rockfield in which rocks were the prominent features; Mystic fields, those which lay along the Mystic River, with subdivisions of each into meads or meadows, woodland commons which if suitable for pasturing were called "wood commons." Waterfield, Rockfield, and Commons were the grand divisions of the tract which constituted the territory now Woburn and Winchester.

The tract thus designated was to be equally distributed among the inhabitants of Charlestown. "A town meeting is held. A committee generally of seven men, with other prominent citizens, are appointed to survey it, stake out the lots and number them. Some times the inhabitants would draw lots for their shares, and some times they were assigned by the Committee at the request or by a vote of the people themselves." (Frothingham.)

Record was made of the lots in the town books and of the conditions upon which they were granted—one of which was a condition that the holder of the lot should build a house thereon, and that no dwelling-house should be built more than one mile from a meeting-house. And this record constituted the title of the owner.

THE CHARLESTOWN BOOK OF POSSESSIONS, 1628

On the 28th day of the 10th month was taken a true Record of all such houses and land as are possessed by the inhabitants of Charlestown, whether by purchase, by gift from the town or by allotments, as they were divided amongst them by a joint committee after the General Court had laid their bounds by granting eight miles from the Old Meeting-house of the said town into the country, or Northwest Northerly, etc., to the town line, or being betwixt Cambridge alias New Towne, on the West, and Boston land on the East, as it appears upon the Record by the several grants of General Court to all the aforesaid bounds. In this list we have, doubtless, all the allotments of each person in which the town line, or being betwixt Cambridge alias New Towne, on the West, and Boston land on the East, as it appears upon the Record by the several grants of General Court to all the aforesaid bounds. In this list we have, doubtless, all the allotments of each person in which the town line, or being betwixt Cambridge alias New Towne, on the West, and Boston land on the East, as it appears upon the Record by the several grants of General Court to all the aforesaid bounds.

Here we find the original owners of the territory we now occupy. That is, we find the names and estates of a large number of persons, in whose possession of property are found portions of land in Waterfield and its contiguous Rockfields or Commons.

The term Waterfield is well known to include the low lands around the Mystic River and other ponds, and the Aberjona River.

WINCHESTER IN 1610

The year 1610 is to Winchester what 1492 is to America, 1620 to Plymouth, and 1630 to Boston and New England. It is the year when the first permanent settlement was made in this place. It was called variously, Waterfield, Charlestown, and Charlestown Village.

The region generally, till 1635, and the portion of it around the Mystic Ponds till April 15, 1639, had been the possession of the Squa Indians, or the Pawtucket, or, as it is called by her deeds, she calls herself, Queen of the Misticks.

Mystic. A collaboration of this position is found in the fact that, after his return from England a committee of exploration, of which he was one, was sent from Charlestown to this region, and that followed negotiations with Squa Sachem, and land grants were made to Increase Nowell, Zechariah Symmes, Ezekiel and Samuel Richardson, and others, who are found to have been land owners here at the date of the organization of Woburn.

The first entries in the Town Records of Woburn were made by Capt. Johnson, in the form of a historical record of what occurred two years before the town was incorporated and while the parties named were still residents of Charlestown. Captain Johnson seems to have transferred these earliest records from some private memoranda of his own at the time he was chosen Recorder, December 8, 1639, and when it became his official duty to open the town book. At the date of this actual entry the new town is called, not Charlestown Village or Woburn. The origin of this name is presumed by Mr. Sewall, in his "History of Woburn" to have been a desire to compliment the Hon. Edward Russell, a very popular advocate to the Massachusetts Colony, the family seat of the Russell family in England being at Woburn in Bedfordshire.

All persons interested were living in Charlestown and the meetings recorded are held at one or another of these Charlestown houses. On November 9th "the persons associating to them Edward Johnson who continued with them during the whole of the year, and the land about Shawshin River; being lost were forced to lie under the rocks, whilst the rain and snow did bedew the ground, and the water did rise." On November 17th "a meeting was held to set a division between Charlestown and Woburn, which was in part assented to, but afterwards denied."

On November 23rd we read "The Church of Charlestown meet to consider of those that are appointed, fearing the depopulation of Charlestown, from that day forward had a suspicious eye over them." On December 3rd the church seems to have referred for the entry reads "Full power was given to Edward Converse and Company to go on with the work of building the church." "Considering the weightiness of the work and the weakness of the persons, this day was set apart for humble seeking of God by prayer and fasting, and the help of so great consequence, which was performed at the house of John Mousell, by the forenamed persons and their wives, the Lord assisting."

Four days previous to this, however, or on December 18, we find the meeting was held at which the organization of the new town was effected. At this meeting "Edward Johnson was appointed Recorder, who drew a plot of the town." And at this meeting "town orders" were concluded upon.

The preamble was initiated, almost copied word for word, from that of the author of the "Liberities of the Massachusetts Colonies."

Town Orders

"The free fruition of such liberties and privileges as humanity, civility, and Christianity calls for, is due to every man, with his place and proportion, without impeachment and infringing, which hath ever been, and ever will be, the foundation and stability of Christian Commonwealths; and the denial or deprival thereof of the disturbance, if not the ruin of the colony."

"We hold it, therefore, our duty and safety for the better disposing of all the lands and benefits of the town of Woburn, and for the preventing of all troublesome complaints and the maintenance of love and agreement, it is required that all persons admitted to be inhabitants in the said town shall by voluntary agreement subscribe to these orders following, upon which conditions they are admitted."

First Order. For the carrying-on common charges all such persons as shall be thought meet to have land and authority for inhabitants shall lay out for every acre of land formerly laid out by Charlestown, but now in the limits of Woburn sixpence; and all hereafter laid out, twelvepence.

Second Order. Every person taking a lot of land in the said town shall, within three months after the laying out of the same, build for dwelling thereon, and improve the said land by planting either in part or in whole, or cover it with the growth of the town again. Also they shall not speak ill of it to any person but such as the town shall approve of.

Third Order. That all manner of persons shall forfeit their title of all lands, the lay force or power only in common, all garden plots and orchards, shall be included, either by sale or otherwise.

Fourth Order. That no manner of persons shall entertain inmate, either for hire or otherwise, for a longer time than three days, without the consent of five of the selectmen; every person offending in this particular shall pay to the use of the town, for every day they offend, therein, sixpence.

Fifth Order. That no person shall sell or cut any young oak, hick, beech, or other tree, under eight inches square, or a cut of five shillings for every such offense.

2. That the meetings spoken of as held at his house, were the first meetings held within the territory of Woburn and this house the first headquarters of the town.

3. That the bridge across the Aberjona at this point was the first built in the new town.

The year 1639, by the mode of reckoning then used, ended with the last day of February.

This month of February was a very busy one, as well as a very cold one. It may be inferred from the name they gave to this first bridge "The Could Bridge."

On the eighth "the men appointed for this town affairs travelled to discover a fitting place to lay this town out. After two days search it was found, and the men returned with the great number of men who were laid out on the east side of the land granted to this town, which accordingly was done after two days more."

On the twelfth they held a "meeting at Samuel Richardson's" to consult about a minister and admit more persons to the new town. The origin of this name is presumed by Mr. Sewall, in his "History of Woburn" to have been a desire to compliment the Hon. Edward Russell, a very popular advocate to the Massachusetts Colony, the family seat of the Russell family in England being at Woburn in Bedfordshire.

All persons interested were living in Charlestown and the meetings recorded are held at one or another of these Charlestown houses. On November 9th "the persons associating to them Edward Johnson who continued with them during the whole of the year, and the land about Shawshin River; being lost were forced to lie under the rocks, whilst the rain and snow did bedew the ground, and the water did rise."

On the sixteenth they came forty or thereabouts to the meeting place "Where," says Mr. Johnson "the new town should have been placed, marking trees and laying bridges" but they were disappointed, and the meeting never went forward again.

On the twenty-ninth (it was leap year) "Mr. Nowell, Capt. Sedgewick, Lieut. Sprague, and sundry others appointed, advised to remove the house lots and place for the meeting-house to the place where they now stand." The town of the year of the Aberjona in the spring which succeeded, the lots of land were marked, allotted, and at once improvements upon them commenced.

The Medford Historical Register states that "On Symmes' Farm the birthplace of Governor John Brooks a little below in the valley of the Aberjona were the wigwags of the red men that one of the early Symmes counted to the number of twenty-seven."

It is a far cry from the aboriginal who was called Simon Barjona and who is said to have given the name of Aberjona to the stream which is now called Symmes River) with the wigwags of the red men down through the long line of Symmes and Brooks with their dwellings, to the modern ones of brick concrete, and stucco that today are arising about the birthplace of the Medford Governor.

PORTAL FROM OLD SPANISH CHURCH

On Exhibition at Museum of Fine Arts

Two years ago the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, purchased a rare example of Romanesque architecture, the portal from the Church of St. Miguel at Unenitillo, Spain, which was brought to Boston early in 1928 and since that time has been in storage at the Museum while plans for its installation in the new gallery have been completed. In the spring of this year the actual work of installation was begun. The work is now complete, and the great portal is on public exhibition for the first time this week.

It dates from the 13th century and is an example of Romanesque architecture such as persisted in remote sections of northern Spain well after the Gothic style was in general use in more populous centers of the country. From early times these northern parts of Spain, on the southern side of the Pyrenees, were centers for the fusion of many influences—Visigothic, Saracenic, Roman, and the Iberian elements indigenous to the peninsula. During the Middle Ages the blending and counter-blending of ideas with those of France and Italy continued, producing an art which was nevertheless strongly national in character.

Many influences are reflected in the portal at the Museum. Three tiers of recessed arches above the door are carved in relief, representing fantastic beasts, figures, and ornaments, some suggesting oriental derivations, others more direct Roman sources. There are two groups of reclining crusaders, and here and there are represented contemporary figures who probably lived in the village of Unenitillo—a barber, a dentist, and various musicians. Above the door is a tympanum carved to represent St. Miguel (St. Michael the Archangel) bargaining for a soul. The tympanum rests, not upon a line-tel, but upon carved brackets characteristic of Romanesque architecture. Ornamental columns occupy the jambs on each side of the door and the door space is temporarily filled with pine door until such time as the Museum finds authentic doors of the period suitable for the space.

The carving is rugged, almost primitive in appearance, and is removed alike from the archaic and the decadent forms of Romanesque art. It is rather a survival of an early type in a remote region outside the main currents of artistic life of the period. But the ruggedness and vitality of life in that region kept Romanesque architecture alive beyond its time and gave a distinct vigor and local color to it which is reflected in the portal. It measures 11 ft. 9 in. high, 12 ft. 3 1/2 in. wide, and 3 ft. 8 1/2 in. deep.

On the twelfth they held a "meeting at Samuel Richardson's" to consult about a minister and admit more persons to the new town. The origin of this name is presumed by Mr. Sewall, in his "History of Woburn" to have been a desire to compliment the Hon. Edward Russell, a very popular advocate to the Massachusetts Colony, the family seat of the Russell family in England being at Woburn in Bedfordshire.

DON'T DELAY

Winchester's observance of the Tercentenary of the founding of the Massachusetts Bay Colony is to take place on Monday, Oct. 13, and is to be entirely worthy of the best traditions of the town.

Among other features Mayor Tom Collins of Winchester, England, is to be the town's guest and there is to be the greatest parade ever attempted locally.

At the past Town Meeting the sum of $500 was appropriated for Winchester's tercentenary celebration, entirely too small a figure, and one set only because it seemed at the time that the town's observance would be more or less perfunctory.

Since that time public opinion has demanded that Winchester's observance be adequate, or be abandoned, in view of elaborate celebrations staged in neighboring communities. The committee chosen by the town to stage the observance is

The committee has estimated that it will need $4500 to ensure the successful completion of the program outlined for Oct. 13. This sum must be raised by subscription and must be gotten together quickly. The committee's time is too valuable to be spent in canvassing for funds. Its preliminary efforts toward securing the $4500 have been eminently successful, and a good beginning has been made. It now remains for the town as a whole to assume the financial responsibility which is its portion.

The Star believes with the committee that every one will want to help with the tercentenary celebration, and further is of the opinion that every one will want to assist the committee by getting in their contribution. AT OAK

Make your checks payable to Town Engineer James Hinds at the Town Hall, and DONT DELAY. There is at best too little time for the committee to do all which is necessary.

TO END THE DEBATE

The following letter is self-explanatory, and is in reply to the letter sent by Winchester's Representative, Thomas R. Bateman, to the Metropolitan District Commission in the matter of the Commission's decision to locate a bathhouse at Sundry Beach.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The public schools will officially open on Tuesday, Sept. 9, with professional meetings held by the Superintendent of Schools on Monday, Sept. 8. The Committee strongly urge that every child who expects to enter the public schools, enter promptly on Sept. 9, both for the pupils' interest as well as for the teachers.

Pupils to be admitted to the kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1931. Pupils to be admitted to the first grade must be six years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1931. If there are parents who believe that their children may have advanced more rapidly mentally than their age would indicate, they may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Winchester, for a special mental test which will be given at the Superintendent's office on the following dates: Sept. 4, 5, 6, 8.

The office of the Superintendent of Schools will be open during the month of August from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon, and on Saturdays from 9 to 11:30.

WINCHESTER TEACHER'S PARTY RETURNED FROM EUROPEAN TRIP

On Monday of this week the party of young people who have been touring Europe this summer, chaperoned by Miss Mary V. Perham of the Winchester High School, returned to town after a most interesting trip.

The party sailed from Montreal not long after the closing of last June and arrived on the Continent in time to spend the Fourth of July in Paris. Independence Day was appropriately spent in visiting the American Cemetery at Belknap Wood and Chateau Thierry.

Following a week in Paris the group joined a Temple Tour party, remaining with them until they reached London. From Paris the route was through Southern France with stops at Nice, Marseilles and Monte Carlo. At Nice they witnessed a great celebration in honor of the French National holiday, Bastille Day, July 14.

Leaving France, the tourists journeyed to Italy where they visited Genoa, Rome, Naples, Florence and Venice. Among the interesting features of their stops in these cities were the Grand Canal Drive and visits to the Blue Grotto in Capri, to Pompeii and the Lido, the famous bathing resort. Museums were everywhere visited and many of the famous world art treasures were seen and admired.

From gondolas one evening while in Venice the party was privileged to hear a concert played by Venetian musicians in boats upon the Grand Lagoon.

While in Southern Italy the tourists went first to Montreux on Lake Geneva and inspected the castle of Chillon. Bernese, the capital city of Switzerland, was visited and from there the party took a mountain train to see the Jungfrau and the Glacier.

An all day ride through the Austrian Tyrol was followed by a visit to Oberammergau and the world-renowned Passion Play. So gripping was the presentation of this most dramatic event in the world's history that the members of the party were all unmindful of the rain which fell in torrents during the entire performance. While in Oberammergau Miss Perham's party were guests at the houses of one of the German villagers.

After the Passion Play the party motored to Munich where they visited several famous museums and from there to Holland and the Island of Marken, a place distinguished by the quiet, entire garb of the inhabitants. At the Hague an exterior view of the Peace Palace had to suffice, since the crowded museum session and visitors were not admitted. Motoring out of the Hague a stop was made at the famous Scheveningen Beach.

Crossing the English Channel the party landed at Harwich and from there went to London where three days were spent in sight-seeing. Then followed a five-day tour of the Shetland Islands where they visited Winkler, Warwick and Kenilworth Castles, Stratford-Avon, where they and their daughter Sally are spending the summer. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Rooney and Mr. G. W. Bowne.

Included in the party with Miss Perham were Professor Grace Shepard of Wheaton College, Miss Annie Wylie, Miss Grace Henderson, Miss Mary Wright, Miss Ruth Dodge, Miss Phyllis Dolan, Miss Esther Barber and Miss Priscilla Ever.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Badger of Winchester entertained a party of friends over the weekend at the Oyster Harbor Inn, Oyster Harbor, Me., where they and their daughter Sally are spending the summer. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Rooney and Mr. G. W. Bowne.

HOOD'S Grade A Milk

from the largest herd of Tuberculin Tested Cows
in New England

NEVER, in the history of New England dairying has such an extensive group of tuberculin tested, milk producing cows been selected for a milk service . . . As good and safe and rich as Hood's Grade A Milk has always been, we have gone a step further in adding this extra refinement to make Hood's Grade A Milk the ideal babies milk . . . Not many years ago, the intimate supervision, the extreme care given to Hood's Grade A Milk today was unknown to dairying. Later, these protective measures were applied only to milk of the highest price, production costs making it unavailable for many. Now Hood's Grade A Milk is surrounded by every protective safeguard. Cows are tested under State and Federal supervision. It is produced under a control that exacts a standard higher than any legal requirement. Hood's is the ideal babies milk, yes, and for grownups too.

RICH MILK—Better than legal requirements for Grade A Milk. Rich all through.

CLEAN MILK—From clean cows, produced under rigid sanitary supervision.

TESTED COWS—From cows tuberculin tested under State and Federal supervision, and then especially selected by our own inspectors.

CLEAN BOTTLES—Bottles are scientifically cleansed and sterilized by the most modern equipment in New England.

SEALED BOTTLES—Double sealed to prevent tampering or contamination.

PASTEURIZED—With the most modern and scientifically correct methods and equipment.

WINCHESTER WOMAN IN NAPLES DURING EARTHQUAKE

Mrs. Florence R. Scates of this town was among the American tourists who experienced the terrors of the Italian earthquake on July 23. Writing to her sister, Mrs. Edison M. Wicker of Cambridge, Mrs. Scates graphically described the fear and anxiety which followed the earthquake, driving natives and tourists alike from the cities to open spaces. Mrs. Scates was in Naples during the earthquake, arriving in that city on the afternoon before the catastrophe, which commenced about 1:10 on the morning of July 23. She was forced to flee from her hotel, but suffered no injury.

After her stay in Naples Mrs. Scates went to Paris and this week is travelling through Normandy and Brittany. She expects to sail for home early in September from Bologna on the S.S. Minekanda.

Fireman Frank Duffy began his annual vacation last week which means that there will be at least one more at important baseball games throughout the district. Driver "Bob" Scanlon returned to duty as Fireman Duffy checked out.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

We are pleased to state that the Middlesex County Commissioners have called for a joint meeting of the towns of Lexington and Winchester relative to the laying of a street, or streets, connecting the east portion of Lexington with the west portion of Winchester and thus saving a mile and a half between the two towns in road distance.

This proposition is a matter of much importance as to the residential prosperity of our town.

The meeting is to be held on Sept. 2, at 10 a. m. in the office of the Middlesex County Commission at East Cambridge.

If you love Winchester please lend your influence for your own good.

LOUISE PACKER WON AT MARLBOROUGH

Louise Packer of Winchester and Rockport won the championship round of the women's singles at the Eastern Yacht Club, Marblehead, last Sunday, defeating Mrs. A. L. Robinson, Jr., 6-3, 6-3. Mary Cutter and William Packer, Jr. of Winchester were defeated in the final round of mixed doubles by Nancy James of Vassar and J. Appleton, 2-6, 6-4, 4-6.

K. OF C. NOTES

The regular meeting of Winchester Council, No. 210, Knights of Columbus, will be held Tuesday, Sept. 2, in White's Hall at 8 p. m.

Exemplification of the First Degree and important matters will come before the Council. All members are requested to be present promptly at 8 p. m.

A program for the ensuing year will come up for action.

Report will be made by the Council Committee on the Winchester Tercentenary program for Monday, Oct. 13. This should interest every member as to what part he should take to make this celebration a grand success.

"ARE THERE ANY OTHERS?"

I noticed the photograph of the old Black Horse Tavern in the last issue of the Star and while I do not think it will add much to the history of Winchester it might be of interest to know that I think I am the only one living in Winchester who was born in that old historic building. The date being April 22, 1868.

WINCHESTER TOWN TEAM STARTED FALL CAMPAIGN

The Winchester Town Football Team, which last fall made a good showing in the semi-pro ranks, opened its fall campaign last evening at the home of its manager, Archy Amico, on Oak street.

Preliminary plans for the first practice session were discussed with ways and means of raising sufficient funds to outfit the club so that it can compete with the better organized outfits in this district. Practice will commence next Wednesday evening on Marcher Field and it is hoped that a large squad will be on hand.

Manager Amico wants the Star to emphasize the fact that all young men in Winchester, not eligible for high school football, will be welcomed by the Town Team management.

He hopes to see many newcomers among this year's candidates and promises every one who reports for the club a fair try-out.

A good nucleus from last year's eleven will be on hand this season, and with several new men who it is expected will join the team, a strong outfit should be developed. Among the veterans who are expected to report are Archy and "Nutsy" Amico, Neil Kerrigan, "Musky" Tofuri, "Jockey" Price, "Joe" Quigley, "Goose" Fleming, Ralph and "Sam" Horn, Ferns, "Packie" O'Melia, Carroll, Chelato, Capone, "Rough" Haley, "Forge" Doherty, "Maynie" McDonnell, Lumbard and Smith.

Manager Amico is trying to sign some well known football man whose playing days are over to act as coach for the Town Team, and any old timer who would care to assist in whipping the boys into shape for the fall campaign should get in touch with him.

GOLDSMITH-JOHNSON

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Jennie Johnson, to Mr. Alden Goldsmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander E. Goldsmith of Reading, in the Little Church Around the Corner in New York on Aug. 22.

Mr. Goldsmith, an insurance broker of Boston, attended Boston University and graduated from Wesleyan University.

The bride is a graduate of the Winchester Hospital Training School. Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith are now motoring through New York State and Canada.

Whose Home Are You Paying For?

If you rent you are paying for a home the title to which remains in the name of your landlord.

By paying a monthly installment, similar to rent, you might be paying for your own home under the Co-operative Bank Home Ownership Plan.

If you want to make the start, come to our offices and we will gladly give you full details without obligation.

NEW TELEPHONE SYSTEM AT CENTRAL FIRE STATION

A new telephone switchboard has been installed at Fire Headquarters which will greatly facilitate the receipt of calls and also the accuracy with which calls are received. It will now ring only at the desk where the man on duty makes the necessary connection to complete the call. There are four made stations and connections are going to be made with police headquarters. The bell system for calling the men on the second floor of the house has been replaced with a bell, eliminating the confusion that often arose when there were two rings which rang upon occasion.

Through the courtesy of Chief Daniel Terry of the Arlington Fire Department Chief DeBourcy is able to send his permanent men to the school which the Arlington Department is conducting. The course is of 30 days duration and has to do largely with ladder work, the drills taking place at the Arlington drill tower. Deputy Chief J. J. Gorman and Fireman Alexander W. MacKenzie were the first Winchester men to start the course.

LEGION IN TWO BASEBALL TILTS SATURDAY AND HOLIDAY

Meets Madden Club of Dorchester Tomorrow—Midgits Here Labor Day

After two rainy Saturdays the Winchester Legion baseball team swims into action, wind and weather permitting, tomorrow afternoon on Malden Club which is at present leading the Dorchester Twilight League. The visitors played a close game in Woburn recently and from all accounts the Midgits were fortunate to win 2 to 1 yesterday. The Dorchester boys are a budding, fast-falling outfit, but lack the punch of the Lord Tanning and Scoville Pros.

Winchester's punch, however, will be rather doubled for the Malden game as for "Lucky" Fitzgerald will be unable to play and "Harry" Weaver has been a potent factor in the local's winning streak. Frank Tansy will also be among the missing and there is a possibility that "Nicky" Fitzgerald will not be on hand.

Manager Flaherty has been a busy man getting a game on for the local and large "Jerry" Johnson of Woburn to pitch against the Maldens. "Kor" Weaver, who will pitch against Woburn, on the holiday, will be in Tansy's right field berth. If "Nicky" Fitzgerald is unable to play, the chances are that "Kor" Weaver will be working first sacker of the Midgits, will play here tomorrow. "Dazzie" is not the hitter "Nicky" is, but is a better fielder. "Kor" Weaver should be in line condition after a spring break but for Norwich U. and a summer spent on duty at military training camp.

"Kor" Weaver is a good outfielder and is batting much better than Francis Tansy at present so the general average of the local club should not be too bad tomorrow.

All the regulars will be on deck the holiday with the exception of one. "Tony" Colver, who plays regularly with the Midgits, and will be at shortstop for the Woburn club against the Legion Monday afternoon. Manager Flaherty expects to play "Marty" McDonough in "Tony's" place on the holiday, if the rancid Hebron boys return from Portland, but will have a capable shortstopper in action in any case.

This Woburn game is one battle the locals want to win. The Malden's gave the Legion its last reverse on July 14. The Midgits are a great fielding team, hit well enough and are the luckiest club in these States. Winchester with Colver would be favored to beat Woburn, but without big "Tony" the game is a toss-up. Johnson will hardly be at his best on Monday if he pitches a tough game the Saturday before against the Maldens. With "Jerry" out, Manager McGah will have to rely on "Kor" Weaver and the slim right hander "Art" Cull available, and either is good enough to bother the host.

"Kor" Weaver has better several clubs that have taken the Midgits and feels that he can take his home town outfit on the holiday. The big right hander has been every effective all season and has yet to meet defeat in a Legion uniform. Saturday's game will start at 3:30 and the holiday tilt will commence at 3:45.

ORIGINAL WYMAN SCHOOL BUILDING STILL STAND- ING ON CAMBRIDGE STREET

In last week's Star, together with the second installment of the town's history, there appeared a cut of the old original Wyman School which stood on the easterly side of Church street near Cambridge street, substantially opposite the present street railway turnout.

Many people have asked what became of the old building and in searching about to discover we came upon Mr. Fred Locke of Cambridge street, who was able to tell us all about it.

When the so-called at that time new Wyman School was built in the corner of Oxford and Church streets the old building was purchased by Henry Emerson, the land having been secured by Abijah Thompson.

Mr. Emerson moved the building onto his farm at the corner of Cambridge street and Calumet road where for some years it stood and did duty as a milk house, Mr. Emerson having been then engaged in the milk business. Later in 1894, having sold the land on which the building stood, he moved the structure to the lot of land on Cambridge street now occupied by Mr. John A. Mooney.

The old school house still stands and now does duty as a garage. The cupola, which is so apparent in the picture, has been taken from the building and now adorns the barn on the Mooney estate. Could both school houses and cupola talk, they would doubtless tell many interesting stories of by-gone days in Winchester.

Something new and most attractive in paper napkins is at the Star.

SENATORIAL SITUATION IN THE SIXTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

To the Editor of the Star:

It is well known throughout the Sixth Middlesex (Senatorial) District that Senator Warren is a candidate for re-election at the primaries on Sept. 16 next, and that he is opposed by others seeking the nomination from Arlington and two from Melford. It would therefore seem proper at this time to point out some of the reasons why it would be better for the district to support Senator Warren rather than any of his opponents.

Senator Warren has a long record of public service. It began about 1912. He served several years on the Republican Town Committee, three years as its chairman; eight years was given to the School Committee; one year to the State Committee; three years as Representative, and eight years as a member of the Senate. His work has always been of the highest character and he has been commended many times for the honesty and fairness of his public endeavors.

The principal argument that is being used against him is that he has held the office of Senator so long that he should now retire. The force of this argument is apparent to only those who do not try to realize just what this change would mean and also whether or not the district would gain or lose by action taken.

Senator Warren is Chairman of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and a member of the Judiciary Committee. As such, he has had much to do with legislation as to highways and their reconstruction, transportation, rebuilding of bridges and allied matters pertaining to the Metropolitan District. The East Boston Tunnel bill was drawn in his committee and also the bill for the development of the Charles River Basin, to which latter project Mrs. James J. Storrow donated one million dollars. His position as chairman of this important committee gave him the opportunity at the last session to obtain large appropriations which are now being expended in the district and by his re-nomination it may be assumed that the needs of the district will receive further attention and that other favorable legislation will follow.

The voters should understand that the nomination of any opponent of Senator Warren will result in the loss of the chairmanship of the Metropolitan Affairs Committee as some senator other than Mr. Warren's successor will receive such appointment. This loss would reduce the prestige of the district and impair our influence to obtain needed legislation. However much the argument may be urged that he should retire on the ground of long service, it fails utterly when compared with the great advantage of retaining him in view of our future legislative requirements. Another strong argument for the retention of Senator Warren is that this year the 28th Middlesex Representative District (Arlington-Lexington) is to send two new men to the lower branch of the Legislature. These men, for the next two years at least, are not likely to receive important committee appointments. This situation would be greatly helped by the re-nomination of Senator Warren. Why not retain all strength possible?

All parts of the district are especially interested in traffic relief as well as better transportation. Melford is especially interested in the development of the marsh land below Craddock Bridge. A relocation of the bath house will be considered and unanimity of opinion may now be expected as to its relocation in view of the fact that a $50,000 appropriation has now been obtained. These matters, including special reports relative to some of them, will come before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, hence the desirability of Senator Warren's re-nomination.

It must be evident to you, as it is clear to me, that in failing to support the present Senator the district will lose the great opportunity of benefiting by his continued services.

Senator Warren's record upon social welfare measures has been such as to call forth the commendation of many civic organizations, and his support of the road house bill placed him in high favor with the Massachusetts Civic League, the sponsor of that legislation.

Sincerely yours,
Frank H. Hubbard

Mr. Francis E. Smith
Scoutmaster, Troop 1, B. S. A.
1 Wolcott terrace
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Mr. Smith:
As Assistant Secretary of the National Council of Honor, my attention has been called to the record of your troop in lives saved by your Scouts. I note that in the last 11 years Troop 1 of Winchester has had four boys, Philip Hight, Stanley McNeilly, Seavall Newman and Albert Cutter, each of whom has saved a person from drowning. I know of no troop in New England which has such a record as this.

Please tender my congratulations to the four boys and accept mine to you on having a troop with such an unusual and magnificent record.

HERE IT IS! DON'T CROWD!

To the Editor of the Star:
Far be it from yours truly to refuse a fellow-mortals the above-said to be happy, so in response to "daisy daisy" please find recipe desired. Though spelled with one "n", there is no doubt of its quality. Where to get the "makin'" is another?

Flip

Heat a quart of good ale, and pour it into a pitcher. Heat up 3 or 4 eggs, with a quarter of a pound of moist sugar and 1 or 2 glasses of rum or brandy, flavoring it with nutmeg, ginger and lemon peel. When the ale is quite hot, but not boiling, pour it quickly into the jug with the eggs, return this back into the other jug, and thus keep pouring the mixture backward and forward from one jug to the other, until the whole is thoroughly incorporated, and as smooth as cream.

As these flips and toddies and biscuits were evidently the perquisite of the selectmen of other days, and were charged to the town, there was probably some rivalry for office. May be "daisy daisy" can explain what raises the rivalry now-a-days. Yours for reciprocity always,

At the past Town Meeting the sum of $500 was appropriated for Winchester's tercentenary

Since that time public opinion has demanded that Winchester's observance be adequate, or be abandoned, in view of elaborate celebrations staged

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The public schools will officially open on Tuesday, Sept. 9 with professional meetings held by the Superintendent of Schools on Monday, Sept. 8. The Committee strongly urge that every child who expects to enter the public schools, enter promptly on Sept. 9, both for the pupils' interest as well as for the teacher.

Pupils to be admitted to the kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1931. Pupils to be admitted to the first grade must be six years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1931. If there are parents who believe that their children may have advanced more rapidly mentally than their age would indicate, they may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Winchester 1780, for a mental test which will be given at the Superintendent's office on the following dates: Sept. 4, 5, 6, 8.

The office of the Superintendent of Schools will be open during the month of August from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon, and on Saturdays from 9 to 11:30.

Mr. Basil Burrell who has been playing with a star company at Bayville during the summer months returned to his home on Madison avenue west this week.

FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL WEDS AT WOBURN

One of the first wedding of the season took place Sunday evening at St. Charles rectory when Katherine Mary Dancy became the bride of William James Murphy, Jr. of Dorchester. The bride was attended in a gorgeous white satin gown. The groom was trimmed with his point face taken from her in their wedding gown. She also wore a beautiful veil crowned with the use of the veil.

The couple were attended by Mary K. Dancy, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Arthur V. Murphy, brother of the groom, as best man. The bridesmaid was attired in a yellow satin gown and wore a yellow petticoat with shoes and hose to match and carried a bouquet of yellow tea roses.

A magnificent reception was tendered the bride and groom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dancy, parents of the bride at 10 Court street, Woburn. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with pastel shades and cut flowers.

Nearly 200 guests were present from Woburn, Winchester, Arlington, Lexington, Stoneham, Wakefield, Melrose and Cambridge. A catered supper was served by B. T. Callahan, the Woburn caterer. The wedding cake was decorated with the same hands which decorated the bride's mother's wedding cake.

Many beautiful gifts were received by the bride and groom from their well wishers. They then departed on an extended honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. On their return they will make their residence at Alston.

The bride was a former Winchester girl and is very popular both here and in Woburn, having attended the public schools in both places.

Mr. Wellington F. Smart is recovering at his home on Dix street from injuries received last week while riding in a taxi in Boston. Mr. Smart was seriously injured and will be confined to his home for some time. He was thrown from the rear seat to the front of the car when it stopped suddenly by colliding with a car in front of it. His right ear was torn partly off and he received internal injuries about the chest.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

A Patriot of Prohibition

The sacrifice of the life of a young man of fine character is a high price to pay for arousing the people to the necessity of "eternal vigilance" for the enforcement of prohibition. Dale F. Kearney, a Federal agent in service in Colorado, did such faithful and effective work in running down and knocking out the bootleggers that he was shot at from ambush and killed with bullets while on duty. He left a wife and two little boys, and Mrs. Arvian Hangerford, president of the Colorado W. C. T. U., in telling of the funeral service attended by many Federal, State and local officers, says: "Everyone was heavily hearted because a lovable, courageous young man had paid the supreme price in Colorado in the enforcement of prohibition."

Mrs. Hangerford asks this pertinent question: "What can the Woman's Christian Temperance Union do to prevent the recurrence of such a tragedy in that and other States?" She gives the answer as it came to her from an enforcement officer. "Tell the people to elect only officers, from constable to highest places, who favor prohibition. If there had been State cooperation with Federal officers this tragedy would never have happened."

It is a truism, but it needs to be repeated again and again—local, State and Federal co-operation is the only safe and effective system of enforcement, and the way to secure that co-operation is to arouse public sentiment to elect the right officials. Let the members of the W. C. T. U. do everything in their power to assist Governor Allen in his endeavor to co-operate with the Federal officers, when he says that we should strengthen and enforce our State laws, instead of trying to repeal them.

CHASE FOR TREASURER

Russell D. Chase of Longmeadow, Republican candidate for State Treasurer, deserves your vote in the Primaries, Sept. 16. A Dartmouth graduate, studying later at Northeastern School of Law, he occupies a prominent place in Springfield business and civic life. Following distinguished overseas service with the 101st Engineers (Cavalry Division) he returned to conduct an increasingly successful lumber business in Springfield and vicinity.

He has been president of the University Club of Springfield, first vice-president of the League and chairman of the Republican City Committee. Western Massachusetts rightly expects a prominent place of the State ticket and will support Mr. Chase as a worthy successor to John W. Hains, present incumbent of the office but who prefers to retire this fall.

SAUNDERS-WEBBER

The marriage of Miss Helen May Webber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fraser Webber, of 19 Brookside road, Winchester, and Mr. Warren Fred Saunders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Abbott Saunders, of 196 Cross street, Winchester, took place Saturday afternoon, Aug. 30 at 4 o'clock.

Owing to the absence of their pastor, the Rev. John E. Whitaker of the Second Congregational Church, the ceremony was performed at the parsonage of the Winchester Methodist Episcopal Church, the Rev. J. West Thompson officiating. The double ring service was used.

Miss Webber was attended by Miss Olive E. Robinson of Winchester, and Mr. Saunders, by his brother, Mr. Harold W. Saunders of this town.

The bride wore a simple gown of floccet chiffon, and carried the embroidered handkerchief which her grandmother carried on her wedding day, 64 years ago. Her attendant's gown was of green satin and tulle.

Upon their return from a motor trip through Maine and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Saunders will make their home in Winchester.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Paragon Archie O'Connell and William Cassidy made a hurried trip last Friday evening to the new house in process of construction in Rangely for Mr. Henry K. Spencer, complaints having been received that boys were stealing lumber there. The youngsters had evidently been frightened away as there was no one to be seen when the police arrived.

Sunday afternoon about 5:30 the police were notified that an unidentified man had entered the garage of Mr. Clinton Farnham at 3 Wolcott road and had attempted to start Mr. Farnham's car. The intruder was unsuccessful in his attempt, but succeeded in making good his escape. Apparently any one's garage isn't a safe refuge if a thief happens to want a machine.

Hood's Milk

is all NEARBY Milk

Our farthest farms are but a few hours away

Hood's Grade A Milk is produced by the largest group of tuberculin tested cows in New England. These herds are under State and Federal supervision, and are now creating a milk supply that is surely Best for YOUR Baby.

YOUR BABY deserves the best

Hood's modern transportation facilities have practically banished the element of distance between our farms and the cities. Milk from the finest dairies, nestling in the beautiful valleys of New England's best dairying sections, is as promptly available as that produced at or near our city lines. We encourage the production of good milk wherever dairymen are responsive to our exacting standards, by the payment of cash premiums for highest quality. We are the largest distributors of milk produced in the vicinity of the cities we serve, and in some instances the supply is exclusively local. But in these days of highly developed Hood transportation, all Hood's milk is nearby milk. The question you and we are concerned with, is highest quality. Wherever Hood quality milk is found, in our production area it is maintained for your service. All Hood's milk is nearby milk, for our farthest farms are only a few hours away.

RICH MILK—Better than legal require-

WINCHESTER TERCENTENARY COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES TENTATIVE PROGRAM

Respects Financial Support of Town to Ensure Success of Most Ambitious Program in Town's History

"We want each one in Winchester to feel that this tercentenary celebration, which is to take place on Oct. 13, belongs to him and to accept his own particular share of responsibility for its successful consummation." So said Town Engineer James Hinds of the Tercentenary Committee to the Star this week in outlining the plans for the biggest celebration in the community's history.

Preliminary plans have been successfully carried out by the committee and already a balanced program of real merit is assured. It now remains for the committee to raise the $400 necessary to finance the various events arranged for, and while its preliminary efforts in this direction have been eminently successful it will be necessary for every one to put their shoulders to the wheel if the goal is to be reached.

Mr. William E. Priest, treasurer of the Winchester Savings Bank, is serving as treasurer of the committee in charge of financing the celebration with Town Engineer James Hinds as chairman. While all checks eventually go to Mr. Priest, Mr. Hinds asks those who will contribute to send their contributions first to him so that he may know exactly how the money is coming in. Mr. Hinds does not want to ask for a penny more than is absolutely necessary to ensure the town of a fitting celebration, and the community feels with him that not a penny less than the committee's estimate of what is necessary should be raised.

The committee earnestly requests every one to send in contributions at once. There is at best too little time remaining in which to do all which is necessary. If those who have this work to do could be sure of the required funds, one great anxiety will be lifted from them and their entire efforts can be directed toward the execution of their well conceived plans. The real "high light" of the occasion is to be the visit of Mayor Tom Collins of Winchester, England, when the reception to his "Worship" by the Selectmen.

The tentative program follows:
MORNING
Parade by old hand tubs on Manchester Field contested between Winchester and Woburn.

AFTERNOON
Parade over a mile and a half in length through all sections of the town.
(a) Military Section
U. S. Detachment, Soldiers and Sailors State Detachment, Soldiers and Cavalry, American Legion, Numerous Poles
(b) Civic Section
(c) Historical and Local Interest Section
Fiesta—Sponsored by various organizations from 20 to 40 in number depicting scenes of importance in the history of the town and its connection with the Colony and Commonwealth.
There will be many bands and drum corps with the various units.
Dolls and exhibitions by Shriners' Patrol on Manchester Field at close of parade.
EVENING
Cane Parade—Decorated canoes on the Abington and illumination of the boats and shores from Beacon street to Main street.
Band Concert.
Fireworks.

"It won't be long now" until the opening of school, and upon that momentous occasion a large group of Winchester youngsters will trade up to the high school to commence their last four years of public school education. Apparently there is a longer long pull between the first assembly as freshmen and the last as seniors, but in reality the four years slide by very quickly and often graduation arrives all too soon for those who discover again in their junior years that they wish to go to college. Each year the number of graduates increases. The STAR has seen girls and boys, but more particularly boys, who want very much to go to college, but who can not because they have not taken the proper course at high school to fitting them for entrance. The days of sliding easily into college with very easy points condition or for special courses are gone forever. There are each year too many inadequately qualified young men and women seeking admission to permit the colleges taking unprepared applicants. As a consequence those who are determined to go to college must enter preparatory schools to fit themselves for entrance when they might have entered from high school, had they chosen the proper course as freshmen and adhered to it through their four years in school. In some instances, where there is means or the father is too young for college, the preparatory school step is all right. But too often the added preparation is a needless financial sacrifice and loss of valuable time. And it is all so unnecessary for Winchester High has demonstrated conclusively that it can and does prepare boys and girls for college, and when they take its college preparatory course. Parents should exercise in the choice of their children's high school, and at least the same care they show in selecting a new automobile. If there is no chance at all for a child to go to college, why not read the course which will best equip him or her for what must be done after graduation. If there is the slightest chance that some day the youngster will want to go, or should go to college, by all means have him take the college preparatory course, and what is more important, have him stick to it, at least until such a time as he shall demonstrate his complete unfitness for the work he is trying to do.

A CURIOSITY "FIFTY YEARS AGO"

George E. Pratt, one of Winchester's old residents has quite a collection of 50 years ago. This is the rules and by-laws of Hose 5, which was then stationed on Cambridge street. It is a large, well bound book, and is the house and dated May 7, 1880 and George said it cost him $2 to have it printed, which was plenty of money at that time. The hose company then consisted of Edward Russell, foreman; Walter Purinton, assistant foreman; Geo. Purinton, steward; George E. Pratt, secretary and clerk with the following other members: Charles H. Purinton, Frank Purinton, Thomas Little, Fred Locke, William Locke, Barton C. Caldwell and Joseph Purinton.

There are four of the company alive at present: George E. Pratt, Barton C. Caldwell, Fred Locke, and George W. Purinton. All these will be in the firemen's section of the Tercentenary parade.

BORDER ROAD TO BE REBUILT

Work started this week on the reconstruction of Border road, the important connecting link between Malden and Everett and this town, according to information received, this work will take until about the 15th of November. For several years the road has been in a dangerous condition and has been closed during the winter months.

WILLIAM H. ROGERS
New Police Chief of Winchester

POLICE CHIEF NAMED

Sergt. William H. Rogers Receives Appointment

Sergt. William H. Rogers of the Police Department was appointed Chief of the Department by the Selectmen at their meeting on Monday evening. He will succeed the late Chief, William R. McIntosh, who died last spring.

Chief Rogers receives his appointment after long and faithful service with the department. He has been senior Sergeant and in the recent examinations for the office he headed the list. He at once assumed the duties as head of the department.

He is a native of Ballintoy, County Antrim, Ireland, and for a short time after coming to this country he resided in Albany, N. Y. Although he is 50 years old, being born in a lean year, he has only celebrated 12 birthdays. He came to Winchester in 1905 and for a time worked on the Lawrence estate in Medford. In 1909 he was appointed a special officer on the police department and in June, 1912, was made a regular officer. He received his commission as Sergeant Jan. 8, 1924.

During his service with the department he has been a most efficient member and has always endeavored to improve his standing and knowledge. He has taken several law courses and on various occasions received commendation from his superiors for his ability and resourcefulness in capturing dangerous and much wanted criminals.

He resides at 35 Grayson road with his wife and four children—Helen, Isabella, George and William H. Jr. The new chief has been heartily felicitated upon his appointment. All day Tuesday he was the recipient of congratulatory telegrams and calls. His office at the station was heaped with beautiful flowers, among them being gifts from Ident. and Mrs. J. A. McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Fallon, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Laraway, Patrick Maguire, William A. McDonald, Alfred Townsend, William Ramsdell and Arthur O'Leary, Jr.

A GOOD TEST OF THE FITNESS OF A PERSON IS WHAT HIS ASSOCIATES THINK OF HIM

Mr. Bateman is Republican leader of the House of Representatives. He is a member of the Committee on Rules, the Speaker's Cabinet, and Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary. He has served on many recent committees including the important commission on the control of public utilities, of which he was vice-chairman.

In local affairs Mr. Bateman has been Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Finance Committee in the past, and in all these offices he has served with ability and distinction, in accordance with the best traditions of Winchester.

We oppose the custom of rotation in office for rotation's sake, and believe that a legislator who has attained recognition and distinction should be returned to office.

The beginning of good government is in good nominations. Men of character, ability and experience should be nominated.

6th Middlesex District

ARLINGTON MEDFORD
WINCHESTER WOBURN

WE ENDORSE the candidacy of Jacob Bitzer for nomination to the State Senate, and recommend him to the Republican voters of the District. A resident of Arlington from boyhood, educated in its public schools, he has shown deep and intelligent interest in public affairs, and has rendered important public service.

As chairman of the Republican Town Committee, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Moderator, Representative for five terms, his energy, industry, directness, and good fellowship won the respect and affection of his associates and enabled him to obtain results. No constituent was ever at a loss to know where he stood, and he never was on both sides of a question.

In the Legislature he was a leader and served on the important Ways and Means Committee. He obtained for Arlington appropriations of great importance to the present and future development of the town. We believe that his election to the Senate would result in legislation of benefit to all the cities and towns in the District.

FUNDS DEFICIENT

Subscriptions Coming in Slow for Tercentenary Celebration

Notwithstanding the work and efforts of those in charge, the collection of funds for the coming Tercentenary celebration is far behind expectations. While practically all of the merchants and business houses, and a few of the leading citizens of the town, have contributed cheerfully and liberally, the bulk of the citizens at large have failed to take much of any interest and have failed utterly to give any financial assistance.

The committee is working day and night upon the program. Winchester has a famed and interesting background, and the celebration should receive adequate funds to carry it through. Modest contributions from the citizens and residents would be ample to insure a successful day. Unless these are forthcoming the affair will not be in keeping with the best traditions of Winchester.

An appeal is made herewith for sub-scriptions. Checks and money should be sent to Mr. James Hinds at the Town Hall.

WINCHESTER WOMEN ENDORSE BUTLER FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

Members of the Women's Committee for Butler, in Winchester, State Their Reasons

"I shall vote for William M. Butler because the many serious problems of our times particularly demand in the United States Senate men of mature minds, sound judgment and demonstrated moral courage."
—Amy S. Hridgman

"I am voting for Mr. Butler for U. S. Senator, because I believe in sending a man to Washington who will support President Hoover and his administrative policies."
—Frances Chidley (Mrs. Howard J.)

"I shall vote for William M. Butler for Senator because I consider him the most able of the candidates and the one best fitted for the office, because of his large experience and wide vision of world affairs."
—Beatrice M. Dabney (Mrs. J. P.)

"Because of my long personal acquaintance with Mr. Butler and his family, I am convinced that he is a man of integrity, superior ability and would command the greatest respect in the Senate. Because of his wide experience he is well qualified to render the highest service to our Commonwealth."
—Barbara Fernald

"I shall vote for William M. Butler because he stands 'four square' back of President Hoover in all his administration."
—Grace M. Hamilton (Mrs. Geo. H.)

"Because he is a man of fine judgment, with a successful record both in the business world and in Washington, Mr. Butler will represent our country with dignity and credit in any emergency."
—Christine E. Hayden (Mrs. A. K.)

"Because there is no one better."
—Faye H. Lefavour (Mrs. W. A.)

"Because of his many years successful experience in business and politics, and his wide acquaintance with the needs of the whole country, which he gained as Chairman of the National Republican Committee, I consider him the best equipped candidate to consider any question which may come up."
—Clara H. Palmer (Mrs. W. L.)

"I shall vote for William M. Butler for United States Senator because he has ability, knowledge and right principles back of him which will enable him to see and do whatever in his judgment is for the good of our country. We elected President Hoover with an overwhelming majority because of his principles; unless we send him men ready to support his policies and the laws of the land we cannot expect the best results from his efforts."
—Clara M. Snyder (Mrs. L. K.)

"I am for Butler for Senator because he stands back of the Constitution and because of his constructive thought and action. I also have reason to know that before making a decision he weighs and compares his facts with his purposes and ideals."

—Ada von Rosenzweig (Mrs. Theodore)

"Because this great Commonwealth needs the benefit of his experience in the United States Senate, and because he stands for those ideals and principles which are so necessary for the preservation of the very foundations of our Government, I shall vote for William M. Butler."
—Gladys R. Wilson (Mrs. Jesse S.)

"In addition to all that has been said, I shall vote for Mr. Butler for Senator because, in those qualities which we so desperately need in Washington today—our thinking, wide vision, moral courage and dignity of behavior, Mr. Butler towers head and shoulders above any other candidate. The thirteen child in a minister's modest home he, early in life, learned the value of frugality and real work which has given him an admirable background for the position he seeks. He knows the problems of the worker because he has been a worker; he knows the problems of wealth because (through his own efforts) he has acquired wealth. His wide acquaintance with the conditions of the whole country which he gained as Chairman of the National Republican Committee, and the fact that he is everywhere known as the intimate friend and adviser of Calvin Coolidge gives him an immediate recognition in Washington which a younger man must struggle years to gain."

TOO MUCH MUCK

Under the efficient direction of Supd. Parker & Cox Macdonald, the Mill Pond is being cleared of muck—and other similar things. Yesterday afternoon the sounding of the fire alarm proved too much for John F. Dooley and Patrick Mooney who were on the job. In their excitement they each and together heaved another shovel-full on the scene—and over it went. They were up to their waists in water, and if they did not get wet, they got muddy. Alex sprinted to the fire station for a pail. Firemen George Nowell and Patrick Powers hustled out the service truck, grabbed the life saving skill and after a quick run to the Mill Pond, launched the boat and rescued the two hardy muck diggers. All's well that ends well.

ALL UP FOR FLAHERTY DAY

The members of the Winchester Post, 97, baseball team have decided to hold a benefit day for their popular and very successful manager, "Charlie" Flaherty on Saturday, Sept. 20 at which time the team will play the Lord Tanning and to whom should go most of the credit for the first really successful baseball team Winchester has seen for a number of years.

The entire afternoon will be devoted to a general gathering of all the old time baseball players in Winchester, base running, time trials, long distant throwing contests for the players on the teams and for as many of the old timers who care to compete. No prizes will be offered the old timers, but it is expected they will remember the day for the best part of next week, very, very well. The contests will start at 2:30 and the ball game at 3:30.

Manager Flaherty, himself a World War veteran, gassed in action in France and maimed as a result of his war service to hold any regular employment and only recently sufficient well to be able to get out except in the most ideal weather, at the request of the Legion Post started last June to organize a baseball team which would be composed as largely as possible of Winchester men or of men who live in the nearby communities and who had at one time or another played baseball in Winchester, and who would therefore be known to some extent to Winchester baseball followers. He had little, if any, known material to draw upon and it was therefore necessary to start almost from the beginning and build up a well balanced team. A team sufficiently good to properly represent a town which in times past has known the best in semi-professional baseball.

MARRIED AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

A full wedding of considerable interest to many Winchester young people was that of last Saturday evening when Miss Hazel Mae Chisholm of this town became the bride of Mr. Elmer G. Spinnery, son of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Spinnery of Peasey street, Malden. Miss Chisholm is well known as a popular employee of the Winchester office of the New England Laundry. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan N. Chisholm of Nova Scotia. The ceremony was performed at 8 at the First Baptist Church by Rev. Benjamin P. Brown, pastor. Mrs. F. S. Jones of Arlington presided at the organ with Mr. T. Parker Clark as soloist. Palms and autumn flowers made an attractive setting, and the bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Samuel S. McNeilly.

The couple were attended by Miss Eileen Harford, bridesmaid, and Arthur G. Spinnery of Malden, brother of the groom, best man. The ushers were Messrs. Chester E. Spinnery and Oscar P. Spinnery of Malden, brothers of the groom; Walter H. Hayes of Malden and Stanley N. McNeilly of this town, cousin of the bride.

The bride wore a wedding dress of white satin with tulle, princess style. Her veil was caught with a spray of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a silver crepe with shoes to match and carried pink butterfly roses. A reception followed the ceremony in the parish house of the church from 8:30 to 9, the newly married couple being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. David McNeilly, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Spinnery, the groom's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Spinnery are spending their honeymoon touring Vermont and the White Mountains, and will make their home in Malden, where Mr. Spinnery is well known in Masonic circles through his affiliation with Tabernacle Chapter and Beausant Commandery. He is associated with the George H. Buckminster Company of Boston.

ATE UP READING

The Winchester Legion took its revenge on the Reading Town Team Saturday when it turned the tables on the victors and sent them home with a shut-out.

"Ken" Weaver, the great Legion pitcher was at his best, and only two men saw third base during the game, and so tight was the pitching that the Reading team never had a chance. This was the 11th straight victory for the Legion which has played great ball since July 4 when it suffered its last defeat at home.

There was a change in the lineup due to the arrival of "Tony" Colucci who had reported for football practice at Holy Cross and was not expected. He filled his usual position at short and "Marty" McDonough, who left the team earlier in the season to join the Portland team was at second base and "Jack" Hevey playing right field.

The second base combination was right on the job, but "Tony" made three errors, none of which did any damage.

"Marty's" bat played an important part in the victory, for with two on the bases in the third inning, he got hold of one of "Jack" Harris' fast ones and sent it between the hockey posts, and the handstand for a clean home run without it going into the river.

The game was all one way, so that there is not much to say about the victory, only that it was pleasing to the fans which saw the Reading team hang up the 16-1 defeat in the early season.

Here is the way the runs came over. The Legion being the first to score in the third inning.

Colucci was tossed out at first. "Nick" Fitzgerald singled, "Jim" Fitzgerald popped, "Tony" Colucci was safe on Kingsley's error. "Marty" McDonough then came through with as nice a home run as has been seen on the field this season, scoring "Nick" and "Tony" ahead of him. He came in standing up without much exertion.

The Legion scored again in the 5th putting over three more runs and doing one for the day. Colucci singled and so did "Nicky," "Jim" Fitzgerald drove a long one to right and when Douette, the Reading man, over and right fielder tried to pull a "Tom" Oliver catch, the ball got away from him and went for three bases scoring "Nick" and Colucci. "Tony" then drove out a single and "Jim" rode home. "Marty" fanned as Colucci stole. Tansey was passed. Hevey was called out on a strike and "Col" Weaver went out at first. This ended the scoring.

Tuesday noon a Ford coupe driven by Thomas Fahey of Hutchinson road when making a left turn into Pike's garage on Main street cut in front of an electric car. As a result the Ford was quite badly damaged along the left side. Fahey's companion, Miss Wilma Smith of Ridge street was not injured and the only damage was suffered by the automobile. Harold Brackett of Malden was in charge of the electric.

SANTO DOMINGO RELIEF

The Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross is accepting contributions for the relief of the sufferers in the Santo Domingo disaster. All donations should be sent to Mr. William Priest at the Winchester Savings Bank.

An interesting match of "little put" took place on Monday forenoon, so it is related, not far from the fire station. After the smoke had cleared it appeared that John O'Melia is the present holder of the title. Everett Kimball, according to witnesses, while a capable and crafty player, is hardly in O'Melia's class.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Herbert Ford of Somerville, while riding on Massachusetts avenue, Arlington, was knocked off his bicycle last week by Miss Lora Crawford of Swanton street, this town. The bicycle was badly damaged, but the rider was not injured beyond a bad shaking up.

A complete line of school supplies at the Star Office. Miss Betsey F. Nutter of the Kelley & Hawes Company is quite ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Vittinghoff have returned from Brookline, N. H. where they spent the summer months.

JOHN HARVARD

By Janet Sanderson, For The Springfield Republican

No name graven on the foundation stones of American history is more deeply carved or so rich in promise of endurance as the name of John Harvard.

Queen Elizabeth had been dead nearly five years when John Harvard was born. A change had been creeping over England in long reigns of the gayety of the Renaissance had been made for the austerity of the Reformation.

A conflict was going on between the parliaments of James and Charles on the questions of religion which meant to those days Puritanism.

The Puritans were deeply attached to the Church of England. They believed in her doctrine, discipline and government. The many abuses which had crept in made them long for the purity and simplicity of the earlier days, the language of Scripture, and the teaching of the Apostles. They loved outward reverence in the worship of God so that it be directed to the right object—not to altars and images, but to God. The life of the Puritan was made unbearable by many petty persecutions. The Reformation forbade the usual recreations of theater-going and hunting. Only the mild amusements of rowing and fishing were allowed.

The daily life of the Puritans was somewhat relieved by the printing press which had started on its active career. The events of the day were generally recorded from the Puritan standpoint. Eagerly were these pamphlets sought.

The facts centered about John Harvard's life are usually in three places—Southwark, a borough of London, Cambridge and Charlestown. The date of his birth, 1607, is determined by the parish register of St. Saviour's Church where he was baptized Nov. 29 of the same year.

There was an old custom of giving a token in the shape of a lead or pewter ticket to every communicant once a year. A record of these tickets was kept in the token book with the name and address of every communicant. This tells us the Harvards lived on High street, near the bridge which was the great gateway of London where many events were taking place. St. Saviour's Church near by was the home church of the family. Its bells had sounded in his ears from John Harvard's earliest infancy. It is a noble sanctuary with long aisles and clustering chapels and many ancient monuments. Today it serves as the cathedral of Southwark. Many families turned away from the church in those troublous times, but the Harvard family remained in faithful communion through all the centuries.

On High street were many inns, most famous of which was the Tabard Inn. Who can ever forget those "Merians setting out to Canterbury" with whose tales Chaucer has made us familiar?

Close by is the White Hart where the immortal Pickwick made the acquaintance of Sam Weller, and the Queen's Head Inn which Harvard's mother left to him in her will.

The Globe Theatre was also in the neighborhood. It is thought that John's father made friends with William Shakespeare and his actors even though the theater was regarded with abhorrence by most Puritans.

Such was the England into which John Harvard was born, an England struggling grimly for each man's right to adjust his own relationship with God and civil liberty for all men.

John Harvard had a particularly fortunate childhood—his father Robert was a man of integrity who kept a prosperous butcher's shop, his mother, Katherine Rogers by name was of simple, simple piety. It is thought that Robert's friendship with Shakespeare lead to his going to Stratford-upon-Avon to bring Katherine to London as his bride. Her husband Richard is now shown as the Harvard house.

As for Katherine she must have been a comely woman—fair to look upon—for we read she was three times married; first to Robert the butcher—after his death to John, a cooper—and after his death to Richard, a grocer. The money which was a blessing to Harvard College came from the earnings of these honest tradesmen.

There were brothers and sisters, Mary and Robert then John, Thomas, Katherine and Peter.

John Harvard had the good fortune to live in an interesting spot with profitable instruction of church and school. High street of itself was an education from the processions of merchants and dignitaries from foreign lands passing over London bridge, and religious processions to Parliament to present grievances of church or State.

All the Harvard boys attended St. Saviour's School. John entered at seven years of age taking the fee of two shillings six pence required of every pupil on entrance. In winter the lessons were studied by candle light as school opened at 7 a. m. At 11 a. m. came dinner and lessons resumed again till 5 p. m. In summer school extended from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. Nobody was allowed to take more than school except on quarter day when each took a contribution for brooms, not for domestic purposes but for burning his own back if unruled. No games played for money were allowed; but the boys could run, jump, wrestle, shoot with bows and arrows and play chess. There were only two boys in the school year, one to hear an oration in Westminster School, and a week's holiday in September.

All the Harvard family were on terms of special friendship with the chaplains of St. Saviour's. The father was a prominent churchman. One day a chaplain made very bitter attacks upon the actors of the Globe Theatre. This displeased the Harvard family for the actors worshipped on Sundays, brought their children for baptism, and here they were laid to rest. They were always ready to help the poor of the parish when special appeals were made.

Bishop Andrews who lived near by left a more fragrant memory in the minds of the Harvard family. Character was more than creed. Such a spirit was a great influence on the thoughtful mind of John Harvard in the impressionable early years of his life. That influence and the newly given Bible which had been hailed in England help to mold John Harvard's religious opinions. With the constant perusal of the Bible there was only one goal which John Harvard could reach. He was to be a Puritan, a member of the Church of England, the recognized home of Puritanism.

A faithful student he proved to be. High thinking and plain living were rigid rules for the next seven years. Two meals a day, dinner at 11, supper at 6 o'clock with meat, occasional pudding, bread, butter or cheese. College day from 6 in the morning till 11 at night. For games, quills, football, archery, bowling and chess if time allowed. He was a great favorite, making many friends among the best minds of the college. He trod the banks of the Cam with John Milton and Jeremy Taylor, and a friend of Lawrence Chaderton, the first master of the college, whose influence as a preacher was very strong. A memorial tablet in the chapel of Emmanuel College shows the figures of John Harvard and Lawrence Chaderton. In time there came a revolt against the narrowness of Puritanism and daring attacks on Luther and Calvinism. Many of the students sailed away to New England in quest of religious liberty.

In 1635 John Harvard completed his course and was ordained a preacher. He returned to a sad home. His mother had died and there only remained the satisfaction of visiting her grave in that church where he had been baptized and so often sat by her side in the happy boyhood days.

In 1636 he was married to Ann Sadler, the sister of a college friend. At this time he completed the collection of his library about 300 books, mostly the classics and theological works.

He was 29 years of age when he married and a few months later they sailed for New England taking with them the library which he considered of inestimable value—which later laid the foundation of the great library of Harvard College. Here indeed was the promise of a new life. New England who resolved that the hunger of his mind should not go unappeased, whatever fate might be in store for the hunger of his body.

Seven years at Emmanuel College had familiarized him with the idea of the new home which America was offering to all who yearned for greater religious and civil liberty than was possible in England.

Thomas Dudley had written from Boston "If any really men out of religious ends will come over and help us in the good work we are about, I think they can not dispose of themselves nor of their estates more to God's glory and the furtherance of their own reckoning."

Emmanuel College felt the call and contributed largely to the ministerial ranks of early New England.

Harvard made Charlestown his objective point. He was admitted an inhabitant Aug. 1, 1637. When they arrived a heated discussion was going on about some of the teachings. Toleration had not yet come into the order of the day.

Harvard was sometime minister of God's word during Mr. Symmes' pastorate but no account of his ordination has been preserved.

He was highly esteemed for his scholarship and it is written "John Harvard preached with tears and evidence of strong affection" in a temple of rude indeed compared with those of old England. It stood on the west side of what is now City square. His house was near by. His congregation of 200 souls attended regularly twice every Sunday.

Absorbed first in building a house and in religious preaching he took little part in community affairs, but he was on an important committee "to consider of some things tending towards a body of laws." He was highly esteemed for his scholarship and piety. He received grants of land from Charlestown which extended into what is now Winchester (shown by a marker recently placed at the corner of Washington and Forest streets). His keenest interest was the establishment of a large church had been proposed by the General Court the year before, 1636.

The rigorous climate of New England proved too much for his delicate constitution. After having withstood the severity of one New England winter and as the chill autumn days of the next winter came on he died of consumption Sept. 14, 1638 at the age of 31.

He bequeathed to the proposed college afterwards named in his honor one half of his estate together with his library.

An old record states that the sum of little less than 400 pounds was what the college authorities received.

The footsteps of John Harvard on American soil are hard to trace. The house where he lived was burned in 1775. An earlier fire burned all the books of his precious library but one—a poetry Puritan folio entitled "Christian Warfare" which is the only actual relic of the young minister now preserved in the library of Harvard College. A solid block of American granite stands in the grave yard on Burial Hill, Charlestown on the supposed spot where this stranger was laid to rest, scarcely a year after arrival on our shores.

John Harvard was a scholar, a statesman, a philanthropist. One whom Emmanuel College may have been proud to train and Harvard College proud to recognize as her benefactor. His dying inspiration has given him immortality.

In Emmanuel College is a gift of the Harvard alumni—a memorial brass tablet to perpetuate the gratitudes of the Harvard family.

In St. Saviour's Church is a window of rare beauty given by ambassador Choate in the Lady Chapel where John Harvard was buried.

There is not known to be extant a portrait or any delineation of his personality his form or his features. The statue in the college yard at Harvard is an exquisite molding in bronze fittingly described as the unveiling ceremony in 1884.

"A young scholar in academic costume and garb of his time with the refinement and gravity of pure, high thinking, gently touched by the weakness which was wasting his immature life, he rests for a moment from his converse with the wisdom on the printed page and raises his contemplative eyes to the spaces of all wisdom."

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Miss Abbie L. Moore Found After Shock

Noticing that papers left at the door of Miss Abbie Louise Moore's home at 85 Walnut street had not been taken in for several days, neighbors became alarmed Tuesday, and Mrs. Harry Sanborn of Black Horse terrace asked the police to investigate. Officers Edward O'Connell and Farrell were sent to the house by Sergeant Cassidy and failing to gain entrance finally broke a window.

They found Miss Moore lying on a couch in the dining room partly conscious and evidently suffering from a shock. Dr. Emery was called, who ordered her removal to the hospital. It is thought that she suffered the shock about three days previous to being discovered. Her condition is serious.

WALTER J. BROWN LOSES EYE

Mr. Walter Jackson Brown, past president of the Calumet Club and well known to a host of Winchester people, is at the Eye and Ear Infirmary, Boston, in a serious condition. He had one of his eyes removed last week and efforts are being made to save the other one. The outcome is unknown at present. In addition he is suffering from arthritis of the spine.

Mr. Brown, who is a well known Boston stock broker, was in a serious accident at North Cambridge about four months ago. Driving from Boston late at night he struck the railroad gates. His eyes were badly cut by flying blocks and since that time he has been almost constantly in the hospital, although able to come home for a short period a few weeks ago.

His eyes were apparently healing, but last week physicians in charge decided that further examination was necessary and an expert was called into the case, ordered the immediate removal of one eye as the only means of saving the other.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Creighton and their son, Mr. George A. Creighton, gave a dinner dance Tuesday evening for about 75 guests at their home at Little's Point, Swampscott, for their niece, Miss Mary Elizabeth Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong of this town. Miss Armstrong is entering Skidmore College this autumn.

Senator Charles C. Warren

EXPERIENCE IS GOOD IN POLITICS
AS WELL AS IN BUSINESS

Senator Warren is a lawyer and legislator of wide experience, he has served as a member of the Arlington School Committee, chairman of the Republican Town Committee, member of the Republican State Committee, Representative in the legislature for three years, during which time he was a member of the Ways and Means Committee and its clerk for two years; during his term in the Senate he served two years as chairman of the Committee on Legal Affairs, and for the past six years has been chairman of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, he has been chairman of two recess committees on the Boston Elevated Railway Co., and chairman of the Joint Committee of Metropolitan Affairs and Street Railways whenever the Elevated question has been before the legislature; he is a member of the Judiciary Committee, the Committees on Education, and Constitutional Law. As the result of this experience Senator Warren has attained a high position in the Senate and has been able to accomplish much for this District; his standing and service should strongly commend him for continuance in office.

Keep the chairmanship of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs in this Senatorial District.

ENTHUSIASTIC RALLY

Political Candidates Appear Before
Winchester Voters

Untrifling effort by the Women's Republican Club brought almost every candidate for the Republican State ticket to the Town Hall Wednesday evening for an enthusiastic rally, and those who attended were well repaid. After musical numbers by Tridau's Orchestra of Woburn, the club president, Mrs. Clara M. Snyder, introduced the candidates in her usual gracious manner, assisted by Mrs. Mabel E. Bradley, first vice-president who presided over the stop watch with efficiency, making sure that no candidate encroached upon another's allotted time.

Every conceivable issue pertaining to Winchester was discussed in the course of the evening. Abnerja and Sandy Beach pollution being dragged out on several occasions, but good feeling was generally apparent among the contestants and the voters were highly interested.

Lieut. Governor Youngman conveyed the greetings of Governor Allard and spoke in pleasing vein of Tercentenary guests and State doings. Congressman Dallinger in his excellent platform reviewed the course of his political career, commencing in the legislature at the age of 22. He was well heard in all parts of the hall and very favorably received, being preceded by Congressional candidate Fredo. Senatorial candidates Butler and Draper arrived early in the evening and as might be expected, were well worth hearing. Colonel Draper outlined economic recovery of the nation, adjustment of prohibition and sincerity in politics as the paramount issues of the campaign and argued against attempts at national standardization as represented in the proposed U. S. hour law. Ex-Senator Butler presented a plea for complete endorsement of the party platform and liberal support of the Constitution. He expressed zeal to equalize labor conditions in order to prevent cheap wages and long hours and showed clearly his vastly improved manner as a campaign speaker.

Anticipated "fireworks" when Mayor "Bossy" appeared as third candidate for U. S. Senator failed to materialize, as Gillis was detained at Fall River and later in Marlboro by a collapse of time schedule. The Marlboro delay also prevented candidate Draper from appearing for District Attorney, leaving the floor meanwhile to Thomas L. Thistle who gave a straight forward statement of Warren L. Bishop and George S. Harvey, also for District Attorney, who told of experiences in the criminal court.

All four candidates for State Senator, Messrs. Warren, Peters, Harris and Bitzer were well received. Warren pointed to recent achievements of Warren L. Bishop and George S. Harvey, also for District Attorney, who told of experiences in the criminal court.

promised to combat burdensome taxes. Harris, four times Governor's Councillor, stated he liked Warren, but thought he had been Senator long enough and told him so on the train that morning. Peters offered a report made some time ago by Arthur P. Little, Jr., chemical analyst, showing the bacterial condition of waters in the neighborhood of Sandy Beach. He promised efforts to clean up the beach, which compared unfavorably with Revere and very unfavorably with water examined at Nahant.

Fred J. Barrell, filling "Little Town Hall," with reverberations, warned against "political parasites" who control the State Treasury and George B. Willard pointed to investment and bank experience. Harry Bean, son of candidate J. W. Bean, gave the audience a moment's respite from speeches with "Wee house on the hillside" rendered in excellent tenor voice and candidate Wood asked for the same support as in the last primaries, which he felt would win. Russell D. Chase of Longmeadow stressed the idea of a practical business approach to the desirability of representation on the ticket from Republican Springfield and vicinity.

Other speakers were Thomas M. Vinson for Representative, who called for facts not virtues and Walter Perkins of Medford, Governor's Councillor, a Representative and later State Senator for many years. Officers of the Women's Republican Club, Mrs. Snyder were Mesdames Gladys R. Wilson, Helen I. Fessenden and Lorence M. Woodside as reception committee and Mesdames Beatrice M. Dulmer, Irene D. Elected by the Legislature May 15, 1930 to fill vacancy in the 6th Councillor District

Primaries—Sept. 16, 1930

(Signed) Walter Perham, Chelmsford, Mass.

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF WINCHESTER

I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative at the primaries to be held Tuesday, Sept. 16. The present incumbent who has been a Representative for the last eight years, due largely to the fact that he has had opposition only once in that time. It is the feeling of many that he has been there long enough, and his record is such that he does not deserve a re-nomination. I tried to get some support for his re-nomination, but there are those in the town who would like to represent it in the Legislature, no one seemed to be willing to engage in a contest. I was urged by many to run, and as no one else was willing, I decided to do so. As I have served in the House and Senate, I know the town of Winchester to live, the office is no novelty to me and holds forth no allurement. I am not running for office, but I am nominated or not; but Mr. Bateman ought to be defeated and I am willing to offer myself to that end.

Mr. Bateman has been the most colorless representative that this town has ever had. It has been represented by leading citizens, among them Edmund W. McNeil, Samuel J. Elder, Fred Joy, Forrest C. Manchester, Winfield S. Prime, Lewis Thibault, some of the ablest men this Commonwealth has produced, and it is a far cry from those who have represented the town in the past to the present representative. In the old days when the term was one year, nearly everyone was accorded a re-nomination. To receive a third term one had to have done something. In the eight years Mr. Bateman has been a representative he has done nothing for the Town of Winchester. Up to this year his record has been a blank and this year it has been a blot on the page. I have lived in this town 19 years and have taken active interest in town affairs. I have had positive views on important questions and the courage to fight for them with a fair measure of success. I don't think myself. This is always true of those who take positive positions. I submit it is better to have a representative one who has convictions than one who has not. There are too many "yes men" holding political office.

Mr. Bateman has done nothing to hasten the prevention of the pollution of the Abnerja River that is rapidly polluting Mystic Lake. He has done nothing to hasten the construction of the main trunk sewer of the Metropolitan District that will bring out the back up of water and the flooding of the cellars of many of the stores and residences in the town. He has not had a constructive suggestion on the Boston Elevated Railway problem.

During the last session of the Legislature a bill was introduced giving the Metropolitan District Commission authority to spend $50,000 to erect a public bath house on Sandy Beach, Mystic Lake, with the right to grant concessions. It was referred to the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs of which our present Senator, Charles C. Warren, of Arlington, is Chairman. Mr. Bateman knew of the measure and voted for it. See Journal of the House, pgs. 697, 717, 726, 740, 746. There was no opposition to debate. I understand the working of the Legislature sufficiently to know that Mr. Bateman recommended its passage in private conversation with his colleagues. Neither he nor Senator Warren notified anyone in Winchester of the hearing on the measure before the Committee and no one from our town was present in opposition. Senator Warren reported the bill for the Committee and it became a law, chapter 234 of the Acts of 1930, but he never would have done it, if Mr. Bateman had objected.

The town is up in arms against this law, now that the citizens have learned what has been put over on them. They have visions, and rights, at a condition at Sandy Beach similar to that at Revere Beach and at Lake Walden in Concord. Such a condition is unthinkable in Winchester. Sandy Beach is not a suitable place for a public bath house. There is not flow enough to the water to prevent pollution by bathers. A more desirable place is on the Mystic River below the dam where the tide ebbs and flows. Both Mr. Bateman and Senator Warren know that they have blundered and are trying to avert defeat by promising to work for the repeal of the measure at the next session of the Legislature. Some have fallen for that appeal. Such a proposition is childish and bland and ought to fool no one. Mr. Bateman's failure to protect the interests of his constituents is a result of want of opposition in the primaries during his long service. He became careless in his holding office. He would have no opposition for re-nomination. To re-nominate Mr. Bateman would be to reward negligence and indifference. How does he know he can have it repeated? The injury has been done. What standing would he have on repeat? He said to the Legislature last year that the measure was right. Next year he will say it was wrong. If the measure is repealed it can only be by the force of public opinion of this town. The repeal can only be accomplished by a new representative who is elected to see that it is done.

If elected, I pledge myself to that end. There should be meted out to Mr. Bateman the punishment that always awaits those who have been found grossly negligent to their trust.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Tonight at 8 o'clock an exhibition tennis match will be played on the new flood lighted tennis court. This match is to be in connection with the opening dance of the fall season.

Four of Winchester's outstanding tennis players will be the contestants all of whom are members of the club, and also are on the Winchester tennis team, Lars S. Sander, Stephen Thompson, Laurence Palmer and Dr. Robert Backer.

The flood light up of the court which was made possible through the continued efforts of Harry Gardner and "Ferd" Hawley is now a reality and is very satisfactory. This match will give followers of tennis an opportunity to see what a future there is in night playing. The public is cordially invited to attend.

At 9 o'clock the dance will begin, and it is a J. C. party. It is hoped that club members and friends of the club will patronize this dance as the tennis committee is in need of funds to help defray the cost of wiring and lighting the court. Good music and a good time is assured.

Notes

Many of Winchester's paddling men were sorry to hear of the death of "L. L." Goodwin, the genial partner of the American Canoe Association. The funeral was held at Newton on this past Wednesday. Nearly 50 members of the A. C. A. from this vicinity were present.

It is hoped that tomorrow and Sunday will be pleasant for the races which are to be held at Drake Island, Worcester. Avar Walker and Philip Hight are going to make a strong bid for the tandem double blade race. They have been training seriously for the past two weeks.

Saturday afternoon, Sept. 20, the annual fall splash regatta is to take place at the club. This offers an opportunity for everyone interested in light water sports to participate and have a good time. That evening there will be a regular club dance commencing at 8:30.

We are glad it is to be at night when that illuminated canoe parade in connection with Winchester's Tercentenary celebration is to be held, because we took a trip up the Aberjona in broad daylight the other day and "holy-smoke," what a time we had—for an obstacle race, those would be "pooftest" grounds. First, we got lost in the tall grass or sea weeds of "Jacon's meadow," better known as "Little Mystic." After locating the parkway bridge, we with difficulty "pooled" our way to it. Beyond the bridge we were almost asphyxiated by odors and gases not of the "Mary Garden" aroma. Pushing through these we were "rune" by an old castaway automobile tire which the how of the canoe had nosed right into. Before this, we had successfully eluded several of these "rangers." Casting off this "slight" encumbrance without upsetting, we urged ourselves forward. Nowhere were we able to locate a semihedge of a channel but the wonderfully greasy texture of the bottom mud made us glide along like as if we were on the ways at a launching. We just nosed getting a load of hot cinders as we went under the railroad bridge and the best we could do was to crash into an old yellow motor-cycle which had been nonchalantly tossed into our wateryway some years previous to this, by the looks. Our canvas side was "barked" a little but this did not deter our progress.

Emerging into the "marine" garden in front of Wedgemore Station we thought that we were in the Athens of America? What an outlook, landscape and view. "Picturask me!" It took all of our poling skill to navigate this portion of the river channel. There were none—obstacles? There were all kinds, from tree trunks to sea chests, from bottles to earbuds, from coffee cans to wash boilers, and so on, "ad finitem." Well, two of us "made" the Bacon street bridge by dint of nothing but labor. Coming out from under this noble structure, we had our hat knocked off our heads, because of a big spider web in our face (eye) we did not see a low swaying branch. We didn't bother to rescue our hat because we knew all our "poot" had been drowned in that stygian stream, and the color of our "chapeau" was instantly changed for the worse anyway, when the struck!

Wonder of wonders, for 100 yards we had free and clear passage! We bore up under the surprise and coasted into rich deep slime which held us back plenty. Then the worst plight of all. At the Island near the Manchester bridge the water brought to a complete stop. A grant, old tree right down in the Aberjona entirely blocking water traffic and it looked as if it had been there for months! No "travelaids" had advised us to "dodge that detour!" We almost gave up. Yes, we backed away and did not enter the channel. How fortunate we would make our trip after all! Tired, grimy, but happy, we finally made Winchester square, but our mad, companionable canoe. It was once a handsome olive green—now—well picture it yourself!

Mrs. Whitney, who married Dr. Whitney June 1924 at Jackson, was formerly Miss Marion Danforth Bird of 57 Yale street. Dr. Whitney has offices on Commonwealth avenue, Boston. During the summer they were at their estate at the Philbrook Farm, Shelburne.

Mr. Alexander Macdonald, superintendent of the park department, observed his 31st birthday last Friday, the occasion being fittingly commemorated by a gathering at his home during the evening. For over 25 years he has been a resident of this town, and for many years he has conducted a market in the square. Many old friends called to offer their congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loftus and their three daughters, Esther, Ruth and Mary Virginia, together with their guest, June Pettineil, returned to Winchester on Monday after spending the summer in Hillsboro.

Henry Knowlton who is a junior at Springfield College of Physical Education, has been assisting Coach Mansfield with the candidates for the football team until he returns to school.

Joseph J. Tansey has been appointed an instructor and football coach at the Clark School, Hanover, N. H., and left this week for that place. His football team will meet the Norwich University freshmen for its opening game and follows with a match with the Dartmouth freshmen.

David A. Carvill, painter and decorator; hardwood finishing a specialty. 145 Cambridge street, tel. 1701. autu-tf

A truck of the Woburn Oil Company was the cause of two alarms of fire being sounded last Friday forenoon when it blazed up and boxes 15 and 51 were rung off. The truck was owned by Frank Quinn of Woburn. While it was standing on Pond street a fire was discovered and Douglas M. Leland, the driver, had box 15 sounded. Box 51 at the corner of Pond and Cambridge street was sounded for the same blaze a little later. The damage was slight.

Have your heater cleaned before starting your fire, at a minimum service charge. Parker & Lane Co.

A five-ton Mack truck loaded with coal struck the rear of an electric car on Main street on Black Horse Hill Saturday forenoon, damaging the electric and short circuiting wires which started a slight fire. The electric was in charge of Harold Foye of North Reading. Hose 4 responded to a call for fire but was not needed.

J. Mulroney of Woburn was the driver of the truck. Both the electric and the truck were damaged but no one was injured.

Shortly after four o'clock Saturday afternoon a truck owned by J. B. Blanchard of Lawrence and operated by Belicia Lawrence caught fire at the center crossing. An alarm from box 21 was struck in, but the blaze, caused by a lost muffler, was extinguished with a hand chemical.

Mr. Walter E. Harding of 6 Falls road reported to the police Wednesday that his house had been entered, presumably by boys. A wall thermometer was taken and damage done. James J. Fitzgerald, Jr., Winchester's star athlete, has signed up for another season with the Fittin A. A. of East Boston. He plays his first game at Fort Banks, Wimbop, Sept. 21, when the team meets the Union A. A. of Norwell.

Word received from Laurence M. Lombard and E. M. Blissett, who have been hunting in Alaska is to the effect that they got two bears, one a grizzly and the other a brown bear. They flew to Alaska by airplane and are now flying hom by way of Pacific coast.

MISS WHITLEY AWARDED MASTER'S DEGREE AT COLUMBIA

Miss Ruth E. Whitley, daughter of Rev. John E. Whitley of Winchester last month finished her requirements and passed all tests for Master of Arts degree from Columbia University of New York City. Her preparation for teaching has been thorough since having taken the degree of B. A. from Radcliffe College in 1926, and a half year post-graduate work at the same college. She has taken studies in a summer session of teachers at Harvard University and a summer session in Bryant and Stratton Business School, besides touring Europe twice. At Columbia University she majored in History. After teaching English Literature and History for two and one half years at Georgetown High School she has acquired some experience.

Miss Whitley has just been appointed head of the History Department in the high school at Keene, N. H., a school of some 800 students. Her health is good and she is enjoying her work. Her many friends wish her success in this new field of success.

RIVER REFUSE SOON TO END

To the Editor of the Star:
May I call to your attention, in case you did not happen to see it, a clipping from the Boston Globe of Sept. 9, with reference to the Woburn sewer. Winchester Board of Health has been following this matter closely all summer and are inclined to feel that there will be no further refuse from Woburn coming down the Aberjona. While from the working of the clipping, it might not be gathered that the State is prepared to keep pressure on until things are finally straightened out, I think it can be said that the State is very much interested and will cooperate in every way.

It has, of course, been the position of the Board of Health right along that the completion of the Medford sewer and the Woburn sewer would both be necessary before a program of actual cleaning up the Aberjona could be advantageously undertaken. Now that the sewer situation is by way of being entirely straightened out, the question resolves itself into the matter of cleaning up an accumulated filth of years.

Very truly yours,
Richard Parkhurst

W. C. T. U. NOTES

At the monthly meeting of the Union held in the Methodist Church, the various candidates for nomination at the primaries were discussed. The president stated that one candidate had said: "We all recognize the fact that the prohibition law has been a benefit to our country in many ways, but I believe the evils resulting from this law far outweigh the benefits." He went on to enumerate the evils as "more drinking, hip flasks, more crime, bootleggers, etc."

We are wondering if this gentleman is too young to remember prohibition conditions or is he so old that he forgets? The president refreshed our minds by reading the following articles:

"The increase of crime is becoming one of the most startling notices in our daily newspapers. Eight murders are announced in New York for one week. Burglaries, forgeries, arson, are in like proportion." This was stated in Harper's Magazine, May 1925.

"In 1886 the W. C. T. U. were grieved over the fact that boys in public schools were carrying flasks in their pockets tempting younger boys and girls to drink."

"Illicit distilling and bootlegging continue without sign of abatement. During the past fiscal year 2465 illicit plants were seized and destroyed." Annual report of the United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue, June 1912.

Conditions in 1914. "Bootleggers, as blind pigs reported 3291 in Michigan, 2102 in Rhode Island, 141 in Ohio, 11,150 in New York State, and 10,046 in Illinois. Every one of these people are doing a bootlegging or blind pig business." We call the attention of our readers to the fact that thousands of licensed saloons existed (in addition to these illicit places) tempting the feet of the old as well as the young to enter. And the liquor dealers' slogan was "Treat the boys. Ten cents given away now will bring large returns in the future."

THANKS FROM SENATOR WARREN

To the Editor of the Star:
May I through your paper sincerely thank the voters of Winchester for expressing, by their votes for me, in the recent primaries of their confidence in the continuance of my service as their Representative in the Senate of the Commonwealth.

No Other MILK Service Like This in New England

It comprises every known aid, device and measure required for quality production and efficient operation and delivery

FROM the modest beginning 84 years ago, the Hood system has grown to be the largest milk service organization in New England. And one of the largest in the world.

It comprises in its make-up every known means, measure and facility known to modern milk distribution. We use 792 delivery wagons, 550 trucks and 28 glass lined cars that shuttle back and forth between town and country. Our pasteurizing plants are marvels of sanitation and precision.

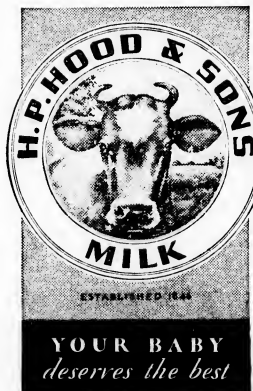

Equipment throughout that represents the sum total of knowledge of milk production, handling and distribution. At every point in this great system the factors of quality, safety and efficiency dominate the picture.

There is no other milk service in New England like this. There is no better anywhere. Hood customers find the quality of this service reflected in the quality of Hood's Milk.

HOOD'S GRADE A MILK

From Tuberculin Tested Cows Delivered fresh 7 days a week

H. P. HOOD & SONS, Dairy Experts
West Medford, Massachusetts, Telephone Mystic 0710

RICH MILK—Better than legal requirements for Grade A Milk. Rich all through.

CLEAN MILK—From clean cows, produced under rigid supervision. Hood's standards three times as strict as State laws.

TESTED COWS—From cows tuberculin tested under State and Federal supervision, and then especially selected by our own inspectors.

CLEAN BOTTLES—Bottles are scientifically cleaned and sterilized by the most modern equipment in New England.

SEALED BOTTLES—Double sealed to prevent tampering or contamination.

PASTEURIZED—With the most modern and scientifically correct methods and equipment.

POPULAR PRICED REFRIGERATORS

Overwhelming public approval of two popular priced electric refrigerators, announced by Frigidaire Corporation in July, has caused this subsidiary of General Motors to supplement them with two still larger models in the low price range. The two new models, one with eight, and the other with nine square feet of shelf space, round out a complete line of popular priced units ranging in price at the factory from $157.50 to $210. All four models are finished in porcelain-on-steel, the use of painted exteriors having been discontinued. In rounding out the popular priced line, it has practically reached one of its earliest goals—that of providing an electric refrigerator model for every home. In addition to the four low-price models for the millions of families in the average income class, we have our regular household refrigerators plus a line of multi-cold Frigidaires that offers the finest in domestic electric refrigeration.

ALLSTON ALLEN STILLMAN

Allston Allen Stillman of 292 Fuller street, Brookline, a former resident of Winchester, died suddenly of an acute heart attack last Sunday at Hyannis where he was enjoying a vacation. He was 55 years old. Mr. Stillman was a native of Westfield, Conn., the son of Capt. Charles Allen Stillman, U. S. M. C., and Harriet Allen Stillman. He was educated in Hartford, Conn., and was an importer of tea and coffee, doing business under the firm name of Allston A. Stillman & Co. at 231 Milk street Boston.

About 37 years ago Mr. Stillman came to Winchester and made his home here until 1928 when he removed to Brookline. Surviving are his wife, who was Miss Ethel Carter of New Mexico, and two sisters, Mrs. Robert F. Whitney of Winchester and Mrs. Harry Raynes of Rockport. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Whitney's home on Walnut street with the Rev. Truman Hemmway, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

FORMER WINCHESTER CHORISTMASTER AT BELMONT CHURCH

Mr. Richard G. Appel, former organist and choirmaster at the Church of the Epiphany, began last Sunday his new duties as organist and choir director at the Payson Park Congregational Church in Belmont. Mr. Appel is a student of leaders in his profession. Wolfe and Kinder, in Pennsylvania; Daniel Gregory Mason in New York and Wallace Goodrich in this city, and while studying for his master's degree at Harvard, won the Booth prize in vocal composition. He is also a Fellow of the American Guild of Organists and music librarian for the Boston Public Library.

According to the police, Haynes was going east on Cross street when the little girl ran across the roadway and against the left rear fender of his machine. Haynes picked the child up and took her to the Winchester Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy for bruises on the arm and hips. After treatment she was taken to her home.

The Clays of Lloyd street are returning to town this week, having closed their cottage "Altissimus" at Blodgett, Lake Sunapee, N. H.

GEORGE E. WILLEY HONORED

Chosen President of United States Fisheries Association
Mr. George E. Willey of this town, president of the Boston firm of Lincoln, Willey Company, an ex-Secretman and prominent in the town's affairs, was chosen president of the United States Fisheries Association at the joint convention of the United States and Canadian Fisheries Associations at Montreal, Monday.

OLD STORE OF EDMUND SANDERSON

WINCHESTER TERCENTENARY

Continued by Charles A. Lane

Business in Winchester
The first store in Winchester, then South Woburn, was owned by Paul Wyman in 1775. He was succeeded by his son, Joseph, whose death the store was given up in 1810 thus being carried on for 35 years. This store stood at the junction of Washington and Main streets. There were sold molasses, brown sugar, tea, a few spices and West India rum.

William Grammer opened another store nearby in 1825 which divided the former trade. In 1837 John Skamies moved out of Boston and built a store for general assortment, near the southern corner of Fairview terrace and Main street. In 1837 S. S. Richardson built a store on the spot where Lyceum Building now stands.

During the year 1842 James Bridge built a store in South Woburn which after running till about 1845 he sold to Lindley & Taylor. Three months after this sale Mr. Lindley sold out to Edmund Sanderson and in the year 1846 the grocery business was begun under the name of A. Taylor & Co. and the first express business of the town was carried on in connection with it.

In 1850 Bacon Felt Mill was in full operation making felt hat material and wooden goods.
The Converse Corn Mill stood near the corner of Converse place and Main street on the opposite side of the road, and that particular site has a colonial history for 200 years, for there men by one means or another earned their living. The first enterpriser was the Converse corn mill, the last the Whitney Machine Shop and dozens of other lines of trade in the years between the two, the latter machine shop being abandoned by the town when the Park System made the present improvements.

Cutter's Mill was in 1850 a place of great industry and profit. Seventy-five years after it had been a grist mill run by Joseph Richardson. This mill stood on Main street just north of Lake street and the same side.

In 1850 the Church and Lane pianoforte mill carried on by ancestor of the writer was for many years one of the flourishing industries of the town.

About 1850 Lea and Harrison Parker had a mill for sawing lumber into veneers but later gave up that mill and moved to the center of town. Their first mill was on a canal leading from the Abington River to North Winchester above Cross street. J. H. Wain bought the property and made watch hands. The same business is now carried on by his sons.

Street Names

In the year 1850 Cross street was called "The Lane." In 1725 this Lane was just a path that crossed the fields. Gates and bars had to be taken down and put up after passing to and fro.

In 1810 Washington street was called Richardson's Row and when the writer was a boy the first railroad station after leaving Winchester on the Woburn branch carried that name but was changed to "Cross street."

Cambridge street in 1846 was called Plain street.

Church street from the corner of Bacon to Cambridge street was called Driver's Lane.

Bacon street was laid out as a street in 1825.

Pleasant street in the center now Mt. Vernon street, was laid out in 1817.

Residents of Winchester

David N. Skillings came to Winchester in 1855 and did much toward the development of Winchester, as did James F. Dwyer, Moses A. Herick and Edwin Ginn. William C. Jarvis, one of the ablest men of his time as lawyer, lived on Washington street near Nelson street. He was a member of the Legislature in 1830 and once Speaker of the House.

Francis Alexander Durivage lived in Winchester from 1850 to 1880. His mother was a sister of Edward Everett and Alexander H. Everett, the latter a minister to China and President of Louisiana College, the former brother was Governor of Massachusetts and minister to England. Edward Everett lived in Winchester and built and lived on a large estate on the shores of Mystic Lake, opposite the entrance to the Elder estate, and south from the Winchester Boat Club.

Nathan Hale, father of Edward Everett Hale and editor of the Boston Daily Advertiser married a sister of Edward Everett.

Wedge Pond remained much in its original state until about 1810. Admiral Spicer lived on the southerly end of what is now Curtis street near the residence of Mr. Thomas Dwyer. Admiral Thatcher at the northerly end where Mr. Thomas Quincy lived and the Honorable Frederick O. Prince on the easterly end.

Nathaniel A. Richardson who lived on Washington street, whose avenue was of the seventh generation from Samuel Richardson, one of the first settlers. He was a Representative to the Massachusetts Legislature at the age of 21 years from

THE Waltham Oil Burner, recently presented by the New England Trade and now being distributed by us in this locality, has been designed and manufactured solely to meet the great need of both home owner and heating engineer for a burner of highest quality, to be held at a conservative price.

The Waltham Oil Burner measures fully up to our highest standards and marks a decided advancement in a better burner. This is due to its use of new and vital improvements which make possible greater efficiency of operation. The Waltham is built to New England's highest standards of quality, appearance and sturdy construction and will last a lifetime.

Being specialists in heating engineering problems and not in the ordinary sense a burner sales agency, we can assure you that the Waltham has everything in it of better than have been waiting for. Don't decide on yours until you have seen the Waltham.

Come in today, we will be glad to give you complete details and demonstrate it to you.

Chop Suey Ingredient
The bean used in chop suey is the young bean. This is an oriental bean grown primarily in China and Japan. The bean sprouts grow to be from one to one and one-half inches long. It is only the bean sprout that is used, as practically all of the bean goes to sprout. For sprouting, the bean should be soaked 24 hours in water and then placed in a well drained container and kept at a medium temperature for about ten days. The bean should be moistened daily.

MILK CHART FOR MONTH OF JULY 1930

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL MEN HARD AT WORK

Opening Game With Stoneham Next Saturday—Prospects None too Good

Toward the close of the second week of football practice Coach Wendell D. Mansfield is working his Winchester High School candidates carefully with a view to selecting the 11 players who will take the field against Stoneham High next Saturday in the opening game of the fall campaign for the Red and Black.

Fifty-five boys reported for the team this fall, but for the most part the candidates are mediocre. For experienced, so that Coach Mansfield is none too optimistic about his prospects for a winning season.

Several boys, of whom the coach was depending for his varsity nucleus, either did not return to school or for one reason or another are not out for football. There is an especial dearth of tackles and ends this year and several shifts will be necessary to round out a capable line.

Possibly the loss of "Johnny" Morton, injured end of last season, and of Paul Wellum, dependable tackle of a year ago, have been the coach's chief changes. Morton has entered Rivers School and Wellum has a bad foot which seems destined to keep him out of competition this fall.

With these boys in their old positions Winchester's frontier would be big, rugged and experienced, but without them the locals have no veteran tackles and only ratty "Eddie" Hiteborn with experience in end play.

Coach Mansfield is attempting to meet the situation by shifting "Dan" Smith, down guard of last year, and "Butte" Colby, last season's utility lineman to tackle berth, leaving "Joe" Flaherty and "Back" Daley to fill the guard positions. Hiteborn and "Dan" Smith are the only players in this group who own varsity letters though Colby, Daley and Flaherty all saw service a year ago.

The bright spot on the line is center where Winchester has (Capt. "Don" Emery one of the best snap-backs in the Mystic Valley League ranks. Ralph Ambrose, who played some great defensive football at center a year ago will probably have to play both center and guard this season. "Boss" Conner, last year's favorite tackle has left school. "Framie" Felt, bulky tackle, is ineligible and "Bunk" Nowell, big guard, so-timed an injury last year which will keep him on the sidelines this fall.

Several husky youngsters with the weight so badly needed to balance the squad have decided not to play football this year.

In the backfield Winchester's prospects are better, four letter men being available. In Wilmer Smith, "Robbie" Lee, "Robbie" Robinson and "Bill" Brown. Smith and Robinson were kept out of action much of last season by injuries, but both are capable backs and will help the local cause this year no end. Lee is potentially the best back on the Mystic Valley circuit and this may be the year in which he will get going in earnest. He can kick and pass with the best, backs up a line well and is stoppable when he wants to run. Brown saw much service a year ago at both halfback and quarterback and gives this year's squad a good example in having a veteran signal-barker available.

Chief among the new men coming up to the team this year are two sophomores, who seem to have the makings. "Hal" Knowlton, brother of the famous "Hennie" looks like the best all around back to come out for football at Stoneham since his brother, and there is no doubt but that he would have been first string a year ago, had it not been for the afternoon fracture of his arm. The other promising sophomore is "Indian" DiVella, who is making a strong bid for an end position. Coach Lamblin, who played last season, is a candidate for a backfield job this fall.

On paper it looks as though Winchester may have a fairly capable first team, but experienced replacement material seems few and far between. Coach Mansfield is working overtime in an effort to uncover new players of ability and is being assisted by Dana Kelley, ex-high school Harvard quarterback, Coach "M.M." Werner is to assume charge of the freshman eleven which will be called out next week. "Chief" O'Brien is this year's varsity manager.

MACKINNON, B. & M. GENERAL COUNSEL

The appointment of Allan P. Mackinnon of Winchester as general counsel of the Boston & Maine Railroad was announced yesterday by President E. S. French. Mr. Mackinnon a graduate of Dartmouth in the class of 1912 and of Harvard Law School in the class of 1914, has been in charge of the railroad's law department as general solicitor since 1925, and has been with the railroad since shortly after his graduation from law school. He resides at 21 Everett street.

Mr. Mackinnon announces a reorganization of the Boston & Maine's law department, with W. A. Cole of Boston promoted from solicitor to general attorney. Mr. Cole, a graduate of Harvard in the class of 1909 and from the Harvard Law School in 1912, has represented the Boston & Maine in some of its most important legal proceedings in recent years. George E. Kimball of Winchester, John B. Wakefield and Richard W. Hall of Cambridge are promoted from assistant solicitors to rank as attorneys.

Conveyancer C. O. Woodward of Newton, General Claim Agent R. T. Duman of Winchester and Freight Agent C. M. Macdonald of Middleboro are continued in their present duties and titles.

Paul O. Klinger, who has been tax accountant, becomes tax commissioner, and David S. Dow and John A. Barnes are advanced to rank as assistant attorneys.

THE CANARY ISLANDS: PROPOSED MID-OCEAN AIR PORT

A German company recently announced that the Canary Islands would be selected as a stopping place for German planes bound for South America. The Canaries will be to the Europe-South America transatlantic air route what it has been announced the Azores will be to the proposed Europe-North America route.

The Canaries, poking their mountainous heads in grotesque shapes above the surface of the Atlantic about 60 miles off the northwest shoulder of Africa, have long figured in transatlantic travel, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Columbus stopped at Palma Island on his way to America.

The 13 islands (seven large and six small ones) form a cup-shaped archipelago, with Ferro standing aloof to the southwest. The archipelago is of volcanic origin; the height of its mountain peaks, thrust up from the bed of the Atlantic by violent eruptions, range from a few hundred to more than 12,000 feet. The Peak on Tenerife Island reaches 12,192 feet above sea level. Canaries, however, skinned natives found on the islands by Columbus and other early visitors whose ancestors frequently felt the wrath of the Peak, call it "Teide," meaning "Hell."

Twice the Area of Rhode Island. Five of the Canaries, Tenerife, Palma, Ferro, Gran Canaria and Lanzarote, rise individually from the deep sea. Lanzarote, Fuerteventura and six small islets rise from the same volcanic base.

From shore to mountain peak, travelers in the Canaries find climates ranging from that of North Africa to that of northern Europe. The North African climate, where the warm sun promotes growth of banana and orange trees, sugar cane and cactus, is found up to 12,000 feet above sea level. Slightly higher is the balmy climate of the French Riviera and central Italy. Farther up the islands are the cold winds of the Madeiras, to the north. Above 6,000 feet the cool atmosphere of northern Europe prevails, while among the high peaks snow shoes may be used nearly all year round.

If all the Canaries were drawn together, two Rhode Islands could be made. The islands are on the side by side and a portion of the Canaries would still be uncovered. But the "Canarians" number only about seven thirds of the population of Rhode Island.

Splendid harbors are found along the Canary shores with the ports of Santa Cruz, La Orotava and Las Palmas. Palma, handling the bulk of the islands' trade, Santa Cruz, a mass of yellow and white houses gleaming under flat roofs, is the capital and the archipelago. Dust from the surrounding hills is a menace to travelers in the city but a panorama of the sea and the side by side cacti that the natives are unimpaired of the nuisance. The Spanish governor of the Canaries resides in Santa Cruz. The islands are not a colony, but a part of Spain.

Bananas have become the chief commodities of the Canaries in recent years. Until 1873 the Canaries made the archipelago famous in Europe. A plant disease destroyed the vineyards and cochineal dried bodies of certain female insects that cling to leaves of cactus plants, poured money into the pockets of the agricultural population. Sugar cane, potatoes, tomatoes and

From spinning wheel to modern factory, from stage-coach and clipper ship to New York plane, the amazing pageant of Massachusetts is authentically reprinted on Harvard's remarkable talking film, "Nine Centuries of Massachusetts," now showing at the University House in Boston at popular prices at $2.30, 4 and $3.00 p. m. daily.

This picture, which constitutes the first serious attempt to preserve in permanent form the whole pictorial record of the development of the Bay State, was first shown as an important part of the Tercentenary celebration at Symphony Hall, Boston, on July 7. It was produced by the University Film Foundation, under the personal direction of Prof. Albert Bassnett Hart, famous Harvard scholar and dean of American historians. Professor Hart's own vibrant voice accompanies the picture, in running commentary upon the scenes and events depicted.

Authentic in its treatment, the picture shows real scenes of real Colonial life in genuine Colonial houses and on historic sites. Costumes and customs are always accurately to their period, and, wherever possible, actual descendants of historic characters play the parts of their ancestors.

Technically, too, the picture is in a class by itself. Special film stocks and special processes were used to produce proper reproduction of ancient portraits and documents. Special pains were taken to avoid the occasional harshness of talkie sound reproduction.

From the Pilgrims' first glimpse of Cape Cod to the departure of the New York plane today, the picture is a rich living record of Massachusetts history. Once again the courageous Pilgrim tells with crude plow a rocky soil, while in charmingly intimate scenes his wife and daughters perform their household tasks. Indians sit down in friendly talk with the settler or rise against him. Toothless witches weave their spells, and bewitching Puritan maid glances demurely over their blouses. The epic Revolutionary war is shown in a stirring sequence, and then the picturesque days of the young republic—fiddlers, cowboys, the War of 1812, and the gradual evolution of that New England culture which is now a national tradition. Clipper ships sail the seas, and whalers chase Moby Dick up and down the Atlantic. Manufacture booms with the advent of steam power and machinery. Civil war flames across the continent, and the victorious West becomes a new and important influence upon the old Bay State. The picture ends with a showing in one wide panorama the teeming activity in which we live today.

The University Film Foundation, which produced this picture, is a non-profit institution, established to collect, make and preserve pictures of permanent educational, artistic and scientific value. It maintains a studio and laboratories on the grounds of Harvard University. Its films and photographs are available to schools, colleges, libraries, museums, clubs, churches and social organizations everywhere.

UNIVERSITY THEATER

"Joe" Cook, the famous "one man" show, termed by many dramatic critics "The funniest man in America" makes his motion picture debut in "Riot or Shine" which starts Sunday for four days. "Joe" Cook has earned for himself the unique title of "the one-man" show based upon his versatility. He not only can dance, but can do an entire show himself. He sings, plays various musical instruments, performs difficult acrobatic feats, juggles, conjures, walks wire rope and does trick sharp shooting.

"The White Hell of Pitz Palu," the companion feature, was photographed in the high Alps in Switzerland. Pitz Palu is one of the highest, most hazardous and forbidding-looking in Switzerland. The story mainly concerns the plight of three persons, two men and a girl who are trapped while climbing Pitz Palu.

Not since the memorable days of 10 years or more ago when an all star cast was that and nothing less, has a more distinguished group of players appeared with a star than the one which now supports Lillian Glub in "One Romantic Night" which starts Thursday, Rod La Rocca, Conrad Nagel, Marie Dressler and O. P. Heggie are some of the noted players who assist her. The story is laid in gay Vienna and concerns an heiress to an immense fortune, who is made the victim of her mother's plot to marry her to a neighboring prince. The girl believes, however, that she is in love with a penniless, dreaming dreamer but later discovers that the prince's stolid, passionate kiss convinces her otherwise. She flees with her prince after many amusing scenes.

"Lawful Larceny" the companion feature is a faithful adaptation of the famous New York stage success, and is just as entertaining. Belle Bonnie is the star and is supported by Olive Tell, Lowell Sherman, Doreen Pratt and Kenneth Thomson.

TOWN TEAM OPENS OCT. 12

"An-ha" Amos's Winchester Town Football Team opens its 1930 season Sept. 28 with the Hull Town Team at Hull, and on Oct. 12 will journey to Bedford for a game with the Bedford Town Team.

The locals have been holding regular practice sessions and are gradually rounding into form for the fall campaign. The boys are to be equipped this season with Crimson jerseys, having numbers on the back. This makes it easier to identify. They will also permit the locals to book games with teams who demand uniformed clubs as opponents.

Mr. H. Wellington Stevens, Jr., son of E. Nelson and M. S. Henry, Jr., was left town this week's center St. John's College at Annapolis, Md.

JEWISH VISITATION LAST SUNDAY

The first of the fall visitations at the Jewish cemeteries to the north of the town took place last Sunday, hundreds of mourners passing through Winchester during the day.

Police officials characterized the traffic as unusually heavy, and experienced on such an occasion, a detour in St. James accounting for many additional machines.

Notwithstanding the mass of cars there was not a single automobile accident reported during the day, the police under their chief, William H. Rogers, doing a splendid job in handling the traffic so as to keep the town's highways relatively free from congestion.

Chief Rogers with Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy was early at the cemeteries, but it was not until 10 o'clock that the traffic became really heavy. Winchester from Forest street was made a one-way street by the authorities and the machines were routed to that came returned through Forest street but upon leaving the cemeteries were sent north to return through Woburn.

Patrolmen James E. Farrell and John Boyle were on duty at the cemetery with Patrolman John E. Hamilton at Washington and Forest streets. Patrolman Joseph Perry was stationed at St. Mary's Church and Patrolman John Murray at Washington and St. James streets. Patrolman Joseph O'Brien was at Washington and Cross streets and Patrolman William E. Cassidy at Washington and Forest streets. Patrolman Joseph O'Brien was on duty on Washington street and Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell patrolled the cemetery between the school and the center. In the center were Traffic Officers John H. Noonan and Henry P. Dempsey. Lieut. John Harold and Lieut. John P. Kelley were at Headquarters.

WINCHESTER GIRLS' ATHLETIC CLUB TO START HOCKEY PRACTICE

Winchester Girls' Athletic Club is looking forward to a strenuous fall campaign on the field hockey gridiron and is to hold its first practice session Saturday afternoon, any girl in Winchester, not in high school, is eligible to join the athletic club and will find a cordial welcome awaiting her on the playground Saturday.

This fall Winchester is to be a member of the Boston Field Hockey Association and will play in the Saturday afternoon division of the league with the Morley Club and Lexington. The morning division comprises the Commonwealth and Wellesley Clubs and the Froebsters. A championship play-off between the winners of the two divisions will close the season.

Winchester expects to place a strong team on the field this year. Chief among the new players is "Kay" Carlisle, one of Winchester's great all-time performers who closed a brilliant season in the Wheaton College team last fall. "Pug" Mercer, Winchester High's star goal-guard of last season, is another star to fall in line and it is hoped that "Ginny" Merrill, last year at Connecticut College, Mary Carr, ex-Radcliffe player, Molly Tufts, Louise Backer and Nancy Brice, all of Boston School, will be able to play. These girls with "Dut" MacKenzie, former All-Boston wing, "Fran" Pettigrew, capable inner circle, and a championship eleven in high school, "Lou" Skilling of Posse and Anna Dolan, ex-high school player, should give the locals quite an outfit.

Winchester will play its first game Oct. 11 with some school team, yet to be secured.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

In Lyceum Hall last night the Court conducted a most successful whist and bridge in aid of the charity fund. A fine sum was realized and the proceeds will be used to increase the amount to be used to further the good work of the charitable work of the Court. Miss Katharine E. O'Connor was the successful champion and charge and to her belongs the credit for the success of the party.

The members of the Court paraded in Boston Wednesday with the State C. D. of A. and the showing of the members was splendid. Past District Deputy Elizabeth C. McDonald, Past Master Jane Kime and Mrs. Katharine Welch were in charge of the Winchester delegation. Following the parade the C. D. of A. members were entertained at a banquet at the Ansonia Clubhouse, 90 Washington street, by Ansonia Court C. D. of A. There was an orchestra and Italian opera singers and among the guests were the state regents of the several N. E. states.

DANIEL W. PRATT

Daniel W. Pratt of S. Larrance street passed away on Sept. 16. He was 75 years of age and a son of Daniel and Sarah Pratt Pratt. He was born in Somerville Sept. 6, 1855.

Mr. Pratt was a graduate of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute in the class of 1877 as a Civil Engineer, and soon after became associated with the engineering firm of Ernest W. Bowditch of Boston.

He was a resident of Winchester for many years, always taking an active interest in town affairs, having designed its very well thought out sewerage system and serving as chairman of the Select Board during the major part of the construction period.

His many maps and surveys, covering many years and large sections of the town, were of much value in the development of the Engineering Department.

His engineering activities extended into many States and included not only the designs and construction of sewerage disposal, but water works and landscape development. Mr. Pratt was a member of the William Parkman Lodge of Masons, The Boston Engineering Society and the Worcester Polytechnic Alumni Association. He was always interested in the Winchester Unitarian Society and was a member of the building committee of the present church.

On May 1, 1882, married Alice Helen Fletcher of Winchester whose death occurred only a month ago. Mr. Pratt is survived by a brother, Charles H. Pratt of Somerville.

The funeral service will be held at his residence at 230 p. m. Friday, Sept. 19, with Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

DR. CHIDLEY TO PREACH ON THE TWENTY-THIRD PSALM

Beginning next Sunday morning, at the first service, Dr. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church will begin a series of sermons on the Twenty-Third Psalm of David. The dates and subjects of the sermons will be as follows:

- Sept. 21—"The Melody of God's Love"
- Sept. 21—"The Lord is my Shepherd."
- Oct. 2—"I shall not want."
- Oct. 12—"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters."
- Oct. 12—"He restoreth my Soul."
- Oct. 12—"He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness, because of His great mercies."
- Oct. 12—"Rev. I foretold L. Linsley, D.D., of New York City."
- Nov. 2—"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou art with me, O God, and staff, they cannot hurt me."
- Nov. 16—"I prepared a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; Thou hast enlarged my heart with oil; my cup runneth over."
- Nov. 16—"Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life."
- Nov. 16—"And I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

The public is cordially invited.

CHIEF DECOUREY BACK FROM CONVENTION

Fire Chief David H. DeCourcy returned Monday from the International Fire Chiefs' Convention at Winnipeg, Manitoba. Chief DeCourcy reported that one of the best attended and most worth while conventions possible, but stated that the weather at Winnipeg was insufferably hot. The chief has been warned to bring plenty of warm clothing with him and as a consequence Winnipeg haberdashers reaped a fair-sized harvest during the fire-chief's stay.

Among the many interesting topics which the convention dealt with was salvage work and the prevention of excessive damage in fighting house fires. Experts in this line, some from the Fire College in Los Angeles, Cal., gave illustrated lectures in this important field and Chief DeCourcy picked up several new ideas which he will incorporate into his own system of handling fires in dwellings. He noted that experts were unanimous in their advocacy of the use of the smaller and one-half inch hose in fighting house fires. Chief DeCourcy had equipped his department with this hose some time previous to the convention, having been convinced of its efficacy for some time.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF CHESTNUT HILL GIRL TO WINCHESTER ATHLETE

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Gaffney of Chestnut Hill and Swampscott announce the engagement of their sister, Miss Mary Elizabeth Lyons, to James Joseph Fitzgerald, Jr., of Winchester. Miss Lyons is a graduate of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary and attended the Margaret School of Physiotherapy Education. Mr. Fitzgerald is a graduate of Tufts Engineering School, class of 1929, and is a member of the Delta Upsilon Fraternity. Mr. Fitzgerald was a member of the football, basketball and baseball teams at Tufts and was picked by many sports authorities as one of the best college tackles in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Mullin have closed their summer home at Settaut and returned home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Rowe have returned from Beach Pines, Saco, Me., where they have been spending the summer.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

"Science will never be able to remake an old man into a young one, and no normal adult would want to undergo such an experiment," says Dr. Serge Veroff, of the famous rejuvenation specialist. "My experience is that people who have lived full lives and have exercised their intellectual and emotional faculties have no desire to be thrown back into youth."

In Winchester as elsewhere there are a great many people who somehow have managed to keep their youth in our own immediate circle—who have never experienced all that they might have experienced, and whose lives, for some reason, have missed the richness of thought and feeling that they might have had.

One of the aspects of life that is difficult to understand is the fact that nearly all of our important decisions and selections have to be made when we are young, immature and quite unfamiliar with the ways of the world. The youth sets forth without any very clear idea of what he wants to accomplish or where he wants to go, and drifts into manifold alone devious paths of chance, and when experience has made him wise enough to select his goal properly, he generally regrets the discovery that he has gone in the wrong direction. So it comes to pass that the man of 45 or 50 is inclined to look back over his life and wish that he might have shaped certain parts of it differently. And it is seldom the downright blunder that is the cause of regret; it is the "missed opportunity"—the time when a different course of action would have brought some higher, sharper emotional or spiritual experience. We live briefly and much of our time must be taken up by trivialities; what a shame to lose out on any real moment of ecstasy or vision!

WINCHESTER TRICENTENARY EVENTS IN THE TOWN'S HISTORY

THE OLD MIDDLESEX CANAL

The Middlesex Canal belongs to the first half of the nineteenth century. The R. R. road belongs to the last half of the nineteenth century.

In the month of May 1793 a number of gentlemen met together for the purpose of opening a canal for the waters of the Merrimack, by Concord River, or in some way, through the water of the Merrimack River to the town of Boston.

The idea originated in the fertile mind of James Sullivan who was at this time attorney general and later Governor of Massachusetts. A charter was obtained incorporating James Sullivan and others bearing date June 22, 1793 and signed by Governor John Hancock.

Thus organized the next step was the necessary survey and the most eligible route. A distinguished English Engineer who was in the country working on the Potomac Canals, 1794, was engaged to make the survey and the first cut was removed on September 10th, in the same year.

The work was prosecuted with great vigor till 1803 when the canal was so far completed as to be navigable from the Merrimack River to the Concord River, the first boat having been actually run over a portion of the canal on April 22, 1802.

The Canal was twenty-seven and one half miles long, 30 feet wide at the surface, 18 feet wide at the bottom and 1 foot deep. The locks were 11 feet wide and 75 feet long with an average lift of about 7 feet. Some locks were built of wood and some of stone. Altogether there were seven aqueducts over rivers and streams, fifty bridges spanning the canal and twenty locks. Four of the locks were five miles long, the rest from one to three miles each.

The total cost of the canal was $2,800,000 of which one-third was for land damages. This amount was later doubled in repairing and rebuilding the canal. Much of the work was done by contract. Laborers received about $8 per month wages, carpenters from $10 to $15 per month.

The Canal began at the Merrimack River in the town of Chelmsford and was lifted through a connected flight of locks. It ran under the main street, over an aqueduct across the brook (near which are some quaint old houses erected by proprietors for use of employees) and through the long swamp to River Meadow Brook also crossed by aqueducts and then conducted to North Billerica.

The Canal is still used (1898) by the Talbot Mills for the supply of water for power and in this connection they have obtained one of the best preserved and most interesting features of the old canal. At this point the Concord River crosses at grade, a floating bridge serving as a tow path and the tow path swinging clear in the waters of the river.

ments which extend to the Abernethy where was the stone aqueduct of 1827. It is interesting to observe that the Metropolitan Waterworks occupied the bed of the Canal for some distance.

For something over a mile the Canal lay within the grounds of the Brooks Estate.

Half a mile further south was another lock and the aqueduct of the Mystic River.

The Canal turned to the East at this point and on past the Royal House where it passed under Main Street and sent a branch to the river for the benefit of the ship yards of Medford and Charlestown and so on through the Mystic River park to the foot of Winter Hill.

From here the Canal followed the line of the high land around the sharp bend in the Mystic River then to the South through nearly the center of Broadway park; around the hills, and nearly parallel to Main Street to the Neck where it passed under Main Street, through a lock into the Mill pond. Most of the cargoes were loaded here, but for those wishing carriage to Boston there was a lock with double gates working either way according to the state of the tide, for admission into Charles River. Once in the river it was an easy matter to reach any of the city wharves but there was also an extension of the Canal through the area on which the old Boston and Maine depot stood, Canal Street being directly along side across Haymarket Square following nearly the line of Blackstone Street to the harbor near what is now North Market Street.

The entire trip from Boston to Concord, if the boat returned from a week to ten days.

Between Boston and Lowell, twenty-seven miles, the usual time for the trip was eighteen hours up and twelve hours down while the passage boats made the trip in twelve and eight hours. The freight boats were of various sizes, from small and parallel sides and between 40 and 75 feet long and 9 feet wide.

In the Canal proper the boats were towed by horses and frequently without a driver in which case the man at the rudder kept a small pile of stones or green grass ready for the emergency to stop the horse. The rudder was a long, steering oar with blade 10 ft. long, 18 inches wide pivoted on a ball and trailing behind the boat in the water.

Three large scull-oars 16 ft. long and three setting poles for use up rapids in the Merrimack completed the outfit.

The manager of the Canal, Mr. Sullivan, undertook one time to pass the locks by steam power, ten years before the railroad was built. His scheme was to have an engine within the boat to propel it, but steam proved unsuccessful on a canal boat.

The passage boats were for passengers; there were at first two boats on a run and one down daily. Fifty cents was the fare, no ticket being issued. The "Canal Sails" ran on the style of the Erie Canal boats was the popular boat—and was retained, after the amount of travel proved insufficient to warrant two boats. There was a covered cabin over the whole length except for standing room at each end. The cabin was provided with stoves and was much like the old horse car style. It was considered a model of comfort and elegance. All boats were painted with such design as to be easily recognized.

Landing places were established at the Mill Pond in Charlestown, Medford, Woburn, Wilmette, Billerica and Chelmsford. Boats were allowed to be loaded or unloaded at any other place without a special permit from the agent, this being a precaution against smuggling.

Directed by the religious sentiment of New England Sabbath in consideration of the distance from home at which the passengers were generally at, it may be reasonably expected that they should not disturb those places of public worship near which the boats were passing, or to interrupt the tranquility of the day. Therefore it is established that no signal horn shall be used below on Sunday.

The proprietors were considerably disturbed by rubbish thrown into the Canal. They therefore declared that "no carcass or dead animal or putrid substance of any kind shall be thrown into the canal or any basin connected therewith under fine of ten dollars."

Even more troublesome was the burrowing of muskrats, eel, etc. An old bill of March 1809 states that bounty was given on Muskrats and Mink taken in Middlesex Canal.

from breaks and settling of the beds and from 1803 to 1807 the Canal affairs were in bad shape. Some of the leading proprietors had died and it seemed the end of things; but at this critical time, a son of Governor Sullivan, a stockholder in the company and engineer and business man took hold and in time so improved the business that in 1819 the first dividend was paid and increased steadily until the Lowell Railroad went into operation in 1840 and then began to decrease. When the bill for the incorporation of the Lowell Railroad was presented to Legislature a remonstrance from the Canal proprietors was put in but in vain. Business grew rapidly less after the railroad opened. The country merchants fully appreciated the speed and certainty of the railroad in spite of the somewhat higher freight rates. In 1840 the Canal was practically discontinued and the property was sold for about $100,000 and the amount divided among the stockholders.

On April 14, 1852 the last canal boat was run on the Canal and in 1850 the Supreme Court declared that the proprietors had "forfeited their franchise and privileges by reason of non-feasance, mismanagement and neglect."—(New England Magazine Jan. 1898, Vol. XVII.) Boston and Lowell Railroad in Winchester. After the Boston and Lowell Railroad was opened through South Woburn, now Winchester, in 1835 a village soon grew up.

From 1834 to 1836 Winchester near the crossing of the Boston and Lowell Railroad at Main Street—now at the first settlement of the region—was called the Wolcott Gates, because gates were closed when trains were passing.

The original scheme of the railway connecting Boston and Lowell did not contemplate any provision for business at this place and no depot was built. Upon completion of the Boston and Lowell Railroad the portion of the line then designated at the "Wolcott Gates" naturally attracted attention as central to a territory, embraced within the radius of a mile a serene Gates, which combined the elements of a new town, composed of the south part of Woburn and the northern parts of Medford and West Cambridge.

The first depot at the Gates was at first a small shop where shoes were made. The first regular station master was Captain Nathan Japhet who kept it for many years. This depot was opposite Lyceum Hall, a second and a third depot were erected here each larger than its predecessor.

In 1872 after bitter opposition the depot site was fixed at its present location. Before the shoe shop was used as a depot, passengers had to walk to Walnut Hill and pay one dollar fare to Boston.

An early resident of Winchester tells what he remembers about the railroad of the early days. "Those Gates" made a strong impression upon my mind. They were ponderous ones; and we boys would gather and watch for the noise of the iron horse as it appeared from under the Mystic Street Bridge on the south, or from the other bridge then standing at about the same distance in the north. This was the signal for a scramble of the youngsters, who would rush to swing the gates open, hold them until the train had passed, and then, with a shout close them again. In our estimation this was a very important, as well as exciting occasion.

It was long before the novelty of the train in motion was lost. The writer remembers driving with his father and four others to get a sight of the train in full roadway; and the only unpleasant thing for people to travel many miles to see the steam monster.

The trains were few and far between, the engines small and the cars built much like the old-fashioned stage coaches, with doors opening at the side for entrance or exit—the engine, not protected, was pulled by a conductor and brakeman occupying seats upon the top of the car, unprotected from the weather.

The proceedings at the station were as follows: The conductor and brakeman would jointly applying the brake, which was done by pressure of the hand on the lever which came up through the footboard where they sat; and when the train was stopped, the conductor came down the steps and would take each car which was to receive the passengers, opened it, and guarded it till the fare was paid, which at that time was 50 cents for the passenger to enter, shifting the door securely, after which, he again mounted his perch, blew his whistle, the train resounded with a snort and the train started onward.

"The offices of depot master, baggage master, and gate tender were combined in one person."

Another account from an early resident says "On the last Wednesday of May, in the year 1835 the first car carrying passengers drawn by a locomotive was run on the Boston and Lowell Railroad, passed through Black Horse Village on its way to Lowell."

Notice had previously been given that the first event was to take place on old election day, which in the old days occurred always on the last Wednesday in May.

"It was an occurrence of great importance, and the people, young and old, along the route from Boston to Lowell, gathered to the line of the railroad to see the new wonder."

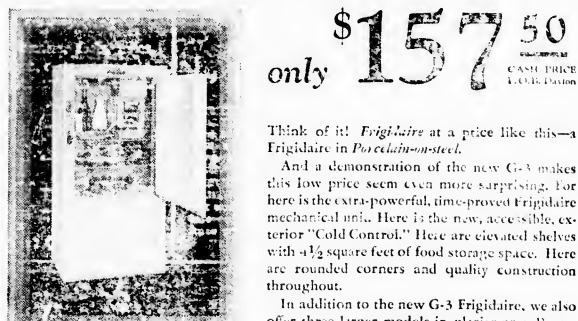

It was then a lad of seven years, and with the others, gathered at the clump of birches just below the old mill on the north side of the river—the old mill where Mr. Harrison Parker and brother Asa used to cut up muskrats.

"The children were there; the old men, the women, the young people, in this part of the town, were desirous, with patience they waited for the wonder to appear."

"When the train appeared, the people were so packed that it was impossible to get a view of the engine. I will relate an incident that occurred while waiting for Church street 120 years ago. After peace was declared he married and had three sons. When the wife got provoked, he would call her husband a "Hession" as a term of reproach, and he would reply "Me no Hession but noble Frisian."

Indigenous to the soil of Winchester is the blood of President Harrison whose ancestors lived and died here, and the town of Winchester (then Woburn) can today justly and truly claim an interest in the family escutcheon of President Pierce and President Cleveland.

John Brooks 1752-1825, Captain and Colonel in the Revolutionary War and serving in Lexington and Bunker Hill, Winchester, Valley Forge, and Saratoga, became Governor of Massachusetts in 1816 and was born in Winchester, then Medford.

In 1638 John Harvard of University fame owned 120 acres of land here. At the time Winchester was incorporated there lived here Frederick O. W. who became the Mayor of Boston, John A. Boies, later Secretary of State under Governor Marcus Merton. Charles Kimball living here was a teacher in the public schools of Boston. Charles P. Curtis and Oliver R. Clark were both active in the town's progress. All but J. A. Boies were active whigs. In a somewhat later period the town was won by such Presidents as the poet Francis Durbridge, the artists J. Foxcroft Currey, Edmund Garrett, W. W. Bicknell, as well as the statesmen Edward Everett and Samuel May. The name of Samuel Elder gave a glory to the town. Truly a worthy and honorable list! It was erected about 1825—(Winchester Records Vol. 2, p. 82.)

The Liberty Pole was erected upon the point of land at the junction of Washington and Main streets. It was quite an affair with main mast and top mast. A flag was duly hoisted on all public occasions. The base was used for attaching the guide boards, more common and elaborate in those days than later on all public thoroughfares. The finger of one hand pointed north to Lowell, Billerica, Burlington, and one to the south indicating Medford, Charlestown, and Boston.

WINCHESTER MEETS STONEHAM—LETTER OF A TEACHER A CENTURY AGO

Winchester High School's football team will open its 1930 season tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on Manchester Field with Stoneham High School as its opponent. The boys from the hockey town have been looking up a lot lately in a football way, and last season had the best schooling club in the Mystic Valley.

Coach Mansfield's boys lost a two touchdown game to Stoneham a year ago and have to better than an even chance to reverse the decision against them this year. The thirty Adzeians is back at Stoneham, and he will prove a tough young man for the inexperienced Winchester forwards to facing down.

The local's chances received a body blow this week when "Buck" Daley, one of Coach Mansfield's few experienced linemen, was lost to the team because of parental objection to football. To make matters worse "Buck" Daley, thirty strong guard, sustained a painful thigh injury in scrimmage last Saturday and will be in none too good shape against Stoneham tomorrow.

As the opening whistle blows Coach Mansfield has three centers, Captain Emory, Ralph Ambrose and "Red" Bernard playing in the center of the line, which means that the guard positions will be filled by inexperienced men. Two guards, "Bud" Smith and "Brutus" Colpas, are starting at tackle, because of the fact that there is not an experienced veteran tackle in the squad. Long "Eddie" Hiltborn, second team end of a year ago, will be at one flank with a sophomore, "Indian" DiAppella, as running mate. "Brown, if a back injury will allow, will bark signals to a veteran backfield of "Robbie" Robinson, Wilmer Smith and "Odie" Lee.

If "Joe" Flaherty's injured leg responds to treatment he will start at guard instead of Bernard. Landblad, "Hud" Knowlton and Hickey are sure to get into the lineup.

Patrolman James P. Donaghey is to represent the Winchester Department at the annual convention of the Massachusetts Police Association, to be held Oct. 8 and 9 at the New Ocean House, Swampscott.

To the Editor of the Star:
Our local teachers may be interested in the following letter of almost a hundred years ago.
Candia, Nov. 21st, 1834
Mr. Levi Johnson,
To be left at Woburn
Charles-town P. Office, Mass.,
Sir:

Having learnt from Mr. Eaton your request in regard to a teacher, I would inform you that I would take charge of your school at two dollars per week and pay my expense. The situation of our family is such at this present time it would not be possible for me to commence the school before next week Thursday which would be the third of December. As I could go to Lowell Tuesday I should be obliged to remain at Lowell one night and Wednesday night meet you at the stage office in Woburn. If you are not willing to wait for me you will please to write and direct it to Candia Turnpike P. O. and send immediately. I should choose to board near school as I cannot so well be exposed.

In haste as I. is waiting,
Ruth Sargent
It is quite evident that teachers were far ahead in those days for small salaries. The above teacher did arrive in Woburn on schedule and taught for some time.
Very truly yours,
A. Beatrice Thompson

WILL OPEN WITH SUPPER

The Calumet Club will officially open its social season on Saturday night, Oct. 4, with a beef steak dinner at 6:30 o'clock sharp. A regular Calumet night entertainment will be produced and members are requested to attend and bring a friend. Reservation must be made for the supper by telephoning the steward at the Club.

A novel aluminum refrigerator body has just been made for the Whiting Milk Company by the W. F. Baird Company of Winchester. The body which is said to be the first of its kind ever produced is not to be painted and will present a striking appearance on the road.

WINTER POND

To the Editor of the Star:
It is earnestly hoped that some means will be found to return Winter Pond to its normal state.

I understand that the petition presented to the Selectmen contained from 60 to 70 names and was confined entirely to those property owners in the immediate vicinity of the pond. Unquestionably they are the most vitally interested. The pond as it is today, with that part to the east of the road reduced to black, slimy muck, is throwing off odors by no means pleasant. That part to the west is fast approaching the same condition, and the whole area will soon become a health menace.

While driving past there last Sunday one could not help noticing the facial expressions of passing automobilists, and it was quite evident that not one of the passerby would care to own property in that vicinity. Within the past few years there has been a considerable increase in the number of homes bordering the pond. It is questionable whether many of them would have been erected were it not there, and the possibility of its total disappearance or a continuance of present conditions can only reduce values.

In addition to the petition already in the hands of the Selectmen, others containing many more names could be presented of those parents whose children have enjoyed skating there—the only sports in town, since the town officials prevented the cutting of holes in the ice, that freezes entirely over and is safe for small children.

It has been said that the pond has dried up before and that it will come back again. Even so, it is necessary that the conditions now existing should prevail until such a time as the water does return.

How people hoarding the money they have been spent for the beautification of Winchester. Our parks are a credit to any community. Should we not, however, be as keenly interested and as willing to spend money for preservation of those natural beauties not made by man?

Mr. Theodore C. Barfield

TOITURED TO DEATH BY STEEL TRAP

The number of dogs, cats and other domestic animals and birds that are caught in the steel trap statistics do not record. Numerous cases, however, have come to our notice. Here is a recent and most pathetic one, occurring down on Cape Cod. Says the Barnstable Patriot: "Healthy" a fine English setter, perished most miserably by hunger, being so weak when she did get released that she died trying to drink water. The dog had been missing for a week. Her almost lifeless body was found near a canal off of "Pleasant road."

A correspondent adds: "This thing is happening every week on Cape Cod. I know lots of boys down there who set traps and never bother to look at them—boys around ten years of age. It is that something he done to stop it. And to all steel traps we pass on this last sentence from the District: 'Healthy's friends would not miss her so much had her death been less miserable and under more humane circumstances.'"

Herbert E. Stone was chosen trustee of the permanent fund at the 82nd annual convocation of DeMolay Commanders, Knights Templars, held at Masonic Temple Wednesday night.

"THERE ARE NO TEARS IN HEAVEN"

(Written for The Winchester Star)

Went traveler over life's troubled wave,
Cut down by sorrow, overwhelmed by care,
The Almighty God alone can save.
Then why yield to sorrow's despair?
Why not look upward, look above?
Remember, the sun shines bright beyond life's cloud.
Then have full faith in your God's love.
Wherever you are, on earth or in heaven,
Whatever of toil or sorrow be given,
Be firm, remember to the very last,
There are no tears in Heaven.

LAUNDRYMEN OF TWO NATIONS WITNESS DEDICATION OF AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF LAUNDERING

All great men have visions. In every field of human endeavor there is one man, or a group of men who see beyond the mere circle of their immediate lives to something greater for the benefit of humanity.

And when that something greater is a service that particularly benefits the women of the country, then these men have taken a far step toward the progress of civilization.

After 30 years of long hard work, one of the most outstanding achievements in the history of trade association activity has been attained on the completion of the beautiful new building at Juliet III, known as the American Institute of Laundering.

This great institution is dedicated to the purpose of creating higher ideals and greater perfection in laundering methods. Thousands of laundrymen throughout the United States and Canada are members of its Association, and it is to the Institute they turn when in need of advice and counsel concerning laundering ethics.

Winchester is fortunate in having a nationally known laundry leader in its midst, Arthur T. Downer, president of the New England Laundries, Inc., who is also vice president of the American Institute of Laundering. Mr. Downer's leadership in all that pertains to the progress of an industry whose growth through the years has been amazing has brought him national recognition. In 1928 he first established the Winchester Laundry.

later erecting a modern plant in Watertown, and adding a plant in Lowell. In 1926 these three laundries with five others in Massachusetts merged and became known as New England Laundries, Inc. now well known as an important factor in New England's industry.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Through the efforts of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce the contractor is now at work on the south border road and but few of us realize what a great change is taking place. The road will be much wider, many of the sharp curves are to be eliminated and some of the steep hills cut and the material moved to fill in some of the low places.

When this piece of road is completed we shall have one of the finest scenic drives to be found in the Middlesex Fells, and without cost to our town.

Winchester is certainly growing—even in these times of serious business depression. On Wednesday forenoon 72 cars were parked around the Common, not including those left at the station. On Thompson street there were 24 cars parked, not including one milk wagon, while on South Main street the parking line extended from the center to the Parkway on both sides of the street. The rest of the center was filled in proportion, and not a few drivers were endeavoring to pick their way through traffic.

SEVERAL AUTO ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

Commencing at 1 o'clock last Saturday morning there were several automobile accidents reported to the local police, resulting in considerable property damage but no serious injuries to the motorists involved.

A Ford coupe, driven by Albert Lafreniere of 76 Gardner street, Allston, was in collision at 1 o'clock last Saturday while headed north on Main street at the Winchester-Medford line with a Ford coupe, operated by Maxwell W. Hammond of 36 Hemingway street. Lafreniere's car was damaged on the left front side and rear and Hammond's front left mudguard was bent. The latter was taken into custody by Patrolman Charles J. Harold on the charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. In the District Court at Woburn he was found guilty by Justice Jesse W. Morton and fined $30.

At 4:30 Sunday afternoon Florence Aldrich of 84 Church street sustained cuts on the head and elbow when the Essex sedan in which she was riding with her husband, Raymond W. Aldrich was in collision while going east on Church street at Norwood street with a Studebaker coach, owned and driven by David J. Healey of 19 Corey street, Medford, who was also going east on Church street. Both cars were damaged.

While on his way to Police Headquarters to report the above accident Mr. Healey was attempting to turn his car around on Waterfield road and in doing so his machine struck and broke off the street sign at the corner of Waterfield road and Thompson street.

Sunday afternoon at 5:40 an Essex sedan, driven by Ruth C. Smith of 9 Orient street while going east from Church street into Mt. Vernon street, was in collision with a Chevrolet sedan, headed in the same direction, and operated by George Strangman of 31 Appleton street, Arlington. Both machines were damaged, but no injuries were reported.

A Chevrolet sedan, driven by Ralph Thilen of 7 Laurel street, Watertown, while going west on Church street at Dix street last Sunday evening at 6:25 was in collision with a street car, in charge of Conductor Harold Faye, which was going east on Church street. Thilen told the police that an automobile coming out of Dix street had crowded his machine onto the car tracks and in turning back to the side of the road the Chevrolet struck the left side of the electric. The sedan was badly damaged and was towed to the Central Garage, Selma Thileen and Iver H. Thileen, riding in the Chevrolet, sustained cuts about the head and shoulders and were taken by Patrolmen Henry P. Dempsey and Charles J. Harold to the Winchester Hospital where they were treated by Dr. Edward Halligan of Reading.

Monday night shortly before 11 o'clock a Harley-Davidson motorcycle, ridden by Charles H. Wyatt of 27 Dimick street, Somerville, with Margaret R. Kiley, 18, of 518 Dorchester avenue, South Boston, as passenger, while going south on Bacon street was in collision with a Whippet sedan, headed north and about to make a left turn into Everett avenue. The Whippet, which was driven by Anthony J. Farrington of 34 Rawson road, Arlington, was damaged, as was the mo-torecycle. Miss Kiley was thrown to the ground by the force of the collision and sustained injuries to her right side. She refused to go to a doctor.

GUEST SPEAKER AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

At a meeting of the Second Congregational Church Bible Class, Tuesday, Sept. 16 at 8 p. m., Sarah Harding Hunter of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston presented an illustrated lecture on the subject, "The Evolution of the Home in New England." The development of New England home life from the wooden age of the earliest settlers to the modern electrical age proved to be a most interesting topic. A full attendance was present to hear the talk after which refreshments were served.

At a recent meeting of the precinct members of Precinct 1 Messrs. John Russell of Harvard street and Joseph Marrone of Washington street were chosen Town Meeting delegates to replace Mr. and Mrs. Sewell N. Dunton who have left town.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL, BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Troop 3

The troop meeting went off with a bang this week. There were 22 boys present and everybody was very attentive.

Assistant Scoutmaster, Richard Clark is developing a posture class. At every meeting we have posture exercises and at the end of the year a cup is to be given to the boy that is showing the best improvement.

From the new troop officers were elected as follows:

Senior Patrol Leader: Rosal Tomkins.
Troop Scribe: Paul Westcott.
Assistant Scribe: Roger Thompson.
Treasurer: Frank Porter.
Troop Librarian: Margaret Hill.
Troop Reporter: Samuel Hill.

Patrol Leaders:
Beaver Patrol: Andrew Young.
Pathfinder Patrol: David Hill.
Explorer Patrol: Robert Milham.
Wolf Patrol: Albert Wilson.

This year we do not expect to have a very large troop. Two new boys attended the meeting last week, David Hill and Henry Hill, both of whom came from Chicago. Everything is going fine and it is going to be a fine troop this year.

Troop 6. First meeting of the fall and winter season will be held at Troop 6 Headquarters, Unitarian parish house, next Tuesday evening, Sept. 30, with Scoutmasters, Nicholson and Hatch in charge. This meeting marks the beginning of plans for a bigger and better season. Don't fail to attend!

HERBERT E. STONE WINCHESTER MAN NAMED
VICE PRESIDENT

Herbert E. Stone of this town was on Wednesday elected a vice president of the Second National Bank of Boston. This action was taken by the board of directors. Mr. Stone has been with the bank since 1908. In 1918 he became assistant cashier, then first assistant cashier and in June, 1929, cashier.

Mr. Stone is a trustee of the Massachusetts Charitable Society and of the Boston National Bank Officers' Association and of Boston Chapter, American Institute of Banking, former treasurer of the Winchester Cooperative Bank, a member of Alepo Trust and chairman of the standing committee of the Winchester Unitarian Church.

Says Food Form Character. Characters are formed by the things people eat, according to a man who is trying to start a "good" food movement in Europe. Those who eat oysters become lazy, he says, while crab gourmets develop crawling manners and winkle addicts grow frivolous. And eaters of turkey are hopeless in his estimation.

Hair on Human Head. If your hair is red you have about 50,000 hairs on your head; if black 100,000; if brown 100,000. For one person with red hair there are nearly forty with brown.

TERCENTENARY RELIGIOUS SERVICE, TOWN HALL, OCT. 12 AT 7 P. M.

Our local Tercentenary celebration will begin on Sunday evening, Oct. 12, with a religious service in the Town Hall at 7 o'clock.

This service will be for all citizens of the Town of Winchester regardless of creed or race.

The Pilgrim Fathers came here to escape religious oppression and to set up in the wilderness a form of State and Church Government whereby they might worship God unmolested and unafraid. It was the noblest experiment of faith in God that the world has ever seen. It is fitting, therefore, that we should begin our Tercentenary celebration with an emphasis on the religious side of the founding of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Chapley has been chosen to give the address on this occasion and will speak on "Pilgrim Ideals and Modern American Life." All the ministers will have part in this service. The Harvard College Choir will sing. It is expected that a capacity audience will fill the Town Hall that evening in spite of the holidays.

TO INSIST UPON HUMANE FURS. Powerful influences and organizations have already aligned themselves against steel-trapping crule ties. The extreme, cruelty and long continuance of the trap barbarity is a reproach to Christian civilization. The church and religious societies are awakening to this deplorable fact. A few months ago the great International Society of Christian Endeavor in convention passed the following resolution: "Resolved, that the use of the common steel trap for taking fur-bearing and other animals, is one of the greatest cruelties in the world, should no longer be tolerated by Christian civilization, and that a wise method for speeding its abatement will be the insistence by every purchaser of a fur garment that the material therein shall have been obtained in some humane way."

MRS. PETERSON WON WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

Mrs. Harry Peterson was the winner of the Women's Championship at the Winchester Country Club last week, playing against Mrs. W. F. Planders in the final round.

Mrs. G. C. Neiley was the victor in the consolation round with Mrs. M. Brown as runner up. Mrs. F. P. Sullivan won the first flight having as her opponent in the final round, Mrs. E. B. Badger.

Mrs. Donald Belcher, last year's champion, could not defend her title this year as she was playing in the State Mixed Foursomes at Charles River, with Leonard Wood. The championship was won by Mrs. Belcher and Mr. Wood.

Queen of Flowers. In Shakespeare's time there were a very few rose varieties. The "Queen Rose" which he sang was our cabbage rose. Among 8,000 species found in the rose gardens of the world today are specimens of unbelievable beauty.

METHODISTS HELD HOME-COMING ROLL CALL LAST EVENING

A most successful home-coming call and supper was held last evening in the vestry of the Methodist Memorial M. E. Church with a large attendance. Preceding the supper and informal reception was held in the church bazaar.

A catered supper was served at 6:30. At the head table with the pastor, Rev. Roy Thompson and Mrs. Thompson, were the speakers of the evening, Dr. L. O. Hartman, editor of Zion's Herald; Mrs. Hartman; Mrs. Thompson's father, Rev. E. C. Pollard of Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dods of Framingham; Mrs. Edward L. Dunning, president of the Ladies Aid Society; Supt. Vincent P. Clarke of the Sunday School and Mrs. Clarke, Miss Grace Snow, president of the Foreign Missionary Society; Mrs. M. J. Armstrong and Mrs. Nellie P. Dodge, representing the church membership; John Russell, representing the Kiwanis League and Young People; Mr. Joseph C. Raymond, Bancroft, the latter president of the Girls' Club; Miss Mary H. French, accompanist of the church choir; Fred J. Bent, recording steward of the church.

Following the supper the roll was read by Mr. Bent, where were so many solos by Mrs. Dods, who is soloist at the Newton Center Baptist Church. The solos were followed by the singing of hymns, in which Mrs. Dods was assisted by her husband, Miss French was at the piano.

Mr. Hartman's address was both interesting and of vital importance to all interested in the great cause of Christianity. He spoke upon the present condition of the church beyond America, or the church as a world force, with special reference to the condition of the time. In connection with the work being done in the mission fields both at home and abroad, Dr. Hartman proved a convincing and a strong personality, a man might expect in view of the fact that he is prominently spoken of as Bishop at the next General Conference.

HEART TO HEART TALKS.

We all have met in and out of Winchester, and have been so warm-hearted who nevertheless were very weak on matters of personal rectitude and honor; people who were sensitive to any reproach, but ready to bestow their goods to feed the poor, people who, however, at the same time were not allowing the Christian religion to become a definitely personal matter, who were failing in the submission of their whole life in its secret and habitual respect to the searching eye of a Holy God.

On the other hand there are in and out of Winchester men and women of a different sort, who are unassuming, severe with themselves, never giving way to any dalliance, who at the same time are often hard, unsympathetic, and unfeeling, making absolutely no allowances for the weakness of their fellows. These are people who are apt to suppose that all poverty, all failure in life must have been in some way the result of people's own slackness or thriftlessness or doing of evil; and for this reason are apt to be without pity and without mercy.

There is a passage in Dr. Carnegie Simpson's "The Fact of Christ" which is of interest. "There are two voices neither of which is long silent in the heart of any serious and honest-thinking man. One is a voice within that speaks to a man of himself. It shuts the door on the throng of the world—that world in which we forget so easily our personal responsibilities and even our own moral identity, and confess with us solus cum solo about our individual character and destiny. It is a small voice, never overheard in another, easily drowned even in oneself. But wherever there is a stillness in the life—especially if it is the multitudinous murmur of humanity in its labor and sorrow—now an uncouth roar as of the breaking wind, this too can be drowned by a selfishness, even a religious selfishness, that dulls the ear and deadens the heart; but again and again it dis- turbs men and awakens within them thoughts of a worthier life than that lived for themselves. These are the two great voices that are ever speaking to the human heart."

Rev. John A. Hutton, D.D., has written: "O human soul! as long as thou can't set on a mark of everlasting light. To cheer thee, and to light thee if thou roam—Not with lost but thou labored through the night." "Thou hast looked the heaven thou hast indeed thy home." Eugene Bertram Willard

SOME GOOD ADVICE

Written for The Winchester Star

Do not nag your fellowman if he don't succeed. Just let him make an effort, and try. "It is a fact that sometimes success comes mighty slow. But it is sure to come by and by. If you try to do a fellowman to do better. If he has made an effort and failed to do so, he has done better than he did before. Why to do you nag your fellowman? A great many men around me rise to find out how they can do better. What we most need is clearer sight. But so few men are endowed with that. To whom the degree of the right is more than all the degrees of the wrong. The thing men hunger for, and live. Eugene Bertram Willard

Market Cross in History

Throughout all its history the market cross continued to perform its chief functions as the center of civic life in the burgh. Proclamations of all kinds had been made there throughout local history, public punishments were inflicted there, hanging, decapitation, etc. took place there also, and at one time the "branks" or iron bridge for misquid or disorderly women was attached to the cross.—London Answers.

MacLEOD—KNIGHT

Miss Marion Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norman Knight of 55 Mystic Valley Parkway, and William Kenneth MacLeod, son of Mrs. William MacLeod of Fort Egan, N. B., and the late Mr. MacLeod, were married Wednesday evening in the Broadway Winter Hill Congregational Church, Rev. K. K. Hoadley, pastor of the church, officiated and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride was attended by Miss Mary Elizabeth Wallace of Niagara Falls as maid of honor and four Wheaton College classmates were bridesmaids. They were Miss Katherine Noyes of Newton; Miss Elizabeth Dean of Providence; Miss Edith Townsend of Brighton and Miss Maudie French of Belmont.

The bride wore a gown of old ivory satin with a veil of tulle, trimmed with orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Wallace wore turquoise blue satin.

Mr. Harold R. Lynn of Quebec was Mr. MacLeod's best man, and the ushers were Charles Myles of Belmont, George Hulse of Springfield, Alvin Allen of Somerville and Roy Anderson of Melford. A reception was held after the ceremony in the church parlors.

After a wedding journey in Europe, Mr. MacLeod and his bride will live in Quebec, where they will be "at home" after Dec. 1. Miss Knight was graduated from Wheaton in the class of 1928. Mr. MacLeod attended Mt. Allison University at St. John's, New Brunswick, and was graduated from St. Andrew's College in Quebec. He is a member of the Lynn-MacLeod Engineering Company in Quebec.

MRS. ELLA J. DRAYTON

Mrs. Ella J. Drayton, a resident of Winchester for the past 10 years, died Thursday, Sept. 18, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Albert S. Snow, 55 Yale street.

Mrs. Drayton was the daughter of Joseph S. and Sarah P. Waterman, and was born in Roxbury June 21, 1858.

Her father, Joseph S. Waterman, was of the firm of J. S. Waterman & Sons of Roxbury. For many years she was an active member of the Dudley Street Baptist Church.

Mrs. Drayton was the widow of Frank E. Drayton, who was for many years, prior to his death, associated with the Winchester Electric Company. For the past five years she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Albert S. Snow. She also leaves a grandson, William S. Snow, and a granddaughter, Miriam May Snow.

Funeral services were held at her home Sunday, Sept. 21, at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Howard C. Hoadley, pastor of the First Congregational Church officiating. Burial was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

TENNIS NOTICE

There will be a men's singles and doubles tournament at the Palmer street tennis courts starting Saturday, Sept. 27 at 2 p. m. open to residents and employees of the town of Winchester. Entries are being received by Wallace Blanchard, Win. 175. Entry fee 50c per person for each event.

The Winchester Tennis Association has been presented by a group of tennis players, who have composed the Benedict Club with a permanent cup to be known as the Benedict Club Tennis Trophy, upon which each year will be engraved the names of the winners of the men's doubles tournament.

The Winchester Tennis Association single cup is also up for competition to be held by the winner of the singles tournament for one year and to become the property of the player winning it three times. These cups are on exhibition at the Winchester Drug Store.

There will be a mixed doubles tournament starting Saturday, Oct. 4. Entries should be given Wallace Blanchard or James A. Riley. Entry fee $1 per team. Open to Winchester residents or employees of the town only.

WINCHESTER TOWN TEAM AT HULL SUNDAY

Winchester Town Football Team will open its fall campaign Sunday afternoon at 2:30 when Manager Amos' boys will meet the Strong Hull Town Team at Hull.

The locals will leave Winchester at 11:30 Sunday morning and expect a hard game, the Hull eleven being known to be both big and experienced. Several new men have joined the "Townies" this season and the local eleven looks for a successful schedule.

DRAMATIC INSTRUCTOR

Miss Dorothy Day, teacher of expression, will give private lessons, starting Oct. 1, in elocution. Miss Day also announces the formation of a dramatic society for the young men and women of the town. For further information call Win. 0550-11.

Sure

Edward, age four, lives in a double house on the east side. Mr. McAlister lives on the other side, bought a new car recently. Edward got quite a thrill out of this, and early in the evening, after the car had arrived, he ran to meet his father with "buddy, the McAlister has a brand new car." Mr. McAlister is on the porch, and he'll tell you all about it.—Indianapolis News.

Women's Work in Homes

A survey of a group of women in cities of the United States in 1926 indicated that the average time was 51 hours a week, while in cities of 50,000 and upward the average was a little more than 48 hours. The average for women in a group of more than 62 hours a week, making the general average for all women observed slightly more than 51 hours a week.

W. C. D. S. NOTES

The Winchester Country Day School opened its school morning at 9 o'clock for the school year 1929-30, beginning its sixth year.

The boys who graduated in June opened their school at the school, Middlesex and Belmont Hill schools.

During the summer the facilities for outdoor activities at the school have been enhanced by the addition of a fine playground equipment presented to the school by the boys in the school in 1929-30.

Football practice, under the direction of Mr. Frasier has begun in preparation for the fall season.

Enrollments are still being accepted for the current year.

MOUNT CHIMBORAZO: ROOF TOP OF THE ECUADOR ANDES

Mount Chimborazo, recently scaled by American scientists, is the loftiest peak in Ecuador, rising nearly four miles above sea level, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. office of the National Geographic Society.

Chimborazo is called the "Giant of the Andes." Until the Andean peaks were surveyed, however, now inactive, was called the loftiest peak in South America, but surveys have found seven other peaks that top it.

Yankee-Built Railroad Skirts

Guayaquil, Ecuador's largest seaport, is nearly 100 miles southwest of Mount Chimborazo, but the huge bulk of the mountain dominates the landscape as seen on clear days from the rails of incoming vessels. Surrounding peaks more than three miles higher than the height of Chimborazo, the next highest Ecuador peak, would have to stretch 983 feet above its present 19,553 feet to equal it.

The Yankee-built Guayaquil-Quito railroad skirts Mount Chimborazo about half way between the Port and the Ecuador capital. At Riobamba, a small mountain town of 12,000 inhabitants, the trains stop regularly. Since Chimborazo is but a short distance from this point, passengers can get a close-up of the Andean giant. When the sun is shining, the snow-dusted slopes of Chimborazo are like a rainbow and in the evening these rainbow colors merge into a golden glow, appearing as though Nature had wrapped the whole mountain in a golden robe.

Indians and Spaniards Are Human Neighbors

From Riobamba Chimborazo's summit does not appear afar off. It is but a few miles away as the crow flies, but stout-hearted mountain climbers have left comfortable hotels and inns to scale its height, only to return unsuccessful and exhausted.

Humboldt attempted to scale Chimborazo in 1802. He turned back when about half way to the summit, for the rugged mountain. Thirty years later, a Frenchman and an American reached a point 400 feet above Humboldt's camp and gazed up at the snow-capped peak. It was not until another half century had passed that Chimborazo's uppermost secrets were made known to the world by Edward Whymper, an Englishman. Chimborazo's human neighbors are mostly Indians, some of whom are descendants of the Incas, and Spaniards, who came to the country in their mud, thatched-roof houses surrounded by patches of cabbage and potatoes and small orchards and grain fields. Chimborazo, since Columbus discovered America, the Spaniards prefer the steel-like buildings topped with red tiles.

Active Volcanoes Near-by

The market places of the nearby towns indicate that Chimborazo's rainbow colors are popular among the natives, for their costumes are aflame. Everywhere natives gather there is a riot of color: the red, orange, green, yellow and blue ponchos of the men clashing with the same colors and all the shades in the dresses of the women.

The Indians and Spaniards are a hospitable people, but not many miles from Chimborazo the natives are jealous where the native Jivaro still are proud of their art in shrinking human heads to the size of an orange with a few feathers sticking out of the top. charged with a poison arrow, the Jivaro has been known to kill the husband of a woman he wants for his wife and to treasure the victim's head after it has gone through the shinking process.

Many of Chimborazo's mountain neighbors cluster together with earth shocks and explosions. Mount Sangay, about 30 miles to the south-east, is reputed to be one of the world's most active volcanoes. Its smoke-like discharges are constantly heard, eliciting about as much attention from the natives as does the tick of a clock on a living room wall in an American home. But now and then even the natives look up when there is a cannon-like report, followed by a mass of flying rock which explodes in the air, reminding the American traveler of the aerial bombs at a civic celebration on Independence Day.

Sleeping Sickness, Checked

Medical science has prevented the population of French Equatorial Africa from being wiped out by sleeping sickness. It was asserted in an interview by Raphael Anthonet, governor general of the French African territory, that the rate was satisfactory. He explained, the population continued to diminish through disease which caused more deaths than there were births. This went on until 1921 when the French officials recognized the peril and took energetic action against sleeping sickness and all tropical infestations.

The deadline for automobile inspection is rapidly approaching and motorists who have cars on the road without the official yellow sticker after Sept. 20 will find themselves in serious difficulty. Under Chapter 90, Section 7-A of the General Laws unregistered and uninspected automobiles will be subject to revocation of registration after that date, and motorists driving such machines will lose their licenses. All of which means that it will be the part of prudence for those whose cars are not as yet inspected to get a yellow ticket at once.

Just what rights a town may have in the matter of excluding from within its boundaries advertising billboards, which out-of-town parties seek to erect in violation of a specific town by-law is likely to be settled so far as Winchester is concerned at a hearing, for which the town has retained the Department of Public Works in connection with the application of John Donnelly & Sons for permission to erect a billboard on the roof of the building occupied by the Fells Market on Main street. The matter of the Donnelly application came to the attention of Building Commissioner Maurice Dunne about three weeks ago, and after hearing Mr. Dunne's report on the matter, the Selectmen instructed Town Council Addison R. Pike to notify the Division of Highways of the State Department of Public Works, under the jurisdiction of which the erection of billboards falls, of Winchester's objection to the erection of the proposed billboard on Main street and to petition for a hearing in the matter on behalf of the town. This Mr. Pike has done and is now awaiting the date of the hearing, at which he and Building Commissioner Dunne with others will appear. The matter seems rather difficult, and it is hard to see the value of Winchester's petition, governing the erection of billboards here, if such legislation can be set aside by the Department of Public Works. The town by-law, which was adopted March 6, 1924, and approved by both the Division of Highways of the Department of Public Works and the Attorney General within a month, Winchester, we are told, is one of two towns in the State having such a by-law, yet a little more than a year ago, in violation of this legislation, the Department of Public Works permitted the erection of a billboard on Loring avenue in direct violation of this legislation. The billboard still stands and will be discussed by the representatives of the town at the coming hearing. Some weeks ago Winchester was drawn into a controversy over the erection of a billboard upon the Hutchinson Building. Building Commissioner Dunne refused to sanction the board, and finally succeeded in having the proposition condemned by Fire Commissioner O'Keefe as a fire hazard. The billboard, which the Donnelly seek to erect violates not only the town's by-law relating specifically thereto, but also the town's by-law, adopted by the town in 1920 and approved by the Attorney General the same year. There are involved in the Main street proposition five violations of the billboard by-law and six violations of the building laws noted by Town Counsel Pike in his letter to the Department of Public Works; surely enough to condemn the proposed erection. The town as a whole will watch the matter with much interest. Building Commissioner Dunne states that in addition to the detrimental effect of the billboard from a purely aesthetic standpoint, its erection at the proposed location would constitute a menace to health and public welfare. The town does not wish to see the center marked by billboards, neither does it want its highways lined with advertising signs nor its individual property values lessened by glaring posters, advertising this, that or the other. The community has passed legislation to protect itself and has lampooned its legislation into a more effective. The coming hearing should prove enlightening to us all.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The Building Commissioner has issued permits for week ending Thursday, Sept. 25 as follows:
Charles L. Griffin, Winchester—new single dwelling on lot at 6 Inman Hill road.
Herbert E. Gleason, Winchester—new single dwelling and garage on lot at 33 Widdowale road.

A resident of Sheffield West has reported to the police that on four occasions tasks have been stolen in the center marked by billboards, neither does it want its highways lined with advertising signs nor its individual property values lessened by glaring posters, advertising this, that or the other. The community has passed legislation to protect itself and has lampooned its legislation into a more effective. The coming hearing should prove enlightening to us all.

FROM MANAGER FLATTERY

To the Editor of the Star:
I am certainly very grateful to my brother Legionnaires who sponsored the baseball team which just closed a most successful season. I regret the fact it was not a financial success and hope the coming year will bring about the right spirit to finance a winning team thus enabling the Post to get back the money which had to be taken from the treasury to carry through the season.

I appreciate the co-operation of the players who stayed with me through the season as I know some of them could have played elsewhere and realized more financially. Many thanks to the fans who responded so generously last Saturday.

MODERN APARTMENTS ARE PROTOTYPES OF ANCIENT INDIAN DWELLINGS

Has New York gone Indian?
Are the modern stepped skyscrapers, with penthouse gardens, mere copies of apartment houses the Indians built in New Mexico a thousand years ago.

Many-story, terraced apartment houses accommodating 1200 or more people were erected centuries ago by the Pueblo Indians of the American Southwest, says M. J. Judd of Washington, D. C., who described the rise of North America's most highly developed Indian civilization in an illustrated address before the National Education Association Convention in Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday, July 2.

Mansions of Many Rooms
These huge Indian apartment houses rose from a central court in a main street, and the existing pueblos in the Southwest continue the ancient art, but modern Zuni and Hopi houses are poor specimens compared to the many-roomed, symmetrical mansions their ancestors built a thousand years ago.

Pueblo Indians of New Mexico were the master architects of New World, declares Mr. Judd, who, as leader of National Geographic Expeditions and as curator of American archeology at the National Museum, has traced the rise of the tribes from the time when they were primitive nomads about the era of Christ's birth.

Tree rings, masonry, bits of broken pottery and turquoise ornaments, comprise the difficult "literature" which National Geographic Society Expeditions discovered and studied, especially at the ruins of the great est of all the pueblos, Pueblo Bonito in Chaco Canyon. The Pueblo Indians had no written language so the explorer had to read the dates of the buildings by the number of tree rings of beam logs. He had to learn the customs of the people from bits of pottery and objects found in the ruins and to discover their knowledge of architecture from study of remaining masonry.

The price of the pueblo residences is a turquoise necklace found at Pueblo Bonito. It has three strands of matched beads, numbering altogether more than 2400 beads.

Electric Telegraph

While H. C. Goodrich, in Dane, was one who had valuable foundations on which others built, he can hardly be called the inventor of the electric telegraph. He was one of a number of men, who, when electricity was imperfectly understood, conducted successful experiments of much value. He and G. C. Romagnoli discovered the action of the galvanic current on the magnet, and the application of this to telegraphic purposes was suggested by Lalande and carried out by Ampere, Schilling, and others. The work of these men formed the foundation of the modern telegraph. The patent for the first electric telegraph was issued in 1837 to Sir Charles Wheatstone and W. F. Cooke.

PRIMO DE RIVERA'S BIRTHPLACE GAVE ITS NAME TO SHERRY WINE

The death of General Primo de Rivera brought into the spotlight Jerez Spain, birthplace of the famous Spanish sherry, said a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. A city of 65,000 inhabitants, Jerez has quietly prospered for centuries in the wine business. It is one of the busiest cities in southern Spain and is reputed to be one of the wealthiest in the country.

Where Moors Got Foothold in Spain Jerez is situated about 15 miles southwest of Seville amid hundreds of thousands of acres of vineyards. It is the center of the so-called sherry district of Spain, so named because sherry wine is the outstanding product of the vast wine industry of this region. In fact sherry derived its name from "sherris," the English pronunciation of Jerez, during the reign of Henry VII when the famous Spanish wine became popular in the English court.

A glance at a map of Jerez recalls the "Chinese puzzle" that the map of a native Chinese town presents. The Moors who once occupied the city left their oriental marks in the city's narrow streets that chance their direction every few hundred feet. Some of them open into wide streets of more recent plan.

Motion Pictures Shown in Old Fortress

There was a town on the site of Jerez in Roman times, but a traveler in search for relics finds few landmarks of the city's ancient days. One of the oldest landmarks is the 14th century Alcazar, a castle-fortress topped by a hill overlooking a spacious park on the south side of the city. From the Alcazar walls Christian defenders of Jerez fought a losing battle against the vicious attack of the Muslim Moors who got their foothold in southern Spain at Jerez.

Within the walls today, where the city's defenders stood in warm blood to save Jerez, motion picture audiences are amused by Hollywood comedians. Their laughter echoes against the towers in which Christian heroes of Jerez dramatically gave their lives to save the city. Blanche of Bourbon, Queen of Peter the Cruel, was murdered.

But Jerez is completely absorbed in its wine business. No matter how short the traveler's stay, a Jerez guide gives the bohemian (wine war-horse) a series of first impressions among the city's "sights." The lodges are plain but lofty one-story buildings, with roof after row of wine-bottles filled with choice wines. Each brand is plainly marked. Fifteen years ago, the wine was made by hand. Today the motors, pulleys, broad leather belts, and other machinery remind the American traveler of a modern factory of his home town.

MOTORCYCLE OFFICER INJURED

Motorcycle Officer John Hogan was struck by a truck this forenoon on Main street. He was thrown from his motor, which was wrecked. The extent of his injuries are not at this time known but appear to be mainly about his legs. The accident occurred near Lake street.

Lessening Aversion to Formal Music Lessons

Children's aversion to music lessons, entailing long hours of practice for many months, can be overcome by making them familiar at an early age with musical instruments, according to Frank H. Richardson, M. D., in Woman's Home Companion.

"Many families have feared the approach to a real appreciation and love of music is made easier by having the simplest musical instruments around where they can be picked up and played casually even before formal lessons have begun," says Doctor Richardson. "Such simple things as the flute, banjo and piano; the mandolin or even the humble ukulele; the xylophone or bells will often tempt not only the child but also the guest in the home."

"Improvised ensembles prove delightful to children, and their good fellowship and freeing them from the embarrassment so overpowering in children whose only contact with strangers has been formal."

"Many a child who would have been repelled at first by the technical duties of the violin or piano, has come happily to these more difficult musical instruments by way of their humbler and more easily mastered brothers in the musical family."

Small Girl's Positive

Definition Is Good One
"Isn't that lovely?" said grandma to a three-year-old. "Yes," assented the little girl, smiling up at her. "What?" "Why not?" The word is as good a hybrid as a thousand that have butted their way into the dictionary, and it gives full value, condensing, as it does, the concepts of beauty and of grandeur. I think it is worth keeping.

So are some of the definitions invented by the same embryonic lexicographer. "A man and a boy were there," she was declaring; "not two men, just a man and a boy." Not quite convinced, her aunt inquired, "What is the difference between a man and a boy?" "Men speak boys," was the prompt and positive answer. How useless it is to deny that our whole Weltanschauung is based on social distinctions! Are all men born free and equal? Possibly; but they remain in that grateful state of equality only as long as they are unspunkable. Once the age of spunkability sets in, society splits into two strata, the spankers and the spankees, and remains thus cleft.—Charles Hall Grandgent, in "The New World."

Almost Dead Language

The language of the pharaohs ceased to be officially used after the conquest of Egypt by Alexander the Great, 332 B. C., being supplanted by the Greek, which was in turn superseded by the Arabic, 1000 years later, after the Moslem invasion. The Egyptian language lingered on among the people and the Egyptian priests, and is now only used in the liturgy of the Christian Coptic church.

Self-Confidence

Trust thyself: Every heart vibrates to that iron string. Accept the place that divine Providence has found for thee; and the society of your contemporaries, the connection of events, great men have always done so, and conformed themselves childlike to the genius of their age, betraying their perception that the Eternal was stirring at their heart, working through their hands, preponderating in all their being.—Emerson.

The daughter of a French soldier in Africa, Miss Eberhardt became enamored of the life of the Arab and disguising herself as one of them, lived on the desert for years under the name of H. Mohamed without her nationality or sex being suspected.

Cost of Road Building

Of the money expended for road building in the United States, general taxes furnish 57.4 per cent, motor vehicle fees, 29 per cent; gasoline tax, 25 per cent; bonds, 12.4 per cent; and other sources, 8 per cent, and federal aid, 5.2 per cent; while 4 per cent comes from miscellaneous sources. This money is expended 57.5 per cent for construction, 29.2 per cent for maintenance, 8.2 per cent for interest on bonds and 4.1 per cent on machinery and other equipment.

Canadian Bituminous Sands

In what is known as the McMurray country in Canada, 300 miles north of Edmonton, are to be found extensive deposits of bituminous sand. The future commercial significance of these deposits is as yet not generally realized, it adds, although it is possible that eventually they may prove to be of real national importance.

It is thought the bituminous sand in Canada is in many respects similar to the oil shale in the United States and the development of bituminous sand should be considered quite as seriously as that of the oil shales. Yield per ton from the latter will, in some instances, be higher than from bituminous sand, but from the point of view of mining costs and certain other factors, the development of bituminous sands will probably have advantage over oil shales.

Says Carlyle, "Silence is of eternity. Thought will not work except in silence. Silence, the great emptiness of silence; higher than the stars, deeper than the kingdom of death; Silence and the great silent moon." A country that has gone or few of these is in a bad way. It is like a forest that has no roots, which has all turned to leaves and branches, which must soon wither and be no forest."

Actual Stock Exchange "Seats"

In the early days of a "seat" on the Boston Stock exchange was an actuality, one, however leaving his own chair and desk and forbidden under penalty of a fine from reading out of it. Due to the fact that seats were arranged in parallel rows along the walls and facing it, some of the more unfortunate members were at some distance from the rest of the crowd. In consequence of the exclusive character of business in charge, so that times of brisk bidding they could with difficulty make their bids or offers heard. It was not until 1885 in London that seats were finally abolished and not until 1903 in New York and 1907 in Boston that continuous sessions were inaugurated.—Boston Transcript.

MRS. D. M. BELCHER AND L. D. WOOD WON CLUB PAIR MIXED FOIRSONE TITLE

Mrs. Donald M. Belcher and L. D. Wood of Winchester are the new club pair mixed foursome champions, winning their title last Saturday at Charles River from Miss Virginia and Clark Hodder of Framingham, whom they faced in the final round of the championship final and whom they defeated, 1 up.

Mrs. Belcher and Wood got away to a commanding lead in the early stages of the match, at one time having the Hodder pair 3 down. The Framingham team, however, kept pegging away and by taking the 16th and 17th holes squared the match and tied off for the 18th all even with the Winchester combination.

At the 18th Miss Hodder's drive hopped into a spot of scrub wood while Mrs. Belcher's avoided the hazard, giving Wood an unnumbered shot to the green. Hodder's shot at the 18th raised a technically when his ball landed in the discarded jacket of a workman employed in the construction of the new 18th fairway. Wood contended that to lift the ball would be improving its lie, but Frank Rapp, member of the club golf committee, ruled it "ground under repair," giving the Hodders an outside chance to halve the hole.

Miss Hodder's next shot, however, removed this possibility and the Framingham pair finally conceded the hole and the match to Mrs. Belcher and Wood.

Shortly after 8 o'clock Monday evening an Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway force wire was discovered down on Main street in front of the Standard Oil Filling Station. Patrolman Archie O'Connell was placed on guard there until the repair crew could attend to the matter.

WEDDING DATE ANNOUNCED

JOHN L. CARTER

John L. Carter of 35 Swan road, prominent Greater Boston real estate and building operator, died last Sunday evening in the New England Baptist Hospital after a brief illness. He was struck, while in his office, by a car on Tuesday morning and was rushed to the hospital for immediate operation, from which he failed to rally.

Mr. Carter was the son of James C. and (Vernie) Carter, and was born 33 years ago in the Spring Hill section of Somerville. In 1914 he moved to Medford and made his home in that city until three years ago, when he came to Winchester.

For more than 24 years he was associated with his brother, Frank M. Carter, of Cambridge, in real estate and building developments. The Boston Heights development in Arlington was occupying the attention of the brothers at the time of Mr. Carter's illness and he had been many others in Somerville, Medford, Watertown and Blandford.

Mr. Carter was a member of the Cambridge Club, the Cambridge Club and the Cambridge Club, and was a member of the Cambridge Club and the Cambridge Club.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alice E. Carter, a son, John L. Carter, Jr., and a daughter, Collette Alice Carter, all of Winchester. His mother, Mrs. Ellen V. Carter of Somerville, also survives with three brothers, Frank M. Carter of Cambridge, Howard J. Carter of Somerville, and Henry V. Carter of Auburndale, and a sister, Mrs. Albert Tracy of Somerville.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon in the Church of the Epiphany, with the Rev. Henry R. Reimann officiating. Interment was in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Women's Republican Club will be held Wednesday, Oct. 1 at 2:30 p.m. The speaker of the afternoon will be Miss Ruth D. Butler whose subject will be "The Social and Political Life in London with Presentation in Court."

Mrs. Butler has recently returned from eight years' residence in England. Mrs. Butler's husband was the commercial attaché of the American Embassy and his official position made it possible for them to meet many of the leading men and women in England's political, economic and educational circles. Mrs. Butler has presided at court and attended Lady Astor's political reception and enjoyed many similar hours as she served as a friend of a number of the most prominent of the American Women's Club of London. Her intimate stories of the occasions will make up a fascinating afternoon's entertainment. We will have croquet from our new Councilors, Mrs. James Harris. Tea will be served by the Social Committee.

ESCAPED DEATH WHEN AUTO PLUNGED INTO RESERVOIR

Raymond C. Mahar of 142 Water street, North Andover, had a narrow escape from drowning last Saturday afternoon when the Chevrolet sedan he was driving, crashed through the sidewalk at the side of the roadway on the East Plain in the Middlesex Fells and plunged down an embankment into the waters of the reservoir.

According to the police, Mahar, an inexperienced operator, was driving his car in the Fells and lost his way. When he came to the intersection of the water and the road, he attempted to turn his machine around and while the car was in reverse, it broke through the guard-rails, falling down the embankment over several large rocks, the sedan plunged into the water and submerged, with the exception of about six inches of the top of the car.

Mahar went under with the machine but succeeded in getting his head and arms out of the water. He crawled out of the water and was assisted by one at hand to assist him to the shore.

Monmouth, Mass. Officer J. C. Shinn, in making a tour of the reservoir, discovered the machine and notified Sgt. Harry W. Butler of the accident. The Officer went to the scene and with the assistance of Officer Shinn and a local constable, removed the machine from the water. The car was about 10 feet from the shore and had the water been at its normal height. Due to the long depth the water is about four feet below its usual level, which gave the motorist a chance to escape from his machine.

DALLIN-SAWYER

At a family reunion, economy last Saturday evening in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Sawyer of Wedgewood avenue, Miss Mary Sawyer became the bride of Raymond C. Mahar of 142 Water street, North Andover. The ceremony was attended by Mrs. C. E. Dillin of Arlington Heights, Mrs. George H. R. R. minister of the Methodist Church, officiated at the wedding which took place at 4 o'clock, the single men and women being used. The home was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and white gladioli. The bride was attended by Mrs. E. E. Nicholson of North Andover, N. Y., as maid of honor, and Miss Marion Mahler of Winchester and Miss E. E. Nicholson of North Andover, N. Y. as bridesmaids. Mr. Mahar had for his best man Charles Holmes of Arlington. The bridesmaids were Edna Bailey, Arthur Dillin, Edward R. Dillin, all of Arlington, and George Marsh of West Medford.

The bride wore a gown of open satin with a veil of tulle, and carried a bouquet of white flowers. Her bridesmaids wore a white and pink tulle gown with a white and pink sash, and carried a bouquet of white flowers. The bride's shoes were similar to that of the bride, and they wore matching hats and carried old-fashioned ivory bouquets.

After the ceremony a reception was held for the families and friends of the bride and groom. The bride and groom were seated at a table with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dillin, and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Sawyer. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dillin, and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Sawyer.

WAS WINCHESTER RESIDENT

Elizabeth Flint Kelley, M. D., D. O., who died in Boston on Sunday evening, was the mother of Dr. Orion Kelley, a well known dentist of this town who died in 1918 through the flu epidemic. She made her home and practiced here for many years, but since 1915 she maintained an office only in Boston. She was well and favorably known to many in Greater Boston through the practice of her profession, having graduated from the Massachusetts College of Podiatry in 1902. She was a member of the National, State and local osteopathic societies, having been president of the last named for several years. She was also a member of the Women's Republican Club of Boston.

Dr. Kelley was the daughter of Samuel Edward and Elizabeth Walker Flint and traced her descent through both lines to the early settlers of both Plymouth and Massachusetts Bay Colonies. She married at an early age, Robert Kelley, who died many years ago.

She is survived by a grandchild, Dorothy E. Kelley of Ottawa, daughter of Dr. Orion Kelley, and one sister, Mrs. Jane E. Flint of Chatham. The funeral services were held on Thursday at 2 p.m. at Gould's undertaking rooms, Everett.

LOOKING TO OPEN AT CALEMET

Notice was issued this week of the opening of the new Calmet Lodge, No. 1, at the corner of Main and North streets, on Friday, Oct. 20.

During the summer the six alphas of the club have been put in by the club, and every one placed in readiness for the coming season. The same handicapping system will be used this year with more frequent adjustment, and new members of the club are especially invited to enter the tournament as it is necessary to have an expert to enter thoroughly into the game. B. W. L. is becoming more and more a means for enjoyable winter recreation, and the system of handicapping and making for even enjoyment is being put into effect.

Entries for the tournament are now open and will close on Oct. 7. Five non-teams will have a prize, and an attractive list of prizes will be awarded.

In addition to the regular tournaments, the club is planning other features on the alphas which will be interesting and enjoyable.

This year's bowling committee is composed of H. C. McGrath, Mr. Warren M. Cox, Earl B. Goldsmith, John H. McCarthy and Herman C. Rosendor.

Superintendent Harry W. Dotten of the Water Department has been attending the convention of the New England Water Works Association this week.

The first meeting of the fall was held Wednesday, Sept. 24 in the form of an informal reception to teachers and new members. There were 11 teachers and 30 members present.
The October meeting will be held in the assembly hall of the George Washington School with a lecture by Dr. MacGillivray, executive secretary of Social Hygiene Department of Massachusetts. There is to be a series of four lectures on Social Hygiene (dates later) dealing particularly with children up to high school age. Everyone in the town is cordially invited to attend any or all of these lectures. No admission is charged.

WINCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY

There will be an Exhibition of Photographs loaned by the Library
Art Club Sept. 27 to Oct. 18 on Out West, No. 5, The Yosemite and the Hetch Hetchy.
The Yosemite is well known. The Hetch Hetchy Valley lies 300 feet lower, 31 miles away, and was difficult of access until the scheme arranged of making it into a vast lake to supply San Francisco, 150 miles away.
A tremendous controversy began, as it was said that "If there were no Yosemite, Hetch Hetchy would doubtless be the most celebrated valley in America." Utility conquered, and water 300 feet deep buried its stately forests, and dwarfed its mountain walls and cascades.

Thousands of Years Old

A native chariot made of earth, a relic of ancient art, found in a Jugo-slav village, is believed to have been made a thousand years before Christ.
It has three wheels and the frame is fashioned in the form of duck-like birds with a crude effigy of a human

MRS. HANNAH M. PREEPER

Mrs. Hannah MacMannus Preeper, nee McAdams, wife of John Preeper of 24 Westley street, died Monday morning in the Winchester Hospital, following a short illness.

Mrs. Preeper was 67 years of age and a native of Ireland. She came to this country as a young woman and settled in Winchester, which town she had made her home for the past 45 years. She was widely known, through her long residence, was a member of St. Mary's Parish and of its Married Ladies' Sodality.
Surviving, besides her husband, is a sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Scanlon, living in Ireland.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass in St.
Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. L. Wingate

Wingate is visiting friends in Virginia and New York, and will return next week.

WINCHESTER LEGIONAIRES AND FIREMEN IN MED-FORD PARADE

A detachment of 40 Winchester Legionnaires, uniformed and armed, under Vice Commander Clifford Towner, was one of the big features of the Tercentenary parade in Medford last Sunday.

The boys from Winchester Post, 97, made a fine appearance and were accorded one of the places of honor in the line of march, behind the Mari-boro Legion Drum and Bugle Corps and the Cambridge Legion Drill team.
Winchester was also represented in the parade by a detachment of fire fighters, headed by Fire Chief David H. DeCourcy. Chief DeCourcy was driven over the route in his car by Driver Robert Scanlon of Engine 1.
The permanent men in line were Edward D. Fitzgerald, Everett W. Kimball, John F. O'Melia and David J.
Meskill. George Osborne, Leigh
Roberts, Hugh Skerry, John McCarron, Dewey Mulrennan, John Richardson and James Nolan were the call men completing the detachment.

TWO ACCIDENTS MONDAY

A lady passenger in a Studebaker coupe escaped injury Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the machine rolled from where it had been left at the crest of the hill on Washington street near the Parkway down the incline and against a tree in front of the old Joy estate. The accident occurred when the operator of the car,
Mary C. Anderson of 32 Crescent street, Wakefield, got out of the machine and neglected to set the emergency brake. The car was damaged in the collision with the tree.

At 4:30 Monday afternoon a Chevrolet coupe, driven by Roger J. Quigley of 44 Elijah street, Woburn, and a Ford coupe, driven by Herbert S.
Mullen of 6 Bridge street, were in collision at the junction of Thompson street and Waterford road. Both machines were damaged, but no injuries were reported.

During the American Legion convention in Boston there will be a "get together" of the 78th Division men. Definite plans are now being completed and further details can be had by communicating with Herbert Stephens, Room 1005, 185 Devonshire street, Boston.

WINCHESTER LEGION BASE-BALL TEAM HAD GREAT SEASON

Won Fourteen Out of Eighteen Games Under Manager "Charlie" Flaherty

With the 4-3 victory over the strong Acawam A. C. of Boston two weeks ago the Winchester Legion nine closed the most successful season in the town's history since the Haden days of the old Winchester Town Team.

Fourteen victories out of 19 games against the best county teams available constitutes a record of which any club might well be proud, and is a distinct tribute to the leadership of "Charlie" Flaherty, former star catcher, who returned to the game this season to manage the Legionnaires.

Assisting "Charlie" as captain and "right eye" so to speak, was big "Bud" Fitzgerald, old Tufts thrower, who has been the catcher since the Haden days of the old Winchester Town Team. Fitzgerald, who played much of the batting punch with his big, heavy swing, was another member of the Fitzgerald family. "Nicky" Fitzgerald, ex-Tufts first sacker, held down first base and also swung a mean bat. "Bobby" Burns, "Jackie" Hevey and "Marty" McDonough, all played second base with the latter rated the regular second sacker when available.

"Brad" Coates handled the hot-corner assignment and there are few who can be ranked ahead of "Brad" when he is on the field. Coates owned the best throwing arm on the team and often cut down base runners by rifle throws to first. Winchester's best all-around player was ambliner, "Tony" Colucci, capable shortstop and batting leader of the team with an average of .480 in 14 games. "Tony" did everything well and suffered by comparison with no shortstop seen in Winchester this year.

"Ned" Murray was the only outfielder to perform in all the games, and did a nice job of it in left field, throwing, fielding and batting well. Frank Tansey and "Art" Hannigan of Melrose, played center field during most of the season, both chucking some high hits in some of the critical times. Tansey and the veteran "Jackie" Hevey did the right fielding for the club.

At the opening of the season Tansey was signed to do the pitching, but a sore arm forced Francis from the hill after a couple of games with the All Scholastics and Somerville Progressives. Francis was far from the sharp-shooting southpaw of other seasons, and after trying out "Lew" Hatch and "Lil" Adams of Tufts, Manager Flaherty succeeded in lining up "Ken" Weaver, ex-Woburn High right hander, who proved to be the right man in the right place.

Weaver swung into action against the J. A. Cigar Company team and won his game. Thereafter he was unbeatable, winning ten straight games against the best teams. Manager Flaherty could secure. No team succeeded in beating the high right hander, who, when not pitching played the outfield and swung a hefty wallo.

"Tommy" Dolan, former high school and St. Mary's star outfielder, now with the R. L. Day Company nine in the Bankers and Brokers League, was the Legion's utility outfielder and was on the job day after day, despite the fact that he saw only very infrequent service. The manager and fans appreciate Dolan's spirit. "Touchy" Gray, center fielder, and "Joe" Tansey, catcher, also saw some service with the locals, helping out when needed.

Another who deserves plenty of credit is Warren Johnston, who handled the difficult collecting job during most of the season. Former Commander W. Allan Wilde is the man who made the Legion team possible, though he was backed in his efforts by a little group of Legion men who maintained their interest throughout the year.

The season's complete record is as follows:

Winchester	8	Scholastics	11
Winchester	9	Providence	11
Winchester	1	Reading	16
Winchester	10	Winchester C.	11
Winchester	10	J. A. Cigar Co.	2

FOUND GUILTY OF DRUNKEN DRIVING

Driving his car in a suspicious manner down Main street Monday night in front of the machine of Patrolman John Murray of the Police Department, a costly mistake for Harry E. Milleman of 249 East 2nd street, South Boston, who was arrested by Officer Murray on the charges of driving while under the influence of liquor and drunkenness.

Officer Murray was returning to duty from supper when the course of a routine patrol was suddenly changed by the sight of a car on Main street attracted his attention. He gave chase to the machine and finally succeeded in stopping it at the Winchester-Melford line. He arrested the driver who was booked at Headquarters as above.

Tuesday morning, Milleman was found guilty on both counts. He was fined $50 on the drunken driving count and the drunkenness was fined.

NEW POLICE OFFICER APPOINTED

Clarence E. Dunbury Native of Winchester

At Monday evening's meeting of the Board of Aldermen, Clarence E. Dunbury of 345 Washington street, was appointed a permanent patrolman on the Police Department for the regular probationary period of six months. Officer Dunbury goes on duty Monday, Oct. 6.

The new policeman was born in Winchester March 4, 1895, the son of the late Thomas Henry Dunbury and Mary A. Lynch. He attended the Winchester schools, is married and has been employed as a leather worker at Bezeg & Cobb. During the World War he served in the Navy, making nine trips over seas in the transport service on the U. S. S. America.

Unfair Action

The term "propaganda" is variously defined. A thoughtful definition given by A. J. Montgomery of the A. A. A. is that "as now generally applied, the word 'propaganda' implies an attempt to use the press in order to create public sentiment in favor of a cause, while at the same time seeking to conceal some relevant facts that would be necessary to form a sound and fair judgment."

Much Lesser Evil

The mechanical man who gave an after-dinner speech in New York was, no doubt, a welcome relief from the man who gives a mechanical after-dinner speech.—Arkansas Gazette.

MONDAY BUSY DAY FOR FIREMAN

Monday proved a busy day for the local firemen, whose activity began at 10:25 in the morning with a grass fire on Wildwood street.

At 3:27 in the afternoon there was a second grass fire on the swamp land in the rear of Melatchey's Patent Leather Shop on Cross street and three minutes later Box 65 came in for a chimney fire at the residence of Mr. F. Manley Evans on Highland avenue.

At 7:29 p. m., Box 23 was called in when it was thought that Randall's block was on fire. Upon responding the firemen found that the heater was throwing off an unusually heavy smoke but that their services were not required.

The evening's last call came in at 8:09 by telephone for a dump fire on Prince avenue.

STRAND ATTRACTIONS

Two of Broadway's favorite legitimate stage fustlers head the support in Paramount's filmization of Schwab and Mandel's hilarious musical comedy, "Queen Bech," which comes to the Strand Theatre, Monday for one week beginning Saturday. They are "Charlie" Ruggles and Frank Morgan.

According to the story they are business partners in a garber producing enterprise. They can't seem to support each other's views, however, and their lawyer, to settle their differences, proposes that he deal them each a poker hand to decide which will become the butler of the other. Ruggles loses and becomes the butler in the Morgan household. The ensuing situations and dialogue are packed with uproarious laughs. "Ladies Must Play," the Columbia comedy drama of sophisticated society life is scheduled to be the second feature, beginning Saturday. The cast is headed by Dorothy Sebastian and Neil Hamilton. "Ladies Must Play" has an abundance of light comedy and brilliant dialogue, smartly governed women and well groomed men, a touch of melodrama, and excellent cast of seven favorites.

About four acres of woodland were burned over last Friday and Saturday in the Fells. Saturday's fire was bad one to handle as it was largely underground.

3,000,000th RADIO

MR. KENT, you have passed a milestone which no other radio manufacturer has reached.

As merchants sharing your ideals of service and of progress, we wish to express our admiration of your achievement.

Your skill, your vision, your progressiveness, and above all your sincerity of workmanship, have accomplished more than words can say for the fullest enjoyment of radio in three million homes.

Your new 1931 set is a wonder. When you say it is by far the finest radio you have ever produced, we check with you absolutely. In fact, we are amazed that you have been able to combine so many improvements in a single year.

The richness and naturalness of its tone quality emphatically deserve the name you have given it—the Golden Voice.

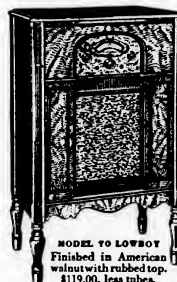

Your perfected Tone Control is almost magical in its ability to let each listener shade the music exactly as he wants it.

The new Quick-Vision Dial, developed in your own laboratory, is an innovation of extraordinary merit.

Your new cabinets bring a note of distinction to any home.

We send you this message after a thorough trial of the new Atwater Kent in our stores, in our own homes and in the homes of our customers. It is a great radio. We are proud to sell it.

As you start your fourth million we congratulate you and extend to you our best wishes and our fullest confidence.

Here the new 1931 Atwater Kent with the Golden Voice today! Small down payment puts it in your home. Call or phone nearest dealer for demonstration

There is on traffic rule in the center which should be enforced. That is to hold up all drivers who should pass the traffic lights on the west and north side of the railroad crossing. There has long been a large percentage of these drivers, and others, seeing them getting away with it, are constantly trying to themselves. Not only is it dangerous for pedestrians crossing the streets, but it results in backups on the railroad tracks and endangering the lives of those who are waiting and do away the signals. Pedestrians crossing Church street on the red light have no chance whatever, drivers shooting down to within a foot of the tracks without even reducing their speed. They block Common street and hold cars waiting and upon the raising of gates after the passage of a train, or upon lowering of gates before the approach of a train, often drive onto the tracks or force cars behind them into a jam. The jam on the west side of the crossing yesterday afternoon would have been much less except for these cars which drove beyond the stop lights. The police are doing a good job in keeping northbound cars on south Main street on the right side of the track. If they will extend a few tickets to drivers who are in such a hurry to get to the head of the line that they will cross the light on the west side of the crossing they will further extend the factor of safety and curb a number of road woes.

ROTARY CLUB

We take pleasure in recording a better attendance for September than that of August, and we have high hopes that October will exceed September in this respect. Some very interesting events are scheduled for this month and there will be five meetings. We again compare our attendance with the attendance of every member at every meeting—every shoulder at the wheel.

At this meeting President Loring Glason, read a letter just received from His Worship, Harry Collie, Mayor of Winchester, Hants, Eng., notifying our club of his acceptance of our invitation to him to be a guest at our luncheon on Oct. 16. Needless to state, this will be a red letter day in the history of our club and we are anticipating a welcome for our distinguished guest which will be worthy of the occasion.

It is not necessary to notify Winchester Rotarians that we were entertained at luncheon at the Winchester Hospital on Oct. 2, our regular meeting day. Recalling that our previously the hospital had acted as host to our club, and with most pleasant recollections of that event our members needed no urging to attend. As anticipated the luncheon itself, both in its material aspect and the manner of its service achieved the ultimate of excellence. To be sure it was rumored that thanks to the watchfulness of "Pat," Past President Escove received preferred attention, but the rest of us generously overlooked this alleged circumstance.

But the real significance of the occasion as was well expressed by the superintendent of the hospital, Miss Torrey, in her address of welcome, was the opportunity given to a representative body of citizens of this town to acquaint themselves with the aims and achievements of those charged with the management of the affairs of the hospital.

Officials of this institution clearly understand that it is impossible for them to escape criticism, but it is evident that the entire staff is bending every effort to reduce adverse criticism to a minimum. It is not by accident that the Winchester Hospital is rated in Class A—New York standard. On the contrary this represents constant and arduous effort, and it would be well if an even larger proportion of our citizens could realize that our local organization is a distinct credit to the community and is deserving of earnest support.

In his illuminating address President H. S. Fuller of the Winchester Hospital, gave us a very clear idea, both of the excellent equipment of the hospital and of the work which is being accomplished. It is apparent

NOW is the key opening the door of opportunity.
Some day that door will be bolted in addition to being locked.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The past 12 months have shown tremendous advances in the Boy Scout movement in Winchester. Because of this and to properly let the 110 contributors to the treasury of the Scout Council realize the deep appreciation of the Scout officials for their cooperation and know how their money is expended the Winchester Council, Boy Scouts of America has voted to present through the Star a brief outline of the Scout activities of recent months.

The vote of the Council was taken at the regular monthly meeting of that body—the first of the season—held recently at the Scout headquarters on South Border road with President Dr. J. Churchill Himes in the chair.

In three particulars the council feels that the work of the Scouts is especially worthy of commendation and attention.

In the first place, Scout Commissioner Dwight Brailford Hill has reported that during the past year his organization has reached its peak in Winchester. Using the number of Scout tests passed as the barometer the Scout activities were for the season of 1929-1930 160 per cent above those of the previous high year—1924. The present enrollment of approximately 150 boys is greater than the membership of the Winchester Scouts has ever been before.

Secondly, the activities of the Scout year have been of high standard. The contests of honor were especially successful and well attended and major before the Scouts entered as wholeheartedly into community activities than they did during recent months. The standards of Scout morale and training are high among the local boys. The leadership is good.

Thirdly, the Scout camp of the Winchester boys at Searsmont, Me., this summer was very successful. Forty-seven boys attended and they were charged but $7 a week a figure which in those modest circumstances were able to meet. The actual expense per capita is about twice that figure.

In addition to the regular intensive camping activities—boating, swimming, baseball, volleyball and the like, there were a number of trips including an elaborate canoe trip under the personal direction of Dr. John Maxon Wilcox.

With the opening of school the activities of the boys are now under way for this year and their attention is now being directed to the first court of honor of the season, which will be held in November. The date has not been finally decided.

The Scouts will play a prominent part in the Tercentenary activities on Oct. 12 and they promise something novel.

Troop 3
The weekly Scout meeting of Troop 3 was held Monday night at the Congregational Church under Mr. Harold Hovey's leadership.

Next week the troop is going to the Harvard Stadium to see the Harvard and Springfield game. Most of the troop is looking forward to this event.

At this week's meeting the boys played games and had Scout classes in the subjects the boys needed most. They were first aid and signaling.

Freeman Miller is again with us this week, teaching signaling and Troop 3 certainly ought to win the signaling events at the next court with a good man like him.

At the end of the meeting the Scout oath and laws were said and the meeting was dismissed promptly at 8:30.

Troop 6
We certainly must give the young Scouts a hand for troop loyalty when "I arrive in answer to their Scoutmaster's call for the opening meeting!"

And this is what happened on Tuesday night, Sept. 30.

We welcome the following newcomers: William Bennett, Donald Howard and Robert Wilde.

Organization was effected by the Scouts voting as follows: Senior Patrol Leader, Richard Elliott; Assistant Patrol Leader, Albert Smith; Scoutmaster, 1st Patrol, Rupert Vittinghoff; Assistant Leader, Robert Josephson; Leader of 2nd Patrol, John Tomblay; Assistant Leader, Harold Richardson; Leader of 3rd Patrol, Norman Clarke; Assistant Leader, Robert Orpin; Leader of 4th Patrol, Frank Harkins; Assistant Leader, Jack Chittell.

Then the "Tenderfoots" got busy; also "first" and "second class" were put to work. The whole troop appeared animated by "Pep, Vim and Vigor."

Next week we will no doubt be shaped up for the great Tercentenary parade. We expect to make a good showing on Oct. 12.

WINCHESTER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A meeting of the officers and directors of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce was held at their office on Thursday evening, Sept. 25, with a good number present. Matters of importance regarding the civic affairs of our town were discussed.

It was voted to donate the sum of $25 to the Winchester Tercentenary celebration fund.

The matter of the preservation of Winter Pond as a state pond was freely discussed and it was voted to send a letter to the Board of Selectmen stating some of the facts. Any pond of ten acres or more in surface measure is under the control of the state, as a great pond and subject to the state laws. Winter Pond is the only pond that is fed by springs alone, and has been an artistic and beautiful sheet of water and a decided asset to the West side property owners. We predict that it is possible to have the Winter Pond basin filled with water again by the action of the town, with the State of Massachusetts as a foundation to be depended upon.

The parking of automobiles in the center of our town is a serious menace to the merchants. The lack of parking space causing the people to park out of town near their shopping. What about the filled land at the upper end of Railroad avenue?

Our president was pleased to announce that 10 new members have been added to our list this summer.

We are anxious to bring the number of new members up to 100.

The Chamber reported at the hearing called by the Middlesex County Commissioners at their office in East Cambridge. A good number of new members from Lexington also attended the hearing. There was no opposition to the laying out of an avenue from Winchester to Lexington, which is a very important proposition.

It was voted to write the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee in relation to removing material and cleaning the North Reservoir. In doing this three results would be realized: First, sanitation; second, increased storage capacity and third, the giving of work to the unemployed this fall and winter. Such would be a high grade investment.

HAMPTON BEACH REUNION AND DANCE

The annual reunion and dance of the Hampton Beach Vacationists will be held on the 10th of October at the on-the-Charles, Waltham, this Monday night, Oct. 6. A beauty contest will be held to decide on the girl to represent Miss Hampton Beach for 1930.

The committee in charge of arrangements are Walter Hubert of Somerville, Frank Rouse of Lexington, Roger Coleman of Melrose, Bernard "Dick" Casey of Dorchester and Eugene Haggerty of Belmont.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

There were two cases of Dog Bite reported to the Board of Health for the week ending, Thursday, Oct. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Segitz returned to Winchester Tuesday from Grifton, Vt.

WINCHESTER MAN GENERAL MANAGER

Newspaper dispatches recently told of the development of marketing plans for surgical dressings at Lewis Manufacturing Company, Inc., of The Kendall Company which have been hailed as progressive by business observers, and it is of interest to Winchester people that the general manager of the Lewis plant is a Winchester young man, R. R. Higgins, son of A. S. Higgins, 68 Church street.

His accession to the general management of the Lewis Company occurred some months ago and current reports indicate that the Lewis operations during the current year have been unusually satisfactory considering the fact of this being an off year generally in business.

Young Mr. Higgins joined the Kendall organization after graduation from Harvard in 1922 and describes his first work as that of "office boy."

He spent 11 months at southern mills of the company in the Carolinas, six months at its Slatesville Finishing Company Division, Slatesville, R. I., and was in the Kendall Company's Boston office as an assistant to the president, entering on his enlarged responsibilities as general manager at Walpole toward the end of 1929.

OPENING STONEHAM BRAND NEW THEATRE TONIGHT

Stoneham Theatre will open this evening with what experts in theatre remodeling consider one of the best small community theatres in New England. The entire theatre has been carried out in modern style, with scenic art front to the draperies on the stage. It is something brand new in theatre decoration and is of the very latest design.

Nothing has been left undone to give the patrons the best in comfort and environment with the best in sound, the suggestion that the Stoneham Rock Memorial Theatre has in Boston, R. C. A. made by the Radio Corporation of America. A new world class has been laid for resending and warmth. Every lighting fixture in the theatre has been changed. The walls have been painted and silk damask laid over them to give beauty to the theatre and help to give softer sound. Carpets have been laid and the entire theatre painted. New picture machines and the latest sound system has been installed, giving a big city theater in a small town.

Come and see for yourself, the big changes that have been made.

HENRY FORD'S COACH TO BE IN LINE

Coming for Tercentenary Parade With Spectacular "Norsemen" Float

Chairman Harris S. Richardson of the Tercentenary Committee announced this week that one of the big features of the parade, to be held on Monday, Oct. 13, in connection with the town's celebration of the tercentenary of the founding of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, will be the appearance in line of the famous four-horse Henry Ford coach from Windsor Inn, Sudbury. The spectacular float, depicting the "Coming of the Norsemen," which aroused such favorable comment in the Boston Tercentenary parade, will also be in line. Other floats of unusual interest are those which will portray the "Founding of Winchester," "Early Colonial Life," the "Development of the Leather Industry," "Paul Revere's Ride" and the "Constitution."

Plans for the town's celebration are rapidly approaching perfection and the community is assured of a really worth while observance of Massachusetts' three hundredth birthday.

Decorators began on Wednesday the work of putting the town hall in gala attire for the Tercentenary and many of the business houses about the square are to be appropriately decorated, as well as private dwellings and clubhouses throughout the town. The committee asks all to co-operate in this important phase of the celebration, at least to the extent of displaying the National colors on Oct. 12 and 13. Everyone is asked, so far as possible to decorate for the big event.

The committee also requests all residents of the town who are descendants of the early settlers to communicate at once with Ernest R. Eustis of the Tercentenary Committee. One section of a division of the party and being reserved for them and it is the committee's earnest wish to have as many descendants of the town's pioneers in line as possible.

There will be a real need for automobiles for the parade, and the committee asks any who can donate the use of a machine with a driver to get in touch with Chairman James J. Fitzgerald of the Parade Committee. Open cars are especially wanted.

It is also very important that those who plan to enter the parade communicate at once with Chairman Fitzgerald to secure definite assignments to sections and divisions. The committee wishes to avoid the confusion which must ensue if the Parade Committee is not notified well in advance of all floats and detachments which will be in the line of march.

Official and handsomely illustrated programs will be on sale during the parade at 25c each, and may be secured toward the last of next week at the Star office. These will make handsome souvenirs of the Tercentenary and the modest price charged is merely to partially cover the cost of publication.

Aside from the parade the most interesting feature of the local celebration is the public reception to the Mayor and Mayoress of Winchester, England, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Collis, who are to arrive in Winchester Sunday afternoon, Oct. 12. The reception is to be held in the Town Hall, Tuesday evening, Oct. 14, and the tentative program announced is one which promises to be in keeping with such a history-making event.

Hon. Lewis Parkhurst is to preside at the reception and will be introduced by the chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Harry W. Stevens. Mr. Samuel Symmes, who has already attained quite a reputation as a narrator of events in the town's history, will speak of Old Winchester, and the address of welcome to Mayor Collis will be given by Mr. William Lewis Parsons. Mayor Collis will also deliver an address and music will be furnished by Will Drake's Concert Orchestra, recently a radio feature over Station WEEI.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Although the formal activities of the Fortnightly have not yet commenced, several committees are opening their year's work.

The Conservation Committee beg the members of the Club not to forget the Thursday morning walks under the leadership of Mrs. Helen Macdonald. Anyone wishing to join the club will please call Win. 6337-M.

The Parliamentary Law Class, sponsored by the Legislative Committee, will convene on Wednesday morning, Oct. 8 at 10 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall. Mrs. George E. Hutchins, who was so well liked last year, will be the instructor. All members desiring to take the course may call the chairman of Legislation, Mrs. A. Beatrice Thompson Winchester 1639, or any member of the committee. Mrs. Hutchins is experienced, capable, and she has a splendid faculty of imparting information. All club members, whether in office or on the floor, should know the right way to make motions, object to procedure, or to stop debate, and Mrs. Hutchins will be pleased to give this information and much more.

Miss Katherine Kileoyne, daughter of Mrs. Katherine Kileoyne of 21 Chester street was again honored on last Monday evening when a large group of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Thomas Kileoyne of 11 Eateney street and tendered her a miscellaneous shower. The home was beautifully decorated in pink and orchid and the bride-to-be received many presents. Miss Kileoyne, who has been employed in the Winchester National Bank for many years, is to become the bride of Mr. Harold W. O'Brien of Reading on Oct. 9 at St. Mary's Church.

B. F. CALLAHAN GUEST OF HONOR AT BACHELOR SUPPER

B. F. Callahan, popular local caterer, was tendered a bachelor supper Tuesday evening at Glendale Farm Inn, Woburn, by a group of more than 150 relatives and friends, in honor of his wedding Thursday afternoon to Miss Helen Morgan of Woburn.

Following an informal reception, tea was served by a committee headed by John Callahan and Vincent Boyle, and a chicken dinner was served. Michael J. Curran, secretary to Mayor Philip Gallagher of Woburn, was toastmaster and those who responded were Charles E. Murphy and James F. McLaughlin of the Woburn School Committee; James F. McGrath, Jr., Frank Murray, Thomas Lewis, Henry Wilson of Stoneham, Alderman Thomas G. Cannon of Woburn, Thomas P. Callahan, George A. Forbes, John L. Doherty, P. Joseph Meahan, Bernard A. Murphy, John P. Gilgan, John L. Joyce, chairman of the Woburn School Committee, John Callahan, Edward Callahan, John Mulrenan, William H. McMullen, Manlio G. Moffett, Bernard Crowley, Angelo Tofari, John DelGrasso, Vincent Boyle, Arthur O'Leary of the Boston Globe. Mr. Callahan was also called upon and expressed his appreciation of his friends' interest in a clever way.

During the dinner there were piano solos by James F. McGrath, Jr. and quartet selections by "Mike" Curran, "Hughie" Boyle, Frank Murray and Thomas P. Callahan. At the close of the dinner Mr. Callahan was presented with a substantial purse of gold.

PLANNING BOARDS VISIT WINCHESTER

Three large buses carrying about 100 members of the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards visited Winchester on Wednesday afternoon and traveled over the town viewing the various accomplishments and results of our system and operation of town planning.

The Federation had been in session in Boston during the week and closed its conference with this trip. A luncheon was partaken at the Country Club after which the party, under the guidance of town engineer James Hinds and Messrs. William L. Parsons, Frank E. Rowe, Arthur A. Kidder and George S. Tompkins, inspected the town.

The Federation wished to make an inspection of a place in which a comprehensive planning scheme had been in action. Winchester was chosen by its selection for this purpose. Traveling over a route of about 10 miles, our various parks, zoning districts, street layouts, building setbacks and other features pertaining to modern and systematic town planning were explained and inspected.

The members of the Federation expressed great interest in what has been accomplished here and were loud in their praise of our town.

Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell led the party over the route.

The Star received its first report of a hole-in-one on a "Tom Thumb" golf course this week. We learn unofficially that Sidney Blanchard of the firm of George W. Blanchard & Co. made a hole-in-one on the 18th last Friday evening at the "Four Corners" course.

WINCHESTER TENNIS

The men's singles and doubles tournaments sponsored by the Winchester Tennis Association, played last weekend on the Palmer street courts resulted in some excellent tennis and close matches.

The finals in both tournaments will be played either Saturday or Sunday to determine the first names to be placed on the Benedict Club Tennis trophy and the Winchester Tennis Association singles' cup.

The finalists in the doubles are James and Richard Riley and "Larry" Freeburn and "Charlie" Wadsworth. These two teams reached the final round after overcoming the stiff opposition from the combinations of "Steve" Thompson and Hall Gamage, W. Blanchard and "Bob" Drake, "Doc" Blackler and "Kip" Priest.

In the singles tournament one of the close matches was between "Jim" Riley and Thompson, won by Riley, 7-5, 6-3. The finalists in the singles are "Larry" Freeburn or "Jim" Riley in the upper bracket and Hall Gamage or "Kip" Priest in the lower.

The scores:

First Round

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Time is drawing on now for the canoe parade on the night of Oct. 13. The Winchester Boat Club committee advise us that only a dozen members so far have signified their intention of joining in on this affair. Surely we must not let Medford Boat Club outdo us right on our own home grounds! We realize it's a little late in the canoeing season, and that it comes on a week-end—but forget the time of year and you'll have to be back for work on Tuesday even if you have planned a trip for the two or three days. So just arrange to be gone at sunset say on Monday night and with your canoe, "set-up" in advance why what could be easier?

The Boat Club committee will gladly help you in any way they can—either by supplying a boat or with suggestions in the decoration of your own. We have heard of several novel and also beautiful floats which are to be fixed up. There is plenty of room for everyone and you cannot help but have some fun in rigging up your crafts, too!

Messrs. Alan Hovey and Lars Sandberg have something "up their sleeve" in regard to the decoration of the barge, and we wouldn't be surprised, but that "Admiral Jack" Jones, would figure in it somewhere!

The tennis court has been much in demand every night for the past week and right now with the return to Standard time, it is even more in demand every night. The playing surface is very good and the lights are proving most satisfactory. Even James Eitch and "Charlie" Rogers (also paddlers, Pratt and Hovey) all of them "star" racket wielders, have been seen to make use of the court. There must be a reason!

The quail's pitch is quite dry and dusty now and we figure that to be the reason for the rima have not been encircling the "hubs" so much of late.

Tomorrow evening, Saturday, Oct. 4, there will be a regular club dance. This is scheduled as the last dance of the 1930 season and the hall should be crowded! As the week following Saturday, is in the midst of the holiday week-end, it was deemed advisable not to hold a party on that date. The club closes Oct. 19 and it is possible there might be a radio-victrola dance on the 18th if the weather warrants it. Well, don't forget, to be down tomorrow night.

MISS O'MELIA SHOWERED

Miss Elizabeth C. O'Melia, daughter of Mrs. Nora O'Melia of 10 Loring avenue was tendered a miscellaneous shower at her home on Monday evening in honor of her approaching wedding to Charles F. Wilson of Medford.

More than 150 guests were present and Miss O'Melia received many gifts of interest to the bride-to-be. A buffet luncheon was served and an informal entertainment program ended the evening pass quickly and pleasantly. Miss O'Melia and Mr. Wilson are to be married this Saturday evening.

RESERVOIR ROADS CLOSED

The Water Department this week closed all roads in the Fells connecting with the Winchester reservoirs. This is done as a protection from the present fire hazard due to the extremely dry weather. Thousands of young pines are planted about the shores of the reservoirs. A fire starting in their vicinity would ruin years of labor in planting and would affect seriously the continuance of water drainage into the reservoirs.

Large picnics have been posted at all roads connected with the reservoirs giving notice that they are closed to travel, and the local and Metropolitan police are working under instructions to enforce the ruling.

William E. Styles, who died early Monday in Woburn, was the brother of John Styles of this town, and had many friends in Winchester. High mass of requiem was celebrated Wednesday morning in St. Charles Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

LUCY FOWLE WON TWO CHAMPIONSHIPS AT LONGWOOD

"Billy" Gilpatrick Twice Runner-Up in Boys' and Girls' Play

Lucy Fowle, Winchester High School sophomore and one of the best among the town's young tennis players, won the girls' singles and the mixed doubles, paired with Eugene Sullivan of Brown & Nichols School, in Mrs. Wightman's annual fall younger class tennis tournament at the Longwood Cricket Club last Saturday. The final rounds had to be held over and played on Monday afternoon.

In the girls' singles Lucy won her semi-final match from Mary Brigham 6-1 and won in the championship round from Sally Jones by the same convincing score. She advanced to the semi-finals by defeating another Winchester girl, Louisa Williams, in the fourth round.

On the boys' side of the tournament Winchester's "Billy" Gilpatrick was a finalist, losing 2-6 in the championship round to the present younger class boys' State champion, Sumner Rodman. "Billy" had a tough match to win in the semi-finals, facing Ralph Pope, whom he defeated, 3-5. In mixed doubles "Billy" and Sally Jones won their semi-final match from Eleanor Ciccone and Basil Ridgeway, facing Lucy Fowle and Eugene Sullivan in the final bracket. The latter combination finally won a hair-line 6-5 victory and the title. Paul Gale of Winchester won the boys' consolation singles from Eugene Emerson, 6-3.

Two of the four seeded girl players were from Winchester, they being Lucy Fowle, No. 2 and Martha Boyden, No. 3. Sixty-four boys and 45 girls participated in the tourney.

Frank N. Carleton has been elected to the English honor group at Dartmouth College.

THE NAMING OF WINCHESTER

Quotation from the Winchester Star

Saturday, July 28, 1888

HON. F. O. PRINCE

His Views of the Town and the Town House

There is no living personage probably, that has been so closely identified with the history of Winchester than Hon. Frederick O. Prince, or Squire Prince, as he was known in years gone by. During the stormy times when this town was struggling for separation from Woburn to set up for herself, the part that Mr. Prince took in the fray was a notable one, and to him more than to any single individual is due the fact that this section was ultimately incorporated into the present beautiful town.

When it was an assured fact that the town would receive favorable legislative sanction, Mr. Prince began to look around to find a person of wealth who would give a substantial ing—the Stillings of Tenney lots for instance—that would give the structure a better setting off. But, now that the building is up, I am very well pleased with it. If you should ask me if I thought it was judicious to erect the building, with the present low debt, I should answer you that I did not think it wise under the circumstances. Mr. Prince then went on to tell of the large proportion the debt was assumed, and thought it would have been better to have waited longer until the town was financially stronger. For that reason he would have voted against the project.

What do you think of the growth of the village and its future, was next asked him.

"The growth of the village has been marvelous and will continue to increase, Winchester, in my estimation, and also in the estimation of Boston people, takes rank with Brookline and Newton, which are considered the most beautiful towns in the State, and are so looked upon."

Mr. Prince is enjoying good health and his opinion on any subject is sound. We are well pleased with present in the event of the new town being named after the said person. A few men were looked up, and among them was Peter C. Brooks, but he was evidently not as anxious for the honor as is his descendant of the present day. Had the honorable Peter acquiesced Winchester would never have heard of and in its stead we would have had Brooks or Brookville as the town name. When Mr. Winchester was asked to set aside the use of his name he readily consented and as an earnest of his interest in the new town he presented it with a check for $3000. There is an interesting story in this connection which we believe is known to but few persons. When Mr. Winchester signed the check he presented it to Mr. Prince with the request that he write a letter to the Selectmen presenting it with the money. Mr. Prince wrote a very appropriate letter and signed Colonel Winchester's name to it. The town fathers were much pleased over the receipt of the check and the accompanying letter. Nothing would do but the Selectmen should wait on Squire Prince and inform him of the town's good fortune and request him to write a letter of acknowledgment. Mr. Prince had considerable difficulty in preserving a calm demeanor, but he did, however, and promised the callers that he would attend to it. Mr. Prince was then placed in the position of acknowledging the receipt of his own letter. The town remained in ignorance of this little episode until about three years ago, when at a meeting of the Village Improvement Society, Mr. Prince divulged the secret and gave the true inwardness of the part he had played in his being the author of the two letters. Thus to him belongs the honor of securing the present name of Winchester. Mr. Prince was to have the past week looking over his property, of which he has considerable. He takes a great deal of interest in the town, and while it is not of an active description, still he follows its present and future phases more closely than most of the citizens are aware. Of course everyone takes an interest in the new town house, and curious to know his thoughts of it and the village, he was asked for his opinion on the subject. He said:

COL. WILLIAM F. WINCHESTER

F. O. PRINCE

"I have heard a great deal of fault finding with the building and the architect, so I and my son in driving past the hall-stopped and inspected it from the outside, and we came to the conclusion that it was a fine building that reflected credit on the architect, who was deserving of praise for the splendid style of architecture."

On being asked how he liked the location he said:

"I like it, but my choice would have been a location more commanding views on the future of the town over which he is very enthusiastic."

WYMAN-LASSEN

Monday evening in the Second Congregational Church Miss Helen I. Lassen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund O. Lassen of 14 Forest street, became the bride of Reginald C. Wyman of West Medford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred U. Wyman of Wilmington. The marriage ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by the Pastor of the church, Rev. John E. Whitley. Palms, cut flowers and autumn leaves were artistically arranged to make a charming background for the wedding.

Miss Lassen was attended by Miss Grace Edwards of West Medford as maid of honor and by Mrs. Dorothy Wain of West Medford and Mrs. Madeleine Lake of Waverly as bridesmaids. Miss Helen Mafera of Winchester was flower girl, and Master Norman Danielson of Winchester, ring bearer.

Mr. Wyman had for his best man his brother, Wayne Wyman of Wilmington. Ushers were Harry Dyson of Somerville, Vincent W. Wyman of Somerville and Harry Dyson of Somerville and Harry Dyson of Somerville and Harry Dyson of Somerville.

The bride wore a wedding gown of old ivory satin, having a court train, and a cap shaped veil of lace and tulle. Her shower bouquet was of bride's roses. Miss Edwards wore a gown of yellow net and carried Talisman roses. The bridesmaids were gowned in orchid crepe and carried pink tea roses. The little flower girl wore a frock of white net, trimmed with pink ribbons, and carried the conventional basket of rose petals.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the vestry of the church, the bride and bridegroom being assisted in receiving by their parents and by the entire bridal party. The receiving line stood beneath an arch of cut flowers and green.

Mr. Wyman and his bride left at the conclusion of the reception upon a motor honeymoon which is to take them through New Hampshire, Vermont, Canada and New York State. Upon their return they will be at home after Oct. 12 in "The Belmont," 38 Main street, Malden. The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School in the class of 1926, and has been employed as a secretary by the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston. Mr. Wyman is a motorcycle officer with the Massachusetts Police and is stationed at the Charles River Basin.

Henry B. Brown has been elected to the freshman glee club at Dartmouth College.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED

Mrs. Mary Lyons, Mother of Builder, Receives Cardinal's Blessing

Cardinal O'Connell on Sunday dedicated the new church of St. Theresa on Centre street, Woburn, Mass., to the loyalty, devotion and sacrifice of the Rev. William F. Lyons, its pastor and builder. More than 500 persons, including many of the priesthood and lay notables of Boston, attended.

Rev. Lyons is the son of Mrs. Mary Lyons of Everett avenue and brother of Rev. Henry Lyons and Dr. George A. Lyons, all well known here through their long residence.

In an impressive ceremony, Cardinal O'Connell blessed the cornerstone and later consecrated the church to a work as useful as its physical aspect is beautiful, the edifice being considered architecturally one of the finest in the country.

The Cardinal was attended by Fr. Lyons and his brother, the Rev. Henry Lyons, pastor of St. Catherine's Church of Charlestown, chaplain, Master of ceremonies was the Rev. Harry M. O'Connell of the Cathedral of Holy Cross.

The ceremony which has marked the building of the church by Fr. Lyons and the interest of his parish was the occasion for congratulation by Cardinal O'Connell, but an unusual incident which was a direct forerunner of the ceremony became a feature of the occasion as he told of his special blessing bestowed on the 90-year-old mother of the brothers Lyons.

"I have several excellent reasons for blessing the priests and people of this parish," Cardinal O'Connell said. "First, because I hold Fr. Lyons as exemplifying of the best traits of loyal priesthood. But most important, because I have just had the very great pleasure of meeting Mrs. Lyons, mother of these two priests, now more than 90 years old. Her heart must be filled with joy at the noble achievement of her sons."

"It is an occasion of great moment to bless a church which embodies so great a work of beauty. But while it is an edifice of the city and state in which it stands, so much greater of beauty is the loyalty and unstinted generosity of the parish which has made its achievement possible."

In his opening remarks, Fr. Lyons told the Cardinal how pleased the parish was to have the opportunity of his visit, that during the four years in which the church was building, his presence and blessing had been looked forward to as the end of their labors.

After the services, the benediction of the blessed sacrament was celebrated by Fr. Henry Lyons, Miss Mary Twiss, sister of the Rev. John Twiss of Somerville, clad in white, presented the Cardinal a bouquet of roses as representative of the love and loyalty of the people of the parish.

A few minutes before the services, the Cardinal gave a special blessing to Mrs. Lyons, accompanied by Fr. William and Fr. Henry and another son, Dr. George A. Lyons, and her three daughters.

Attending the ceremony, beside more than a score of priests from local parishes, were Mayor James M. Curley and his daughter, Mary, fourth degree Knights of Columbus formed the escort, among them Charles T. H. Hechler, Deputy Exalt. James Melvitt and Joseph A. Mitchell.

THREE AUTO ACCIDENTS LAST FRIDAY

Motorcycle Officer John F. Hogan of the Police Department was painfully injured at 9:30 last Friday morning when he was knocked from his machine at Main and Lake streets in a collision with a Sanford truck, owned by Ryder's Stock Farm of Lexington, and driven by Charles N. Clark of 1081 Main street, North Woburn.

According to the police account of the accident the truck was turning Lake street and turning north to go to Woburn while Officer Hogan was headed south on Main street. The motorcycle was badly damaged about the front end and Officer Hogan sustained injuries to both knees and his left wrist. He was taken to the office of Dr. H. H. Hechler and after treatment was taken to his home in the Police automobile.

At 2:40 Friday afternoon a Roa Truck, owned by Harry's Express Company of Woburn and driven by John P. McLaughlin of 19 Tabor street, Brookline, while going north on upper Main street, struck and killed a dog, owned by Roy Doucette of 605 Main street.

Mrs. Beatrice T. Hatch of 20 Jefferson road reported to the Police that as she was driving a Studebaker sedan north on Main street at 3:30 Friday afternoon, and was about to make a right turn in Lawrence road, her machine was in collision with a Ford sedan, owned and driven by Mary Fallon of 134 Garfield avenue, Woburn. Both machines were slightly damaged, but no injuries were reported.

BRYANT &amp; STRATTON EVENING SCHOOL

The exceptionally large enrollment at Bryant & Stratton Evening School demonstrated that this popular institution continues in great favor with employed young men and women who are seeking to advance themselves by evening study during the fall and winter months. The prime reason for this favor is that each student enjoys the privilege of individual advancement and is able to secure every possible advantage arising from previous training and experience.

Each Monday and Thursday evening brings large numbers to the total enrollment. It is of interest to note that of the nearly 100,000 students who enroll in the evening schools of greater Boston each season, about 25,000 are taking training in commercial subjects. This is clear evidence of the fact that under the present highly competitive conditions of business only those who are efficiently trained may expect to receive promotion and increase of salary.

NEWST PARAGRAPHS

Selectman Irving Symmes had as his guest at the old time fire fighters' meeting last Sunday in the Central Fire Station, Chief Fox of the Boston Fire Department. Chief Fox spoke briefly to the old timers and following the meeting about 40 of those present went in two big buses to the big parade in Medford. The old timers got quite a hand from the crowd as their buses were marked "Old Fire Fighters of Winchester from 1870 to 1910."

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Common Clay" starring Constance Bennett, and Buster Keaton's new comedy "Dough Boys" is the great program the big Granada Theater in Malden will offer for seven days starting Saturday. The picture opens with her as a "hostess" in a speakeasy, not inherently vicious, but a girl who loves drink, and is a dancer, and who has taken the easiest way to secure these. An unexpected vice squad raid brings her into jail, where she listens contritely to a kindly Judge's lecture and decides to go straight. She obtains a position as a maid in one of the city's most prominent families—only to find conditions but little improved over the life in the speakeasy. Both the butler and the young heir of the house make unwelcome advances and when the latter is almost convinced that she isn't that kind, his pal, who has known her previously, tells what he knows. This new leads the boy to commence a cautious campaign of love making, which only terminates when the establishment is raided, and he returns to college leaving behind him a girl who has learned to love him too well. Lew Ayres, Matty Kemp, lead the supporting cast. Buster Keaton is always funny and they say that "Dough Boys" is one of the most reliable picture comedies he has ever made. He is seen as a millionaire's son who enlists by mistake. Sent to the front the new "dough boy" is killed, immediately after which he is resurrected, and mistakes and situations arising a background of battle scenes staged on a spectacular scale. Sally Eilers, head of the Metropolitan, and Edwards, head Mr. Keaton's supporting cast.

"Manslaughter" with Claudette Colbert and Frederic March as the featured players, heads the program which closes its run at the Granada on Friday. "Manslaughter" is the biggest hit released by the Paramount company this season. "Lawful Larceny" with Bobe Daniels and Lowell Sherman stars, and is the second feature on the current program.

Come to Winchester News for free instruction on floats and costumes.

The Fire Department answered four alarms Saturday afternoon, the first at 1:55 for a brush fire on Woodside road. At 2:50 there was a second brush fire on Woodside road, and while apparatus was busy at that place Box 26 sounded at 4:16 for a fire in a Rev truck on Main street near Herrick street.

The truck was the property of Anthony Saturno of 35 Swanton street. At 4:16 the men were called to put out a dump fire on Pond street at the Walden Parkway.

Buy New England Coal from your local dealer, J. F. Winn & Co.

The Fire Department was called at 5:20 this morning by the Metropolitan Police to put out a brush fire in the Fells near the reservoirs.

Mr. and Mrs. George N. Proctor and family have returned to their Winchester home after spending the summer at Marblehead.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Moffatt are the parents of a daughter, born Sept. 29 at Hartford, Conn.

Engine 1 and its crew left at 2:40 yesterday morning to assist the Metropolitan Fire Department in putting out the forest fire in the Fells near the reservoirs.

The fire, which is underground, is particularly difficult to cope with and it is necessary to use a small nozzle with extremely high pressure to penetrate the ground in order to reach the fire. It is not unusual for such a fire to burn the roots of the trees so that the trunks topple and fall.

Chairman Sanderson of the Water & Sewer Board told the Star that the ground in the Fells was so dry that in many places the firemen were able to penetrate to a depth of almost six feet by their high pressure stream.

The Star is indebted to James Murphy of Mystic avenue for the following roster of the old J. W. Hasebrook and Lumber Company of 1888. The company comprised John McManis, James Murphy, John McCarren, Frank Corcoran, James Barlow, Jack Davidson, James Bonham, William Broderick, Fred Waldmyer and John Hurley. We are told that Messrs. Murphy and Broderick are the only members of the old company now living.

THREE ACCIDENTS MONDAY

Three automobile accidents were reported at police headquarters during Monday, the first taking place at 8:15 in the morning. At that time a Chevrolet coach, owned and driven by Carolyn B. Burrell of Perkins Institute, Watertown, while going west on the Parkway at Main street was in collision with a Ford truck, the property of Julian Reletole of Woburn street, Wilmington, and headed south on Main street. Both machines were damaged. Miss Burrell was assisted from her car by H. W. Peterson of Mattapan. The cars had to be towed away, but neither driver claimed injuries.

At 10:25 a. m. a G. M. C. truck, owned by the D. S. Woodbury Company of Boston and driven by Charles Peterson of 8 Wansley street, Roxbury, was in collision at Cambridge street and Calumet road with a Hudson sedan, owned and operated by David A. Ackerman of 26 South street, Boston. According to the police the accident occurred when the truck came from behind a Buick sedan which was headed south on Cambridge street and was turning into Calumet road. The truck collided with the Hudson, throwing the latter against an electric light pole at the side of the road. The Hudson was badly damaged and Ackerman was taken by a passing motorist to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Forner M. Morguey. Later he was discharged.

The police were notified that at 5:10 in the afternoon a Hummobile sedan, driven by John Hunt of 40 Irving street, Winchester, when about to turn into Mt. Vernon street from Washington street was forced by another car into the curb, breaking its windshield and bumper and damaging a tire. The driver of the second car, a Rickenbacker sedan, was making a left turn from Washington street into Mt. Vernon street. He was Philip Johnson of 30 Calumet road. He told the police he did not see Hunt's car until after he had passed it.

Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols issues a warning to all who have not paid their motor excise taxes that the dead line for payment without a summons is Oct. 15. The next lot of excise taxes sent out will be payable 30 days from date.

ARLINGTON HERE THE HOLIDAY

Winchester Plays First League Football Game With Ancient Rival

Winchester High School opens its Mystic Valley League football season Monday morning, on Manchester Field, when Coach Mansfield's boys take on their big rivals, Arlington High. The game is being played as one of the big events of Winchester's Tercentenary Celebration program, and needless to say is one which the locals want to win.

On paper there seems little choice between the two eleven. Winchester has won from Stoneham and Concord by low scores, Arlington has beaten Lexington by a single touchdown, played a tie game with Concord and figured in a scoreless tie with "Charlie" Dickerman's Somerville High eleven. It is this last achievement which makes us think that the Spy Ponders at least have a strong defensive club. Arlington is a week further along than Winchester, giving its team a slight edge in the matter of all around development.

With the Mayor and Mayoress of Winchester, England, on the sidelines, Coach Mansfield's charges will give everything they have to bring home a victory. Winchester has done rather well, on the whole, in its first two games, showing a strong defensive line and flashes of effective offensive play. The locals looked very weak against the Stoneham late game passing attack, and Arlington has in Galucci one of the best passing quarterbacks in the League. As we said before, the game looks like a toss-up between the two well known breaks likely to figure prominently in the naming of the winner.

Winchester will take the field with "Eddie" Hitchborn and "Indian" DiAppella at ends; "Dan" Smith and "Brutus" Colpas, tackles; "Joe" Flaherty and Ralph Ambrose, guards; and Capt. "Doc" Emery, center. Little "Batsy" Tofuri will bark signals to "Robbie" Robinson and "Kingfish" Smith, halfbacks; and the veteran, "Olio" Lee, fullback. Kickoff at 10 o'clock.

Clifton "Buz" McNeil of this town played one of the tackle berths for the New Hampton Prep School team against Andover last Saturday. "Jim" Haley is another local boy on the New Hampton squad.

DAVID GOLDSTEIN TO SPEAK IN WINCHESTER

Arrangements have been completed for the coming of David Goldstein, the well known "campaigner for Christ" and his assistants who will speak from the motor broadcasting car of the Catholic Truth Guild Thursday evening, Oct. 16 at 7:45 p. m. at Winchester Common.

These pioneer street campaigners have had the unusual privilege of traveling in their attractive outfit, with permission of the ecclesiastical superiors, into nearly every city between San Francisco and open air audiences on the streets, history and practices of their church. They announce a quiz period, to follow their talks, when they will welcome all written and verbal questions related to their topic, the credentials of the Catholic Church. This is considered to be one of the striking features of their work as it gives outsiders an opportunity to sound Catholic laymen as to the reasons for their belief. Besides, they consider it to be one of the best methods of warding off error and dissipating misunderstanding which is declared to be the cause of nine-tenths of the differences in matters religious. An intellectual treat is said to be in store for those who go to this out door meeting, to which men and women of all religious and of no religious belief are invited.

This meeting is under the patronage of Santa Maria Court of the Catholic Daughters of America, an organization that is sponsoring this modern method of informing the public regarding things Catholic.

SANTA DOMINGO RELIEF FUND

The Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross recently forwarded a check for $200 to the directors of relief work in Santa Domingo. A small portion of this fund was contributed by the public, and the balance was made up from the Chapter treasury.

Solar Surgery

From the earliest times sunlight has been considered an important aid in the preservation of health. The ancient Greeks and Romans exposed their naked bodies to the sun in the open air to recruit mental and physical energies. Exposure to the sun's rays was also adopted by the physicians of those times as a remedy for many afflictions, "especially dropsy, inflammation of the kidneys and paralysis."

TROMSO: HAVEN OF ARCTIC FISHERMEN AND EXPLORERS

Tromso, Norway, news center since the finding of traces of the Andree expedition, is a quiet city of about 11,000 inhabitants who are chiefly interested in Arctic fisheries, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Tromso lies about 225 miles north of the Arctic circle, occupying a portion of a small fertile island hidden from the sea by larger islands. Within a short radius are some of Norway's most beautiful fjords by which Tromso may be reached.

Tromso harbor is small, but it accommodates large fleets of fishing boats which call it their home port. When the fleet is in the harbor is a conglomeration of boats of many sizes and shapes, from large ungainly craft to the small tenders which, with their up-turned ends, resemble the gondolas of Venice.

These boats bring in fish and pelts which form the bulk of Tromso's trade. Yearly Tromso bids farewell to boats bound for the northern fisheries and hunting grounds. In one year they returned to the Norwegian town with oil from 126 white whales and pelts from 236 polar bears, 135 walrus, 8000 seals, 2888 reindeer, 61 blue foxes, 80 white foxes and 1000 pounds of ermine skins. These articles and smoked fish are shipped direct from Tromso to world markets.

Wandering through the few regular streets of Tromso the traveler meets with a sturdy, heavily clothed people. Now and then he encounters a Lapp from the Lapp camp near the town. The Lapp camp consists of a group of round stone and clay huts where Lapp deer herders spend the colder part of the year. In the spring many of them trek to higher altitudes with their herds for new pastures.

IN REPLY TO "KEEP THE HOME FIRES

BURNING"

They responded from the hillsides.

And they hurried from the hillsides.

With the nation proudly watching the torching of their men.

Sides and faces did not call them.

And though their eyes were breaking,

Willows were their dead and word.

Home fires now are burning.

Gone our heart's sad yearning.

For the boys are with us now.

And the home is home.

Now is brightly shining.

For the clouds are made out.

Now the boys are home.

A. Beatrice Thompson

Allied nations hearts are weeping.

Metled the nation's yearning.

Ringing victors' glory glow.

To hearts at home.

No the silver lining.

Of war clouds' shining.

Singing laughter on the land.

Now the boys are home.

MAIDEN GIRLS WIN FOR THIRD SUCCESSIVE TIME

Hilda and Helen Boehm Won Girls' Junior Doubles Crown at Winchester Country Club

Once again, on last Saturday the Misses Hilda and Helen Boehm, twin sisters of Malden, won the junior doubles championship for Greater Boston girls and 14 years at the Winchester Country Club courts. It was the third successive victory for the widely known Malden pairs, before they have been among the leading junior doubles teams of the state for several seasons.

The Boehms won their title last Saturday by defeating Miss Mary Cutter and Miss Frances Poirer of Winchester, 6-2, 6-3, after coming through the first round with a victory over Misses Barbara Chidley and Lucy Denio, also of Winchester, 6-0, 6-2. The semi-final opponents of the twins were Misses Anne Delano and Sally Jones of Brookline, 6-1, 8-6.

Misses Mary Cutter and Frances Poirer, runners up in the doubles match came through the first round by beating Misses Kathleen Huffer and Donna Follis, 6-1, 6-2. They won from Misses Betty Proctor and Barbara Eaton in the semi-finals, 6-2, 6-4.

Twelve pairs of girls competed in the doubles and the consolation match at the finely appointed Winchester Country Club grounds, under an interesting gallery and under ideal weather conditions. Herman F. Pike of Arlington, a member of the Country Club tennis committee, had charge of the tournament and was referee. He was assisted by Rev. William H. Packer and Augustus Boyden of the club.

The one-set consolation match was won by Miss Lucy Fowle and Caroline Kellogg, who beat Misses Betty Proctor and Barbara Eaton, 6-1, 8-6.

MISS MARY E. O'CONNOR

Miss Mary E. O'Connor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger O'Connor (Julia Seecency) of 76 Sheridan circle, died Sunday morning at her home, following a long illness.

Miss O'Connor was 30 years of age and was born in Winchester. She attended the Winchester schools and was graduated from the high school, later attending Burdett Business College in Boston. She was employed as a secretary in the Hotel Statler, and enjoyed a wide circle of acquaintances and friends.

Surviving, besides her parents, are two brothers, John J. O'Connor and William F. O'Connor, both of Winchester.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the late residence with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock.

Rev. Fr. William J. Clarke was celebrant with Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quirbach, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Hugh McGuire, chaplain at the House of the Angel Guardian, subdeacon. The bearers were Thomas O'Connor of Roslindale, James and William O'Connor, both of Medford; Frederick F. Foster of Weymouth, Joseph Peck of Winchester and James Casey of South Boston. Interment was in Calvary cemetery.

STRAND ATTRACTIONS
No more thrilling and absorbingly interesting story was ever filmed than "The Last of the Duanees," coming Saturday to the Strand Theater, Malden, in which George O'Brien and Lucile Browne portray the leading roles.

The story is adapted from the story of the same name by that noted author, Zane Grey. Other members of the cast include Myrna Loy, Walter McGrail and Lloyd Ingraham.

The story deals with the stirring adventures of a youthful and handsome outlaw, whose only offense was killing the man who shot his father. He meets and falls in love with a beautiful and innocent girl whom he rescues and later through her intervention, is restored to good standing in the eyes of the law and his fellow men.

Playing with this thrilling "Western" will be Jack Oakie's latest comedy-riot, "Let's Go Native." This picture is higher in better than any of his previous ones and he is co-starred with that charming lady, Jeanette McDonald, and supported by a cast which has never been equalled since "Parade on Parade," including Skeets Gallagher, Kay Francis, William Austin and Eugene Pallette.

Oakie's part in this hectic plot, one may be sure, is a part that calls for many smart-cracks and humorous action. In addition to the comedy in this Paramount production there are a couple of extremely funny songs which add a bit to round out this laugh-panic.

MONDAY'S FIRES
At 7:47 Monday morning the Fire Department was notified by Patrolman John Boyle of a fire in the catering establishment of P. H. Randall on Mt. Vernon street. Upon arrival the men found an overheated motor. Damage was confined to the machine.

At 8:41 a. m. the men were called by telephone to put out a grass fire along the railroad tracks near Barton's Mill. Shortly after 10 o'clock there was a grass fire in the rear of 220 Forest street.

Box 141 came in at 10:19 a. m. for a resumption of the grass and brush fire which the men battled all day Sunday off of Hutchinson road and Irwin's farm. At 12:25 Combination 2 took additional men to aid in fighting the fire.

At 2:45 p. m. a telephone call was received for burning brush at the Woburn-Wilmington line, and at 5:29 p. m. there was a grass fire at Prince avenue and Washington street.

Box 111 sounded alarm at 7:55 p. m. for the same brush fire at Hutchinson road.

WALKER WON HANDICAP MEDAL PLAY
Stars Walker was the winner of the Class A handicap medal play golf tournament at the Golf and Country Club last Saturday afternoon with a card of 70-69. A. P. Chase with a 77-73 finished in second place.

R. R. Perry had an 83-73 to win the Class B competition with H. E. R. and J. R. Livingston having set 74 for second.

Summary:

WILSON—O'MELIA

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Cecilia O'Melia, daughter of Mrs. Nora O'Melia of Loring avenue, and Charles P. Wilson of Medford took place last Saturday evening in St. Mary's Rectory, Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, officiating.

Miss O'Melia was attended by Miss Erdine Wilson of Medford, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. Wilson had for his best man the bride's brother, Henry P. O'Melia of Winchester.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin and a cap-shaped veil of tulle, held in place with seed pearls. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and baby's breath. Miss Wilson wore shell pink satin and slippers of turquoise blue, and carried larkspur with pink roses.

After the ceremony a reception for the immediate families was held at the home of the bride's parents where the decorations were cut flowers and autumn leaves. Following the reception Mr. Wilson and his bride left for a wedding trip through the White Mountains and Canada. They are to make their home in Medford at 45 Sheridan avenue.

The bride is a graduate of the Winchester High School and of Burdett College, and is a member of the Fidelity Club. Mr. Wilson was graduated from the Chelsea Schools and is a salesman in the employ of the Winchester Laundries Division of the New England Laundries, Inc.

BUSY WEEK-END FOR FIREFMEN

The Fire Department was kept on the jump over the past week-end, spending most of the day and evening of Sunday in the hill district fighting a particularly persistent brush fire off Hutchinson road near Irwin's farm in Arlington.

At 11:50 a. m. Friday the first call came in for a slight fire at the residence of Mr. Clifford Roberts, 21 Shepherd street. By 1:30 p. m. Saturday morning the police notified the Central Station of burning leaves at Willwood and Fletcher streets.

Shortly after 3 o'clock Saturday Box 7-15 came in for a dump fire on Chestersford road, and at 7:45 p. m. Saturday evening there was a telephone call for a brush fire on Forest street, for which additional hose and lanterns were necessary.

Sunday's activity started at 10:25 in the morning when Box 144 sounded for burning brush off Hutchinson road at the rear of Irwin's farm. A second alarm for the same fire came in at 1:50.

The firemen had a hard fight with the burning brush and grass, and did not return to quarters until 2:15 in the afternoon. At 3:10 p. m. Box 144 sounded again for a resumption of the same fire and this time the firemen were kept busy until just after 8 o'clock when they returned to the station to relax. At 8:38 a telephone message recalled the tired crews to the same fire with which they had battled practically all day.

The fire proved a particularly difficult one to combat, a large part of it being underground. The men could apparently have the flames completely put out, only to have a new fire break out as they were preparing to leave.

The ground being so thoroughly dry encourages underground fires and adds to the work of combating the ordinary brush and grass blazes which are so prevalent at this time of year.

UNIVERSITY THEATER
The glamorous and hectic days of the old West, will live again at the University Theater beginning Sunday when "Girl of the Golden West" opens for four weeks. It was in this wild atmosphere, where law and order were absent, that Bolosae brought his "girl," and pictured her life among the wild miners, and her eventual love for one man who wasn't worth it, but who became so through his recognition because of her belief in him.

The story is dramatic and full of thrills. Ann Harding plays the girl, while James Bonnie and Harry Bannister head a huge cast.

"Once a Gentleman" with Edward Everett Horton and Lois Wilson is the companion feature. It is a joyous comedy of mistaken identity, and comes to a happy ending in a month's vacation to play gentlemen.

Since its first appearance in 1922, Alice Dunn Miller's best-seller novel, "The Girl of the Golden West," has been a huge success. Now it has been made into a thrilling, all-talking melodrama, with Claudette Colbert and Fredric March in the leading roles. "Manslaughter" will be the feature for the last three days of the week. Claudette Colbert, as the petted society beauty, falls in love with Fredric March, an ever, handsome, ambitious district attorney, and attempts to twist him around her finger just as she has dozens of suitors. March, of different stamp, however, and remonstrates with her against her thoughtless, selfishness.

The story of "What Men Want" the companion feature, was written by Warner Babington, Pauline Starke and Ben Lyon head the cast, which includes Barbara Kent, Robert Ellis, Hallam Cooley and Carmelita Geraghty.

WINCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY, ROBERT COIT AND KILHAM, HOPKINS &amp; GREELEY, ASSOCIATE ARCHITECTS.

WORK ON NEW LIBRARY BUILDING COMMENCED

To Be of Gray Granite with White Limestone Trim

With the recent letting of the contract to F. C. Alexander of this town and the starting to excavate last Thursday, Winchester's new, long needed library building is at last in actual process of construction.

Plans for the new building were prepared by Robert Coit and Kilham, Hopkins & Greeley as associate architects. As it is to be located practically in the center of Winchester's largest group of public buildings, the matter of building material was one upon which the Library Committee spent much time. It was obviously unwise to attempt to find a different type of brick from that employed in the construction of the group of Prof. William Emerson, head of the Department of Architecture at M. I. T., and studied the library problem from a purely local angle. The type of building selected is the result of the committee's research, plus the advice of its architects and consulting experts.

The present library consists of some 32,000 books, and as additions are being made at the rate of about 1000 books annually, the committee felt that stack space in the new building for 55,000 books will be ample at this time to provide for future growth. The plans provide for easy extension of the stacks in case of future need, and in addition to space for stacks, provide a reading room, exhibition room, a children's room, a reference room, subsidiary rooms for special libraries available for special individual investigation.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Conditions in Canada Not Satisfactory

On Sept. 18 in London, Ontario, the system of government sale of liquor as a means of curbing the evils of strong drink in Canada was scathingly denounced at the fourth general council of the United Church of Canada.

Rev. Dr. D. N. McLachlan said, "There has been a great increase in the consumption of liquor, and the system has not decreased lawlessness as we were promised it would. The number of persons sentenced to the new reformatory has increased 220 per cent, resident liquor permits have jumped to a total of 416,000 or one for every second home in Ontario. This represents an increase of 196,000 permits in two years of government control. We have evidence that a very large proportion of the new recruits to the liquor habit belong to the rising generation. The increase in the number of permits means that in two years there have been 196,000 new recruits to the army of alcohol. There are more women drinking than ever before in the history of Canada. The situation is one which constitutes a challenge to the church."

George Bell of Vancouver, a lay commissioner, brought the message that the conviction is rapidly gaining among the people of British Columbia that they made fools of themselves in parting with prohibition. Dr. McLachlan in his report of social service said, "The liquor traffic lies at the base of most of the social problems of the Dominion. The present method of government sale has not solved the problem. For 300 years the people of Canada had endeavored to deal with the sale of liquor, first by free sale, then by license, then by high license and then by government sale, but the trade has deliberately, consistently and successfully defied every attempt to control it. The same misery, debauch and poverty came under every form of sale. There remains only one way to deal with it and that is to prohibit absolutely its manufacture, importation and sale for beverage purpose. The church must stand solidly for its removal from our national life."

Regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the parlor of the Methodist Church on Friday, Oct. 17 at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Arthur Gordon of Reading will speak on "Christian Citizenship." Public cordially invited.

buildings in which the library will stand, and as a consequence the committee accepted the advice of its architects with the result that the new structure will be built of stone: split-faced gray granite with white limestone trimmings. The estimated cost of the building, ready for use, is $175,000.

SECOND-FLOOR PLAN

Before making definite recommendations to the town at the last meeting, the Library Committee, comprising Ralph T. Hale, chairman; M. Walker Jones, secretary; James Nowell, Edgar J. Rich and Carl F. Woods, conferred with the trustees and librarian of the Winchester Public Library, sought advice from the State Library Commission, consulted for the children's library, in a large, airy and well lighted room, to be on a separate floor from the adult library, which is considered most advisable. When complete the building will be one of which the town may well be proud. There may be minor changes in the plans of the building which seem desirable as the actual construction progresses.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The schools are glad to participate in the local Tercentenary exercises of the coming week. Two hundred or more High School pupils will march in the parade. It was hoped that the sixth grade pupils and Wadleigh School pupils would march representing the Wadleigh and elementary schools. So many of these pupils are to march with the Boy and Girl Scout and possibly other organizations, that there were not enough pupils remaining to constitute a large enough marching group.

For several weeks the elementary school pupils have been making a very interesting booklet describing our town. This is to be presented to His Worship, the Mayor of Winchester, England, to be conveyed to the school children of Winchester, England. This is in line with the policy of the School Department to carry on exchanges with students of foreign countries in order that each country may be better understood and may be drawn into a friendly relationship. This booklet will be presented by Meredith Brewster, a third grade pupil at the Mystic School. He is the 11th generation in the direct line from Edward Converse, who built the first house in Winchester. He is likewise in the 11th generation in a direct line from John Lathrop and Elmer Brewster.

A bouquet of flowers will be presented to Mrs. Collins from the elementary school pupils. This will be given by Parker Symmes who is in the 10th generation in a direct line from Zachariah Symmes, who was granted a large tract of land in our present township. Parker lives on part of the original land.

On Friday evening, Oct. 17, there will be special Tercentenary programs in each of the elementary schools at the annual "Bad's Night". During the next week there will be a special assembly at the Wadleigh School with a special Tercentenary program. There will be special assemblies at the High School on Oct. 16, with the special Tercentenary features.

Winchester's business section presented anything but a lively appearance Tuesday afternoon during the Legion parade in Boston. Business was practically suspended, almost all of the local merchants closing their doors at noon, with some shutting down for the entire day. The chain stores remained open with here and there a small shop waiting vainly for customers. The town offices and schools were closed for the day and all Legionnaires in the town's employ were excused from duty to march in the parade.

WINCHESTER LEGIONAIRES AP- PLAUD IN PARADE

Local residents attending the big parade in Boston on Tuesday had reason to be proud of the showing made by Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, as the home town boys swung along the line of march behind the towering form of Comdr. Richard Parkhurst.

The Winchester Detachment, marching behind the Post Band, comprised 100 uniformed veterans, the majority of whom were in the accepted blue and red Legion uniform. Little "Richie" McCormack, in uniform, marched with the post, in full uniform, marched with the Legionnaires and received an ovation all along the route.

Winchester did not attempt any particular stunt, preferring to have its participation in the parade strictly along military lines. The local post members carried a banner upon their shoulders, the effect being so pleasing as to cause favorable comment not only from local observers but from the crowd at large and from the parade officials.

Heading the detachment were Post Comdr. Vincent P. Clarke and Burt Corley, carrying a huge banner on which were the words "Winchester Post." The color bearers for the parade were George Donaghy and Frederick J. Baker.

Members of the local post took an active part in the Legion convention, being especially concerned with the big drum bakes at Nantasket and Gloucester, and with the competition for drum and bugle corps and bands at the Arena.

During the entire convention the Legion held open house at the post headquarters on Washington street, entertaining several out-of-town "buddies" on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF BICYCLE

James E. Bryan, 12, of 12 Wright avenue, Medford, and Frank Pignatelli, 13, of 23 Union street, Medford, were arrested in that city Wednesday evening by Chief William H. Rogers and Motorcycle Officer John F. Hogan of the Police Department, charged with the theft of a bicycle from Dean Duncan of 23 Pine Grove park.

The machine was taken from in front of the Atlantic & Pacific store on the corner of Nantasket and Gloucester streets. Young Bryan reported the theft to the police, Chief Rogers and Officer Hogan starting out immediately to investigate.

The boys alleged to be responsible were turned over to their parents who have been summoned to appear with them in the District Court at Woburn next Thursday.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Don't forget, Monday, Oct. 13 is the day, and the place is the Aberjona River at Manchester Field, and the time is 8 p. m. The illuminated canoe parade that we are talking about. Mr. Hinds of the Tercentenary Committee has done a thorough piece of work of freeing the river of debris from Winchester Square to little Mystic Lake and on many evenings, lanterns hung from stakes will mark the channel. The banks of the river will be lighted from Bacon street bridge to the Converse Bridge, so that one can, lose their way in navigation will be simplified. The clearance on the lowest bridge is eight feet, so bear that in mind if you contemplate any super-stunt.

All this week a representative from Donnan's is at the Winchester News Company office. She will gladly help anyone in regard to decorations or suggestions for fixing up their boat. It will be necessary to do a great amount of work on a canoe—simple, attractive arrangements with Japanese lanterns are very successful. Anyone waiting until Monday to decorate their boat should bear in mind that Saturday will be the last day to secure materials for use on their canoes, as the stores will not be open Monday. Persons wanting help on writing for lights should see Dwight Hill, Harry Gardner or "Ferd" Hawley. The old style Christmas tree bulbs on a 6 volt battery should be the most successful. It is possible to use an automobile battery light (small) or even tail-lights provided you have sockets for them.

Anyone wanting a canoe to decorate should see Dwight Hill, Harry Gardner or "Ferd" Hawley. The committee hopes that many of the canoe owners who keep their canoes on the river will enter the parade. The committee has secured the grounds and have not so far to go as either Medford Boat Club or Winchester. We hear that Medford Boat Club has secured a canoe, and we certainly hope that they do not number the Winchester Boat Club's canoe. Let's all work for it!

STROMBOLI: "A BURNING ISLAND"

Stromboli, the Italian volcano which rears its head next to Vesuvius is perhaps the best known of the world's active and semi-active volcanoes, according to a bulletin from the Smithsonian Institution, headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Stromboli in effect is a burning island, says the bulletin. Always showing some activity, it has well earned its title, "Lighthouse of the Mediterranean." Even by day it shows itself to mariners by plume of smoke. At night it not only glows continually, but sends out at intervals more vivid flashes of light after the fashion of a lighthouse. Light-house, Stromboli's flashes, however, are not regular; and it is this irregularity that gives it its marked individuality.

Boiling Reservoir of Lava
In the crater is a continually boiling reservoir of lava. The sum of molten rock gathers and partly coagulates at the bottom, and then scours the floor at times; then the gathered steam and gas pressure blasts the film away, and the white-hot liquid comes to be heaved up on sky and clouds.

In the ages during which lava and ashes have been sent up through its crater, Stromboli has built itself into an almost perfect cone, like a Mediterranean Fujiyama. The island is circular and is about eight and one-half miles in area. The mountain rises about 3000 feet above the surface of the sea and about 6000 above its base. Despite its constant rumblings Stromboli Island has had no inhabitants for many centuries. On it is the little town of San Vincenzo, surrounded which are fertile fields of grapes and figs.

"Cousin" of Vesuvius
The volcanic isle is one of the Lipari, or Aeolian Islands, which lie from 30 to 50 miles northwest of the Strait of Messina, which separates Italy and Sicily. Stromboli is the northernmost of the islands and lies on almost a direct line between Aetna and Vesuvius. The three volcanoes are believed to be related geologically.

The central Lipari Islands, Lipari and Salina, have among their inhabitants hundreds of political prisoners sent there by Italy. The islands were similarly a penal abode during the days of the Roman Empire.

Fair Enough

One night, in pouring rain, two men who had quarreled turned out to settle their differences.

They fought until one got the other on his back and held him there.

"Will you give up," he asked, and the reply was, "No," so the man on his back was kept pinned to the ground.

After a time the question was repeated, but again the reply was "No." "Then," said the other, "will you get on top for a bit and let me get under? I'm getting wet through."

Rose as Inspiration

The roses inspired not only half-religious mythology, but even secular poetry from ancient times on. Hafiz sang of the roses of Shiraz and Sappho sang of her beloved who was likened to the rose. Even the rhaid Aristophanes wrote a comedy in which he exclaimed, "Thou hast spoken in roses!" (The Persian poet is known as "the poet of the rose." Attar, whose name is given to the essence of the flower.

The STAR has one suggestion to make to the committee in charge of the big parade which is to feature the town's celebration of the Tercentenary. Keep the youngsters away from the lawns and lawns. Don't permit this really fine parade to be marred by a rabble of kiddies crowding and straggling along at every break in the line. Parades in general have lost much of their appeal because of this factor, and we hope that a strong effort at least will be made to keep the kiddies where they belong next Monday.

FLYING ACROSS THE EQUATOR

For a lonesome airplane trip one need not seek out the North or South Poles. A flight across the Equator, from Cayenne, in French Guiana, to Para, in Brazil, was almost as devoid of any sight of human habitation, according to a dispatch from Frederick Simpich, in charge of the National Geographic Society's aerial survey of seaplane paths from New York to Buenos Aires.

We zoomed across the Equator one afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, Mr. Simpich writes. On an eight-hour flight from Cayenne to Para we hit the big mark in the Amazon delta, just east

A man arranged his insurance giving his widow a guaranteed income through her entire life. She called in our Boston office to ask about the claim.

Her first question, "How soon do I get the money?" When told it would be paid as an income beginning at end of the month, she said "I want the entire sum."

She was some angry when told that was impossible. An investment had been offered her which would pay 20% annually and increase in value. The concern went bankrupt in a short time.

She called later homily thankful for her husband's wisdom.

of the north end of Mexicana Island, on our 189-mile hop across the mouth of the world's mightiest river.

No habitations for Two Hours
For more than an hour we were out of sight of land. Even before that, in the huge north-east shoulder of Brazil, what an empty land! For more than two hours, after flying over the Oyapock, near the Guiana border, we saw no human habitation.

Flying thus into Brazil from the north, one wonders where its 38,000,000 people keep themselves. It was not till after we turned inland, halfway down the inside coast of Maraca Island, in search of a lonely gas station on Lake Monte Negro, that we again caught sight of human beings. Now far-separated, straw-roofed huts appeared, and finally a tiny settlement. Then little known Lake Monte Negro, a mere puddle of fresh water in an infinite waste of salt marshes.

I flew around for two hours hunting it, the first time I brought a plane down this way, said Pilot Hawkins. To get gas here from Para we have to use first a steam launch, then canoes, and in the last lap the Indians carry the cases on their backs. Gas delivered here cost a dollar a gallon.

Landing in a "Jungle Puddle"
This jungle puddle from which we seemed too small to land in. But after many turns and careful calculations, Hawkins set the big "Argentina" safely down, although at the last minute he had to jump a floating log which would have smashed our hull had he not seen it in the nick of time. Our Indian helpers, with bow arrows and spears, and some fish and turtles they had killed, were waiting to man the gas pumps. A storm blew up while we worked, ruffling the little lake and filling us with its strong wind to get our heavy craft off the water.

Heading into the blinding rain, using all our 1500-horse-power, Hawkins raced the big boat the full length of the pond and jumped into the air. With only seconds to spare we cleared the tree tops and headed south. A purgatory indeed, a weary wilderness of empty islands, dismal swamps and dead trees stretches for twenty miles till you reach the river Araguay. Crossing it, we came soon to the muddy banks of the incomparable Amazon itself—a vast, yellow, sinister sea before which puny man can only marvel at the majesty of Nature. You sense the colossal power and magnitude of its mighty, moving bulk when you fly its far-flung delta banks and see its mud-falls covered with countless thousands of giant forest trees, wrenched by the roots and scattered like matches.

Snakes, Crocodiles, Cattle
Beginning southwest, we skirted the channel islands of Cayana and Mexicana, split by the Equator, crossed the east end of the great wooded island of Marajo with red fish traps in its estuaries, countless herds of cattle, giant snakes, crocodiles, jaguars and wild river pigs, and an endless host of Para, or Belém as it is also called.

I crawled up into the pilot house, to get a full view of the city from high above. Docked barges and many visiting steamers, we landed, completing the first great lap of the long aerial survey of sea-plane paths to Argentina.

Satan and Black Cats
According to an old legend, Satan's favorite form of disguise was a black cat, and this probably gave rise to the superstition that a black cat brought bad luck.

PARA: THE CITY THAT LIVES ON THE JUNGLE

From the air, we saw how close primeval forests crowd Para. Its streets end in the jungle.

Flying from Washington to Buenos Aires, the National Geographic Society's aerial survey party stopped at Para five days to overhaul the plane. Frederick Simpich writes of the greatest city on the Amazon as follows: "When we got ashore, we felt how utterly the vast forests of Brazil dominate the life of this great city on the Amazon."

Yet Para lives on the jungle. The big woods give it Brazil nuts, rubber, hardwood, fruit, wax, cane, and jungle-bred animals, on which its sea trade is based.

Animals Forage in Picnic Grounds
In equatorial dawn and dusk the smells of jungle. Its beautiful Bosque Park is but a bit of natural jungle cut with paths and set with man's kiosks, swings, benches and bandstands—where after nightfall big jungle bats dart about, and smaller jungle animals forage for food in the wake of day-time picnics.

Giant mango trees, pelted with rocks by small boys when in fruit, shade the wide, cobblestoned streets of its better quarters. On its waterfront streets you smell smoked creeds of rubber, the half-tanned skins of jaguars and snakes, pineapples, piles of Brazil nuts ready for ships to New York or Liverpool—for British Isle coal miners brought them while at work on the Amazon. Piles of squared logs with their ends painted, and you smell the fresh-cut firewood half-bred Indians are stacking for use of wood-burning river boats.

Monkeys, Macaws and Jaguars
You smell also the shop of the wild animal dealer, its front gaudily painted with a Nour Ark group of jungle creatures. He shows you bright, shrill macaws, grotesque monkeys, and snarling jaguars. Then there are ant-eaters, living now, not on ants, but on fresh eggs broken into a dish; and cunning little capivara, or river pigs; and the pink bird, the stork, a white owl in a black mask, rare parrots, multi-colored wild ducks; also an "electric eel" which gives you a distinct shock, allegedly 40 volts or more, when you stick a wire into his water barrel and touch him.

Para is no mean city. It is the capital of a state that runs into 15 degrees of latitude—huge enough to hold a dozen small European countries. At the heart of Brazil's historic rubber boom, before the Far East ruined her monopoly, Para grew fabulously rich on "black abundant" natural rubber. The wild, oil-field-like extravagance of the rubber boom period are seen in sumptuous government palaces and mansions, taxon clubs and homes of private mansions built a generation ago. Now Para watches keenly the work of Henry Ford at Boa Vista on the Amazon, in the heart of the Amazon valley. "Fortlandia," local papers have renamed the spot where American engineers have built a model camp and are clearing jungle to grow plantation rubber.

Forests Yield 100 Useful Woods
Mentime, 300-year old Portuguese Para sits by the Tocantins, and lives on the jungle. Long-horned oxen haul crated automobiles from the docks with their cranes, chains, anchors, tankers, naked men shoveling Brazil nuts, and big wharf rats nibbling crawling up dripping with oil. While a mail plane takes off for Rio, the same progress here. When you recall that slavery was not abolished until 1888, and that the Amazon itself, the Tocantins, Tapajós and other rivers was not open to world trade until after the Civil War.

Forests yielded over 400 useful woods. Rubber, cacao, vanilla, saparilla, many nuts, copiba, guanine—these and many other good things grow from the forest. Cane, coffee and cereals to canary bird seed will grow here, if only you can clear the choking, obstinate jungle. Para merely built its zoo, figuratively left the gate open and the wild animals walked in. Three-toed pigs, sloths, tapirs, monkeys with heads the size of golf balls, snakes that eat swallow calves, a river frog with fingers, in which it holds live minnows to eat them, as men hold corn in the ear. A local turtle is called "the ox of the Amazon," and its oil is made into "turtle butter."

English bank clerks, German hard-boiled oil men and American seaplane mechanics, Japanese colonizing on Amazon lands and foreign sailors haunt the zoo. The tapir is the popular animal. Brazilians are fewer among zoo visitors. The jungle and its inmates are too familiar.

Para is industrious. It rises soon after dawn; its offices open early. It is cool then along the Equator. When not about its daily duties, this city rests. It rests quietly, utterly. From 11 to 3 nobody stirs. Not even the buzzards that ride in flocks on open garbage wagons.

Toward sunset, it takes the air, mostly by looking out of its windows. Many families have specially-built little kiosks in the front yards, where they can sit and watch the street. Movies there are, and on short promenades. But looking out the window seems Para's favorite diversion. More women lean out of windows here, I am sure, and look at other women leaning out of other windows, than in any other city anywhere. Sometimes they lean out and look at the men, pretending to enjoy only the cool evening zephyrs from the embattled jungles.

Oh, Upright Judge!
It was in a Detroit intermediate school, and a student read the end of the line was given the word "haddock."
"What does it mean?" he asked.
"I think," said the pronouncer somewhat doubtfully, "that it's a sort of fish."
The pronouncer looked toward the judge for confirmation.
"Yes," said the judge, "it's a fish—and it's also a place where they keep hories."

The paper money of the United States is printed only at the bureau of engraving and printing, Washington. The mints of the United States make no paper currency.

It Won't Work

To endeavor to work upon the vulgar with fine sense is like attempting to break blocks with a mallet—Swift.

Old Stuff

Tom had been hearing Kipling's "Just So Stories" for the first time, and his imagination had been stirred and his vocabulary considerably enriched.

A cake of mother's baking had not come up to the usual standard, and had been removed from the table almost untouched after two meals. The next day when ice cream was served for dessert, Tom looked about the table inquiringly. "And what," he asked, "has become of that Neolithic cake?"

Amazing

On what proved to be his deathbed, "The" Clemment took up the study of the "amazing Americans."

"You can't speak too well of the Americans," he declared, "What an example of living, of will, of courage. But why must they be so pleased with themselves? Their population is made up of all the races of the world and yet the American is thirty-six thousand times prouder of being an American than the Frenchman is of being French."

Bread and Digestion

There has never been an accurate experiment made for determining the length and time necessary to digest bread. Different systems naturally require different lengths of time, and the age and composition of the bread must be taken into consideration. At one recent experiment a professor ate a certain amount of bread on an absolutely empty stomach. By means of Malay states, X-ray pictures it was decided that it took him about two hours to digest the bread.

Important Malay State

Kuala Lumpur is the largest town of Selangor, one of the Federated Malay states, lying south of Perak on the west coast of the Malay peninsula. The area of the entire state is about 3,500 square miles. Coffee, pepper, gambier and India rubber are included among the principal products. The state is particularly rich in tin. Trade is quite extensive and is facilitated by 100 miles of railways. The bulk of the population is composed of immigrants, Chinese and Malays coming and going in great numbers.

Cunning Fox Traps Terriers

Farmers recently blasted a section of a mountain in the Cheshire range of Wales by lightning at midnight to release four fox terriers which had been trapped by a fox. The fugitive terrier had led the dogs among huge boulders on the precipitous day. After several hours' work they were released. Two of the canines were severely wounded in what must have been a desperate fight with the 14-pound fox, which was found dead near its pursuers.

MASSACHUSETTS POETRY IN RETROSPECT

These are but few of the pioneers of American poetry who have made an incomparable contribution to our present knowledge of conditions and conditions, now three hundred years past. That there were many anonymous writers whose work is of certain value must be recognized. With our present economical situation a burden for nation-wide consciousness, our political wheel amuck the prohibition, public, and our hearts warm with welcome for the Lajunaires who answered the call of War to bring down to the world the Dove of Peace that still lifts a ruffled wing, there is something to what the Yankee prill in the lines of these poems which were written long before our National Child was rocked in the coveted Cradle of Liberty.

NEW ENGLAND'S ANNOYANCES

New England's annoyances, you that would know them,
Pray ponder these verses which briefly doth show them.

The Place where we live is a wilderness Wood,
Where Grass is much wanting that's fruitful
Our Mountains and Hills and our Valleys have Been commonly covered with Ice and with Snow.

And when the Northwest Wind with violence blows,
Then every Man pulls his Cap over his Nose;
But if any so hardy will sit it without,
He forfeits a finger, a foot or a Hand.

But when the Spring comes, then take the How,
And make the Ground ready to plant and to sow,
Our Corn being planted and Seed being sown,
The Worms do grow much before it is grown;

And when it is growing, some spoil there is made
By Birds and by Squirrels that pluck up the seed.
And when it is come to full Corn in the Ear,
It is often destroyed by Hares and by Deer.

Now and then our Corn is left to grow thin,
And Wood is much wanted to end and to begin;
If we can get a Cornet to ever without,
Our other In-farmers are glad upon that point.

Our Clothes we brought with us are apt to be torn,
They need to be changed soon after they're worn;
Not clothing our Garments they hinder us nothing,
Child's double are warmer than single whole clothing.

If fresh Meat be wanting, to fill up our Dish,
We have Carrots and Turnips as much as we wish;
And is there a mind for a delicate Dish,
We repair to the Chin-lans, and there we eat Fish.

For Potatoes and Pumpkins, and Cauldrons and Dishes,
We have Pumpkins at morning, and Pumpkins at night;
If it was not for Pumpkins we should be undone,
If barley be wanting to make into Malt,

We must be contented, and think it no fault;
We can make Lager, to soothe our Lips
Of Pumpkins and Potatoes and Walnut-Tree Chips.

Now, while one is seeing let other be coming,
For while Father's holding it must have a coming;
But I will not blame them, for Birds of a feather,
By seeing their Fellows, are flocking together.

For one whom the Lord intends to be a King,
He must not be the Honey for fear of the Sting;
But being both a queen and a crowned King,
And all the world's blessing, you may well find.

Nathaniel Ward (1657)

A LETTER TO HER HUSBAND, ABSENT FROM PUBLIC LIFE
My love, my heart, mine Eyes, my life, my nose,
My soul, my Magazine of earthly store,
If two be one, as surely thou and I,
How stayedst thou there, whilst I at Ipswich
So many weeks, head from the heart to sever
And shed a neck, and sent me to the river.

Like the earth this season, morn in black,
My sun is as far as I can see,
Whom whilst I pray, no storms, nor frosts
I feel.
His warmth such frosts cold did cause to melt,
My chilled limbs now warmed by his form;
Return, return sweet soul and Capricious,
In this dead time, alas, what can I more Than view those Graces which through this head I love?

When sweet contentment yield me for a space,
True love's picture of thee follows; face
O strange effect! now thou art, and now thou art
I never grow, the tedious day so long;
But when thou'st returned to me, still return,
And make me know me never, but long;
Within the corner of my growing breast,
The welcome home, hum my in a sweet
Cherish ever, ever stay, and so not there,
Till nature's sad decree shall call thee home;
Each of the fish, home of its home,
I here, thou there, shall both be one.
Anne Bradstreet (1651)

FOR THE INDIAN 1658
Address I pray, you, Santa for food orders
To deliver the Indians in our hands,
Virtue must turn into vice,
For the brave work will no more turn still;
In full acquaintance and consultation,
And much you do will prove unprofitable.
In common lands that be undressed, you know,
The husbandman in vain doth plough and sow,
We hope in vain the plant of grace will thrive
In forests where civility can live.

FATHER ABBEY'S WILL Cambridge, December, 1730
Some time since died here, Mr. Matthew Abbey, in a very advanced age; he had for a great number of years served the College in the duty of Bedmaker and Sweeper; having no child, his wife inherits his whole estate which he bequeathed to her by his last will and testament, as follows, viz:—

To my dear wife,
My pen and ink,
I freely now do give her
My whole estate,
With all my plate,
Being just about to leave her.
My tub of soap,
A troy pan and kettle,
An ash-pail,
A churning flail,
An iron wedge and beetle,
Two painted chairs,
A large old drinking platter,
Nine variegated jars,
On which I lay,
An old sauce pan for butter,
A little mug,
A wooden jar,
A bottle full of brandy,
A looking glass,
To see your face
You'll find it very handy.

A market tree
As ever free,
A round of shot and wadlet,
A leather sash,
My calash,
My powder horn and bullet,
An old sword blade,
A garden spade,
A hoe, a rake, a ladder,
A wooden saw,
A chiseled joint,
A cleaver and a hammer.

A green hat,
My old rain coat,
A wooden hat, linen,
A wooden shoe,
A pot of grease,
In order for your spinning,
A small black comb,
An ash-broom,
A wooden hatchet,
A covered,
A striped cushion with red,
A long of race to patch it.

A rained mat,
A tub of fat,
A hose put out by Bunyan,
Another book
By the back look,
A seven or two of spungers,
An old black snuff,
Some garden stuff,
A quantity of horse,
Some dried wood,
To season your porridge

A chafin dish,
With our salt fish,
If I am not mistaken,
A lot of pork,
A broken fork,
And half a bucket of bacon.
A spinning wheel,
One, two, three, four,
A knife without a handle,
A rusty lamp,
Two quarts of soap,
And half a tallow candle.

My mouth and pipes,
Two oaten reeds,
An eaten dish well carved,
And a sealed hog,
With two young pigs just starved.
This is my store,
I have no more,
I heretofore give it,
My days are done,
And so I think to leave it.

Thus Father Abbey left his spouse,
As rich as church or college house,
Which is sufficient income,
To serve the college in its station.

WINCHESTER WOMAN SPOKE UPON MEXICO

Miss Alice Shovelton of Cabot street delighted a group of Ohio Wesleyan University women, last Saturday afternoon, with a talk on "Some Problems of Mexico." Miss Shovelton has recently returned from Mexico and has made a careful study of its educational, geographical and religious problems. Her talk was beautifully illustrated by a large number of unusual photographs, loaned her by the Ward Steamship Line, through its agent, Mr. James McGrath of Woburn.

TO SPEAK AT NEW HOPE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Charles S. Morris, D.D., of Virginia, formerly of West Newton, will lecture at the New Hope Baptist Church, Cross and Washington streets Friday evening, Oct. 10, at 8 p. m. The Patriotic song service, the Florida Jubilee Quartet. The public is invited to attend. Admission free.

From spinning wheel to modern factory, from stage-coach and clipper ship to New York plane, the annals of Massachusetts are authentically reproduced in Harvard's remarkable talking film, "Three Centuries of Massachusetts," which will be shown under the auspices of the Woburn Women's Club, at Woburn High School on Friday evening, Nov. 7. This picture, which constitutes the first serious attempt ever made to preserve in permanent form the whole pictorial record of the development of the Bay State, was first shown as an important part of the Tercentenary celebration at Symphony Hall, Boston, on July 7. It was produced by the University Film Foundation, under the personal direction of Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, famous Harvard scholar and dean of American universities. Professor Hart's own vibrant voice accompanies the picture, in running commentary upon the scenes and events depicted.

WINCHESTER'S TERCENTENARY GUEST TO ATTEND COLLEGE BALL

Mayor James M. Curley has announced that he will set a good example for the more than 40 Mayors of Massachusetts cities who will attend the Colonial Costume Ball at Boston Garden, Oct. 17. Being honorary chairman of the affair, the Mayor declared that both he and his daughter, Mary, will attend the Ball in fancy dress, but to cast a veil of mystery over his appearance, recently refused to divulge the nature of his costume.

A special guest of the committee will be the Hon. H. P. Collis, Mayor of Winchester, England, who probably will be the last of the dignitaries from the mother country to participate in the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Bay Colony. The invitation has been extended by Harry W. Stevens, Chairman of the Winchester Board of Selectmen, and will be accepted by Mayor Collis in person when he lands at Boston from the Cunard liner Laconia, Oct. 12.

Henry S. Barron, who died last week Thursday at his home in Somerville, was the brother of Dr. George A. Barron of Winthrop street.

MISS JESSIE RICHARDS

Funeral services for Miss Jessie Richards, who died Monday at the home of Mr. Kenneth F. Caldwell on Highland terrace, were held Wednesday afternoon in the Caldwell residence with the Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church officiating. Interment was at Mt. Auburn.

Miss Richards was the daughter of William and Abby (Wilson) Richards, and was born in 1857 at Charlestown. She was married and had spent much of her life in Malden and Boston, coming to Winchester about six months ago.

A gathering, which completely filled the Town Hall attended the community religious service and spent Winchester's Tercentenary program last Sunday evening. Ministers from the several churches of the town participated in the service, which was most impressive.

Rev. J. W. Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, made the invocation and the scripture lesson from Hebrews, Chapter II, was read by the Pastor of the Crawford Memorial M. E. Church, Rev. J. West Thompson. The Tercentenary hymn was sung by Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church.

The churches of Winchester are in the community to render a minister of counsel, comfort, strength and support. They stand for the best things in personal, family and community life.

Next Sunday is the Annual Family Day at Church. The people of Winchester are cordially invited to attend, as families, some one or two, on that day. Let us enter God's house not pridefully, but humbly and as sincere worshippers of our Heavenly Father.

On Tuesday evening of last week Prof. and Mrs. William J. Drisko gave an informal reception to intimate friends and relatives occasioned by the recent marriage of their son, Benjamin Buckman Drisko, to Miss Rose Thompson of Addison, Me. Miss Thompson was graduated from Bates College in 1926 and received her M.A. from Columbia University in 1928. Mr. Drisko was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the class of 1924. The couple plan to spend the winter at the Drisko Farm, Addison, Me.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Wadleigh School will be held in the High School Hall on Wednesday, Oct. 22 at 8 p. m.

The association is very fortunate in securing as its speaker Albert H. Gage, D.D., who has for his subject, "Through the Eyes of Early Youth."

A large attendance is desired.

Mayor and Mayoress of Winchester, England, Honor Guests at Reception

"Winchester in Massachusetts is a place I'd like to live and die in," said Mayor Harry Collis of Winchester, England, at the public reception for him and Mrs. Collis which concluded the town's celebration of the Tercentenary Tuesday evening in the Town Hall. The affair was well attended, and an amplifier was rigged to carry the voice of the speaker to those who could not get into the building.

The stage was banked with flags, the Union Jack appearing in a place of honor with the State and National colors. The hall was decorated with blue and gold bunting.

Representing the Governor was Hon. Frederick W. Cook, Secretary of State. Mayor Curley was represented by Hon. Peter F. Tague, chairman of the Election Commission of the City of Boston. Mayor Phillip Gallagher and Mrs. Gallagher of Woburn occupied seats upon the platform with Ralph Robart, personal representative of Mayor Russell of Cambridge. Charles T. Daley, secretary of the Melford Tercentenary Committee, represented Mayor Larkin of Melford. With the speakers upon the platform were the speakers of the evening and members of the Tercentenary Committee.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The following is a list of those who took part in the illuminated canoe parade on the Abenaki River last Monday evening. The following were from the Melford Boat Club:

A "Canadian War Canoe," manned by E. C. Sullivan, L. E. Nichols, Wm. R. Harris, Louis Ford, Wm. Nelson, Percy Brown, Earl Moneys, Chas. Housh, Arnold Carey.

"Albion," piloted by John Hennessey and Gordon Gilman.

"The Green Hill," piloted by Arthur Brooks and Roy Walker.

"The Baby, Seal and Fire," showing Miss Mabel Allen and Walter Hollingsworth.

"Madame Queen and Baby Taylor," introduced by Mrs. Spauld and the Mysterio, Miss Smith.

The following represented Winchester Boat Club:

Dick Whistler and Taliesin; Miss Eleanor Tilton, and Paul Donner.

Bullseye; Mrs. Ruth Haddon and George Cummings.

Charles "Daddy" Miss Jay Alderman, Miss Norma Skene, Leonard Hawley, Dr. E. Miss Blumfield.

Tolson's, Charnett; Sergeant Hill and Henry Jackson.

"The Enterprise," Robert Cushman and Henry LaRover.

"Back Home," Miss Louise Purinton and Edward Sumner.

Indians in "Boat Canoe," Miss Wm. Jones and Wm. Mitchell from West Melford.

"Fiddlers," Charles E. Fyne of Arlington.

"Witch," Lawrence Lee and Roberts Adams of Woburn.

"Gander," Miss Eleanor Homer and Elton Court.

"Indian Camp," Marshall W. Symmes and Margaret Laid Smith.

"Winchester Boat Club Trophies," Steward Charles K. Rogers.

"Charles River Model," Miss Evelyn Toppan and "Pete" McLeary.

"Wagwan," Miss Brenda Skene and Virginia Hall.

"Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe," Miss Barbara Homer and James Fitch.

"Succashew," Miss Mabel Little and Miss Mary Knott.

"News-Ship," Kenneth Pratt.

"Gambler," Miss Austin, and John and Thomas Bartley of Somerville.

"Winchester Boat Club Emblem (Butterfly)," Miss Barbara Pratt and "Archie," Hall of Woburn.

"Japanese With Victrola," Miss Barbara Giffen and Kenneth Houghton of Dorchester.

"Turkish Veiled Lady Among Palms," Mrs. Lesley Brown Wilcox and Harry Wilcox.

"The Ship," Robert Harr and Charles Reed.

"W. H. C. Fishing," Miss Walsworth and Crosby Kelley.

"The Clasp of Chelsea and Slaves," (The Boat Club Barge), Admiral "Jack" Jones.

"The Clasp," Alan Hovey and "Dan," Barch, attendant; Avaral Walker and Percy Hight, valet slaves; Richard Brown, slave master.

"Covered Wagon," Miss Nellie Wilder and Russell Carabel of Lynn.

This list might not be absolutely complete, as no entry blanks were made out, and some canoe owners gave the first prize. Nobody would challenge that point. Each one of the many tulips was handmade as was the entire float. Over three weeks was consumed in making this a finished product.

The "Alligator" was the real fun producer. The whole thing was very clever. Amos and Andy, the crew, had courage to do a "flip" in muddy, slimy Abenaki. "Who is Ah?" "Ah done know?"

Steward, Charles K. Rogers, was very proud of his "trophy-boat." It was rather a mean craft to handle, and he felt the responsibility in keeping his float right-side up. He breathed a sigh of relief when he landed back the club.

Mr. Skene had a very ingenious arrangement in his side paddle-wheels on his "square rigger"—each could be turned independent of the other—so that it was very simple to "come about" or make a turn. Just one thing was missing. He needed a splash board—the paddle wheels churned up quite a little water and some of it was being shipped right onto the propeller himself. By the way, those masts and spars were made of mailing tubes.

A person needs to make a trip up the river to Winchester center with a delicate, swinging mass of crepe paper, lanterns, flowers and lights directly in front of him, and another such floating carnival right ahead of his own, or blank darkness which is worse, to enjoy the inside sensation of such a parade.

What "wise cracks?" Startle with the crowd while they were hanging over the railing on the Parkway bridge and every bridge following that one, with its throng looking down over you, and the timing of the banks of the "brook" there was nothing but good-natured fun.

There were only two major cat-trophies—the first, the sinking of the "barges" at the sandbar, thus stranding the "ralph of Chelsea" and his retinue and the total upset of the lighthouse. This latter event was an accident and resulted in the wreck of the noble structure and the subsequent wetting of the sea-going light-keeper, "Charlie" Fyne.

No greater enthusiasm was shown than by the youngsters! Early last week, "Bobby" Cushman and "Buddy" LeRover had their craft off the ways, and launched ready to sail anytime. Muriel Little and Mary Knight did the entire work on their pretty float and guided it up the river more cleverly than some of the more experienced paddlers.

Well, for our efforts, another cup comes to Winchester Boat Club. Everybody who took part or helped out shares in the winning of the cup and should be justly proud of it.

One cent sale. Hood's Ice Cream Friday and Saturday, 30c pint, 2 for 50c. Hevey's Pharmacy, corner Main and Mt. Vernon streets.

Through the kindness of its Scoutmaster Nickerson Troop 6 of the Boy Scouts was able to witness the past two football games at the Harvard Stadium.

Another Boy Scout Troop, 3, was at the Stadium for the Harvard-Springfield game.

The Boy Scouts of Troop 3, headed by Assistant Scoutmaster Richard Clarke, maintained a first aid station behind the Town Hall during the big parade.

The Fire Department was called at 1:20 last Saturday for a brush fire on Woodside road. At 8:20 Sunday evening there was a brush fire at Leonard Field.

The policing about town on the day of the parade was admirable, the tremendous crowd and huge press of motor vehicles being handled with dispatch by the bluecoats from Winchester, Melford, Woburn, assisted by the Metropolitan and State Police. Sgt. Thomas Cassidy was in charge of the local squad which included Patrolmen Farrell, Donahue, Noonan, Edward O'Connell and Special Officers McLaughlin, Lord and Eason. Sgt. "Jack" Dempsey headed the State Troopers, Sergeant Sawyer, the Woburn officers, Sergeant Cronin, the Melford detachment and Sergeant Kimbly, the Metropolitan Police.

Many persons remarked the excellent policing done at the big game by officers Farrell and Edward O'Connell. Sergeant Cassidy was in charge of the police detail at the camp.

Kineman P. "King" Cass gave an exhibition of real nerve during the parade, when his horse, frightened by balloons in the crowd, reared and fell backward with his rider underneath. "King" managed to roll clear, and getting up pluckily remounted and continued in the parade. He got a great hand from the crowd. The accident occurred on Church street at Dix street.

St. Mary's girls in the black covers and wide white collars made a fine showing and the float of the alumnae was one of the most artistic in the parade.

The Shriners with their band and rally caparisoned patrols were surely the most colorful division in the parade, but the Fire Division ran a close second. Irving Symmes did a great job in rounding up such a turnout.

The bronze float of Stoughton Legion did a fine job of 75 and it was universally admired. It was no part of a cinch for those on the float to stand motionless over the route of that parade.

As usual the Police turnout was one of the best in line.

Sent the children to school with a perfect hail out. All hair cutting, Joe Sullivan's, Lyceum Building Shop.

One cent sale. Hood's Ice Cream Friday and Saturday, 30c pint, 2 for 50c. Hevey's Pharmacy, corner Main and Mt. Vernon streets.

Good news! "Ben" Edwards was able to park his car in front of his home again yesterday. The privilege was so unusual and "Ben" was so delighted, that he completely forgot to take the ride he contemplated, and just sat around all the afternoon looking at it.

Former principal of the Wadleigh School, Raymond E. Pinkham, now superintendent of schools at Woburn, N. J., was in town over the holiday visiting with his wife and family at the home of Mrs. Pinkham's mother, Mrs. Winifred F. Prime, Mrs. Pinkham and her son and daughter are leaving today to return to Woburn after spending several months here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Kidder and Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Worcester were among the passengers sailing Wednesday on the Mauretania for Europe. They will remain abroad several months.

BERNARD J. MCCALL GETS STATE PAROLE

A pardon, on parole conditions, was granted by Governor Allen yesterday with the approval of the executive council, to Bernard J. McCall, 33, serving 6 to 9 years in state prison for a criminal assault.

The pardon was granted with the understanding that it shall not interfere with any future action parties involved may see fit to take.

The records show that McCall was a store manager in Winchester and attacked John L. Plummer, 21, on Oct. 29, 1927, he was sentenced in Middlesex Superior Court to state prison by Judge David Dalton.

McCall's petition was based on the ground of innocence. He was released from the State prison colony yesterday.

Charles E. Fyne, of the official organ of the society, for the Winchester Public Library.

Mrs. Archibald T. Jordan of Highland avenue announced to the Star this week that the money prize, won by the Banker Hill Chapter, D. A. R., will be used to secure a three-year subscription to the D. A. R. Magazine, the official organ of the society, for the Winchester Public Library.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. McDonald, Jr. of Hill street had as their guests during the Twentieth anniversary celebration Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cullen of Lynn.

Mr. Cullen, prominent as a labor leader was in town to march with the members of old Hose 4 in the parade. Others who came from out of town to fall in with Hose 4 were James O'Connor of Stoughton and Maurice O'Brien of Lynn. It is of interest that many of the old company wore the original red shirts made for the outfit by Ella O'Connor many years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron T. Billings and son of Stone avenue are enjoying a trip to New York.

HOOD'S Grade A Milk

is the highly specialized product of
New England's greatest milk organization

THE bottle of milk that comes to you today with the Hood Grade A Seal, is the culmination of 84 years of experience in one undivided field—milk production and distribution.

It is the result of 84 years of persistent striving for higher quality. It represents enormous expenditures in cash premiums, in veterinary supervision, in expert inspection, in scientific laboratory research and checking.

It involved the smoothing out of an endless amount of detail. The arranging and adjusting of many complex factors. The education of producers to a full understanding of our conception of HOOD QUALITY. Added to this came the tuberculin testing of over eleven thousand cows and the selection of those that could qualify for this unusual milk.

Only an organization such as Hood's could have accomplished this tremendous task.

It required an army of experts and specialists to master and control the various selective and protective measures needed to create and maintain the standard set for Hood's Grade A Milk.

Here is a really fine product. Rich in all the things needed to build fine bodies in babies and children and keep grown-ups in glowing health.

Begin using Hood's Grade A today. Say Grade A to the Hood salesman.

Your baby deserves the best—see that he gets it.

"Hey, where's my Hood's Grade A Milk?"

RICH MILK—Better than legal requirements for Grade A Milk. Rich all through.

CLEAN MILK—From clean cows, produced under rigid supervision. Hood's standards three times as strict as State laws.

TESTED COWS—From cows tuberculin tested under State and Federal supervision, and then especially selected by our own inspectors.

CLEAN BOTTLES—Bottles are scientifically cleansed and sterilized by the most modern equipment in New England.

SEALED BOTTLES—Double sealed to prevent tampering or contamination.

PASTEURIZED—With the most modern and scientifically correct methods and equipment.

WINCHESTER WON OPENING LEAGUE HOCKEY GAME FROM STONEHAM

The Winchester High School girls' field hockey team defeated Stoneham High on Manchester Field last Friday 2-1 after a very exciting game. In the first minute of play of Olive Bottiller center forward passed to Janet Nichols who made a beautiful run down the field, dribbling the ball and finally when within the striking circle shot the first goal. The second goal was made shortly afterwards. Janet, after a flashy race down the field, passed in to Olive Bottiller who caged the ball.

The Winchester team was unable to score from this time on, although they had the ball down in Stoneham's territory a great deal. The visitors' only goal was made in the second half, but because of Winchester's fine defensive game, they were unable to score again.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds won from the Stoneham seconds, 2-0.

Mrs. Howard J. Chidley and Mrs. Harry S. Griffin of this town have accepted invitations from the Massachusetts League of Women Voters to serve on the committee for the luncheon to be given at the Copley-Plaza Hotel Boston in connection with the League's fall business meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 21. Another of the social events of this occasion will be attended by Winchester women, the luncheon at Mrs. Robert L. DeNard's residence in Lincoln. This will be a tea and the entertainment will comprise a little talk on Irish Folk Lore by Mrs. Roland M. Baker, who has just returned from a summer's residence in Ireland. Irish music will also be provided.

WHITEMORE—IVES

Miss Alice Cramer Ives of Winchester and Robert Murray Whittemore of East Orange, N. J., were married last Saturday afternoon in the Unitarian Church by the minister, Rev. George Hale Reed. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock in a setting of white chrysanthemums, fir trees and lighted candles. The wedding music was played by Prof. John P. Marshall of Boston University.

Miss Ives, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Manley Ives of Highland avenue, was given in marriage by her father. Her two sisters, Miss Eleanor Dwinell Ives and Miss Charlotte Ives, were her honor attendants; and the bridesmaids were Miss Aleda Goddu and Miss Louise Kidder of Winchester, Miss Nancy Johnson, Miss Sally Vambolt, Miss Helen Nichols, Miss Rebecca Norcross and Miss Dorothea Ware, all of Cambridge. Mrs. Margaret Ives of Salem, Mrs. J. Dexter Harris of Brookline and Mrs. J. Scott Parish of New York City.

Mr. Whittemore had for his best man William C. Harris of Chestnut Hill, and the corps of ushers, headed by Frederick Manley Ives, Jr. of Winchester, brother of the bride, included James F. Dwinell, Jr. of Winchester, Chester E. Thompson, Jr. of Framingham, C. Terry Collins of Brookline, Morgan H. Harris of Chestnut Hill, Seymour Perkins, Jr. of Plainfield, N. J. and Huntington Miller of St. Paul, Minn.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and Alencon lace with a lace veil and carried a bouquet of valley lilies and gardenias. Her honor attendants wore pink chiffon dresses with pink felt hats and carried blue larkspur and pink roses. The bridesmaids' frocks were of blue chiffon and they also wore matching felt hats and carried blue larkspur and pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bride, groom. The house decorations were chrysanthemums and green. Upon their return from a motor honeymoon spent in Canada, Mr. Whittemore and his bride will make their home at 15 Longfellow road, Cambridge.

The bride, a debutante of the 1928-29 season, was graduated from the Buckingham School in Cambridge with the class of 1927, and attended the French School for Girls in New York. Mr. Whittemore, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bruce Whittemore of East Orange, N. J., was graduated from Purdett School in 1925 and is a graduate of Harvard, class of 1929. His clubs are Hasty Pudding, Institute of 1770, Speakers' Bureau and Instrumental.

Included in the list of "approved" hospitals, released Oct. 13 at the opening session of the Thirtieth Annual Hospital Standardization Conference of the American College of Surgeons in Philadelphia, is the Winchester Hospital. Our hospital is included in the list of Massachusetts hospitals which investigators have found to be meeting the requirements that insure safe and efficient service to the patient, and Winchester is slated as "fully approved."

DR. ARHUCKLE COMING

Dr. Charles N. Arhuckle, D.D., of Newton Centre, popular preacher, is to be heard Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the First Baptist Church on the topic, "If I Had Only One Son—To Preach."

A rich vein of humor sparkles in all Dr. Arhuckle's work and he still wears the captivating smile of a college freshman.

He is an apostle of optimism and will deliver in Winchester, a lecture which has won him friends all over America. In "The Legacy of Courage" he will say "salute" to the fears that haunt the modern man.

Inasmuch as a full house erected Dr. Arhuckle, to his besting good seats should come easily.

Valerie Wiedtger of Brookline, well known contralto who often sings for Dr. Arhuckle will be heard in two request numbers, "Oh Come to My Heart" by Andrews and "He Loved Me So" by Arkley.

ENGLISH VISITORS FETED

Hon. Lewis Parkhurst presided and introduced the various speakers with intimate remarks which he was able to make from his long acquaintance with those he called upon.

He first called upon Chairman Harris S. Richardson of the Tercentenary Committee to rise with Parade Chairman James J. Fitzgerald, Financial Chairman James Hinds, and Program Chairman, Mrs. Stillman P. Williams and Mrs. E. M. Hawkins to receive the plaudits of the gathering for their efforts in bringing the Tercentenary program to a successful consummation.

Mr. Parkhurst stressed the spirit of unity which had marked the observance, stating that there had been no East-Side or West-Side, North-End or South-End corner predominance in the celebration.

Hon. Mr. Cook brought the greetings of Governor Allen to the gathering and assured those present that the State's chief executive had found himself unable to attend the celebration.

Mayor Gallagher brought the greetings of Woburn to the hall and Hon. Mr. Taggart, in a masterly fashion spoke of Mayor Curley's inability to be present, while paying high tribute to Boston's leader for the part he has played in making the Tercentenary celebration the success it has been.

Samuel S. Symmes, in his inimitable manner, recounted stories of old Winchester not unmixing with historical data of much interest. Especially good was his "Bringing Home the Bacon" story, and all were sorry when he concluded his remarks.

Mr. Parkhurst then introduced Mrs. Christine Hayden, president of the Women's Fortnightly Club, who extended a cordial welcome to Mayor Collis on behalf of the women of Winchester, and presented her with a beautiful etching, "Midwinter in Winchester," the work of W. H. W. Bicknell of this town.

The Mayors were delighted with her gift, responding briefly but graciously and repeatedly expressing her thanks.

Mr. William Lewis Parsons, who delivered the address of welcome to the Mayor and Mrs. Collis, spoke in his usual witty and entertaining manner, stating that the town's guests undoubtedly knew they were welcome without more words from him. He said he would draw no comparison between Winchester's River Inn and our Alvernia, since in such case comparison would be odorous. He fully expected however to hear something about our stream before the next Tercentenary.

In more serious vein he spoke of the warming of international relations which such visits as that of the Mayor and Mayores invariably bring about, and assured the visiting dignitaries that Winchester welcomed the opportunity to place the Union Jack together with the Stars and Stripes upon its Town Hall platform.

Closing, Mr. Parsons presented Mayor Collis with a handsome silver Park Revere bowl, the gift of the town to the people of Winchester. Also he gave the Mayor a personal gift, a handsomely bound guide book of Boston, in a leather case, presented in the hope that it would lead the Mayor to find his way again at an early date to Winchester.

Mayor Collis won his audience from the start when he arose to respond to Mr. Parsons. After speaking for a few moments in humorous vein and proving himself a genuine good fellow, he aroused the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm when he referred to the many American boys who visited Winchester, England, during the war as "Jolly Five fellows."

The Mayor's complete address follows:

I stand before you in all humility as the 740th Mayor of the ancient city of Winchester, the former capital of England, and my first duty is to extend to this vast assembly representing its junior namesake in this important State in the mighty confederate known to all the world as America, hearty and cordial greetings and good wishes for all that is noble and chivalrous in the two peoples, speaking a common language and springing from the same stock.

It may not be out of place to remark here that my city is the oldest in England and possessed a Mayor before the great city of London. And let us never forget that it was from the shores of Hampshire, of which Winchester is the capital city, that the Pilgrim fathers sailed for the New World, leaving the port of Southampton on Aug. 15, 1620, being the seventh year of the reign of King James I, the last of our sovereigns to reside at the castle of Winchester.

Speaking of the Castle of Winchester brings to mind the immortal King Arthur whose round table has for centuries been preserved within its walls. In the Westgate adjoining the castle is found the famous Winchester bush. This measure was used to 1824 a national standard measure. It accompanied the early emigrants across the Atlantic and is today, I believe, the basis of the standard bushel of the United States of America and of Canada.

Then there is our great cathedral in which thousands of your countrymen repair every year. And during the great war over 500,000 of your brave soldiers encamped at Winchester for a brief period, before going over to France.

It was my privilege during those anxious years to meet many of our kinsmen, in fact my city was then thronged with American soldiers, and I can assure you, if such assurance is necessary, that they were the jolly fellows of an extremely well behaved. As you know, Winchester College of which we are all justly proud, was the first public school in England having been founded by that great Statesman and Bishop William of Wykeham more than 500 years ago. It has always had as its motto "Manners Maketh Man." I am told I very believe it, that your soldiers were particularly fond of that motto, and what is more lived up to it. You will see by all this that we in Winchester England have a very deep connection with all that concerns America and particularly with those cities, numbering upwards of a dozen who have chosen to be known by the purely English name of Winchester and especially are we proud of Winchester in Massachusetts who have honored the Mayors and myself by permitting us to share with you the joys of celebrating your 300th anniversary.

Your country has produced many great men, and doubtless will produce many more; I should just like briefly to mention two who came from your country with the early immigrants viz. George Washington and Thomas Jefferson, who I believe drew up the original measure of independence, which I am told can be seen in its gold frame in the library of Washington, Jefferson, as you know, found himself up against a problem which I imagine has not wholly disappeared from American politics even to the present day, namely, how to reconcile most wisely the State to which they belong to the loyalty of the whole of the great Commonwealth of which the State is a member. We of the British Commonwealth are in some respects in the same position, and indeed, the problem before the world today is the problem of reconciling what might be called the lesser loyalty, that loyalty which each nation owes to its own traditions and ideas and its own people with the larger loyalty to the whole of the great human family of which each nation is a member.

The great hope for the future lies more and more in the nations of the world realizing that they cannot stand or fall separately, but that they must stand or fall together, and that the cultivation of friendly industrial relationships—because, after all, every nation is dependent in some degree even for the necessities of life upon other nations—therefore the more and the closer the commercial intercourse and industrial fellowship can grow between the nations the greater is the hope for that lasting peace for which all so earnestly hope.

Once again I thank you for the very great kindness you have shown to the Mayors and myself in inviting us to be with you today, and especially the unbounded care and attention to detail which you have shown. I cannot sit down without expressing the fervent hope that a large party of you will honor my city with an early visit, in which case I can promise you a most sincere welcome.

We came to your town full of pleasant anticipation, full of wonder as to what kind of people would greet us when the voyage across the Atlantic ended. We shall carry back with us the ocean a harvest of happy memories of warm friendship, of English hospitality, and a knowledge that the hearts of the men and women of Winchester, Massachusetts are atuned to all that is noble and chivalrous. Our pulses will always throb a little quicker when we recall in your little often do—the days spent in your city.

Soon after reaching home, I shall conclude a very busy but happy year of office as Mayor of your Mother City. I shall be best in humor, and that has been packed full of duties of various kinds, a year that has brought us into much delightful company, a year that has been full of happy and pleasant spectacles. All these will have taken place when we conjure up the memory of the past but you may be assured that I shall not forget that which will hold high place, and we want our words to you to be words of most grateful thanks and well-wishing. I am sure that you will be very much repaid by it, but although we may not meet again in your town the many friends we have made here, and of having the opportunity of welcoming you to our ancient city.

In closing Mayor Collis sprang a distinct surprise when he presented the town with several interesting souvenirs. His home city, among them a replica of Arthur's famous round table, an interesting wooden casket, carved from oak 1200 years old and having been found by a fisherman in Winchester during the World War. These with other interesting things were given by Mayor Collis to the town of Winchester, Mass., and Harry W. Stevens of the Board of Selectmen.

The formal program was concluded with the singing of the National Anthem, God Save the King having been sung when Mayor Collis rose to speak.

A reception was held as the Mayor and Mayores came down from the platform, and every one was given an opportunity to shake hands with the kindly British gentleman and his lady. Those in the receiving line with Mayor and Mrs. Collis were their personal aide, Capt. Gerald Hills of the 25th Nova Scotia Infantry, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst, Miss Elizabeth Downs, Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chiley, Mrs. Christine Hayden, Dr. and Mrs. Richard W. Sheehy and Selectman and Mrs. Harris Richardson.

The ushers were all members of Winchester Post, A. L., under Comdr. Richard Parkhurst and included Wade L. Grindle, Clifford P. Towser, Cyril G. Young, George F. LeDue, Harry Goodwin, Arthur S. Harris, Kenneth G. Hall, Stanley W. Goss, George E. Cameron, William E. Ramsdell, E. Man P. Cass, Theodore Godwin, G. Warren Johnston, Conrad Larson, Daniel J. Lynch and Theodore H. Lawson.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

The graduation exercises of the School of Nursing of the Winchester Hospital were held at the Wyman School on Oct. 9. The hall was filled to overflowing. A reception to the graduates and instructors followed the exercises. Decorations of gorgeous fall leaves combined with the beautiful flowers that were given to the Training School by the Winchester Hospital. The graduates in their new white uniforms and the student nurses in blue and white.

The speaker at the evening was Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt of Brookline. He spoke to the nurses of the thrilling and rewarding experiences that were awaiting them as they chose as his main topic personality and the personal factor. "How often," he said, "we measure ourselves physically, but how rarely do we give due attention to our personality, weighing it, looking at it as in a mirror and getting some outside help to improve it."

"What is the measure of a man's personality or soul?" This question, he answered, by saying "it is as high as one can think as long as one can endure and as deep as one can love."

The report of the School of Nursing given by Miss Hilda M. Torrey, R.N., Superintendent of the Winchester Hospital was received with great enthusiasm and is as follows:

On this evening that is so especially the Training School, whose presence here has been a great privilege to be able to give you a report of the past year.

Each year we endeavor to add to the worthwhileness of our courses by increased study and preparation of our part and additional classroom equipment to carry out in practice the theory that is being taught. We are fortunate in having such splendid teachers as Miss Elizabeth Sullivan and Miss Helen Reiffen.

The course in drugs and materia medica has been handicapped by our lack of specimens of the crude drug but this year's class can actually see and handle the roots from which our drugs as we know them in our wards, are elaborated. A specimen cabinet containing 165 of these raw products has been added to the classroom.

We hope to strengthen our Hygiene and Posture work by giving more individual studies to our Training School assistant, Miss Sullivan, and Miss Williams of the Sargent School of Physical Education, share this course as instructors and we confidently expect to see many examples of postural improvement in the antitheses during the present term.

We are doing practically no group work, but are treating each pupil and her needs as an individual.

The Winton Club have not only carried on their big task of supplying our lunch room but have also, through their department, but have given the school an absolutely modern Diet Laboratory. For the first time we will be able to teach our dietary work in a place set apart for it and perfectly equipped. With the constantly increasing emphasis on diet in relation to health, this gift assumes additional importance. We are very proud of it.

The Winton Club knowing that our Children's Ward was greatly in need of enlargement added $1000 to a gift already in our keeping and made possible an addition of five beds so that at the moment we have a private room that can be used for a child and nurse or for two children, and a six-bed ward with nursing convalescents or children requiring sun treatment. The ward is well ventilated, sunny, fitted with high-low lights so that in maximum radiance can be maintained all night if necessary. Cubicle partitions of glass and metal separate the cribs and reduce infection to a minimum. Each crib has a head rest so that small patients suffering from pneumonia can be given the comfort of a back rest that is not so hot as pillows and is supported always. This unit is a deeply appreciated and much needed addition.

During the summer the Training School this year has been a new life sized doll for teaching purposes, purchased from the proceeds of a successful fund-raising campaign.

Two recent gifts from the same source have added immeasurably to our hospital and teaching facilities. Last spring we received our second cooking project—Mrs. Billman very kindly offering us her home and all the necessary equipment. Once again we have a home where while several members of the Hospital Board attended as guests and kindly critics.

We have held classes in Parliamentary Law to help us to conduct our own school meetings and again Miss Avery has been a most helpful teacher.

Current Events. These evenings are perhaps the most looked forward to events in the year.

Our recreation committee has held a full quota of parties and picnics and thanks to the help of the committee who so enthusiastically planned for the New Year's party, it was the greatest success of anything we have undertaken. Everyone seemed to have a delightful evening.

Mr. George J. Moore, a gift to the school of a tennis court has brought to us our first opportunity for outdoor recreation and it is our hope that we can make it a definite teaching hour for the spring so that this great advantage will not be limited to pupils who have entered the school during the summer.

The old grade of the court is as perfect as it could be made and has been the object of many admiring comments from visitors during the summer.

We survive our second New York inspection in April and the report was most satisfactory, the progressive policy of our school was commended. The Training School directors being particularly mentioned. The need of a science laboratory was stressed and the lack of reference reading explored. We have accepted these suggestions as our next step forward.

The reference library would make a splendid three or five years project for some group who realized the pressing need. The complete equipment could be divided into such units as bookcases, library table and chairs, lamps, filing cabinet and suitable flooring, the whole making an enduring gift of insubstantial value.

Our New York affiliation with Bellevue Hospital is in its second year and our students are unanimous in feeling that the transition from a small city hospital to the largest and best caring for a large percentage of private patients and the second activity as the City Hospital to the largest city in the world, gives them an invaluable experience. It broadens their perspective of the nursing field and it is that we are anxious for them to gain as much as possible in their skill in caring for medical and pediatric cases. Our reports from Bellevue have been excellent and on our recent visit the Superintendent of Nurses told us that several of our pupils had given outstanding nursing service and one had been promoted to an undernurse position.

We are very pleased about this and feel it is a distinct mark of approbation for pupil and school.

The Mead Scholarship for Post Graduate study was awarded for the first time this past year and to a public health nurse, Miss Phyllis Glendon. Miss Glendon has shown much interest in her work and it was a gratification to offer her this means of advancing her knowledge in a field that is broadening every year.

Anticipating the beginning of a new nursing and the eight hour day the hospital has installed during the summer additional utility room units so that a nurse can care for several patients with convenience at hand and unobstructed access to the bathroom.

The first of October saw the eight-hour schedule put into force all over the hospital. We had experienced with it during the summer and found it satisfactory; particularly the night nurses who do not now come on duty until 11 p. m. with a hot dinner first. This means the millennium to us who served the old 12 hour night with a lunch in the ward diet kitchen and a hot dinner to care for many of them in the ward and pneumonia cases with all that entailed. This new nursing system requires a larger school and it is our desire to increase our enrollment to 60 as quickly as it can be satisfactorily done. By that we mean with pupils who have full high school as a background and the classical not the business course, imbued with the spirit of the profession, stands for. It is used too often as a cloak for wage earning and we cannot teach our young people too carefully to work for the sake of sacrifice and richest recompense. A recent applicant to the school of nursing, who was coming from this town, had been good advice to be chosen the business course throughout high school. Once again we ask our friends who may act as advisors to some pupils, to remember that we are demanding four years English, another language, chemistry, mathematics and history.

Our present school year has started with the calendar full of plans, academic and otherwise. The Training School Association is particularly busy in its many activities. Harassed chairman may be seen holding committee meetings in various corners where the bulletin board bristles with reminders to the lagards.

A course in English and later in Parliametary Law are the two extra curricular studies we expect to add this year.

Many superintendents are made to feel like an enthusiast leading about with her an indifferent tourist but the Winchester Hospital is a most fertile field for their resources. Interest and enthusiasm could surpass that of our President and Board. Their plans for our school are being carried out by their resources.

We are asking Miss Avery to give us her full lecture course this year as we believe that too few interested persons are catching the rays that shine from her endless sources.

The faculty personnel has undergone several changes during the year. Mrs. M. C. Crimmins, resignation to the Massachusetts General Hospital, has taken the post of assistant to Hospital and Training School left vacant by Mrs. Crimmins. Mrs. Crimmins in May, Mrs. McArthur is the head nurse on our private floor and Miss Alice McEwen, a recent graduate of the hospital, has accepted our Obstetrical Department, relieving Miss Dempsey, who has taken charge of the open wards; male, female and children.

That dream of every Superintendent's life, a matrimonial casualty that often picks the flower of a flock surely is not far from reality here, but we are thankful for one more year with Miss Hodgkins.

The greatly regretted absence to night of the Chief of Staff for so closely does he work with the Training School office that it means much to us to be able to say "good night" to a grateful "thank you" to us all. Our doctors are so kind to us in sickness and health, so willing to teach and so ready to help us in our work, that on a night like this dozens of incidents crowd to the forefront and we wish the public could know all that goes on in the hospital day by day throughout the year.

To our President and Training School Committee, for their help and every effort, and joy with us, we tender appreciation and affection that cannot well be put into words, but which we hope to understand.

It is a rare privilege to be able to recite a story of loyalty, helpfulness, understanding and affection. All these and more have been given to our school by this group of students just graduating. Not often do we speak of the attitude of our pupils so positively, but these days of training have been ones requiring much adjustment and a wealth of understanding. Our Student Association found its first officer among this class and nothing but the deepest sense of their responsibilities could have led them to give their Superintendent the help and strength that they have. We shall miss them sadly in our professional and in our social life and I look confidently to our new members to carry on the work these willing hands are laying down.

This class has interesting plans for the future. Bellevue is claiming one of its members for a Breckinridge work in the Kentucky mountains as the most interesting and while working for them and will take a year in England as post graduate work to fit themselves for it, two are going to Simmons this coming term to prepare for a health career, one is still another keeps the thought of a degree in science firmly before her because she hopes to be a full-fledged dietitian some day. A word of thought to us that we have opened closed windows in three years to permit of so distant a view.

Our graduating class cannot wish more for you than that you should continue as you have begun—May you always be as loyal in your future contacts as you have been in your past, may you try as hard to see both side of a situation, may you steadfastly avoid the routine spirit which may lead you to lead you today illuminate your path to the future.

Language is inadequate to voice my gratitude to all of the past two years have held.

The heartfelt good wishes of your school go with you. May life bring each of you what is best for each one.

Moths in Fur Collars

There are several collars that can be followed to get moths out of a fur collar. A simple one is to place the fur over a warm radiator or on top of a lighted gas oven with a very fine flame. The moths will fly to the surface and may be brushed off. Place the garment in the sun for several days.

Childish Speech

Elizabeth Cleveland says that the child begins to use simple words at from ten months to a year old. At two and a half years of age he is using simple phrases. By the time he is three he has a large vocabulary (540 to 1,500 words), and can converse well enough for his own practical purposes.

The STAR offers its congratulations to the members of the Tercentenary Committee and also its sympathy upon the many complaints they will receive from disgruntled individuals, not entirely pleased with certain of the multitudinous details connected with the huge celebration program just past. It was inevitable that some would not be entirely satisfied with everything, but the town as a whole has nothing but praise for the splendid way in which the observance of the State's three hundredth birthday was put over in Winchester. The committee faced a gigantic task, and its members have given without stint of their time and effort in carrying out the program of consumption. Perhaps we of the press know better than most, how hard these committee members have had to work, and so it is with real appreciation of what they had to contend with that we offer our felicitations with the hope that the fault-finding which may reach their ears will be disregarded.

NEWS FROM BOWDOIN

At the recent freshman vs. sophomore "Tee" night, Gordon Gillett was elected chairman of the freshman committee to foil the "sophs."

ENTERTAINED MAYOR AND MAYORESS

Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chibbey entertained Mayor and Mrs. Collis of Winchester, England, Wednesday evening at Fernway, their home on Myrtle Hill. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Johnson of Cambridge, Prof. and Mrs. Arthur Holcombe of Cambridge, Mr. and Mrs. F. Carpenter, Mrs. James Nowell and Mr. William Henry Smith. Several beautiful Negro spirituals were sung by the Florida Jubilee Quartet, who graciously volunteered their services to entertain Winchester's distinguished guests.

During the day Dr. and Mrs. Chibbey, motored with Mayor and Mrs. Collis to Andover Academy where they were entertained at luncheon by the principal, Dr. Alfred Stearns.

NOTICE

Chief William H. Rogers of the Police Department wishes to announce through the columns of the Star that repeated complaints have caused the Board of Selectmen to notify him that parking throughout town on the wrong side of the street and without parking lights must stop. The police are prepared to summon into court violators of these parking regulations in the future.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS PACKER

Rev. and Mrs. William S. Packer of Yale street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Gertrude Packer, to Cedric H. Seagar, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Seagar of "The Hermitage," Constansville, Turkey. Miss Packer was graduated from the Harcum School, Bryn Mawr, Pa., afterwards toured Europe for several months. Mr. Seagar was educated in England and is a graduate of the Bootham School, Yorkshires.

Work was begun this morning by Contractor James J. Fitzgerald upon a new strictly fire-proof garage at Kelley & Hawes Company is installing in the basement of their building on Railroad avenue. Mr. Kelley expects to be ready to occupy soon after Nov. 1.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

Our meeting of Oct. 16 proved to be one of the outstanding events of our history as a Rotary Club. During this week our Town of Winchester has held its celebration of the Tercentenary of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. The Rotary Club of Winchester had considered it appropriate to devote its allotted time for the week to a similar purpose.

Our guest of honor on this occasion was His Worship Mayor Harry Collis of Winchester, Hants, England. Over 20 other guests were present, including members of the Board of Selectmen and of the Tercentenary Committee and other Town officials. Also District Councillor Charles C. Dacey of Boston and President Wallace of the Lions Club of Winchester. Visitors representing eight Rotary Clubs assisted in producing the largest and most enthusiastic meeting of the season.

Interest centered in the presence of Mayor Collis. We believe that this is the first time that we have had the honor of entertaining a guest from overseas, and to our intense delight we found the Mayor possessed of a most genial personality, ready, adapting himself to Rotarian fellowship. In a formal address he brought us cordial greetings from his ancient city and the Rotary Club of Winchester, England. But the real charm of the man was brought out in the informal talk which followed. He made plain that he enjoys his visit with us; he brought to us delightful glimpses of English life, and he presented us with material evidence of the goodwill of his fellow-citizens. There were specimens of ancient pottery on display which were recovered from the soil of Winchester, England. There was a reproduction of the seal of this same city carved from a block of oak-wood, obtained from one of the timbermen, Winchester's Norman Cathedral. And there were place cards adorned with a landscape in which, which will ever remind us that Winchester, England is also beautiful.

We sincerely hope for the fulfillment of the hope expressed by Mayor Collis, that he may visit us again at no distant date.

At the close of Mayor Collis' remarks, the President, Loring Glesson of our Club took occasion to present him with a copy of the seal of Winchester, Mass., beautifully carved in oak. Furthermore, His Worship graciously consented to act as bearer to the Rotary Club of Winchester, England, of a scroll of greeting from the Rotary Club of Winchester, Mass., signed by each of its members.

And so have we endeavored to exemplify the sixth object of Rotary, and we feel that our efforts will bear good fruit.

There is a clarion call for your presence at our meeting of Oct. 23. Percentage of attendance for Oct. 9-100 per cent.

CHAMBER IS SORRY

Oct. 15, 1930

To the Editor of the Star:

Referring to the article in last week's Star in regard to the Chamber of Commerce, I would like to say in reply that the Winchester Chamber of Commerce is not a political body, neither is it a body of citizens trying to run another man's business. We meet whenever any subject comes before us relating to any question or idea that will be for the best interests of our citizens and our town at large.

As a Chamber we are proud of the results which we have in part accomplished up to this time. I will mention but a few of them: Having the location of the Veterans' Hospital transferred from Winchester to Bedford, as we believed the building of this hospital, in Winchester, would have been detrimental to the veterans. Having $72,000 appropriated for the rebuilding of Border road. The project of the new 70 ft. wide boulevard from Winchester to Lexington. The County Commissioners have helped us greatly in this and assure us that it will be a success. The building of a bathhouse on the shore of Mystic Lake was prevented through the efforts of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce. The seeping of the water from Winter Pond has been another matter receiving our attention and on our invitation the State authorities visited Winchester on Oct. 9 to verify the situation.

The Chamber is very sorry if it failed in its responsibilities by not demanding every stone to close on Oct. 7.

Respectfully yours,
George F. Arnold, President
Winchester Chamber of Commerce

The institution of the newly formed lodge of the Sons of Italy is to take place this Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Town Hall. A large gathering is anticipated.

FLORENCE CRITTETON LEAGUE

Entertained English Mayor and Mayoreess

Over 140 ladies assembled Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee on Ledgewood road for the opening meeting of the Florence Crittenton League.

His Worship, Mayor Collis and Mrs. Collis were the special guests of the Circle and were most cordially greeted by the President, Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, who in her usual charming way presented Mrs. Collis with a silver vase inscribed from the ladies of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League of Winchester, Mass. Mrs. Meyer also presented the Mayoreess with a huge bouquet of beautiful roses.

Mayor Collis thanked the ladies and spoke a few words of appreciation.

Prayer was offered by Rev. George Hale Reed. The Winchester Trio consisting of Mrs. Isabelle Winship, Mrs. Alice Abbott, Mrs. Gertrude Barnes sang "Trees" and "The Gay Gavotte."

Mrs. Jane Hill sang in place of Mrs. Barnes who was ill. Rev. Peter A. Dunn, pastor of the Center Congregational Church, Boston, gave a most interesting talk on "Compassion" pointing out what an important part it plays in real Christian living.

Winchester Trio sang "Thou Art Like Unto A Flower" and "Happy Birds."

Mr. Clarence Preston, general secretary of the League gave a short talk on "The Cottage Fund."

A delightful tea was served.

CENTER CROSSING TIED UP

The center railroad crossing was tied up again this morning, a ten minute wait at 8 o'clock causing a great traffic jam. Just what the trouble was no one seemed to know, but Winchester center was a dangerous place, with Boston bound commuters running for the station, school children trying to cross with their bicycles and a jam of cars and trucks. The din of horns tooted by impatient motorists added to the confusion. Many cars did not wait for the lifting of the gates, profiting from past experiences and turning the mile run either to Wedgewood or Swanton street to cross. One train was stopped at the crossing and other trains had run in at the shanty, the men refusing to raise the gates. When the belated train came through at good speed the shanty was fully apparent, and warning shouts were necessary to clear the tracks.

McCALL NOT FREED ON GRUND OF INNOCENCE

The pardon granted Wednesday to Bernard J. McCall, former Winchester store manager who was serving 6 to 9 years in state prison for a criminal assault, was granted on the ground that he had been sufficiently punished and not on the ground of innocence. It was pointed out by the office of Asst. Dist. Atty. Frank Volpe of Middlesex County, who presented the case which resulted in McCall's conviction in 1927.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

Much enthusiasm is being displayed for the autumn whist to be held on next Friday evening. Sisters B. Young, J. V. Kane and A. DeCourcy are in charge.

Imagine your embarrassment

WHEN YOU SUGGEST TO A BYSTANDER THAT YOU "DUCK THIS DUMB PARTY"—AND HE SAYS HE CAN'T—AS HE'S THE HOST!

IMAGINE YOUR SATISFACTION—knowing how very personal your clothing is, how very close to you most of the time—that when you send it to us, it will not come in contact with other clothing that you would hesitate to touch—it will be treated with cleaning fluids kept pure and sweet by the most modern equipment money can buy—if you only knew what that really means—it will be worked upon by clean workers and under the most sanitary conditions.

There is a great deal beside price to be considered when sending your work to be cleaned.

We welcome inspection of our plant by any woman or woman's club. Ask for one of our Children's Drawing Books of Health. They are free and are very instructive for children.

LOCAL HARRIERS BEAT CONCORD CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

Winchester High School beat Concord High, 25-48 in the cross country meet between the two schools Thursday afternoon.

"Bob" Winchester of the local team finished first with a good lead. The first ten men to finish were: 1st, Winchester, (W.); 2nd, Hanley, (C.); 3rd, Lawrence, (C.); 4th, McCormack, (W.); 5th, Saulster, (W.); 6th, Drummy, (C.); 7th, Pettinelli, (W.); 8th, West, (W.); 9th, Bowser, (W.); 10th, Pettinelli, (W.).

Miss Eleanor Ives, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Manley Ives, of Highland avenue, is listed among those debutantes elected to provisional membership in the Junior League. Miss Ives attended the tea given the new members in the Junior League clubhouse in Boston last Wednesday.

REVIEWING STAND, WINCHESTER TERCENTARY, OCT. 19, 1930

WINCHESTER STAGES MONSTER TERCENTARY CELEBRATION

About an hour after the guests of honor arrived in Winchester, Winchester and Arlington High Schools were warming up for their Mystic League football game on Manchester Field, but long before the time for the opening whistle, the field was crowded with spectators. Here and there about town units for the big parade were beginning to drift in, and everywhere there was the bustling expectancy which precedes a big show.

A complete account of the football game is in another column. Suffice it to say that Winchester and Arlington luffed to a scoreless tie before a huge crowd while the Lowell Legion Drum and Bugle Corps played and three Army airplanes hovered above the gridiron.

Before noon the paraders were assembling about the Town Hall and as the starting hour approached the streets were full of military and gayly bedecked floats.

Promptly at 1:30, the starting hour, five blasts of the five whistle set the line in motion and the slightly less than five-mile march began. Starting at Washington and Main streets the parade moved along Main street to Union street and through Bacon to Church street. Proceeding along Bacon street to the center, the line of march swung left at Knight's Pharmacy and headed north on Main street to the Swanton street bridge. Swinging right through Swanton street and the gayly decorated Italian section, the marchers returned along Washington street to the Town Hall, past the reviewing stand and along Mt. Vernon street to Main street, thence to the Parkway and Manchester Field.

Long before the scheduled starting hour crowds were beginning to assemble along the parade route, and motorists packed every available inch of parking space left open by the police. No estimate of the crowd was given out but it is safe to say that the biggest crowd ever seen in Winchester witnessed the parade.

The policing was well done, the regular town police, under Chief William H. Rogers, being assisted by a detail of 15 Metropolitan officers and 15 State troopers under Sgt. John Dempsey, a Winchester boy. Sgt. Ramsey Sawyer and a detachment of the Western Police also assisted with the crowd.

By far the largest and most brilliant parade ever seen locally, the line of march took nearly two hours to pass a given point and long after the head of the marchers had passed through the center, many were leaving to Town Hall to swing into line.

Mayor Harry Collins of Winchester, England, in his scarlet robe, with a sash chain and carried hat rode with the Mayors and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst over the route with an escort of official and his car received a tremendous ovation all along the line and was constantly removing his black cocked hat while the Mayors and Mrs. Parkhurst waved her hand to the cheering crowd.

Shriners, as the dusk fell on Manchester Field staged one of their spectacular drills in the presence of a large crowd.

Three shrines were in the parade, and through their maneuvers amidst loud applause, with the crowd especially liking the work of the musical band group whose singing was particularly good.

Before the Shrine drill the Aleppo Temple Band played a concert, program under the direction of Noble Walter Smith who also played two brilliant trumpet solos.

The evening program consisted of a band concert, played from the bandstand on the playground by Winchester Post, A. L. Band and an illegally decorated float parade, in which Winchester and Bedford Club vied for prizes. There were a large number of floats, and the spectacle was a most pleasing one. All the floats were well gotten up and the judges were hard put to it to select the winning float. Most striking was an alligator, entered by E. Graham Quinn and John Hemmery of the Bedford Boat Club was the popular favorite.

The judges for both the floats in the afternoon and the canoes in the evening were Dwight Hill, C. P. LeRoy, Walter S. Rice, T. Parker Clarke and Curtis W. Nash. The float awards were as follows: 1st—The "Sunset" entered by Winchester Post, A. L. Band, 2nd—The "Old World" entered by Waterfield Lodge, I. O. O. PURITAN IDEALS AND MODERN AMERICA

An enterprising editorial writer on one of our city dailies gave reign to his imagination recently and summed up the relation of yesterday to today in the following fashion: "The three hundred years behind us are jammed and crammed with achievements that out-balance the previous sum total of progress since the signing of the Magna Charta. The average mechanic enjoys luxuries that Moses, with all his wealth, could not command. The college freshman has more real information in his little finger than the erudite of the foremost scholar of the Renaissance. We have come down to put existence on a sane logical and definite basis than all our ancestors clear through from the applicators of Elenk. A nave hundred years ago even the scientist thought that the atom was simply space—that it was only a small, empty void. The first microscopist hadn't disclosed his identity. Metchnikoff's announcement of battling germs in every drop of human blood would have earned for him an unusual cell. Piped water had never flowed through a spigot. His most august and Cholerie Majesty, George the Third, would be seen in a hovel filled from the imperial pump. When evening fell, the best illumination George Washington could secure, came from tallow dips lit by striking a match from flint and steel. So simple a thing as the sulphur match had not been conceived. It took Benjamin Franklin two weeks to send a letter from Boston and get a reply from Baltimore. (It sometimes takes that long still.) When he traveled, he rode in a stage coach, and slept in an unheated hotel. He died long before electricity saw any practical application. Daniel Webster never sent a telegram or saw a pile-driver. Abraham Lincoln never lit a gas jet; his angular frame never rested in a pullman berth, and the fastest train in which he ever rode couldn't outpace a second class stage horse. It is hardly a year since the father of antisepsis surgery was greeted by his faithful operations, were always the easy luxuries they are at present. Limbs were amputated while the patient screamed, and the stump was soiled with a dab of boiling pitch. We recognize no horizon to our efforts. We despair of no goal. We have barely learned to do. You can't stretch your imagination half as far as your own children will stretch their hands."

After reading such optimism, it seems a bit ungrateful to call attention to a few serious things which the writer left out of the picture. Yesterday, in spite of its out-datedness, was still some while things were not as they are today, and it will do good to listen for a little while to them. I am not one of those who believe that perfection lies with the past. It is unuseful to compare the England of the Henry Esmond type with Tremont street, Boston, or Fourteenth street, New York. One has to go back to the past for stained-glass effects. The years tone down the evils of the past, and time make very ordinary men heroes. The Duke of Wellington is a deal of good which we might take over from Puritanism, but we should wisely leave some things behind. When, for instance, John Cotton said in 1634, "Democracy is not a fit government either for the church or the Commonwealth; if the people be governors, who shall be the governors, he was talking foolishness. He was as far from the point as Carlyle, when he said that democracy would never succeed until the vote of the ignorant was of equal value with that of Jesus Christ. But there were sometimes which Puritanism had which we might well have carried over. Of these I wish to name three.

First, it had a sense of personal responsibility to God. The Puritan lived as under the Great Taskmaster's eye. Today, in our frantic arithmetic of cities and our reckoning men in the mass, instead of as individuals, that sense of personal responsibility seems to be dying out. Men are to be saved en masse. We speak to-day of society, the people, the masses. The individual is lost sight of. He is imbedded in this common mass, society, like a grape in a cluster. When he commits a crime, we try to place the blame on society. Is a man a tramp or a ne'er-do-well, is a boy recalcitrant, don't blame him. Blame society, the industrial order, the state, the school committee, blame anyone but the wrong-doer. Take the medicine to the State House or to Washington and administer it vicariously to the legislators. When anything goes wrong in society pass a new law. A group of ministers in New York were discussing recently a murder case. The murderer happened to be of foreign-born parentage. One of the ministers said that the murderer ought not to be punished. His parents should bear the responsibility. For, said he, if they had brought up their son properly he never would have committed the murder. Another minister rose and said that the parents ought not to be punished. Society was to blame for not having properly educated them on their arrival in this country. And so the sin of the murderer was placed on the head of society as the scapegoat, and the meeting adjourned. Where that sin, the murderer's, was plainly manifest in another incident which occurred while the pure food legislation was pending. A farmer in Washington urged his support of the legislation. The Senator reminded the farmer that he was suspected of putting brown sugar into the maple sugar he manufactured each spring. The farmer was therefore not quite eligible to speak on the subject. Nothing abashed the farmer wrote back and said that he wished laws passed which would prevent him from doing such things! The Puritan carried his prohibitory law within him. He did not such artificial buttresses to his conscience. The eye of God was upon him and followed him through the intricacies of his daily life, whether he was a man-made law was upon him or not. How far our law-breaking is due to this shuffling off of responsibility from the individual to the State, I will let the Wall Street Journal answer.

"There is every sign that a religious revival is developing; and if this is the case, it is of infinite concern to business men. In this direction lies reform, because the only real reform lies in the individual heart, working outwards. Here, the only remedy, and better promise for future business management under the best standards of propriety, that anything Congress can enact, the enforcement of justice can enforce. Here is a movement which renders investigation unnecessary, which renders the brings employers and employed together on the common platform of the love and fear of God. Perhaps ninety per cent of the evils from which we suffer are beyond the reach of statutory law. But they are all susceptible to amendment by conscience through the mercy of God. We can never allow the State to exercise the full function of conscience for us. The Puritan understood that. He knew that the individual must be held responsible before God for his wrong-doing. Only this is the State safe, and only thus can a saintly character be developed. The signs of moral breakdown in our society today are partly due to our loss of individual responsibility to God.

But there is, on the other, an indirect loss, which has in a hovel filled from the loss of the direct relationship between man and God. It is the restlessness and pessimism which is everywhere prevalent. The striking example is in an address before the students of the Hartford School of Religion, delivered the preacher's function as that of showing men what they have lost in the divine plan. He said that any divine today had lost the feeling of any divine purpose in the world and had no sense of the individual human life.

He then told of a woman in New York who said that she had just been reading a book about the world, and said it took all the protest out of her because it showed her there was something in it. In other words, her life counted, and she felt that she was going through a process of humanity, and to that extent had meaning. She added: "I don't get that out of the sermons I listen to. They don't give me anything to chew on."

We all want this sense that there is some meaning to this delicious mess we call human life, to our eyes. Someone who understands what it is all about, and that our lives have meaning and worth in relation to that man. We are not to be free-will and determinism. And I suppose when we were very young we rather violently for free will. As we grow older we are not so sure.

"The best laid plans of mice and men often go wrong," said the poet. "And 'tis the thought that erie and pain," he continued.

When our plans go to smash, it is despair or divinity for us all. When the heart is empty and the coffin is full, and we carry our burdened hearts out beyond the last sunset, it is sympathy with the river's brink, we want to meet Someone out there who is strong enough to carry us, and in whose wisdom our anguish is explained. In short we wish to lay our sobbing wretchedness to rest on the bosom of Jesus Christ.

We are losing the vivid assurance that these tempest-laden lives of ours have any meaning for God. In fact we are losing the sense of God. The Puritan had no doubt of this. He believed that the very hairs of our head were numbered of God and that the heavenly Father knew his hair by name. He had a sense of dignity and comfort and poise from this belief.

The second thing in Puritanism which we are in danger of losing is the sense of the eternal. It is the sense of eternity. A great deal of restlessness today is due to the fact that all our hazards lie on this side of the horizon. There is no tomorrow for us. "Jesus' motto is 'Now and forever.' This is one explanation of the bitter war of the have-nots against the haves. Every day is all that is, then of course we must get while we can. And that means here and now. Carlyle once said that the bad man got his religion from his pocket while the good man expected to get his in the next, and was merely deferring his pleasure until the world to come. He spoke in a joking way, but man expects to get his satisfactions somewhere, either in this world or the next. Take away the hope of another world, and you have no perfection, and we will have a wild scramble to grab everything possible in sight before the opportunity of getting it is lost. There are the rich who have money, culture, refinement. They have taste for the finest, and the means for satisfying it. There are the poor rich. They have money, but no culture and no refinement. It is by them that Jesus will hear the King's English men, loved in Pierce Arrow limousines. Their entertainment consists of the motion picture and the vaudeville. There are the rich poor. They have little money, but they have culture and breeding, an appreciation of the fine things in life. Finally, there are the poor poor. They have no money, no culture, no broad outlook. It is they who constitute the explosion point in our democracy. An American once wrote Lord Macaulay a copy of a leaf of the donor seems to be a leaf of prophecy to the effect that just as Rome was overrun by the Huns and Vandals in the fifth century, our country would be overrun by the twentieth. The time will come, he said, when the population of New York City will not be able to have a breakfast in the city. Then some Napoleon will seize the reins of power at Albany, and a contented minority will be unable to restrain its desire. And he added, your Huns and Vandals will have been engendered by your own political institutions.

However that may be, there are grave signs that the breakdown in the belief in immortality, with its hope of compensation for the inequalities of this life, has increased the rapacity and restiveness of the poor. The late Professor Goldwin Smith has said that an autocrat can only be kept in power by a belief in immortality, but a democracy cannot. In an autocracy there is a force of cohesion from without, but in a democracy the cohesion depends upon internal cohesiveness, when the belief in immortality and its compensation are taken away, society will break up into a thousand warring factions, all trying to outreach one another.

The Wall Street Journal declared in an editorial not long ago that with the decline in the belief in immortality, with its implication of rewards and punishments after death, rapacity and chicanery in business had noticeably increased. We have been putting our "sentimental, non-negotiable, plucked and pulled out a motor car or a country-place and have been innocently pleased. We have not seen the old signs, the garden and kitchen fingers of women, nor the fingers of little children picking up and laying aside those plucked nickels in the sidewalk. The signs of the old signs are in evidence that the revenge is coming nearer than we thought.

The Puritan believed in an ancient and a modern world. He would judge the quick and the dead according to the deeds done in the body. It was a constant restraint upon wrong-doing, and a constant incentive to good dealing between man and man. We need to get something like that back again into our thinking. We are becoming a nation of "have-nots" at a time" is not an adequate philosophy of life. Men who steer merely by the capes and headlands of their own selfish desire will find them sufficient for conduct. We must have the North Star of some ideal whose sanctions lie beyond this earthly life to keep us on our way. That North Star is the hope of immortality, which the Puritan had, with its solemn implications of rewards and punishments.

Finally, we need to believe in our religion as wholeheartedly as did the Puritan. We are inclined to make fun of the severity of Puritan religion, and we feel sufficiently sophisticated to patronize those who lived under its spell. But the Puritan probably had as much enjoyment out of the grays as we do. He was not a grumpy old fellow, plucked on the austere slopes of Calvinism as we find in our hectic race, which has broken down and is breaking down. He was a man who when he lies open to every whim that wishes to romp across it, the enjoyment of the day was his. He was a man who made iron men. He was brought up on the doctrines of foreordination and predestination. Even in those days some revolted. You remember what Sam Lawson says in Old Town Folks: "I don't know what you mean by that. I tell you, it's kind of discouraging." Why, he said our state and condition by nature was just like this. We were clear down in the mud, and the side of all round nothing but glare; but we were under immediate obligation to get out, 'cause we was free, voluntary agents, and we was to be had got out, and nobody would, unless the Lord reached down and took 'em. And whether he would or not nobody could tell. 'Cause the Lord's will was that there wasn't one in a hundred, not one in a thousand, that would be saved. Lordy mass, says I to myself, 'cause the Lord's will is my own, I'm going to my chance. And so I kind of 'ris up and come out.'

Better that kind of doctrine, however, than the doctrine that we are a fortunate it has become one of the elective courses in the curriculum of life. It at least had driving-power enough to get a man to get on his feet. The Puritan was a man of action. Service in an unheated meeting-house when it was so cold that, as Judge Fuller says, the frozen man got his religion from his pocket while the good man expected to get his in the next, and was merely deferring his pleasure until the world to come. He spoke in a joking way, but man expects to get his satisfactions somewhere, either in this world or the next. Take away the hope of another world, and you have no perfection, and we will have a wild scramble to grab everything possible in sight before the opportunity of getting it is lost. There are the rich who have money, culture, refinement. They have taste for the finest, and the means for satisfying it. There are the poor rich. They have money, but no culture and no refinement. It is by them that Jesus will hear the King's English men, loved in Pierce Arrow limousines. Their entertainment consists of the motion picture and the vaudeville. There are the rich poor. They have little money, but they have culture and breeding, an appreciation of the fine things in life. Finally, there are the poor poor. They have no money, no culture, no broad outlook. It is they who constitute the explosion point in our democracy. An American once wrote Lord Macaulay a copy of a leaf of the donor seems to be a leaf of prophecy to the effect that just as Rome was overrun by the Huns and Vandals in the fifth century, our country would be overrun by the twentieth. The time will come, he said, when the population of New York City will not be able to have a breakfast in the city. Then some Napoleon will seize the reins of power at Albany, and a contented minority will be unable to restrain its desire. And he added, your fields. In its profound spiritual sorrow and need, led by the instincts of the human heart, the twilight of Christ home through the glory of His humanity on into the glory of His divine Sonship and the light of His eternal dwelling-place, it is to the highest and the profoundest and most transcendent words of Jesus that the human heart clings. It is in the human heart that we find our religion or a Saviour completely explained in our religion and no Saviour.

The Puritan believed in his religion. That is what made it a driving-power in his life. It is the lack of our belief in our religion which has led to our situation today. We think of Christ's principles as something fitted for the realm and tangle of the marketplace on Monday. We feel that we must harden it with the alloy of expediency as a woman's wedding-ring is hardened with steel to stand the wear and tear of a work-day world. We shall not get far until we believe in the practicality of our religion, just as Isaiah did. The Jewish nation before Christ and Saint Paul did in the first century after Christ, or to the eternal dwelling-place, a missionary came to believe in the Christian religion. He was working among a black tribe notorious for Sunday idleness. He had been expounding to them one of the Gospel's sermons until he came to the text, "Give to him that asketh of thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn thee not away." He was afraid to turn them away. He was afraid that they would know there was such a text in the Bible for fear that they would "borrow" from him. He was afraid that they would every embarrasment, and he proposed a review. In the meanwhile, before the next lesson, he had been thinking of the text on the text. One finally said that of course the text was not to be taken literally, etc., etc. But did not satisfy the missionary. He built into his sermon, what every embarrasment, and he proposed a review. ## PIERCE—DOW

Rev. Henry R. Bensen, former Dean of St. Luke's Cathedral at Orlando Fla., was the officiating clergyman in the Church of the Epiphany last Saturday evening when the marriage of Miss Marion Heald Dow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pike Dow of Main street and Eliza George Pierce, son of Mrs. E. G. Pierce and the late Mr. Pierce of West Medford, was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock. The assisting clergyman was Rev. Truman Hennaway, rector of the church. White satin, orange and green barked the center for the ceremony.

Miss Dow was attended by her sister, Mrs. Guy B. Howe of Winchester, as matron of honor, and another sister, Miss Eleanor P. Dow of Winchester, was maid of honor. Miss Ruth Clancy of Arlington, Mrs. Rhoda Townsend Tuttle of Winchester, Mrs. J. Collins Landstreet of San Diego, Cal., Mrs. J. Ralph Cross of Walpole and Mrs. George Finlay of Newton Center were bridesmaids.

Alvin M. Litchfield of West Medford was Mr. Pierce's best man, and the corps of ushers included Guy B. Howe of Winchester, Wallace Galt Hanger of Washington, D. C., John Belmont of Watertown, N. Y., Ralf Anderson of New York City, J. Ralph Cross of Walpole and Coleman J. Leonard of Newton Center. Guy B. Howe, Jr. was ring-bearer.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin, trimmed with seed pearls, with a veil of new point lace, a family heirloom, and a full court train. Her flowers were call lilies and lilies of the valley. Her honor attendants wore apple green satin period gowns with trains, satin and net mitts, and matching turbans. Both honor attendants and bridesmaids carried old-fashioned bouquets, and the gowns of the latter were similar to those of the matron and maid of honor, but were of carabao silk, worn with satin and net mitts and velvet turbans to match.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Dow assisted in receiving with Mrs. Pierce, the bride's mother. The house was decorated with garden roses, white chrysanthemums and snail.

After an extended wedding trip through the South Mr. Pierce and his bride will make their home in Winchester at 9 Lawton road.

The bride was graduated from Miss Chamberlayne's School and attended Miss McCintock's and Leland Powers Schools. Mr. Pierce was graduated from Williams in the class of 1929 and is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

The Southern Division of the Boston & Maine Railroad upon which this town has been located since the B. & M. acquired the old Boston & Lowell, passed into oblivion this week when it was incorporated with other divisions into the newly created New Hampshire Division. The new division will comprise all the B. & M.'s lines in New Hampshire and Vermont except those operating east of Nashua, Manchester and Lakeport, and those on the Connecticut River Line south of White River Junction and south and west of Keene. The headquarters will remain at Concord and the division with its branches will comprise 615 miles of the total of 2076 operated by the road.

BURGOYNE—SWENSON

A marriage having much Winchester interest took place in Medford last Saturday evening when Miss Anna Louise Swenson, daughter of Mrs. John A. Swenson of George street, in that city, became the bride of Dr. Roger Merton Burgoyne of Winchester, son of Mr. Stephen Cain Burgoyne of Providence, R. I. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in Grace Episcopal Church by the Rev. Dwight Hadley, pastor. The church decorations were palms and autumn leaves.

Miss Swenson was attended by her sister, Mrs. Elmer Anderson of Medford, as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Sherwood W. Kelley of Andover, Mrs. Oscar B. Sias of Medford and Miss Thelma Swenson of Medford, were all sisters of the bride.

Harold G. Burgoyne of Providence, R. I. was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Dr. John R. Wallace and Dean Symmes of Winchester. Sherwood W. Kelley of Andover and Oscar B. Sias of West Medford.

The bride wore a wedding gown of Duchess satin, trimmed with hand-made lace, and carried valley lilies with sweetheart roses. Mrs. Anderson wore ashes of roses satin, and carried pink snapdragons with larkspur. The bridesmaids' frocks were of old blue satin, and they too carried larkspur and pink snapdragons.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the church, the bride and bridesmaids being assisted in receiving by their parents, and by the matron of honor and best man. Following a wedding trip to Northern Maine, Dr. and Mrs. Burgoyne will make their home in Winchester where the doctor, a graduate of Boston University and of Boston University Medical School, in the class of 1922, has offices for the practice of medicine.

DESERVES APPRECIATION

To the Editor of the Star: May I through your columns express the appreciation of many citizens of Winchester for the great amount of work which Mr. Harris S. Richardson put into making our Tercentenary celebration a success.

While all who were on the committees in charge of various features of the celebration worked hard, and should receive the thanks of the town for their generous efforts, the brunt of the burden fell upon Mr. Richardson's shoulders, and he carried it through with his usual poise, good nature and executive thoroughness.

Our town is exceedingly fortunate in having so able and willing an executive serving on its Board of Selectmen.

McMINAMIN—MORROW

Monday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's Church, Belmont, Miss Alice Veronica Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson Morrow of Wiley road, Belmont, became the bride of Hugh James McMinnamin of Winchester, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McMinnamin of Highland View avenue. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Daniel Sherwin in a setting of cut flowers and palms.

Miss Morrow was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Morrow of Belmont. Another sister, Miss Mary L. Morrow of Belmont was bridesmaid. Mr. McMinnamin had for his best man his brother, John L. McMinnamin of Winchester and the ushers were three brothers of the bride, William J. Morrow, James L. Morrow and Herbert F. Morrow, all of Belmont, and Edward McGrath of Medford.

The bride wore a wedding gown of antique ivory satin, and carried a conventional shower bouquet. Her maid of honor wore peach crepe, with hat and slippers to match, and the bridesmaid wore green crepe, with matching hat and slippers.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bride. The house decorations were attractive cut flowers.

Following the reception, Mr. McMinnamin and his bride left for a wedding journey through the South. They will be at home after Nov. 15 at 40 Wiley road, Belmont.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The Baby Volstead Act

There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, anytime, telegraphed ex-President Coolidge to Samuel Gompers at the time of the Boston Police strike. There is no right to vote against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, anytime. With the State and municipal police co-operating with the Federal officers, the law is enforced none too well. The repeal of the baby Volstead Act, puts the whole enforcement burden on the federal officers, a task too great for them to perform with their limited numbers.

Whether you favor or condemn prohibition, vote for public safety in all places. Former President Eliot of Harvard University said, "Nobody should advocate the repeal of the Volstead Act except those who believe in the unrestricted sale of alcoholic beverages." If you do not wish to be numbered in that class, do not vote against the public safety. Keep our local and state police on the job.

THE GOOD SHIP DISPATCH

To the Editor of the Star: May we ask if any of the local historians have data bearing on the clearance papers of the Ship Dispatch, which according to her certificate sailed from "Salem to the West Indies and back to Salem" under Joseph Strout, Master. The papers are of date May the 27th, 1786, the name of the other officers evidently being John Francis and Samuel Swaser.

These papers being among the old Johnson records may have had some local connection, and it would be interesting to know if such were the case. The pay for the Master on the outward voyage was two pounds and eight shillings. Next officer, two pounds, five shillings and four pence. Evidently there was not much difference in pay as the fifth man had two pounds, one shilling and five pence. Hoping this may elicit some information.

Yours very truly,
A. Beatrice Thompson

Quite the most attractive and illustrative guide book of Boston and vicinity is that issued by Ginn & Co. and edited by Edwin M. Bacon. It is most complete in description and illustration, as well as being very handy in size. It should prove of interest to all residents as well as visitors.

COMPARE the new, lower Nash prices. Then come to your Nash showroom and study the cars. Your first view of the three new Nash Eights and the new Nash Six will convey—instantly and overwhelmingly—full realization of the entirely unexampled motor car values Nash now offers to the American public. The new cars are larger and finer than any Nash cars that have gone before. Ride in them. Drive them. Do this—and you, too, will want to own a Nash.

Winchester's Own Service Representatives

WINCHESTER people will be glad, as we are, to know that our Winchester business office at 17 Thompson Street is making good.

We opened it to test an idea. The idea is that while your telephone company must be big enough to do a big job, it must also be close enough to its customers to do business face to face.

We wish we could find for this idea a simpler term than "Personal Service." For the young women we want to talk about, we wish we had a more descriptive title than "Service Representatives."

Whatever the title, the fact is that in our local business office is a young woman especially assigned to look after your telephone interests, and we want you to get acquainted with her.

If your telephone number is below WINCHESTER 1100, she is Mrs. Jessie C. McLeod. If it is WINCHESTER 1100 or higher, Miss Edna V. Babcock is your Service Representative. At times, it one is busy, the other acts for her.

They are alert, competent, eager to be of service. Each looks upon her group of customers as individual clients who turn to her as telephone counselor and friend. They would welcome calls in person from present or prospective customers. If this is inconvenient, they can be reached by telephoning "Business Office."

This is the first of a series of talks about our local business office. From time to time this newspaper will plan to outline various ways in which Service Representatives can be helpful. Meantime we suggest that you are acquainted with yours.

UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB

The Unitarian Men's Club started the season's activities Wednesday evening with a banquet given by the club at 110 State street to a sumptuous feast prepared by Major-domo "Bill" Wood and his staff of experts. In the absence of Philip R. Sawyer, President, D. Earle O'Good was master of ceremonies. The singing was led by "Glad" Merrill with James F. McGrath, Jr. of Woburn at the piano.

Giv R. Sweeney, D. L. (Doctor of Laughter) who, we understand, is a professor of humor at the University of Amusement, furnished the first part of the entertainment. He was extremely funny and kept the audience in continuous laughter. He gave several sketches and it would be difficult to say which one of these caused the most merriment. Although the dinner needed no digestive acceleration, the laughter occasioned, certainly must have helped those who indulged too strongly. The entertainment committee had also provided a dance program and this seemed to please the younger folks as well as some of the older who do not indulge in the light fantastic as frequently as of yore. The North Shore Orchestra, under the direction of W. F. Mathews, furnished the music.

The officers of the Men's Club this year is as follows: President, Philip R. Sawyer; Vice-President, Dr. Earle O'Good; Treasurer, G. B. Cannon; Secretary, D. B. Elliott. It is understood that plans will soon be made for a varied program for the coming year which will be of interest to all the members. Those who attended the activities last year will remember that the Men's Club were very generous in the size and caliber of the entertainments.

TOWN TEAM AT CONCORD

Winchester Town Team will journey to Concord Saturday afternoon for a football game with the Concord Yankees on the Concord Center Playground at 2:30 p. m. For the benefit of those who will follow the team it should be stated that this playground is not the high school field, but is right in the square and may be reached by following the road from Lexington square.

The Concord eleven is rated as a strong club, having beaten Bedford and on last Saturday winning from the Lexington Minute Boys. Winchester is still undefeated, and hopes to add Concord to its list of victims. The thing which is permitting the Town Team to defeat potentially stronger opponents is the splendid condition in which the local players have gotten themselves. Seldom does Winchester have to take time out for injuries, and the boys finish up as strong as they start in.

WAKEFIELD HERE TOMORROW

Winchester High School plays its second league football game of the season tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, meeting Wakefield High School on Manchester field.

Last year Coach Mansfield's charges lost a tough game to Wakefield, and are out this year to even scores. Over confidence and some particularly sloppy playing kept the locals in 1929, but this is another year again, and Winchester hopes to make a much better showing against Wakefield tomorrow.

Winchester has the better record, having yet to lose a game, but Wakefield has played the harder schedule and the more games which may react in its favor. The locals showed the effects of their grueling game with Arlington on the holiday, and were both good and bad at Belmont last Saturday.

Coach Mansfield has primed his charges to look for stubborn opposition from Wakefield and if Winchester plays the football it knows it should win.

TO OPEN HOME FOR MUSICALE

Mr. and Mrs. Newell K. Morton (Pearl Bates) of Winchester are opening their home Sunday afternoon, Oct. 26 for a musical and tea to be given in conjunction with the National Association of Music.

Winchester Branch of which Mrs. Morton is the director. The artists taking part in the program include Mr. Samuel J. Lelovici, violinist and Mr. Hippolyte Droughmans, cellist, both members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Others assisting are Wilfred Churchill, pianist and Pearl Bates Morton, soprano.

Mrs. Morton will do two groups of songs accompanied by the composer Mrs. M. H. Gulesian, one of the groups being comprised of songs taken from the opera "The Little Mermaid" written by Mrs. Larz Anderson, music by Mrs. Gulesian.

Invited guests include Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Albion, Mrs. Harriet Barnes, Mr. Frank H. Beebe, Mr. Henry Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Boothby, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Bates, Miss Clara Endicott Sears and others of equal prominence.

The police have been very active this week in tagging automobiles parked on the wrong side of the street and parked after dark without lights. As the Star went to press 44 tickets had been given out and complaints against the owners of the vehicles tagged sought in the District Court. Inmate owners who have sought satisfaction at headquarters have found that there is nothing to be done but "tell it to the judge."

TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS OF HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

Fathers' Night and Tercentenary Program is arranged for Tuesday evening, Oct. 23 at 8 o'clock sharp, for the first Parent-Teacher Association Meeting this year. If you do not attend last year do so this year. The meetings are full of pep and helpfulness. We count you in.

The program will be furnished by the High School Dramatic Society, presenting "The Trial of Mary Ingham," 40 pupils taking part.

Also, we will have as our speaker, Mrs. Welby, field secretary of the Massachusetts State Parent-Teacher Association.

This invitation is brought to you by your child that you may more readily feel the urgency to be present, to get under this program of mutual helpfulness and to enjoy the High School Parents' Association.

The idea that shapes the policies, that brings out the members, that inspires the programs, that makes the cooperation between the school and the home a natural one, is the desire to understand the best there is in the physical, social and mental world of the child in order to further its interests and welfare.

The Hospitality Committee, Mrs. William E. Little, chairman, has prepared tags for parents and teachers alike, together with the pupils' names. This plan develops sociability and friendship. Refreshments will be served. The Membership Committee, Mrs. John Dabney, chairman, believes that the 50c charged per person annually will not prohibit anyone from joining and wearing a member's tag.

Our Motto "The Unit of American Life is the family and the home. It vibrates through every phase of the future. It is the beginning of self-government. It is the throne of our highest ideals. It is the source of the spiritual energy of our people."—Herbert Hoover.

SPECIAL COMMISSION ON INVESTIGATION OF LIMITED TOWN MEETING SYSTEM

Mr. Harry W. Stevens, Chairman
Board of Selectmen,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir: We have made public announcement of the hearing to be held by this Commission in the Town Hall at Winchester, Tuesday, Oct. 28, at 8 p. m. Representative B. Farnham Smith of Concord, vice chairman, will preside.

We hope that the members of the Board of Selectmen and other town officials will attend and that you will invite representative citizens, interested in town government, to be present.

Thank you for your co-operation.
Very truly yours,
Daniel J. Lynch, Secretary

Wade L. Grindle Installed as Commander of Winchester Post

Major Wade L. Grindle, Principal of the Winchester High School, was installed as Commander of Winchester Post, 27, American Legion, at the annual election of officers and installation, held last week Thursday evening in the high school assembly hall. Most of the Corps of the "Historical Society of Winchester, England," was present at the installation which was largely attended. The retiring Commander, Richard Parkhurst, presided.

WADE L. GRINDLE
New Commander, Winchester Post, A.L.

After the annual reports of the Commander, Adjutant, Finance Officer and Welfare Officer had been read, Richard E. Paul of Canton, State Department Commander of the Legion, was introduced. In general, Commander Paul limited his remarks to the objects and purposes of the Legion, stressing the work which is being done toward realizing the ends which the organization has in view. ## DR. BOYNTON MERRILL TO SPEAK

Organ Recital

Dr. Boynton Merrill of West Newton, formerly associated with Dr. G. A. Gordon at the New Old South Church, Boston, will be the third in the "Music for the People" series, being given Sunday evenings at 7 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. Dr. Merrill will speak Sunday night under the general theme, "If I Had Only One Sermon to Preach." Confiding to a friend, Dr. Merrill said "The best sermon I preached was one I wrote six years ago. I will give this in Winchester." The sermon topic proves to be characteristic of the fine work of this great preacher, "The Undiscovered Power of Belief."

More than 700 members joined Dr. Merrill's Church in three years. The only children's chapel in America recently added to his beautiful gothic church edifice.

An organ recital of 15 minutes will be given at the opening of the service with Mrs. Laura Archambault Pinfield at the organ, assisted by Mr. Carlos E. Pinfield, violinist (member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra). The organ power of Belief is given by the courtesy of Mr. Harry C. Sanborn. The organ program is as follows: Organ and Violin—Adagio Concerto No. 4; Organ—Intermission in D Flat; Alfred Hollins Violin and Organ—Lento; Wieniawski.

WINCHESTER WOMAN IN DEMOCRATIC BROADCAST

Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald, president of the Winchester Democratic Women's Club, will broadcast from Station WLOE Sunday evening, Nov. 2, at 7:05 o'clock "A Message for the Women of the Sixth Massachusetts Senatorial District." Mrs. McDonald has taken an active interest in the civic and political life of the town and district, and is known to be an able speaker. It is safe to say that many readers will pick up her remarks next Sunday evening.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk as follows: Robert Wesley Burnham of 162 Washington street, Gloucester, and Arline Jewell Currier of 7 Dix terrace. Lore Alfred Frost of Derry, N. H., and Dorothy Caroline Mountain of 69 Woodside road.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING APPROPRIATES $21,920

Refuses to Purchase Horse Property Street Layouts Accepted

One hundred and twenty-three elective town meeting members and 20 members at large appropriated $21,920 for town work in addition to that already provided for at the special town meeting session in the Town Hall last night.

The appropriation was made to aid in providing additional work for those town employees, having dependent families who would otherwise be laid off between now and the first of the year.

Thirteen thousand, two hundred dollars was appropriated for work to be done under the headings: Highways and Bridges, and Water Construction; $6700 under the first item and $2500 under the second. Action upon the motions calling for additional appropriations for sewer construction, sewer maintenance, surface drainage and water main extension was indefinitely postponed because work on these projects cannot advantageously be done for this time of year on into the winter.

The money appropriated, as indicated the whole amount of $21,920 was taken from the State's excess and efficiency fund, the argument in favor of the expenditure being ably presented by Mr. Carr, chairman of the Finance Committee.

The meeting refused to sanction the appropriation of $10,000 for the purchase of approximately 10,000 feet of the Corps of the "Historical Society of Winchester, England," at the corner of Mystic Valley Parkway and Washington street. Selectman Clarke explained that the land would be taken for park purposes and would be in with the Legion's proposal to purchase the old Corps house and remaining land for park quarters.

The Finance Committee did not oppose the project but were not enthusiastically in favor of it, and opposition was voiced by Mr. Tuck, Mrs. E. C. McDonald and Mr. Dutch. The latter was particularly outspoken in his opposition, declaring that the proposal to buy the land for park purposes was a subterfuge and illegal and a project which, if carried, could be enjoined from being voted, by any group of citizens who would appeal to the courts.

The meeting voted overwhelmingly in opposition to the proposal to purchase the property and also voted to postpone indefinitely action upon a motion to give the Selectmen power to dispose of the present Legion quarters in any way they might deem expedient for the best interests of the town.

Articles 4 to 13 had to do with the layout and building lines of Wellesboro avenue, Yale street, Dartmouth street and Drexel road. These road items were all accepted as proposed by the Selectmen with the following appropriations: Wedgewood avenue, $2500; Yale street ($1) $2700; Yale street ($2) $1200; Dartmouth street $1000; and Drexel road $1300.

At the opening of the meeting a vote of thanks was extended to the Town's Tercentenary Committee for their efforts in promoting the recent excellent celebration in honor of the Founding of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The Building Commissioner has issued permits for week ending Thursday, Oct. 23 as follows:

Kelley & Hayes and Winchester—alteration of present building at 23 Railroad avenue into a garage.

Wm. S. and Mary G. Parker, Winchester—new private garage on lot at 11 Yale street.

Antonio Tofari, Winchester—new metal garage at 44 Holland street.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Republican Club will be held at Association Hall, Vine street, Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 2:30 p. m. The speaker will be Mrs. George J. Putnam who will talk on the "Historical Outline of Massachusetts to the End of the Revolution," with pictures. Mrs. Putnam spent a year preparing the data for this lecture as her contribution to the Tercentenary anniversary for the Colonial Banners of America, and we feel sure it will prove most interesting.

Mrs. Nelson Howard will talk on the Republican platform and give an impartial explanation of the referendum on the ballot.

Be sure to vote on election day, Nov. 4. If any wish cars to call for them, please notify Mrs. Vincent Clarke or Mrs. Louis K. Snyder.

NOT AN AEROPlane PART

A police check-up, both in this town and in Arlington, of the peculiar accident which occurred last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. William Irwin on Ridge street disclosed the fact that the piece of metal which had crashed through the skylight of the house was not that of an aeroplane, as at first was supposed, but was hurled about 1200 feet from a circular saw, which burst while in operation over the lot in Arlington. The story that the part fell from a passing airship was a good one, but on the other hand so is the real answer to the puzzle.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE

We solicit contributions of second hand clothing for children, ages varying from 5 to 14 years.

As the winter months approach, the clothing needed for some Winchester children is likely to become acute and we need to be prepared. Packages may be left at the office, Town Hall.

YOUR DOLLAR GOES FURTHER WITH YOUR LOCAL DEALER

Put you-off in the place of one of your local merchants—your Greeting Card dealer for example. You work faithfully to make a living in your store for your own good and the good of the community. Your best and busiest season—Christmas for the dealer in Greeting Cards—is naturally going to bring up your average for the year and oftentimes will be the difference between a profit and a loss.

You work hard all year but must spend longer and more tiring hours at your work during this period of busy activity. Why then could be more disheartening than to discover your church friends, lodge members and neighbors, cutting into your means of livelihood—as in the case of a Greeting Card dealer—by selling assortments of Christmas cards sent to them by fly-by-night irresponsible middlemen whose products are far inferior, yet selling for the same prices as those you offer.

Isn't this unfair competition to the dealer? Certainly it is, and it is not fair to the consumer—to you—to anyone approached by these one-year profit seekers, because their goods are cheap, fancy imitations of your local dealer's products, but at the same comparative prices.

Your local stores can and do give you a greater variety to choose from—the best values—and the money you spend with them "stays home." Compare these inferior assortments with the cards of your local year-round dealer who has a reputation to maintain. Then buy where you get your money's worth and can select your own cards.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

As we look around us even in a community of Winchester's size it is not hard to see that some human lives are essentially tragedies and that there are tragic elements and periods in all lives. Pain, darkness, and often premature death, tears and blood, are a part of the human heritage. And if ever we find ourselves wondering why it should be so appointed, or so permitted, let us look to the Cross and think what it signifies, and learn that it is out of such experiences that the loftiest grandeur and supremest beauty of the soul proceed, and in them find their incentive, their opportunity and their test, and that without them all, human life would be shallow and feeble. The nobler traits and diviner affections by which man ranks as the children of God, and which clothe upon with immortality, must needs have their birth and nurture in tragic experiences, and must pass the fiery furnace of bitter sacrifice and deathly woe.

CHORAL SOCIETY HELD FIRST REHEARSAL

More than 90 members and prospective members were present Tuesday evening when the Winchester Choral Society held the opening rehearsal of its second season in the Crawford Memorial M. E. Church.

New music was available for the first meeting of the society and work upon the program for the first concert to be given during the winter was begun at once under the direction of J. Albert Wilson conductor. The society's new president Carolyn Draper Gilpatrick was warmly applauded following her introduction by Mr. Wilson and graciously welcomed the new members of the society while predicting another successful season for the chorus. Mrs. Gilpatrick called upon the other officers of the society to rise and all were greeted with applause.

In addition to Mrs. Gilpatrick the society's officers are Leroy P. Beanson, vice president; Mary H. French, secretary and accompanist; Margaret E. Randall, treasurer; and J. Leslie Johnston, librarian.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The Court will conduct its annual Halloween Social and Dance in Lycium Hall next Thursday evening. There will be games, refreshments and modern and old-fashioned dancing to the strains of Danny Griffin's popular orchestra. Prizes will be awarded to those in the prettiest and funniest make-ups.

Mrs. Katharine Rowen and Mrs. Anna Seymer are in charge of the evening's fun and are being assisted by a very capable committee.

The members of the Court are delighted with the reception tendered to David Goldstein when he spoke on the Common last week from his Truth Van. All who heard him feel well repaid as he is a brilliant speaker and thoroughly conversant with his subject.

At the last meeting G. R. Frances T. Condon and the entire present list of officers were re-elected for the coming year. Installation will take place at the next meeting.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NOTES

A very important hearing was held at noon on Tuesday, Oct. 21, in Room 106 at the State House, in relation to the abolition of the grade crossing. Our Representative, Mr. Thomas R. Hatteman, was in charge of the program.

Winchester was represented by nine men who were interested enough to attend the hearing. The committee on the abolition of the grade crossing was represented by Mr. Joseph W. Worthen, who made a very strong plea by stating the many dangers, from several angles, to which our town has been subject for so many years. Such evidence seemed to make a decided impression upon the State authorities. There is no doubt but that the State can and will eliminate this great danger from the center of our town.

We had the honor of having four of our Selectmen present at the hearing.

George F. Arnold, President

TOWN TEAM WON ANOTHER

Winchester Town Team won a hard fought game from the Bedford A. C. at Bedford last Sunday afternoon pushing over the opposition in the fourth period for a 6-0 victory. The locals were opposed by a big heavy team but "Archa Amico's" boys held the upper hand throughout and were deprived of a second touchdown by a costly offside penalty in the second quarter.

At this time "Charley" Doherty, left tackle, broke through to block a Bedford punt at midfield, and picking up the ball, ran for a touchdown. Winchester, however, was offside and the run went for nothing.

The game was becoming increasingly rough and in the last quarter the Winchester boys resented some unnecessary roughness with the result that both teams mixed it freely, and the spectators ran onto the field and joined in.

With drawn clubs the police cleared the field and Winchester proceeded to win the game. A pass from Carroll to McNeil and then another one from McNeil to Horne took the ball from midfield to the Bedford 5-yard line. Flaherty was held on a line buck, but on the next play, Gazio Amico slipped off to make the score. Winchester attempted to pass for the extra point, but was unsuccessful and the game ended.

The locals showed a changed lineup with "Geezy" Fleming playing center and "Nutsy" Amico in the quarterback's berth. The change seemed to put a much in the Town Team's offense and Amico's line bucking was one of the features of the game. "Jimma" Flaherty also played a fine game for the Town Team.

The summary:

W. C. D. SCHOOL BEATS FENN SCHOOL AT CONCORD 25-0

Friday afternoon, Oct. 17, the football team of the Winchester Country Day School journeyed to Concord for the annual game with Fenn.

All the scoring was done in the first half of the game. The Fenn team put up a mighty fine defense in the second half and threatened to score on two different marches down the field.

The game was not many minutes old when Bernard rushed the ball through center for a touchdown.

Twice during the remainder of the first quarter the Fenn team attempted a forward pass within the danger zone around their own 20-yard line, but the ever alert Captain Rogers of Winchester intercepted both forwards which were converted into touchdowns by the fast running Winchester quarterback "Junior" Sherburne. Both attempts at goal failed.

Late in the second quarter, Sherburne, behind excellent interference, carried the ball over for the fourth and final touchdown and Bernard rushed the ball over for the extra point.

Captain Rogers, Ballou, Goodspeed, Reed and Sherburne were the outstanding players for Winchester.

The summary:
Aldrich, center;
Goodspeed, right tackle;
Cane, right end;
Cotton, right guard;
Reed, right halfback;
Bernard, full back;
Sherburne, quarterback;
Yonchewas, Bernard, Sherburne 2. Point after touchdown—Bernard.

THE BARBARISM OF THE STEEL-TRAP

The thought of an animal lying out in the open for several days attached to the jaws of a steel-trap gnawing off his foot in order to escape, is very disturbing.

According to statistics between 60 and 100,000,000 of wild animals are caught in steel-traps annually in this country. The steel-trap is the most barbaric device yet in use wherever it is used to catch wild animals. It would not be so bad and objectionable if it killed the animals when they got caught; but instead of killing the animals, making short of their torture, the steel-trap holds the animal round its foot, presses very tightly on the bone, causing excruciating pain. Sometimes the caught animal is exposed to the cold weather for several days before the trapper arrives to put an end to its torture. During that time the animal is prevented from getting food of any kind. He works day and night to rid himself from the pressing steel-jaws which hurt more and more. There are many reports of the suffering of animals that have been caught in this way by trappers.

Some of the steel-traps are attached to the limb of a tree and are weighted down. When the animal is caught the trap is released and springs into the air. The poor creature has to jump head down for days perhaps until death relieves him. Every animal caught in a steel-trap suffers agony until death comes—it may be a day it may be a week. If he does not die by the hand of the trapper or of starvation and thirst or freezing, or pain and exhaustion, he is killed by another animal. Many have known about this cruelty, but the campaign of education by words has proved an utter failure, for more innocent animals are tortured to death today than ever before.

The steel-jawed trap is an inexcusable atrocity. It causes intense and prolonged suffering to animals. Traps that kill at once or take alive unhurt are available. Let us compel their use and show mercy to the fur-bearers.

1—This bill (The Humane Trapping Act) creates no hardship to agriculture.

2—Song and insectivorous birds will not suffer because of it.

3—It does not affect the employment situation.

4—It is not opposed to the wearing of furs.

5—It is opposed to cruel traps only; it favors humane traps.

6—The bill is in the interest of mercy and kindness.

Vote Yes On Question No. 3, Nov. 4. It is on the ballot under the name of humane society in Massachusetts and by religious and civic organizations, both state and national. More than 50,000 voters signed the Initiative Petition.

SEVERAL MOTOR MISHAPS OVER WEEK-END

Several motor accidents were reported at Police Headquarters during the week-end just past, none resulting in any serious injury to the persons involved, though a 12-year old boy was taken to the Winchester Hospital after being knocked down by a machine on Swanton street.

The injured youngster, Albert Dero, son of Tomasi Dero of 90 Swanton street, was struck and knocked down at 5:20 Saturday afternoon in front of the residence of Mr. William Kerriani, by an Oldsmobile coach, driven by Katherine F. Moulton of 18 Symmes road, and headed east on Swanton street. According to the police the boy ran into the street in front of the automobile. He was picked up by Mrs. Moulton and taken to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated for abrasions and contusions by an out-of-town physician.

At 10 p. m. last Friday a Buick sedan, owned and operated by Ellen A. McCarthy of 18 Putnam avenue, Somerville, while headed south on Main street near Thompson street, was in collision with a Ford coupe which was driven by Jennie W. Goldsmith of 60 Blauvelt avenue, Reading. The latter machine, which was pulling away from the curb when the accident occurred, was uninjured. The Buick was somewhat damaged.

While headed south on Main street last Saturday an Essex sedan driven by Harry G. Williams of 107 Auburn street, Melrose, collided while turning east into the Parkway with a bicycle ridden by Donn Duncan of 23 Pine Grove park, the latter riding south on Main street and crossing the Parkway. The boy was knocked from his machine, but was apparently unhurt and declined medical assistance. The bicycle was damaged.

Last Saturday a Ford truck owned by P. H. Randall and driven by Walter G. Carroll of 10 Lincoln street, while backing out of the alley at the side of Duncan's Hardware store on Mt. Vernon street, was in collision with a Roa coupe, driven by Frances K. Walberg of 40 Wildwood street. The Roa was damaged by the collision but no injuries were reported.

Mrs. Herbert W. Kelley, Church of the Epiphany, parish representative of the Church Home Society, the secretary of the Episcopal Church for the care of needy children and young people, has been asked to represent her parish at the third regional conference of Associates of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, Monday morning, Nov. 3.

A RICHARDSON DESCENDANT

To the Editor of the Star:

I have been asked many times the past week what official position I held in the Tercentenary parade. My answer has been none. I was invited by the committee to represent the Richardson descendants in the parade. I reported, as asked, and by the courtesy of Mr. Eastis, secretary of the committee, was assigned to an official car, the other descendants' car evidently being limited.

This is simply an explanation and not to be taken as a criticism of any member of the committee, for whom I only praise in doing a big job well. But for the sake of any who might be interested I would write just a word regarding the Richardsons as original settlers, some of which has been already printed in these columns. The first Richardsons landed in Charlestown in 1630 and 1636. On Nov. 5, 1640 there were three of the seven commissioners appointed to establish a new town and church above "Mistake Waters." The three brothers settled on land along what was late 1800 called Richardsons' Row and were called Winchester Highlands. Samuel was one of the first Selectmen and remained so for years. In 1645 he paid the highest tax of any man in Woburn. He was also a deacon.

Samuel, 2d fought in King Philip's war and it was his family (with the exception of his 5-year old son Samuel 3rd) who were massacred by the Indians. After Samuel 3rd, in my line came Zachariah, Jesse, Samuel 4th, then my father Moses. The families were all represented in the Revolutionary War and later Samuel 4th, my grandfather, sent five sons to the Civil War of whom two returned as Captains and two with honors. Moses, my father, being one of these and a brevet Captain. The 5th son, Samuel, died in Baltimore on his way home from Liberty Prison. Of such stock, I am the 8th direct descendant. There are many of us yet in Winchester, and there are six of us, who yet own a slice of some of the original three farms after a period of 200 years and are proud of the fact.

Respectfully,
H. Earl Richardson
(per H. E. R.)

DR. S. PARKES CAIDMAN ADVOCATES HUMANE TRAPPING ACT

"Millions of beasts, both wild and tame, must needs die daily that we may live, sometimes in useless luxury of dress and diet. I have no doubt behoves us to cultivate in our children's consciousness and enforce in adults the rights of these victims. According to statistics I have just verified, 100,000,000 animals are trapped in North America alone. Apart from the need or otherwise for this wholesale process, I denounce and impeach the abominable steel traps which inflict excruciating agonies upon the fur-bearing animals whose skins adorn our women. The whole business is sadistic, and the campaign for humane trapping ought to be vigorously pushed."

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The Great Hypocrisy—Repeal and No Saloons!

United States Senator Arthur Capen in a recent address said, "It is worth noting that the Massachusetts Democrats in convention assembled adopted a plank demanding the repeal of the 18th Amendment, accompanied by a 'joke' plank declaring against the return of the saloon."

"There is no greater hypocrisy in this country today than the declaration of the wets that they are for the repeal of the 18th Amendment and opposed to the return of the saloon. The fight that is being waged to repeal the 18th Amendment; is being waged by those who desire the return of the saloon. The issue is clear cut, it cannot be evaded. Under prohibition we ultimately will have law observance or we will have the return of the saloon. There is no middle ground. And the thinking man who tells you there is a middle ground, by which we can have legalized liquor sales without a place of sale is a hypocrite. We in Kansas know that prohibition enforcement does not come over night. It was 20 years before we adopted State prohibition before we had actual prohibition; it was a quarter of a century after adoption of the amendment before we really began to dry up Wichita, Kansas, Leavenworth, and Topeka, and for all New York's boasted victory, I venture to say that relatively New York City is as dry as the prairie. Kansas City ten years after state-wide prohibition came to Kansas."

At the monthly meeting of the local Union held in the Methodist Church, Oct. 17, interesting reports of Middlesex County, W. C. T. U. convention which was recently held in Arlington, were given by Mrs. Belcher and Mrs. Roberts. The evening of the afternoon, Mrs. Arthur Gordon urged all to vote on Nov. 4 for candidates who are pledged to support President Hoover in all his

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

As we meet for the first time in this 5th successful year of the Winchester Fortnightly on Monday, Oct. 27, at 2:30 p. m. in the Town Hall, it is exceedingly appropriate that our program bring to us a sense of preparedness for the club work, its aims and progress. Our program for the opening afternoon will do this in the reports of Mrs. A. C. Grosvenor and Miss Mary L. Hodge of the State Federation meeting at Swampscott last May. We shall be carried to still further enthusiasm by the account of the General Federation Biennial Convention at Denver brought to us by our president, Mrs. Christine E. Haydon.

At the conclusion of the formal program, there will be a reception to new members. Let each of us older members make it a personal responsibility to get acquainted with our new fellow members and so do our share toward making the Fortnightly find its 5th year the best of all in that unity and good-will which makes for success. During the reception, a musical program will be enjoyed and tea will be served.

The Parliamentary Law Class, which meets on Wednesday mornings at 10 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall, is the early season activity of the Legislative Committee with sessions running to Dec. 10. This is the only class of its kind this year, and the opportunity of gaining intensive information from an experienced instructor like Mrs. George Hutchins is passing quickly. The principles of parliamentary law, the privileges of persisting officers and their limitations, motions and their amendments, the proper conduct of a meeting, when interruptions are permissible, the privilege of the floor, and many other angles of the subject, will be fully explained in this course. The time to enroll is now; all club members should be informed on these matters, call some members of the committee; refer to your handbook and get their names and telephone numbers, they will gladly talk with you and give you all information. A resume of the first lessons will be given, and you may progress with the class.

Do you use the Fortnightly Library? All summer our faithful librarian, Mrs. Maude Biddle, has been keeping the club library in circulation. We already have a very creditable collection both as to size and content. If there are any members who have copies of the books the Literature Group is studying, or any other good books, which they are willing to loan, will they please call Win. 0737 and Mrs. Biddle will take care of them. The library is for the use of all club members; a small fee of five cents a week is charged. It is hoped that the library will continue to grow and prove more and more valuable to the club.

WINCHESTER TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Lawrence Frechurn playing splendid tennis won the Winchester singles tennis championship defeating Hall Gamage, the other finalist in four sets.

Hall Gamage flashed his best tennis in the first set which he won 6-2. Frechurn then came back strong and won three straight sets.

At the annual bazaar of the Women's League which is held at the Baptist Church next Thursday, Oct. 30, you will be delighted with the array of useful and fancy articles which may be purchased. Besides the hot luncheon and supper which will be served at 12 noon and 6:15 respectively, you will want to attend the play "Susanne of the Parsonage" at 8:15. Tickets 35c at the door.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

On Friday evening, Oct. 17, in each of the elementary schools an excellent Tercentenary program was presented. The program was a pageant entitled "Children of Colonial Times." The boys and girls participating and there were a large number, lived through the experiences of Colonial youth as they presented the various activities.

The teachers and principals co-operated in organizing the pageant. Miss Edna M. Hatch of the George Washington School deserves especial commendation because it was she who wrote a large part of the pageant correlating the different activities.

A pupil representing the Spirit of Massachusetts called forth at different times the Spirit of Music, the Spirit of the Shores, the Spirit of Learning, the Spirit of Play, and the Spirit of Reverence. Each spirit introduced the group manifesting her art or activity. All of the episodes were interesting and brought out very graphically both the serious and the play side of the early Puritan life. The scenes representing the Dams School and the Colonial School were especially enjoyable. These scenes seemed to be especially enjoyable to the children participating as well.

The pageant was a distinct success, and a great credit to the teachers and pupils of the elementary schools.

Although we should like to list the names of all pupils in each of the elementary schools participating, there will be only room for the names of the Spirit.

WINCHESTER GIRLS BEAT SWAMPSCOTT

The Winchester High School field hockey team defeated the Swampscott team in a league match on the latter's field Wednesday afternoon, 1-0. The game started very slowly with neither team scoring during the first half. Winchester's one point came near the end of the game after a penalty corner. Marjorie Poland, right wing shot into the center in front of the goal and after a strenuous scrimmage, Janet Nichols left wing, poked in the ball.

JOHN HART TAYLOR

INSTALLED AS MASTER OF WILLIAM PARKMAN LODGE

John Hart Taylor was installed as Master of William Parkman Lodge of Masons last Thursday evening in Masonic Apartments by Rt. Wor. George H. McIntire, Past District Deputy Grand Master of the Third Masonic District, and an old schoolmate who had also served as Mr. Taylor's best man at his wedding.

Assisting with the installation ceremony was Wor. Harris S. Richardson, Past Master of William Parkman Lodge. Besides Mr. Taylor the officers installed were: Senior Warden Vincent P. Clarke, Junior Warden Harry Sewall Squires, Treasurer Anna Smiley, Secretary Ernest R. Smith, Chaplain Ralph W. E. Boyer, Marshal and Master of Ceremonies, Senior Deacon John R. Wallace, Junior Deacon Kinman P. Case, Senior Steward W. Allen Wilson, Junior Steward T. E. Gosden, Inside Sentinel John L. Sherman, Door—Don C. Pickering, Grand and Junior Ladies.

The installation was preceded by the serving of supper, and for a time during the evening the Lodge entertained a social gathering. Collis, Mayor of Winchester, England, who is also a Mason, a member of William of Wykeham Lodge, 1883, and of Economy Chapter in his ancient city.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Announcement is made of the wedding in St. Mary's Rectory Oct. 5 of Miss Julia Ann Traynor, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Traynor of Cambridge street, and Roger Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Grant of Omeath County, South Ireland. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Conroy, J. Quinich at 5 o'clock.

Miss Traynor was attended by Miss Annie P. Duffy and Mr. Grant had for his best man Bernard Doherty. The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin and carried a bouquet of white and pink chrysanthemums.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, the bride's sister, Mrs. H. Doherty and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Catherine Grant, assisting in receiving. House decorations were cut flowers and palms.

Upon their return from a wedding trip which is to take them to St. Anne's Shrine in Canada, Mr. Grant and his bride will make their home in Medford where the bridegroom is in business as a building contractor.

UNION CHURCH SERVICE AND OPEN FORUM

At a union meeting of Winchester churches and the W. C. T. U. to be held at the First Baptist Church on Wednesday, Oct. 29, at 7:45 p. m. Miss Norma C. Brown, journalist and lecturer member of the Flying Squadron will speak on "The Massachusetts Crisis."

Miss Brown delights in questions and at the close of her address will conduct an open forum. Miss Brown is a seasoned campaigner of rare ability.

Dr. Howard J. Childley will preside. Rev. J. West Thompson of the Crawford Memorial Church will offer prayer.

No offering will be taken and no financial appeal will be made. The service will be held in the First Baptist Church.

EPISCOPAL MEN'S CLUB

Much enthusiasm is being shown over the first meeting of Epiphany Men's Club in the Parish House, Wednesday evening, Oct. 29. The ladies of the Church Service League will serve one of the popular home-cooked dinners at 6:30 for a nominal fee, following which Professor Bailey of Boston University, director of the Collegiate Department of Temple Tours, will deliver a half hour travel talk, touching principally on the Mediterranean shores.

Professor Bailey has conducted over 40 extensive European tours in recent years, is thoroughly familiar with the Mediterranean and a recognized authority on Egyptian exploration. President Alton B. Jackson, assisted by vice-president "Doc" Kelley and secretary Wessie, will be in charge. Special plans are being made to welcome new comers to the parish and they are particularly invited to be present.

Charles T. Daly of Medford, Democratic candidate for State Senator from the Sixth Middlesex (Mystic Valley) Senatorial District, comprising Arlington, Medford, Winchester and Woburn, will speak on the radio on his campaign on the following dates: Monday evening, Oct. 27, 8 to 8:05 p. m. Station WLEX; Wednesday evening, Oct. 29, 8 to 8:05 p. m. Station WLEX; Thursday evening, Oct. 30, 7:30 to 8 p. m. Station WLOE; Saturday evening, Nov. 1, 7:55 to 8 p. m. Station WLEX; Sunday evening, Nov. 2, 7:05 to 7:15 p. m. Station WLOE.

WINCHESTER WOMEN ACTIVE IN EFFORT OF WOMEN'S COLLEGE TO SECURE FUNDS

Seven women's colleges have united in a co-operative effort to bring to public attention the needs of the women's colleges. In every regard except one, the women's colleges have kept pace with the best colleges for men. That exception is endowment. Their need for endowment is so acute that a few years ago there was organized an Alumni Committee of Seven Colleges, of which Mrs. Junior Potter, newly elected head of the Pine Manor School in Wellesley, is the chairman. This committee will hold the fourth in a series of national dinners Wednesday evening, Nov. 12 in the Hotel Statler to further plans to make known the work of the colleges and the need for more endowment.

Dwight Morrow, former Ambassador to Mexico and now Republican candidate for Senator from New Jersey, will be the guest of honor. Mrs. Robert G. Dodge of Boston, representing Wellesley and chairman of the local committee, has announced. There will be representatives from Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Mt. Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar and Wellesley.

On the committee assisting Mrs. Dodge are Mrs. Edward E. Wise of Hingham, representing Barnard; Mrs. Charles G. Loring of New Jersey, representing Bryn Mawr; Mrs. Henry R. Day of West Newton representing Boston; Mrs. Richard V. Fitzgerald of Wayland representing Radcliffe; Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer of Boston representing Smith; and Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter of Winchester representing Vassar.

On the sub-committee for Barnard are Mrs. LaRue Brown of Boston, Mrs. Arnold of Washington, Mrs. F. W. Goss of Cambridge and Mrs. Henrietta H. Swope of Cambridge. Mrs. Margaret Blaine of Boston and Mrs. Richard V. Fitzgerald of Boston are on the sub-committee for Bryn Mawr; and Mrs. Roger Babson of Wellesley Hills, Mrs. Louis W. Arnold of Washington, Mrs. George Smith of Newton Centre are on the sub-committee for Mt. Holyoke. For Radcliffe there are Mrs. George Metcalf of Mt. and Mrs. Arthur Morse of Weston, and for Vassar is Mrs. James Nowell of Winchester.

ANNUAL INSTALLATION OF WINCHESTER M. C. O. F.

Mrs. Isabelle MacKenzie Leads Court

Deputy Harry Humphrey of Medford was the installing officer last Thursday evening at the annual installation of officers of Court No. 10, Winchester, M. C. O. F. held in Lyceum Hall. The degree work was done by the University of the Valley of the Connecticut in the presence of High Venerable Chief Ranger Joseph J. Chahen who represented the high standing commandery of the Valley of the Connecticut of St. Mary's Church of Hartford.

Those installed were: Chief Ranger, Mrs. Isabelle L. MacKenzie; Vice Chief, Mr. Harry Humphrey; Treasurer, Patrick McGinn; Financial Secretary, Mr. Cullahan; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mary Hannon; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Hannon; Junior Conductor, Mrs. Anna Stenover; Inside Sentinel, Mrs. Mary Cullahan; Outside Sentinel, Mrs. Mary McCormick; Trustees, Mrs. Isabelle MacKenzie, Mrs. H. M. Mowat, Mrs. J. C. Mowat.

An entertainment, luncheon and general dancing followed. Vocal numbers were rendered by Mrs. Mary McGrath.

The guests included members of M. C. O. F. courts of Malden, Everett, Woburn and Medford. More than 200 persons attended.

DISCOURTESY OF AUTOMOBILISTS AT WEDGEHIRE STATION

To the Editor of the Star:

Won't you call attention, by this communication, to those automobile drivers who are disregarding the fact that one of the highways at Wedgehire is used by everybody else as an "entrance," and the other one as an "exit." Some people, because they won't be delayed about a minute in going out of the "exit" on account of the number of cars at the station, have deliberately made it a custom to drive out of the "entrance" driveway. This is not only a breach of courtesy to everybody else but it is also dangerous, inasmuch as other drivers coming up the driveway do not expect anybody to come out there at the entrance, and therefore might naturally cause a collision and, evidently, the pedestrian passengers of the railroad do not expect cars to come out that way, and therefore do not look for them when crossing the street.

The minute lost counts for nothing with the speed of an automobile, and the courtesy of the system inaugurated at the station would be appreciated by everybody there, as well as a help. Undoubtedly, it would be a suggestion to convince every driver of this.

MYSTIC CHAPTER HELD FATHERS' AND MOTHERS' NIGHT

On Friday evening, Oct. 17, the annual Fathers' and Mothers' Night of the Mystic Chapter of the Mothers' Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church was held in the school assembly hall. An audience that filled the hall to overflowing enjoyed immensely the entertainment given by the pupils. This consisted of a series of scenes depicting customs and practices of the early days of this Commonwealth. Interestingly and ably presented by the members of the Massachusetts Tercentenary.

The program showed much thought and effort on the part of the teachers and pupils. At the close, refreshments were served.

The alarm of fire from Box 27 at 11:30 Wednesday morning was for a fire in the garage of the 5 Mar. hall road. The machine, which was in the garage was badly damaged by the flames.

The Selectmen have ordered Superintendent of Streets Parker Holbrook to mark off Thompson street with 45 degree parking lines to permit more machines being parked in the open air garage there. It should be good news to the residents of the street that provision is being made to line up even more cars in front of their homes. However, they had their property "battered" by the widening of the street so we suppose they have no complaint.

The STAR was pleased to note that this week in the District Court at Woburn a young man was fined $5 for driving an automobile at an excessive speed on Main street while a football game was in progress there during a recent Saturday afternoon. We have often commented upon the recklessness with which drivers maneuver their cars through the crowds which throng the playground at athletic events and fully agree with the police that the practice is one which should be stopped before these careless motorists injure or kill someone in their attempts to demonstrate their dexterity at the wheel.

The STAR was interested in the following incident bearing upon unemployment situation in Winchester. Last week an advertisement was inserted in its columns by a householder who sought the services of a man for work about his home. Up to the time the STAR went to press, not a single inquiry about the advertisement, let alone an answer had been received at the office. We offered no explanation nor comment, except that we saw plenty of able bodied men about town who apparently aren't very lucky.

WE ARE SORRY

The Star, in attempting to cover the big Tercentenary parade last week, faced a difficult task. Advance information, except in generalities, could not be obtained from the harassed parade committee because its members did not know themselves exactly what and who would be in line until just before starting time. Getting the material together after the parade was a tremendous job, and we believe our readers are entitled to a perfectly complete. It was inevitable that we would miss some who were in the line of march. William H. Gibbons, Miss Barbara Bradshaw, Earl Richardson and Mrs. Addison R. Pike are some who had important parts in the parade and whose names were inadvertently omitted from our roster. It goes without saying that we received no complaint from any of these, and for that reason we are all the more eager to have them know that we regret our omissions and to apologize to the others whom we missed and to whom we offer the same apology. We are sorry.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The Winchester Girl Scouts will attend their severalth annual camp on Sunday in uniform in observance of the beginning of National Girl Scout Week. This particular week has been chosen by national because of the birthday of Juliette Low occurring this week, the founder of Girl Scouts in America.

Lord Robert Baden Powell's tribute to Juliette Low: "She gave the world what we but keep alive the spirit that was hers."

Love

And that Spirit was in very truth the spirit that we would infuse into our girls today—the spirit of love. Love that should be the basis of our every act and deed; love that should be so broad-minded as to bridge the rifts of country, class and creed; love for others so true and constant as to outlast the too prevailing love of self.

Humor

Her sense of humor was great. Not the mere idle joy of a child, but the joy of a man in their right proportions, such that gives the courage (which she possessed in notable degree) to face the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune of which.

Confidence

She had had her share to an extent perhaps unknown except to those who were her intimates.

Keeness

Markedly too she had that energy and the keen desire to do the right thing in any and every situation, but never so extreme as to impair her common sense.

Achievement

It was largely thanks to these qualities that in that great hearted woman that Scouting took its root and gained the widespread power for which it is famous among the girlhood of America.

The best memorial then that we of either race can raise to her is to keep her line of aim and action bright and living and making it our own, to pass it on to all our girls.

The Winchester Council are holding a luncheon and bridge at Cedar Hill, the playground of Massachusetts Girl Scouts on Tuesday, Oct. 28 and the proceeds will be added to the $10 grant which was presented to the Girl Scouts for their float in the Tercentenary parade and which we have used for a foundation fund, toward a Winchester Girl Scout house.

All troops are meeting with their Captains last year, and many interesting plans have been made to teach Scouting, and to co-operate with the other organizations.

The Brownies of Pack 2 took their long anticipated trip to Cedar Hill on Wednesday, the 22nd. The intricacies of the maze were successfully negotiated and the center reached thanks to the many helping hands from "Tawny" Owl who stood guard in the tower. After everyone was safely out, a fire was built in the council hall where each one cooked her own supper of steak or "hot dogs." One lamb chop was safely broiled and a future owner of cooks scrambled her own eggs. Darkness came much too soon and as the Brownies sped homeward, great plans were made for trips next spring when the days will be longer.

The choir of the St. James Methodist Church of Stoughton, of which Miss Jean MacLellan is the director, met with their pastor and friends at the home of Mrs. George H. Lochman organist of the church, Thursday evening for their monthly social. After the regular rehearsal of the choir, the gathering had the pleasure of hearing a number of solos by Mr. Elford Caughey, baptist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, who was the guest of the evening. Vocal selections were rendered by the choir, and were accompanied on the harp by Mr. Caughey. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lochman being assisted by Mrs. Clara Morrison and Mrs. Helen Smith.

WINCHESTER TERCENTENARY

Events in the Town's History The Winchester Reservoirs

(Compiled by Charles E. Kendall)

There were no reservoirs in 1850 when Winchester was incorporated, nor did they exist in the year 1870. A public water supply is the most fundamental necessity of life, vital not only for health and sanitation, but also for industry and protection from fire.

It is like a large underground river flowing day and night into the town, spreading out into hundreds of branches until every street is covered and each house has the opportunity to draw from its never ending supply. In order to keep this stream flowing through the dry summer months great reservoirs must be built to store up the water flowing in the brooks and springs.

In 1870 with a population of about 3000 people, there was much public and private discussion as to what our town should and ought to do in regard to having a public water supply system.

The subject matter was under consideration during the year 1871. In the year 1872 at the annual spring town meeting a committee of five were appointed to consider and recommend to the town what seemed to be the best method of obtaining an adequate water supply. The committee appointed by the town was as follows: David N. Skillings, Moses A. Herrick, James F. Dwinell, A. C. Fletcher and Thomas Ayer. The committee made a study of this question from all angles as to how the town could best obtain a sufficient supply of water for domestic use. Figures obtained as to a supply from Woburn, Winter Pond, and Wedge Pond were under consideration and also the possibility of obtaining water from the City of Charleston.

The committee was much impressed with the possibilities of obtaining water from the east part of our town among the hills and valleys. The committee employed George H. Norman of Newport, a man of great experience and practical knowledge as related to water supply systems. His recommendation as to possible water supply and the certainty of the same caused the committee to employ Walter H. Sears as water engineer and with the best results.

The committee made a favorable report at the extra town meeting held Oct. 5, 1872 and the town authorized the committee to have an act passed by the town granting the town the right to take land and to construct dams and to give the town a water supply. The Legislature granted the town of Winchester the right to carry out the provisions of the bill in 1872. What was known as the North Meadow was said to have a water shed of 42 acres. Construction of what we call the North Reservoir was started in the spring of 1873.

By the removal of trees and roots it was found that there was what is known as hardpan in the bottom of the reservoir property, quite impervious to water. It was necessary to dig bottom to the North Reservoir.

The contractor who was constructing the North Dam was obliged to work on Nov. 10, 1873 because of the weather. On Dec. 5 of that year the outlet gate was closed and the water began to accumulate in the reservoir and in 48 days there were according to Mr. Sears's statement, an accumulation of 79,000,000 gallons. There was much water that ran to waste after this period. This proved conclusively that the town was sure of a dependable supply of the good water. The work was carried forward rapidly and in a most complete manner under the supervision of Mr. Hosea Dunbar, a man noted for his ability.

WINCHESTER RESERVOIRS

The work of constructing the North Reservoir and Dam was pushed forward and was completed during the spring and summer of 1874.

After the North Reservoir was completed, it appeared to be good planning to utilize the valley to the south. This reservoir was started in 1881 and finished in 1892. There was a great deal of discussion as to the best method of constructing this project. After the South Reservoir was completed, it was found that its northward flow was not sufficient and on the advice of the State Department of Public Health a dam or causeway was built in 1891 to keep a high level of water in the upper reservoir. One called Turkey Swamp. Thus what is now known as the Middle Reservoir was made north of the causeway from part of the South Reservoir.

The water of the Middle Reservoir had a very brackish taste that has disappeared with the passage of time. In recent years it has been used as a storage basin to supplement the North and South Reservoirs. Water for the east high service is pumped from the North Reservoir and the west high service from the South Reservoir.

The retaining walls of the North, East and South Dams were constructed in a most substantial and complete manner. The core walls rest upon a ledge foundation which was thoroughly cleaned by water under hydraulic

No one, to my knowledge, has accused the Chamber of being a political organization, and my only purpose in writing my first letter was to try and find out why we can't get definite information from this organization that it seems to me we should look to it for.

As I stated in my letter the Chambers of Commerce in most cities and towns heretofore regulate the closing of the stores in their communities on holidays. I think our Chamber of Commerce should do the same here. The Winchester Chamber was very active in connection with the closing

HIGH PRAISE FROM ENGLISH MAYOR AND MAYORESSES FOR WINCHESTER'S HOSPITALITY

Expressing the deepest appreciation of the hospitality extended them during their stay in Winchester, Mass., Mayor Harry Collis and Mrs. Collis, the two guests during the recent Tercentenary celebration, returned last Sunday afternoon to their home in the city of Winchester, England.

The Mayor and Mayoresse, sailed from Boston on the S. S. Lancia at 2:30, Chairman Harry S. Richardson of the Tercentenary Committee, and Mrs. Richardson, Secretary Richard Parkhurst of the Boston Tercentenary, the Mayor's personal aide, Capt. Gerald Hills, and Mrs. Hills with other accompanying him to the boat. Both Mayor and Mrs. Collis were visibly moved at parting with their new-found friends, reiterated their delight at the reception accorded them and extended their invitation to all residents of Winchester to visit them in England at the earliest opportunity.

Mayor and Mrs. Collis left town at the conclusion of the tea given in their honor by Miss Elizabeth Downs at her home on Arlington street last Friday afternoon. Friday Port Arthur, the Mayor's personal aide, Capt. Gerald Hills, and Mrs. Hills and Parkhurst of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, at the brilliant Colonial Court house in the Boston Garden. The British official stated that he had a "rattling good time" at the party, and after spending the night at the Ritz, he and the Mayor and Mrs. Collis returned to the Governor's mansion where they were met by Governor Frank G. Allen at the State House Saturday morning.

Governor Allen presented Mayor Collis with a Tercentenary plaque and dedicated Mrs. Collis with the gift of a beautiful gold bracelet. The Mayor and Mayoresse, accompanied by their visit to the Governor by Mrs. Downs and Mrs. Howard J. Chibley. Saturday afternoon was certainly one of the high lights of the English visitors' stay in America for at that time Mayor and Mrs. Collis attended the Harvard-Army football game at the Stadium, with Mr. and Mrs. Harris S. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chibley and Captain and Mrs. Gerald Hills.

Both the Mayor and Mayoresse were completely taken back by the sight of the huge crowd and were greatly impressed with the brilliant spectacle at the stadium. The bare of the hands, the colorful cheering and the machine-like marching of the West Pointers all held their interest, but in the end it was the game which aroused the Britons to the highest pitch of enthusiasm.

During the early minutes of play Mr. Richardson explained the football to the Mayor and Mayoresse, and the former was soon following the game with a zest. Both he and Mrs. Collis frequently leaped to their feet to applaud each brilliant play. The Mayor got his football game quite bit mixed with the English "rueger", a term often used by the "crum", but he knew what it all about and his American companions had their own pleasures. The Englishman's evident enjoyment of the game.

After the game the Mayor's party escorted their guests back to the Ritz where the Mayor and Mayoresse spent their final night as guests of Winchester. They sailed the next day, declaring that every one had been "just splendid" and their visit had been all too short.

DISABLED VETERANS' WELFARE GROUP

The luncheon-bridge season was opened on Friday, the 17th by a delightful party given by the Disabled Veterans' Welfare Group with Mrs. Charles E. Hoey and Mrs. Ernest Dudley Chase in charge. It was held in the newly decorated rooms of the Cabaret Club, the dainty coloring of the walls and draperies adding much to the enjoyment of the guests. This group of ladies give a party each year to raise funds to help the disabled work for the men who served in all so loyally during the World War, many of whom came back incapacitated and unable to take up their work in the business world, but doomed to spend the rest of their lives in a hospital, their only companions men with like afflictions. This group has given its attention largely to the men in the infirmary ward, in the Bedford Hospital, to those without compensation and to those without family ties.

It is much the people feel that this work is their responsibility is shown by their generous contributions and response to appeals for aid. All of the food for the luncheon and many of the 20 prizes were given by members of the group. To these were added gifts of lettuce from Mr. F. P. Young, very generous amounts of coffee from the Wright and W. S. Quinby Companies, Cream from the Whiting Company and Noble & Sons, also prizes from Miss Ekman, Hevey's, the Win War Veterans' Welfare Group thanks all of those donors, as well as those who gave unstintingly of their time and energy.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Winchester College Club will offer several study courses this winter, with meetings beginning on Nov. 1. Notices will be mailed to members about Nov. 1. Others interested will receive notices upon application to Mrs. William E. Spaulding, 379 Main street.

Mr. J. Albert Wilson, organist and choirmaster at the First Congregational Church and conductor of the Winchester Chorus, has again been secured to direct the Fortnightly Chorus, the members of which will meet for rehearsal next Tuesday.

MISS EUGENIA PARKER'S CAMP

Miss Eugenia Parker of 408 Main street, has been in Denmark, Me., since the first of September. She is building an exclusive camp for girls on Sand Pond. The construction of the buildings is well under way. The architect is a local architect, the log-cabin style and under the supervision of Mr. Harry Jordan of Cedar Hill, Waltham.

Visitors to Miss Parker's camp are already numerous as real log cabins are unusual in this vicinity. Miss Parker has a large tract of land bordering Sand Pond, thickly wooded in sections and made more picturesque by occasional mammoth boulders covered with moss and ferns. From her hilltop there is a very fine view of the Presidential Range and Miss Parker writes that on several mornings snow has been seen on Mt. Washington.

The name of the camp is "Blazing Trail" which suggests the thrill of adventure and the ruggedness of the trail. The camp is for girls between the ages of 12 and 18 and will open June 30.

Miss Parker, better known as "Aunt Gertie," to many campers and Girl Scouts, has had over 10 years' experience in camp work. She is being assisted by Miss Mildred G. of 102 Lexington avenue, West Somerville. Miss Givon is a graduate nurse having had experience in institutional, industrial, public and school nursing as well as six years' experience in camp work.

It will interest the people of Winchester to know that Miss Barbara Fernald will be at the camp as hostess.

Miss Parker will return to Winchester around the first of November.

MAWN-OLIVER

The marriage of Miss Anna Mary Oliver, niece of Miss Mary A. Matthews of Nelson street and James Francis Mawn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Mawn of Shepard court, was solemnized Sunday afternoon, Oct. 19 at 4 o'clock in St. Mary's rectory by Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of St. Mary's Church.

Miss Oliver was attended by her cousin, Miss Ruth E. Matthews of this town and John P. Mawn, brother of this town, was his brother's best man. The bride wore a gown of Colonial ivory satin with long sleeves and a cap-shaped veil of Duchesse lace, trimmed with pearls and orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Matthews carried a train and carried sweetheart roses and blue larkspur.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bridegroom. Upon the return of the wedding party, Mr. Mawn and his bride will make their home in Winchester.

The bride is popular among the town's young people, is a graduate of the Winchester High School and a member of the Fidelis Club. She is now employed as an assistant at the public library. Mr. Mawn also attended the Winchester schools and is a member of Winchester Lodge, No. 102, of the B. P. O. Elks.

ENGLISH MAYOR AND MAYORESSES GUESTS AT TEA

His Worship, Harry Collis, Mayor of Winchester, England, and Mrs. Collis were guests of honor at a tea given last Friday afternoon from 4 until 5 o'clock by Miss Elizabeth Downs at her home on Myopia Hill. Other guests to the number of 150, were those residents of Winchester in Massachusetts who had visited Winchester, England, and had been stationed there during the war.

LEE COURT'S PAINTING WINS RARE HONOR

A rare recognition has been granted Lee Winslow Court, formerly a Winchester artist, who has been invited to hang his oil painting of the Blue-nose, former world's champion fishing schooner and recent defender of the Fishermen's Cup, in the National Museum at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The 40 by 48-foot painting of the famous vessel is now displayed.

ENTERTAINED BRIDE-TO-BE

In honor of the pre-nuptial parties held at home of Miss Anna Oliver of Nelson street, whose wedding to James Francis Mawn took place last Sunday afternoon, a dinner was given and bridge on Saturday evening, Oct. 11 at the home of Miss Ruth E. Matthews. Following the dinner, for which the table was decorated with decorations of tall candles and roses, bridge was enjoyed, the prize winner being Mrs. Elizabeth Dover. During the evening Miss Mawn presented Miss Oliver with an electric hand clock and a floor lamp, the gifts of the guests present.

Miss Mary A. Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Brown of Rock avenue, has been elected president of the second year class at Lowell Normal School. Miss Brown, who also served as president of her class during her freshman year at Lowell, was graduated from Winchester High School in 1929.

WINCHESTER'S GOLD STAR MOTHER PILGRIM

Among the guests of the town at the Tercentenary celebration last week was Mrs. Mary J. Noonan of West Medford formerly of Winchester and mother of William J. Noonan who was killed in action in the World War and for whom the school near his home on Canal street is named. His father was the late Patrick Noonan, a selectman during the war years of 1917 and 1918, and had always been prominent in town affairs. He was one of the original members of the old Home Telephone Company of the first department of which company only two members now survive. Mr. Michael Crampton and Mr. James Noonan, brother of Mrs. Patrick Noonan.

Mrs. Noonan had just returned from a Gold Star Pilgrimage to the grave of her son in the Roman Catholic Cemetery in France. She was accompanied on the trip by her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Bullard. It was the first visit of his family to the young hero's resting place in the largest American Cemetery in France where more than 14,000 bodies are interred. Each grave was marked with a beautiful cross of Carrara marble and it is a solemn and awe-inspiring sight to gaze over that vast expanse of white crosses covering the green slopes of a peaceful countryside about an hour's motor trip from Verdun.

The American Legion in New York City and in the Gold Star Legion in Winchester honor the Gold Star Mothers and Mrs. Noonan was also most thoughtfully remembered by the members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Waltham. Although everything was done to make the pilgrimage as comfortable and pleasant as possible, the ordeal proved too great for some, as many of the mothers returned home ill, and two, who sailed from New York with Mrs. Noonan, died, one in France and one on the return voyage which saddened the home-coming for everyone. Mrs. Noonan was the only Massachusetts mother in this group, and she was also the only Winchester Gold Star Mother to make the pilgrimage.

W. H. S. PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION MEETS NEXT TUESDAY EVENING

The first meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the assembly hall of the local high school next Tuesday evening, Oct. 28 at 8 o'clock.

"The Trial of Mary Ingham" a play depicting the court proceedings, against an alleged witch will be staged under the direction of Miss Marjorie Bailey. A review of this dramatic sketch as already given in the beginning of the school assembly will be found in another column.

Mrs. George Hoague, President of the Massachusetts State Parent-Teacher Association, will address the local group, as a special feature of the evening's program. Mrs. Hoague, well known throughout the state in her endeavors to make the cooperation of parents and teachers a real factor in advancing education's ideals will recount the general accomplishments of P. T. T. work.

The local organization's affairs for the coming year are once again under the capable leadership of its president, Mr. Leonard Waters. The committees in charge of the year's activities give ample promise of meetings well worth the teachers in and those interested in the local high school.

All parents of W. H. S. pupils are being invited to the state P. T. T. Oct. 28, 8 p. m. They are most earnestly invited to be present. These meetings afford the opportunity for parents to meet the teachers in a social way and greatly aid in gaining a more sympathetic understanding on both sides of the many needs of the individual pupil.

According to present plans, there will be a big Democratic rally in the Town Hall on the evening of Friday, Oct. 22. The meeting is to be in charge of the Democratic Town Committee and the Women's Democratic Committee, of which Mrs. Elizabeth C. McComb is chairman. It is hoped that both Senator David I. Walsh and Joseph B. Ely of Westfield, Democratic nominee for Governor, will be among the speakers.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Echoes of the illuminated canoe parade are still reverberating. Some one went so far as to say that a parade of that sort should be an annual affair. Those who did the work might say something different. It is interesting to note that the "Lighthouse" took second prize in the parade on the Charles River at Waltham last August. Howard Chaplin, last year's international single blade champion, built it and also participated on the Charles River.

Speaking of the "Lighthouse," probably it should have been built on a rock, since it came to grief on the "muddy" banks of the river. And how quickly it disappeared from sight too. After its upset, Lifekeeper Pyne left it where it fell on the bank, and it did not hear since. Information as to its present whereabouts is so wanted. The electric bulbs and sockets were borrowed and should be returned to the owner. The light itself is of no further value.

By the way the best site for the "Lighthouse" would have been on the "Bacon's Meadow" only to run which is opposite the Unitarian Church. Hardly one of the canoes missed grounding on this, and one or two of the children got their heads pushed off by other boats. It was near here also that the barge finished its glorious glide.

One of the boats of about a dozen kids, the barge was pumped dry last Saturday afternoon, and made her exit from the environs of Winchester square, and ended her way back toward Winchester Boat Club. But not so fast—she passed safely under all the bridges and entered Little Mystic or "Bacon's Meadow" only to run aground of muddy bottom and because of approaching darkness she hangs there awaiting another Saturday afternoon in which to be pushed to the shelter of W. R. C.

Speaking of prizes—the "Charles River Special" which journeyed over from Berline's Bathhouse at Waltham took third prize over there and received a "special" prize over here. "That's what you call doing double duty." With the Lighthouse taking second prize in Waltham it would appear that the devoted came from Medford and Winchester were of a much more artistic and attractive nature than those of the Charles River. Just now we feel more grateful than ever over the fact that the weekend weather was so perfect. Should this parade have been scheduled for any evening of this week we are certain that it would have been impossible, even to consider it.

We profit by experience. If we were to have another parade right off there are several things that could be improved on. More lights on the "hook for one thing, "dumie" Fitch had a very attractive canoe but because of lack of light, it was almost entirely lost in obscurity. It was a big black, over the "dumie" woman" and the children at home in it. No effort was spared in building it and it was a total loss without lights on the Aberjona.

The spars and lanterns were splendid for marking the course going down the river but we would like to know the time for the canoes had returned from the square. The rollicking "alligator" came to an untimely end on its return trip. The beast was wrecked on a rock in Little Mystic and is no more. Long live the crocodile.

Somehow, some of Monday night took its toll of the lives of 18 gold on an outdoor pool at a West side home.

COLORADO QUARTET FROM FLORIDA INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL CHARMIS MAYOR OF WINCHESTER, ENG.

In 1905 Theodore Roosevelt, then President of the United States, said in a speech before the Florida Normal and Industrial School "The costliest any community can raise is a crop of ignorance." For 37 years President Roosevelt has been endeavoring to reduce this crop. During that time over 10,000 negro youths have been touched and quickened by this school. Some of the leading men and women of the colored South have been prepared here. Florida is the 10th State from the top educationally. There are 50,000 negro children for whom there is no chance even to learn to read. Of every dollar given by the State for building and equipment 32 cents goes to the white children of the State and only eight cents goes to the colored children. Florida, hard hit by four major disasters, the collapse of the boom, the West Indian hurricane, the Mediterranean fly and this year the drought is able to give white children only $10 per capita for education while the negro children get the paltry sum of two dollars and a half while 55,000 of school age have no educational chance at all. ### TERCENTENARY PLAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Pupils Presented "The Trial of Mary Ingham" Under Auspices of Dramatic Association

The play was based upon the fact that on Mar. 6, 1676-77, Mary Ingham of Scituate was tried before the Court of Governor Josias Winslow and assistants for witchcraft. The old of the action depended upon the children of the accused, who were made to witness the accused person pinched the witness, threw her into a trance and urged her to sign the devil's book, giving her over to satanic control.

The trial was reproduced by the high school pupils with substantial

LEGION ENTERTAINED ENGLISH MAYOR

The greetings of the Town were brought to the meeting by Selection evening, L. Symonds, who also brought personal felicitations from the Board to Mayor Collins.

The British dignitary was given a warm welcome when he was introduced by retiring Commander Parkhurst. As in other appearances here his genial personality, easy and genuine good feeling won the affection of the audience who listened to his address with evident interest. In the course of his remarks, which are reproduced below, Mayor Collins referred to the American Cemetery at Winchester, England, where lay buried the remains of several American soldiers. At this time the speaker presented to the Post several interesting pictures of the cemetery which will prove of value to the Legion in the preservation of its war records.

Mayor Collins said Commander and Members of Winchester Post:

It is a privilege and a pleasure to attend this evening the annual meeting of the Winchester Post of the great American Legion, for I know that the greatest comradeship exists between the American Legion and the American Legion, and that they are indeed one great Brotherhood, united by the same ideals, those of putting the good of country and cause before everything, and of maintaining with honor or the peace of the world.

Some reformers would banish the possibility of war by means of legislation, but better than that is the wider idea of training the intelligence of youth in a proper appreciation of responsibility as custodian of the national honor.

I should like to take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation and thanks of my City of Winchester, to the American Legion, for a very kind and thoughtful act. Last August, the Bishop of Western Michigan, was attending the Lambeth Conference, paid a special visit to Winchester to discharge a commission from the American Legion of depositing two beautiful wreaths from the Legion on our War Memorials in the Cathedral Close, and the streets and with the American colors, each bore this inscription: "From the American Legion, as an acknowledgment of the kindness and appreciation shown by the Citizens of Winchester to American soldiers during the Great War." I cannot tell you how greatly we are honored and appreciated that gracious tribute to those whom our Memorials commemorate, by your great American Legion, and in the name of the Citizens I thank you most sincerely.

There is a little part of Winchester that will for ever be a part of America, and that is our new Cemetery on Morn Hill where many of your soldiers, alas, were laid to rest. The Mayors and I had the privilege of welcoming to Winchester, on the same day, a party of Gold Star Mothers, they lunched with us at our official residence, the Abbey House, and accompanied them afterwards on their sad pilgrimage to the Cemetery. About a million American soldiers passed through England on their way to France, and a very large proportion of that million came to Winchester, where they won the highest esteem, and made many friends among us. We can never forget the words spoken by General Pershing to Marshal Foch, at the time of great national crisis when American forces were in the line. All that we have we place at your disposal, and you may use it as you please—generous words, reflecting the generous heart of the American people.

This fine assembly of American manhood, reminds me of the fact that the blood ties which bind our two great Nations, as a direct sequence of the departure of the Pilgrim Fathers from these shores to America are very close. The men who went on that voyage were to their backbones Englishmen, in every sense of the word, and all Americans who are of their stock cannot escape the ancestors who created them, and in the anxieties that confront us today, as to the very existence and maintenance of civilization, I do feel that nothing but sympathy between the American and British peoples, and their close association, can enable us to confront and conquer the many problems with which we are faced. Certainly we have come through our terrible experience together, and the part that America took in the war contributed very largely to the ultimate peace of the world, and we do feel an immense gratitude to you for all that you did for us.

Before I conclude, I must tell you that I paid a special visit to the American Cemetery at Brookwood a fortnight ago, and was very much struck by the splendid Memorial erected by your Government there, and the excellent way in which the graves are tended—I am sure you will be glad to know that your graves for our country are so well cared for, and you may rest assured there is no finer or better kept cemetery in England, than Brookwood, sacred to the memory of your countrymen.

May I again assure you of the great pleasure it gives me to be amongst you here this evening, and I would take this opportunity of conveying to you the cordial greetings and warmest regards of the British Legion—you fought together side by side, and you are now making it your business to care for those who were maimed in the struggle, and to provide as far as possible a universal peace amongst all Nations, which I think America and England, by their close affinity, have greater possibilities of achieving than any country in the world.

At the conclusion of the Mayor's remarks, he was presented by retiring Commander Parkhurst with a handsome silk American flag and standard, the gifts of Winchester Post.

Past Commander W. Allan Wilde.

as District Commander for Middlesex County, officiated at the installation of the post officers who are as follows: Commander, Wade L. Grindle; Vice-Commander, P. T. Foley; Adjutant, Harry Jordan; Treasurer, Oscar G. Hille; Editor, George A. Hille; Historian, Arthur S. Harris; Chaplain, Rev. J. W. P. Cline; John Converse, Theodore Galloway, Warren Johnston, Arthur Lewis, Edward Lloyd, Victor Smith, Zedeno.

After the installation, open house was held at the Post headquarters and refreshments were served by a committee under the direction of the Post Officers.

In delivering his final report, retiring Commander Parkhurst spoke as follows:

The annual report of a Commander, if it attempts to cover the activities of the Post during the course of any year, would be of a length unobtainable for brief presentation at the annual meeting. We also are, therefore, your retiring Commander will touch only upon what may be called the highlights of the year, insofar as the Post is directly concerned, and upon a few Legion matters of general interest.

Our Post is now in the twelfth year of its existence. We can rightly feel that we have progressed since that day in 1919 when a small group of our comrades, feeling the principles and the value of the American Legion, founded and named this Post. We owe much to their judgment and initiative. We also owe much to the Town of Winchester, which has consistently stood by us, has helped us to get on our feet, has provided us with a house for our meetings and our enjoyment, has appropriated money for our use and has made us feel at home in its midst. Few towns have done as much for their ex-service men, and I do not want to let this occasion pass without an expression of sincere thanks to the Town and of hope that it will be within our power to return in good measure, as the years go by, the benefits we have received at its hands.

The constant problem of any Post, is to endeavor to make sure that it commends itself through its policies and activities to its own membership and then to the community in which it is located. I believe we are fortunate to be in the position—and that position has not been reached without careful thought and hard work on the part of many of our comrades—where we are enjoying the place of good fellowship and for the formation of lasting friendships. To each new member of the Post, as he has been in this year, a letter has been sent by the Commander and the Adjutant. In this letter a welcome to the Post was extended, the history of the Post was summarized, and the member's visits at the Legion House would be frequent, and that the part which he would take in our activities might be such that his interest would be attracted and the Post and community benefited. Assimilation of new members and old is constantly being done, and the Post is not stagnating; that new ideas and new propositions are constantly being considered and that in the long run from an organization of this kind much is to be expected.

Now it is always more pleasant to list our good points than to be critical of our shortcomings, and in endeavoring to point out some of the things we are doing well, I do not mean for a minute that we are doing all things well. We have room for improvement, and we always will have. For instance, I believe it to be of the first importance that even more comrades interest themselves in the program of the Post as it develops from time to time, to the end that a burden sometimes too heavy be lifted from the officers and committee men who give so generously of their time and effort. Again, as the guardians of the flag as it were, in this community, I sometimes think we take our responsibility in this respect too lightly. There is more to it than asking some forgetful onlooker to remove his hat as the colors pass. There is our own conduct, not only on parade, but from day to day. Remember, comrades, that we are a group set apart; that we have served in war under the flag; that we are serving in peace under the same flag; that we are watched more closely by the children and it seems clear that by the absence of those things of ill-repute in our speech and in our actions, and by the presence of tolerance and helpfulness to old and young and active interest in the welfare of our Town, we can do more to earn respect for our flag and all it should mean than we can do by a hundred parades. Under the flag let us try to set a good example.

At this time your retiring Commander's recommendations for the future are simply these: elect as your Post officers and to your executive committee, who are responsible in the last analysis for the policies of the Post and the execution thereof, the best possible men and then extend to them your unstinted support. Now if you will allow me just a personal word: it has been my privilege to be an officer of the Post for the past four years, three as Vice-Commander and one as Commander. I feel that any success which may have attended my efforts to help the Post is more than offset by what I have received from the Post. In returning to Winchester, after many years' absence in the service and elsewhere, I found myself very much out of touch with the Town and with my friends in it. The associations in the Post have given me the opportunity to renew my friendships, to make new ones, and to become once again in touch with the life of the Town. I feel under a direct obligation to the Post and to my comrades in it, and I want you to know of it with appreciation. I want you to know also that no Commander has ever received more sincere support from his officers and committee members and that the burden of work and responsibility which must be the lot of every Commander has been immeasurably lightened by many comrades who have labored incessantly for the good of the Post.

During the week just passed you of operation whereby less and less money would be called for every year. How we have succeeded in this undertaking is shown by the following figures: In 1927, we asked for and received from the Town $1900; in 1928, $1900; in 1929, $1400; and in 1930, we have now asked for and received from the Town $1200.

The construction of the new Library and its location are such that no one in the Town, least of all members of our Post, desire to see the present Legion House remain where it is. Either we shall have to move it directly across the street or we shall have to leave it altogether and take up quarters elsewhere, perhaps in the City property at the corner of Parkway and Washington street. The membership of the Post is increasing, as are its activities, and the availability of more room, which would be afforded by the Corse property, is quite evident to us. We feel it likely that in order to provide for a proper start under new conditions, we may have to ask the Town, for a year or two at least, for the maximum appropriation by law, that is, $2000 annually.

It has been the policy of the Post this year to try to influence as many members as possible to provide themselves with Legion uniforms. We started out with a slogan "100 uniforms in 1930" and we arranged for the benefit of comrades who wished to systematically save money towards a uniform a so-called "Uniform Club" for which weekly deposits were accepted. There are now in the Post, 107 uniformed men.

We began this Legion year with dues increased from $3.00 to $5. We are happy to say that this increase in dues, which we believe was a very wise provision, has resulted in no falling off in membership, but that we, on the contrary, have an even larger number of members than was the case last year. Our paid-up membership a year ago was 207. It is now 221.

Our finances also are in first-class shape. The reserve fund is intact and amounts to $900. The welfare fund which has been most ably administered amounts to $129.40. In the Post treasury at the beginning of this Legion year there was $145.87. In it there is now $371.65 with all bills paid.

As we look ahead, we see a wonderful opportunity for the Post to be of service to the community and to provide for its membership a meeting place of good fellowship and for the formation of lasting friendships. To each new member of the Post, as he has been in this year, a letter has been sent by the Commander and the Adjutant. In this letter a welcome to the Post was extended, the history of the Post was summarized, and the member's visits at the Legion House would be frequent, and that the part which he would take in our activities might be such that his interest would be attracted and the Post and community benefited. Assimilation of new members and old is constantly being done, and the Post is not stagnating; that new ideas and new propositions are constantly being considered and that in the long run from an organization of this kind much is to be expected.

Now it is always more pleasant to list our good points than to be critical of our shortcomings, and in endeavoring to point out some of the things we are doing well, I do not mean for a minute that we are doing all things well. We have room for improvement, and we always will have. For instance, I believe it to be of the first importance that even more comrades interest themselves in the program of the Post as it develops from time to time, to the end that a burden sometimes too heavy be lifted from the officers and committee men who give so generously of their time and effort. Again, as the guardians of the flag as it were, in this community, I sometimes think we take our responsibility in this respect too lightly. There is more to it than asking some forgetful onlooker to remove his hat as the colors pass. There is our own conduct, not only on parade, but from day to day. Remember, comrades, that we are a group set apart; that we have served in war under the flag; that we are serving in peace under the same flag; that we are watched more closely by the children and it seems clear that by the absence of those things of ill-repute in our speech and in our actions, and by the presence of tolerance and helpfulness to old and young and active interest in the welfare of our Town, we can do more to earn respect for our flag and all it should mean than we can do by a hundred parades. Under the flag let us try to set a good example.

At this time your retiring Commander's recommendations for the future are simply these: elect as your Post officers and to your executive committee, who are responsible in the last analysis for the policies of the Post and the execution thereof, the best possible men and then extend to them your unstinted support. Now if you will allow me just a personal word: it has been my privilege to be an officer of the Post for the past four years, three as Vice-Commander and one as Commander. I feel that any success which may have attended my efforts to help the Post is more than offset by what I have received from the Post. In returning to Winchester, after many years' absence in the service and elsewhere, I found myself very much out of touch with the Town and with my friends in it. The associations in the Post have given me the opportunity to renew my friendships, to make new ones, and to become once again in touch with the life of the Town. I feel under a direct obligation to the Post and to my comrades in it, and I want you to know of it with appreciation. I want you to know also that no Commander has ever received more sincere support from his officers and committee members and that the burden of work and responsibility which must be the lot of every Commander has been immeasurably lightened by many comrades who have labored incessantly for the good of the Post.

During the week just passed you have all seen something of the power and the color of the national organization of the Legion of which we are a component part. In the not distant years, and for many years, the American Legion will be a factor in the life of the nation comparable with any other organization of the Grand Army of the Republic. In more ways than one, the destinies of the nation are involved in the policies to be presented and in the leadership to be extended by the American Legion. Much of benefit to our country has already been brought about by the efforts of our organization, but it is safe to say that all that has been accomplished is nothing to what can and should be accomplished. The abiding greatness of the United States is a matter of ceaseless concern to those men who, in time of war have served her.

It has been said that certain Oriental peoples, with great respect for many of our customs and institutions, are able to recognize in their philosophy and in an expression thereof even such curious Western practices as games of football. In any event, it has remained for a distinguished Chinese to make this comment which may be appropriate to this occasion:

"The facts take their places according to the venerable rules. The facts take their places like the moon. No alliances are made for feelings; but there must be determination and coolness; Without the slightest irritation at failure and at all, it is necessary for football, how much more so for the business of life?"

Respectfully submitted,

Richard Parkhurst,

Commander

HEARING TO BE HELD ON LIMITED TOWN MEETING

A public hearing will be held in the Winchester Town Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 28 at 8 p. m. by the special committee of the Massachusetts Legislature on Investigation of Limited Town Meetings.

All citizens of the town are invited to be present at the hearing. Representative B. Farnham Smith of Concord, vice chairman of the commission, will preside. The hearing in Winchester is one of 17 being held in the towns of Massachusetts which use the limited or representative form of government. The commission is acting under a resolve passed by the Legislature of 1929 providing for an investigation of the operation of the representative town system and the establishment of standard forms.

The commission hopes to learn the best features of each town system and incorporate them into recommendations to be made to the incoming legislature for enactment.

The Board of Selectmen of Winchester is co-operating with the Legislative Commission and will be in attendance at the hearing.

The other members of the Commission are: Senator Seward H. Holmes of Weymouth; Rep. F. E. Kinney, Bridgewater; Rep. Joseph C. White, Boston; Hon. George K. Pond, Greenfield; William Harold Hitchcock, Boston; and Prof. Arthur N. Holcombe, Harvard University.

Outstanding features of the new Chevrolet 6-cylinder truck

To every man who buys trucks, there are certain features in the new 1½-ton Chevrolet that recommend it especially for modern hauling.

The rear axle is larger, heavier and more durable. The rear brakes are larger, and all four brakes are completely enclosed. Chevrolet's 30-horsepower valve-in-head six-cylinder engine combines modern performance with unexcelled economy. Dual wheels, along with six truck-type cord tires, are optional equipment at slight extra cost. In addition, the new heavy-duty truck clutch, the 4-speed transmission and the heavier, stronger frame are factors of outstanding importance to the modern truck user.

Come in today and arrange for a demonstration of the new Chevrolet truck!

FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY SERVICE

First Congregational Church Sunday Morning at 10:30

At the First Congregational Church next Sunday morning, there will be an anniversary service of the completion of the 15th year of the pastorate of Dr. Chidley.

Dr. Chidley began his work with the First Congregational Church Nov. 1, 1915, coming to Winchester from the Trinity Congregational Church in East Orange, N. J.

During Dr. Chidley's pastorate over 700 new members have been added to the church. The church plant has been reconstructed, with a chancel added to the church auditorium, and a new parish house erected. The church now has a membership of nearly 1200 and is among the first 25 churches of the 4000 Congregational Churches throughout the country.

Dr. Chidley will preach a special anniversary sermon Sunday morning at 10:30.

On Wednesday evening, in connection with the bazaar supper, a reception will be given to Dr. and Mrs. Chidley, from 6 to 6:30 o'clock in the church auditorium.

SUPPORT THE RED CROSS

"No one can predict when or where disaster may occur or acute emergency arise," says Andrew W. Molloy, Secretary of the Treasury, recently. "The American Red Cross represents our community insurance against such misfortunes. The organization stands ready at all times to render speedy relief to any stricken area in our own country or to assist in the relief of disaster in foreign countries. The Red Cross is the agency which carries on when emergency has disrupted customary modes and means of life in a community."

"This is a time of service the value of which is as intangible as the value of life itself. Yet with the exception of major disaster when special funds are required, the existence of the organization and the performance of this important service have been covered by the proceeds of the yearly membership Roll Call of the Red Cross. Response to the Red Cross Roll Call represents not only the support of a basic charity, but the covering of a personal and community risk."

The annual Roll Call this year will be held Nov. 11-25. Show your appreciation of this splendid organization by joining the Winchester Chapter during this period.

TO PREACH AT PARISH OF THE EPIPHANY

The Rev. William M. Bradner, Executive Secretary of the Department of Religious Education of the Diocese of Massachusetts, will preach at the Church of the Epiphany Sunday, Nov. 2 at 11 o'clock. Mr. Bradner's address will be "Religious Opportunities in Family Life."

Miss Ruth Ambrose of this town has recently purchased and taken over the office and business of E. S. Smith & Co., law stenographers and shorthand reporters located at 53 State street, Boston.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT AND TEA

A delightful musicale and tea was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Newton E. Morton (Pearl Bates) on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 26 before a large and distinguished audience.

In honor of Mrs. Larz Anderson, who was one of the noted guests, Mrs. Morton sang a group of songs, accompanied by the composer Mrs. M. Gulesian, taken from the operetta "The Little Mermaid" written by Mrs. Anderson, the music by Mrs. Gulesian. This operetta was given at Weld, Mrs. Anderson's estate, in the spring before an audience of over 2000 and was one in which Mrs. Morton was one of the principals.

In addition to this there was a trio composed of Mr. Hippolyte Drogmann, cellist; Mr. Samuel Lebovici, violinist; both members of the Boston Symphony; and Wilfred Churchill, pianist.

Mr. Drogmann, Mr. Lebovici and Mr. Churchill rendered solos after which tea was served. Mrs. Allison Boothby of Newton and Mrs. Frank M. Bates of Winchester, mother of the hostess presided.

HOME FROM REVOLUTIONARY CHINA

A "Welcome Home Service" will be held Sunday evening at 7 p. m. at the First Baptist Church in honor of the return from China of Miss Jennie Crawford. Music will be furnished by 20 Salvation Army lasses and lad, sent to Winchester by the court of Colonel Atkinson.

Miss Crawford is a member of the Winchester church and is claimed as "Winchester's own." For some years she has been serving in foreign countries. The Red Cross is the agency which carries on when emergency has disrupted customary modes and means of life in a community.

"This is a time of service the value of which is as intangible as the value of life itself. Yet with the exception of major disaster when special funds are required, the existence of the organization and the performance of this important service have been covered by the proceeds of the yearly membership Roll Call of the Red Cross. Miss Lucile Skilling of Lloyd street and Miss Kathleen Valley of Elm street are in charge of the bridge which will be given at the bridge on Wednesday evening, Nov. 12 at 8 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall for the benefit of the organization's field hockey team.

The Winchester team is a member of the Boston Field Hockey Association, and as such must contribute $25 to the sum necessary to send the All Boston hockey team to the championship playoffs in Philadelphia.

Here is an opportunity for all bridge enthusiasts to enjoy an evening of play, and at the same time support the W. G. A. A. which is trying to send a team of girls and women beyond the high school age.

Tickets are 50 cents and may be obtained from any of the bridge sponsors, Miss Lucile Skilling and Miss Valley. Don't forget the date, Nov. 12.

CHASE LECTURE WELL ATTENDED

More than 200 attended the lecture on Central Europe given Tuesday evening in the First Congregational parish house by Ernest Dudley Chase. The lecture was illustrated with over 300 feet of motion pictures, taken by Mr. Chase on his trip abroad last year.

There was nothing of the amateurish in the films shown by Mr. Chase. Veteran travelers in the audience were delighted with them, for the photographer had searched for and found the unusual and had so skillfully taken his pictures that the beauty of the scenes depicted were reproduced in much of their original loveliness.

Mr. Chase's pictures of the Dolomites and the Brenner Pass were comparable to those of Branson de Cui and the quaint views of Venetian canals and little frequent back alleys were of great interest.

Several boat pictures and a trip around Hamburg's wonderful harbor opened the eyes of the audience. The audience was taken by motor through Prague, Vienna and Budapest, including walks down many of the old streets and intimate pictures unobtainable except by searching them out. Out into the country from each of these cities were additional shots of castles and rural villages, as well as pictures selected from a day's ride on the Danube.

Innsbruck, one of Austria's most beautiful towns, introduced many scenes and was followed by a thrilling trip up an aerial cable car to a mountain top nearby. By automobile, the route then led through the Brenner Pass of the Austrian Tyrol to Caracra, where the scenery is magnificent. Then came Venice with gondola rides along the canals and snaps in many a back alley, where few ever go.

At Stresa, there were the Isles of the Borromees and the mountain town of Chiasso, situated at the foot of a small lake, then over the mountains to Montreux, from whence the audience steamed to Geneva for more views.

The Bernese Oberland was followed to Interlaken and many feet of film told the story of a journey up the Jungfrau and a visit to Lucerne and the famous Lion.

Freiburg and the Black Forest ended the lecture but additional pictures, taken in and around Paris by Mr. Chase, were shown to the last for home were shown in conclusion.

TOWN TEAM AT CAMBRIDGE SUNDAY

Winchester Town Team will play the strong John's Catholic Club football team this Sunday afternoon on Ridge Field at Cambridge at 2:30 o'clock. This will prove quite a game for the local eleven, but "Arch" Amico, who have been moving down all opposition and expect to give a good account of themselves at Cambridge Sunday. The local eleven will be without the services of "Charlie" Doherty, capable tackle, who was injured in the Bedford game. Doherty may be out for the season and if so, his loss will weaken the local line, which is not so well off for experienced replacement material along the frontier.

LEGION NOTES

Winchester Post, 97, American Legion will hold its first meeting under its new Commander, Major Wade L. Grindle, on Thursday evening, Nov. 6, in the Post Headquarters.

The meeting is to take the form of a Pre-Army Day banquet, featuring a menu of roast turkey and all the fixings, G. Warren Johnston is in charge of arrangements and is looking for one of the largest crowds ever but promises plenty for every one.

The Post has been most fortunate in securing Col. Harry Chase as its speaker for the evening. Colonel Chase is State Quartermaster and Supply Officer for the Yankee Division and has a long and distinguished military record. He is a Spanish War veteran and saw service on the Mexican Border and overseas. He is a member of the American Legion and is sure to bring a message of much interest to all Legionnaires.

Next Thursday's meeting is important, since it will be the last chance to discuss plans for Armistice Day. Commander Grindle hopes and expects everyone will make a special effort to attend.

ROTARY CLUB

The fifth and last meeting for October was held Thursday, with a goodly attendance both of members and visitors. It has been a busy month for our club, both in the way of work accomplished and in activities projected. We believe that the club, as a whole, senses the fact that when we have "done our bit" it is then time to cast about for some further means of service. Rotarianism is essentially progressive, otherwise it has little reason for existence.

His after-lunch address to the presence of our District Governor, "Bruce" McCullough of Pawtucket, R. I. As a result of this visit we can certify that "Bruce" functions efficiently as a link between the clubs of his district and Rotary International.

As a kindly counselor in the matter of club problems and as an able enthusiast in spreading abroad the message of Rotary, we believe that our Governor ranks very high among his contemporaries. His after-lunch address to the club, while unassuming, nevertheless possessed that spark of vitality which held the attention of his listeners, and he carried his message in a manner which assured its retention. We are convinced that the 31st District, R. I., is in good hands.

At present was "Jim" McGrath was the "high spot" at a very special meeting immediately following the club assembly. "Jim" functions efficiently as a link between the clubs of his district and Rotary International.

MELROSE HERE SATURDAY

Winchester High School's unbeaten football team will meet its most severe test of the season Saturday afternoon when it will play the strong Melrose High eleven on Melrose Field. The game is a Mystic Valley League engagement and is one that both schools want to win.

Last season Melrose, led by the great "Rock" Kidd, one of the best backs in greater Boston, ran rough shod over Winchester during the first half of the game at Melrose, but as the game wore along and the local lads' stage fright fled the Red and Gray were given as stiff a fight as it cared to handle. Winchester was out-playing Melrose at the end of the game, and might have made a close fight of it had his boys played half all afternoon.

This year's Melrose team is admitted by its Coach Harold Pale to be the best he has coached at that school. It has amassed an impressive record which includes a win over Malden High. It is a heavy favorite to topple Winchester, and rightly so.

Winchester, however, is by no means in awe of the visitors and expects to give Melrose a real battle. Coach Mansfield has developed a strong line this fall and has in "Dan" Smith and "Brutus" Colpas a couple of big rugged tackles that the Melrose linemen are going to have plenty of fun pushing out of the way for the off-tackle thrusts of Kidd. If the locals can bottle up Kidd, Melrose isn't the mul in a tight race, and somehow the Winchester youngsters have confidence in their ability to bother the Melrose thunderbolt. Time will tell.

Winchester may be without the services of long "Eddie" Hitchborn, who wrenched a knee rather badly in the last Melrose game. Coach Mansfield is giving "Robbie" Robinson plenty of grooming in end play this week to have him ready to help out "Stu" Dineen if "Eddie" can't get in there, and with this exception the team is ready. Oscar Lundblad is in the best of shape, but will be ready for action, and the team will probably take the field with DiAppola and DiMino, ends; Colpas and D. Smith, tackles; Flaherty and Procopio, guards; Capt. Emery, center; Tofari or Hickey, quarterback; Lundblad or Knowlton and W. Smith, halfbacks; and Lee, fullback.

THE PASSION PLAY AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

The Passion Play of Oberammergau will be reproduced in a dramatic picture lecture by Dr. Harvey Hadlock of California in the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church next Wednesday evening, Nov. 7, 7:15.

Dr. Hadlock is an author, lecturer and world traveler and while serving with the American Army during the World War is the man who found Anton Lang, famous Christus of the Passion Play, alive when he had been reported dead.

Dr. Hadlock has recently returned from Europe where he witnessed the famous religious drama as it has been conducted three different parties into Switzerland. He brings back a number of colored pictures of the actors in the play as they are shown there. These will be reproduced with the stereopticon. The public is invited.

MISS AMY JANE WILSON ENGAGED TO ROBERT HEARD HALE

Mr. and Mrs. Earle M. Wilson of Scarsdale, N. Y. have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Amy Jane Wilson, to Robert Heard Hale of New York City. Miss Wilson was recently graduated from the Mary Baldwin School in Stanton, Va. Mr. Hale, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hale of Winchester, is a Harvard man and was a naval officer with the Expeditionary forces during the World War. He was attached to the American Peace Commission in Paris and is at present associated in business with W. A. Harriman & Co. in New York. The engagement was announced on Wednesday at a tea given by Mrs. Wilson in their Scarsdale home. No date has been set for the wedding.

HEARING ON LIMITED TOWN MEETING HELD TUESDAY EVENING

Tuesday evening there was a hearing in the Town Hall, given by the Special Commission appointed under a recent resolve of the Legislature to investigate the operation of the limited town meeting system and to establish standard forms of statute providing for the setting up of representative town meeting machinery. Mr. Stevens, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, introduced Mr. B. Farnham Smith, a representative to the General Court from the Town of Lexington and Vice-Chairman of the Commission, who presided at the hearing. There were about 40 citizens present.

The Chairman explained at the opening of the meeting that the Commission desired to obtain through the medium of the hearings that are being held in all the towns where the limited town meeting is in operation, suggestions that might be helpful in the preparation of a uniform standard Act for future use in the case of towns heretofore making application for the representative town meeting.

The speakers included Mr. Tuck, Mr. Vinson, Town Counsel Pike, Mrs. McDonald, Mr. Rowe, Mr. Gallagher, Mr. Woodside, Mr. Carr, Chairman of the Finance Committee; Mrs. Conlon, Mr. Worthen, Mr. Parsons and Mr. Lewis.

There was some opposition voiced to the representative town meeting, but for the most part the speakers expressed satisfaction with the operation of the limited town meeting. A few suggestions were offered by way of proposed changes in the machinery of the Winchester Act, including the shortening of the length of notice given the Town Meeting. Members of town meetings, and provision for fewer election officers. It was also suggested that changes might be made in the referendum.

The Special Commission will report to the next General Court the results of its investigation and its recommendations.

THE WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Winchester College Club, at its first meeting of the season on Friday evening, Oct. 24, in the Unitarian Church parish house, had the honor and pleasure of hearing Dr. William Allen Neilson, President of Smith College, on "The Effects of a College Education at the Present Time." In spite of the most discouraging downpour, a large number of the members of the club and many guests were present. Mrs. Fred Abbott, the president, made a delightful explanation of the origin and growth of the idea of an all-ecolee-club, spoke of the pleasure found in a group study of progressive education last year, and called upon Mrs. J. L. Cross to explain the various topics which may be taken up for study this year. Mrs. Cross then introduced the speaker.

Dr. Nielsen has found that parents, as a whole, though desiring the benefits of a liberal education for their daughters, desire them returned at the end of their college course in precisely the same attitude of mind toward the principals of politics, economics, sociology, and religion as previously. This, if the college does its part, stated Dr. Nielsen, is manifestly absurd. The clear duty of any parent's college is to present to its students the most advanced facts on all sides of the question at hand and then to stimulate and train the student to decide for herself on the evidence available just what her position shall be. Obviously it will not always follow that of her parents. There remains, then, the necessity for parents offering to their children a liberal education first to keep up themselves, with the advance of knowledge in the various fields, and second, to allow the student's mind complete independence of thought as long as there is clear and logical basis for this thought.

The delightful clarity and humor of Dr. Nielsen made him a strikingly charming speaker. At the close of the address, the audience was invited to meet the guest of honor and to remain during the serving of coffee and ices for a delightfully informal hour of discussion.

Mrs. Ben Schneider had charge of the social hour, assisted by Miss Helen Hall, Mrs. James S. Allen, Mrs. Lorraine Slocum, Mrs. Frederick Craven and Miss Alice Mann, who represented the various colleges. Mrs. Robert Metcalf and Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter poured, while the recent graduates acted as ushers; Elizabeth Jacobs, Caroline Drisko, Constance Williams, Virginia Farnum, Georgia Locke, Elizabeth Friend and Hester Harrington.

Patrolman Edward O'Connell was sent, upon complaint received from fire headquarters, to stop a resident of Herrick street, who was burning leaves in the road.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Republican Club was held at Association Hall, Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 2:30 p. m. Minutes of the preceding meeting were read after which our membership chairman, Mrs. Seales reported 21 new members. It was voted by the club to support the Republican State Committee by appropriating a sum of money to their fund. Mrs. John Dabney, our education chairman next introduced Mrs. Nelson W. Howard, who explained the Republican platform and the referendums on the ballot. She said that the Republican party is very anxious to get an expression of the people as to their preferences and urged everyone to vote. She stated that there will be more perfect representation, by changing the districts, and that we should co-operate with the Federal government on enforcement of laws. Our president, Mrs. Louis Snyder, then introduced Mrs. George J. Putnam, the speaker of the afternoon. Her subject was, "Historical Outline of Massachusetts to the End of the Revolution," with pictures. Mrs. Putnam prepared this lecture for the Colonial Dames of America as her contribution to the Tercentenary anniversary. Mrs. Putnam told of the gradual development of Massachusetts, starting with the founding of the Colonies, of the first industries, schools and colleges. The pictures of historic houses, people and events that have happened were most interesting. She told of the troubles with the Indians, the founding of the charters, and showed old pictures of Boston as it used to be. All this proved not only very interesting but instructive and was greatly enjoyed by everyone present.

Mrs. Snyder urged all Republican women to be sure to vote on Tuesday, to vote early, and if any wish a car to notify Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke.

The manager of the Buick repair shop on upper Main street notified the police on Tuesday that several panes of glass had been broken by stones the night before. The manager stated that additional glass has been broken during the two weeks previous, apparently after the shop closes at 7:30 p. m. The police are investigating.

"HOOD'S

are too fussy...

that's why I don't sell them my milk"

THIS statement made by a milk producer was intended as an indictment. We took it as a compliment and so pass it on to you.

We are "fussy" about a lot of things. About cleanliness, about scientific sanitation, about equitable relations with those with whom we deal. We are more than fussy about those things that make for Quality in the milk that comes to you with the Hood seal.

If you could visit one of the Hood country plants where milk is received from the Hood farmers every day, you would understand why we were charged with being fussy. If you could visit the dairies where Hood's Grade A Milk is produced you would see at once just what this being fussy means.

We are fussy, but the producers of Hood's Grade
 A Milk like our fussy ways and give us their whole-hearted co-operation in maintaining the Hood high standards of purity, richness and cleanliness.

Farms regularly inspected by trained experts. Cows examined and tested by veterinarians. Milk tested at the country stations and again at the Hood laboratories.
 Quality, Quality, Quality. Safety, Safety, Safety. Yes, we're fussy.

RICH MILK—Better than legal requirements for Grade A Milk. Rich all through.

CLEAN MILK—From clean cows, produced under rigid supervision. Hood's standards three times as strict as State laws.

TESTED COWS—From cows tuberculin tested under State and Federal supervision, and then especially selected by our own inspectors.

CLEAN BOTTLES—Bottles are scientifically cleansed and sterilized by the most modern equipment in New England.

SEALED BOTTLES—Double sealed to prevent tampering or contamination.

PASTEURIZED—With the most modern and scientifically correct methods and equipment.

A SANE VIEW OF THE SITUATION

Oct. 28, 1930
 To the Editor of the Star:
 May I through the courtesy of your columns bespeak a word or two on behalf of the Republican candidates?

While conditions in general are far from satisfactory, nevertheless they are the result of one party, but rather the inevitable consequences of legislation based on prejudice or intolerant views predominating in both parties. Unhappily for the State and Nation, both parties have contributed to the result. The thing for the average citizen to do is to fight within his own party for a broader, more humane objective and tolerant point of view.

In the meanwhile, in the coming elections we are confronted in the main on the one hand with Republican candidates experienced in administrative affairs, alive to the unsatisfactory situation and earnestly seeking for a solution, and on the other hand with inexperienced candidates for the most part without a single constructive idea to better conditions. If the candidates of the Democratic party had suggested remedies of a constructive nature which would help to solve our present depression and bring about better conditions they might be deserving of the ear of the electorate. As it is we are left with no recourse except to sustain and support the candidates of the Republican party.

I believe that our confidence and support will be better placed in men such as Frank G. Allen, William M.
 Butler and William S. Youngman than in those of the opposing party. And I want to say also a word for Frederick W. Cook, the Republican candidate for Secretary of State. He is a most humane gentleman, tolerant, efficient, able and experienced in every way, deserving of the unanimous support of the entire people of the Commonwealth.

Michael A. Fredo,
 Former Republican Candidate for Congress in the Eighth District

It's a long day at police headquarters when some unusual complaint is not received, and last Sunday evenings was to the effect that boys were throwing lighted matches at motorists passing along Washington street near Westley street.

WHY HE QUIT TRAPPING

In a letter to "The Red Ranger" E.
 H. Stout of Missouri explains how he was cured of trapping, as follows:
 I have been a trapper. Why? Because my older relatives before me were, and they made some money at it and I did likewise. I have also run coon dogs, and that's where I got my lesson. I had heard hound followers opposing traps for some time, but I paid little or no attention until my own poor dog came struggling piti-ously home with the absence of a hind foot. That was enough. I concluded at once that traps and dogs cannot mix.

WADLEIGH PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION TO HOLD TEA

 sociation will hold a tea on Friday, be present.

 Mary's 93 Wildwood street. Lunch,

ALLEGED HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER ARRESTED

Monday evening shortly before 7 o'clock Police Headquarters was notified that an automobile had struck a boy on Swanton street at the railroad bridge and had failed to stop after the accident.

The police investigation disclosed the fact that the boy in question,
 Frank Dominico of 38 Florence street, had been knocked from the bicycle he was riding, following a collision with a Pontiac coach, the operator of which had not stopped to learn what damage or harm his machine had done.

The number of the machine had been secured and was immediately broadcast to all local police officers and to departments in surrounding cities and towns. Later in the evening Patrolman John Boyle of the Winchester Police came upon the car in question, and brought the young man in whose charge it was to the Station House.

The young man was charged with drunkenness, with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and with leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known. He was admitted to bail, and appeared in the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning. His case was continued until Nov. 6.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The life and poems of Emily Dickinson form the subject of study and discussion for the meeting on Monday, Nov. 3, at 2:30 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall. This is the first of six after-noon programs sponsored by the Literature Committee to which all members of the club are most cordially invited. It is most interesting, in this era of various centenary celebrations, to note that it is just 100 years since the birth of Emily Dickinson and that it has taken a great deal of this time to attain a widespread conviction of her greatness. The majority of her poems were not published until after her death and these, with the small volume of Macgregor Jencks, "Neighbor and Friend," have brought strongly before the public a very interesting and vital personality. The presentation of the subject matter for the afternoon is in the very capable hands of Mrs. Florence Cross, ably seconded by Mrs. Beatrice Hatch and Mrs. Winifred Nicholas.

The Art Committee announces the first of its six "Art Afternoons" on Tuesday, Nov. 4. The feature of this day is a trip to the various museums of Harvard College. All those members of the club interested in this excursion are urged to get in touch with Mrs. Edith Riddle, Win. 1003, for arranging transportation.

Mrs. Christine E. Hayden, president, was in the chair for the first meeting of the club for the year 1930-1931, which was opened with the singing of "America the Beautiful" and the Pledge to the Flag. During the early part of the business meeting several interesting announcements were made. Mrs. Gladys Wilson, Federation Secretary, announced the fall meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation at Worcester on Tuesday, Oct. 28. The delegates from the Fortnightly to this meeting are: reporting delegates, Mrs. Gladys Wilson and Mrs. Lillian Howe; delegates, Mrs. Mary Ghirardini and Mrs. Estelle Little, alternates, Mrs. Mary Cross, Mrs. Ann Hayward, Mrs. Anita McGaragle, Miss Jean MacLellan, Mrs. Amy Grant and Mrs. Esther Stidstone. Mrs. Wilson also reminded all club members of the interest and information to be found in Federation Topics, for which she stands ready to take subscriptions for the current year. Mrs. Anita McGaragle begs all club members to inform members of the Art Committee if they are interested in forming any classes in rug making, needle work, lamp shade painting, sketching and dress modeling. It is necessary to get definite information as to the numbers interested before teachers can be secured and dates arranged. Mrs. A. Beatrice Thompson of the Legislative Committee explained the three sections of the referendum to be voted on Tuesday, Nov. 4. If any club member would like this information, Mrs. Thompson would be glad to supply it.

Miss Mary L. Hodge gave her report of the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs in May, 1930. She brought out vividly the breadth of interest now occupying the attention of modern American women—starting with every phase of interest in the home, through national interests, to international relations and peace. She spoke of the foundation fund and said that "it has brought home to each club woman her responsibility in the federation. It should also awaken her to her privileges, the opportunity to get in touch with the women of vision and proved ability, who are leaders in the federation, and to see with them that The Fortnightly, in carrying out well its particular work, is allying itself with the great body of women who are striving together toward the highest ideals of finer living for the individual and the community."

Mrs. Anna C. Grosvenor reported the high lights of the convention from Thursday noon on. The vivid and delightful surprise of the appearance of the Mayor and Mayoress of Malden, England, was mentioned. Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer pointed out that her 13 years of public work had denuded her background on the federated women's clubs. The various State departments of public welfare reported their extensive good work. Mrs. Sippel, in her story of nearly 84,000 miles traveled, made vivid to the audience the widespread territory of American club women, and begged the support of every thinking individual for a program of religion and interracial unity. Former Governor Milliken of Maine reiterated the enormous influence of moving pictures and begged for the support for all club women in controlling them.

Mrs. Christine E. Hayden, our president and delegate to the 29th Biennial Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Denver, Colo., last June, picked the most important facts from the huge store of information she gleaned there. The courtesy and extraordinary efficiency of organization were apparent immediately. The work being most actively engaged in by the greater number of clubs is that of some form of community service, be the community local or state. The two national issues which proved most vitally interesting to the convention were those of prohibition and world peace. This latter statement alone shows that the women of America are bound in the immediate future to have a place in the front line of national influence.

At the close of these three stimulating reports, a very delightful surprise was given us in the form of a Jenny Lind program of three songs, presented by Margaret LaLiberte, a coloratura soprano of New England fame. Miss LaLiberte has been soloist many times for the Boston Civic Symphony, and has sung with Mme. Ethel Leginska's Opera Company. She is also well known among radio audiences. Miss Margaret Gorham Glaser was her accompanist and showed a less artistic ability in her sphere. The three selections were "Carnival of Venice" by Benedetti, a Swedish folk song, and the Norwegian echo song, which proved to be a splendid climax. Miss LaLiberte sang as encore the "Pale Moon" by Logan. This excellent statement alone shows that the women of America are bound in the immediate future to have a place in the front line of national influence.

ENTERTAINED WITH HALLOWEEN PARTY

Miss Catherine Queenin entertained a group of her friends at a Halloween masquerade party in her home on Myrtle street last Monday evening. The decorations were suggestive of the Halloween season and were carried out in a color scheme of orange and black, making an attractive background for the gaily colored costumes of the guests.

Games and dancing were enjoyed, interspersed with the serving of a dainty buffet luncheon. Miss Gladys Mouradian was awarded the first prize for pinning the tail upon the donkey, amidst much merriment, second prize going to Miss Elizabeth McKeown of Medford. Among those present were the Misses Agnes Fallon, Margaret and Elizabeth McKeown of Medford, Katherine Henry, Gladys Mouradian, Mary Fahy of Arlington, Dorothy Nowell, Rita Hannon and Betty Balwell.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY TONIGHT

The Democrats will hold their pre-election rally in the Town Hall tonight. This is being held by the women workers of the party.

The speakers are: Senator Walsh, Hon. Joseph B. Ely, Hon. Marcus A. Coolidge, Hon. John P. Brennan, Charles L. Daly and Edward F. Maguire.

The public is cordially invited. The police were notified that two men had been seen hunting in the vicinity of Seneca road on Tuesday, and Officer Edward O'Connell was sent to investigate. He found two men with guns and hunting dogs walking through the woods, and warned them against the discharge of fire-arms in town.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Last evening the Court held its annual Halloween party in Lyceum Hall, which was filled to capacity. Credit for the success of the party must go to Grand Recent Frances T. Conlon, and Sisters Katharine Rowen and Anna Sawyer.

Next Thursday evening D. D. Frances Ahearn of Arlington will install the officers for the coming year.

LIKES STONEHAM THEATRE

To the Editor of the Star:

May I request space in your columns to publish the following letter which shows clearly the opinion many Winchester patrons have of our new Stoneham Theatre.

William H. McLaughlin,
Mgt. Stoneham Theatre

My dear Mr. McLaughlin:

As a resident of Winchester and a frequent patron of your theatre, I wish to express my appreciation and congratulate you on the successful renovation of the Stoneham Theatre. It is now a delightful "home" little theatre (and not so very little either, as I understand that it seats 800 or more) very beautiful, with comfortable, roomy, restful seats, with an unusual amount of leg-room, which, together with the R. K. O. installation and harmonious decorations make it, indeed, a community theatre comparable to the best of suburban picture houses. The pictures are clear cut on the new screen with no distortion at any time or in any part, and the tone or sound qualities are of the best, the dialogue being perfectly clear and legible in any seat in the house.

With your usual high class pictures you should have, and we heartily wish you what you deserve, a very great success, for you now have everything which makes for a high type of family picture house.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY RAT CAMPAIGN ON HALLOWEEN NIGHT, OCT. 31

No one can complain of hard times so long as they are willing to give free board to rats. If by spending a few cents you can rid your house of rats from your house cellar, dairy barn, poultry house, apple storage or even your pantry shelves this counter-measure, it should be better times.

Red Spill, mixed with hamburger steak, fish and cereals is the bait used. This poison bait will not harm other forms of livestock and is recommended by the United States Biological Survey as the safest and surest form of poison use.

Unless otherwise stated, your Town Hall is the place for distribution, Friday, Oct. 31, between the hours of 1 and 3 p. m. Bait of Health Office, Arlington, Belmont, Woburn and Winchester; Bell Hardware Company, Stoneham.

Everybody should put out the baits on the same evening. Rats have been known to travel four miles in a single night. When frightened at one place, they may move to another neighboring place. Therefore, interest your neighbors so that bait will be ready no matter where the rats show up.

Talk rats to everybody from now until Oct. 31. You can forget them after that. The witches may come but the rats must go on Halloween night.

To make sure you get your bait write A. F. MacDougall, County Agricultural Agent, Concord.

THE STEEL TRAP LAW

To the Editor of the Star:

Through the columns of your paper, may I call attention of Winchester voters to Question No. 3, which will appear on the ballot Tuesday? It is a proposed law for the abolition of the steel trap in this State except where it is used for the extermination of vermin in house and outland. That exempts the housewife from trapping mice and rats and the farmer trying to protect his grain from chickens from animal traps. The objects of the proposed law are first to make legalized trapping more humane and secondly to protect domestic animals from traps carelessly set and there by almost 6000 amateur trappers, mostly boys.

Last year close to 50,000 fur-bearing animals were trapped in Massachusetts. They included muskrat, skunk, fox, mink, weasel, racoon and otter. Everyone knows that in the trapping business there is entitled much needless suffering and cruelty. An animal may be caught soon after the trapper leaves his trap, which because of some accident or hindrance is not visited again for many long hours. For instance, one hound was known to have staid in a trap for 16 days. The number caught in one long period must be great. Meanwhile occurs the tugging and twining; the intense thirst caused by fever; the terror and sometimes the gnawing of that part which is caught and held.

There are now on the market humane traps for this business so that no longer is there being the cruel steel trap. The February 1930 issue of the American Trapper Association's official organ, extols such a trap, saying it is the greatest advance of the trap manufacturers in a century and is declared to have practically superseded the steel trap in some sections of the country.

A. Barton Hepburn, head of one of the largest New York Banks, says:

"When a man comes to us to borrow money, we want to know how much Life Insurance he carries,—not so much because of its bearing on his financial power, but what is vastly more important, as showing his trend of mind, for the quality of mind which induces one to take out Life Insurance is the quality of mind that best-insures success in business life."

Simply anyone who appreciates animal life, wild or tame, or who wishes to see kindness substituted wherever possible for cruel practices toward animals (and it can be in this case) will vote "Yes" on Question No. 3, next Tuesday.

Paper novelties, napkins and tablecloths for Halloween at the Star Office.

While patrolling his beat on Washington street Wednesday evening at 6:25, Officer James E. Farrell of the Police Department discovered a curtain, drawing and part of the veranda drape at the residence of Mr. Nathan Chitell, 235 Washington street. As he was about to ring in an alarm he saw David H. DeConroy of the Fire Department on his way home to supper. Chief DeConroy responded to a hail from Officer Farrell and between them the fire was quickly put out. The blaze was caused by a Halloween jack-o'-lantern placed too near the window curtain.

THE GEOGRAPHY OF FREAKISH WEATHER

What are the outstanding effects of unusual weather?

Ask 10 persons that question and most of them will be found to emphasize personal discomfort and health effects, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. But behind the fact that a hot spell may cause millions to sweeter, or that a local flood may force hundreds of motorists to make an annoying detour, there are many fundamental economic and social effects that flow from unusual weather, the bulletin points out.

Winds Blow Cotton Prices Upward Droughts are probably the most obvious of the weather forces that affect economic conditions, continues the bulletin. A sufficiently prolonged dry spell in the United States, in Argentina, or in Canada or Australia during the crucial season, can not only start the price of grain soaring locally, but it can send world prices up.

Similarly, generous showers that provide maximum growing conditions for the cotton fields of Texas, or dry, hot winds that sear and stunt billions of plants in a few days, depress or raise the cotton quotation in Liverpool as quickly as the weather news can be flashed there. Extreme droughts, too, can cause millions of dollars' loss in destroyed crops and starved live stock.

An unexpected freeze-up of time may cause hundreds of thousands of dollars' loss in trapped boats and unmoved cargoes. A single extraordinary blizzard in a great city can throw a painful strain on the municipal treasury and can reduce unemployment over night.

City Budgets Affected by Weather City budgets are continually feeling the heavy hand of weather vagaries. Wind storms which blow down shade trees may cost a municipality thousands of dollars for debris removal. Rain storms and floods wash up paving and clog sewer mains. Summer droughts and hot periods increase tremendously the need for water-restricting extra pumping. Water shortages develop in many cities so that rationing becomes necessary, and the police are obliged to enforce the restrictions. Some American cities are fortunate enough to have unlimited supplies of water close at hand, and are wholly independent of weather changes. Even the worst of known droughts could not reduce the supplies of St. Louis and New Orleans, taken from the Mississippi River; or those of Milwaukee, Cleveland, Buffalo and Chicago, taken from the Great Lakes. The question of limited water taken by Chicago hinges not on the city water supply, but on waters taken from the lake by the Chicago Drainage Canal.

Cities which do not have a large supply of water close at hand, but which have made themselves independent of weather by artificially taking water from distant sources, are not immune from drought. The Catskills, with its conduits with its supply from the mountains above Yosemite Valley; and Los Angeles, which has reached out 200 miles to the Colorado River, are not immune from the high Sierra.

Storms Affect Corporation Dividends Corporations feel the economic effects of abnormal weather. Railways in certain regions must operate expensive snow plows in winter and must bear the expense of replacing bridges and tracks washed out by spring floods. Telegraph and telephone companies may lose hundreds of miles of wire and thousands of dollars by a single ice storm. Droughts steal away the potential power of hydro-electric plants and entail switching to expensive coal-burning generating stations. In the Western and Southern oil fields abnormally dry weather may cause stoppage of drilling in scores of wells or may greatly increase the expense of continuing operations. Timber corporations lose heavily by the forest fires that sweep huge areas during dry spells. Unusual weather conditions temporarily change the habits of millions of people. Extremely hot days and nights reduce the patronage of ordinary indoor amusement places and crowd those artificially cooled. Hundreds of thousands of people turn to outdoor pastimes that involve little activity, such as miniature golf courses and night baseball. Other hundreds of thousands within reach of beaches and swimming pools crowd to them, diverting large expenditures from city theaters, restaurants, grocery and delicatessen stores, to the lunch counters, amusement booths, and novelty stores of the resorts.

Immensity Chief Cause for Dutch Book's Fame

Irish Valpoole's novel of 735 pages is quite brief in comparison with huge folio written by Jacob Cats, Dutch ambassador at the court of Charles I, which was sufficiently popular to be called the "Household Bible." It was something like all 13 "Wells" works rolled into one. "It bulk appeals us," says Austin Holson. "It is a book to be approached only from the side of dimension. Like Shakespeare's fat knight, it measures so much about."

This mighty work, printed in three columns, contains Dutch proverbs and emblems in all languages, a long didactic poem on "Marriage," pastoral romances, and a series of poems originally entitled "Gottins for the Living." It is a composter's nightmare—numerous pieces on almost every conceivable subject are accompanied by prefaces and subprefaces, commentaries, headnotes, shoulder notes, footnotes, and addresses to the reader holding them in on all sides. The popularity of the work was due to its fine copper plates depicting Dutch domestic scenes—Manchester (England) Guardian.

Monk's Self-Sacrifice

Ended Bloody Contests Battles in the arena between gladiators were stopped for all time in 44 A. D. by the impulsive action of Telemachus, a Christian monk.

It is said that the first set combats between gladiators in Rome were in the year 263 B. C., and that they were given by Lucius and Marcus Brutus at the funeral of their father. Later the idea spread, and the contests became a favorite means of amusing the population. It grew to such enormous proportions that Trajan gave an exhibition at the Coliseum lasting 23 days, in which 2000 gladiators were slain.

In 325 A. D. Constantine abolished these contests. But a century later, up on the retreat of Ahrue with his Gothic from Rome, the Emperor Honorius celebrated the event by a revival of the combats. It was then that Telemachus leaped into the arena, holding high a cross and calling upon the people to prevent further bloodshed.

The reply of the populace was to stone him to death. Afterward, in popular sorrow, they repented the act, and Honorius prohibited the combats forever at an end.—Popular Geography.

Changes Have Made Men

Subservient to Women All fights for freedom, that succeed, go too far, and become in turn the infliction of a tyranny. Like Napoleon or a Soviet, and like the freedom of women.

Perhaps the greatest revolution of modern times is the emancipation of women, and perhaps the deepest fight for 2000 years and more has been the fight for women's independence, or freedom, call it what you will. The fight was deeply bitter; and it seems to me, it is won, B. H. Lawrence writes, in Scribner's Magazine.

It is even going beyond, and becoming a tyranny of woman, of individual woman in the house, of the feminine ideal and ideals in the world. Say what we will, the world is swayed by feminine emotion today, and the triumph of the productive and domestic activities of man over all his previous military or adventurous or dominating activities is a triumph of the woman in the home.

The male is subservient to the female need, and outwardly, man is subservient to the demands of woman.

Flagrant Instances of Plants Without Morals

Some years ago an Indian scientist showed that many, if not all, plants have feelings like our own. No one has yet discovered the brain of the plant, but it is unquestionable that while some are normally clean-living things, others display craft, cunning, and the worst criminal in the order to obtain a livelihood.

One which is both criminal and cunning is the plantain, which infests lawns. It is clever enough to adapt itself to circumstances by spreading out its leaves so flatly that they escape the attentions of the lawnmower. And it goes farther than this. It wants to obtain sunlight, and it can do so only if the grass does not put it in the shade. Being a thorough criminal, it juts out its flat leaves in such a way as to kill by suffocation the grass growing near its roots.

Ivy strangles growing trees, and the small convolvulus plays a similar evil part to grasses and plants. But perhaps the most criminal in the world of plants is the dodder. It attacks clover fields and is capable of feigning death for weeks until an unwary plant appears near it. Then it strikes its suckers into the flesh of the victim and commits murder.—London Times.

No. 3 of Facts and Figures ABOUT Co-Operative Banks

The Co-operative Banks of Massachusetts are lending $702,637.21 (Oct. 31, 1929 figures) to the people of this state to aid in home ownership. This money is lent principally to people who buy or build homes or to those who find it desirable to add improvements to homes already built.

During the single year, 1929, our mortgage loans amounted to $121,590,608.00, which means that approximately thirty-five thousand families started on the road to home ownership during this year.

Good Breeding Needed

Good qualities are the substantial riches of the mind, but it is good breeding that sets them off to advantage.—Locke.

Not Eligible

Little Jane was the youngest of a family of several girls and she'd been brought up on feminine chatter of "he said," "he did," and she had been flower girl at a wedding of two of her sisters. She started to school and the whole family was interested in questioning her about various school matters.

"Do you love your teacher, honey?" one of the girls asked her.

"Oh, no, Betty," answered the little girl with an amused smile. "She's not a man."

Greek Mythology

The phrase "Latinus solitudo" is a reference to the story of Eurylochus in Greek mythology. Eurylochus was a young shepherd or hunter on Mount Latmus, in Caria, whom Seleno (the moon goddess) visited while he slept in a cave. According to one version of the story, Zeus or Jupiter offered him anything he might desire and he might remain faithful forever. His perpetual sleep in a cave of Mount Latmus is a little girl who, adoring a cat, is given in detail in Keats' poem, "Eurylochus."

In Person

Observers are surprised to know how quickly children adopt modern words and phrases into childish vocabularies. A worker at a children's museum was startled the other day by a little girl who, adoring a cat, is given in detail in Keats' poem, "Eurylochus."

Rough-and-Ready Washing

The three loved Jack concerning the ravages of the laundry on one's underwear is no joke in India, declares an Englishwoman, resident of India, writing in the London Daily Mail. This week, she says, there are two frocks from stained, three from a new silk slip, the seam of a favorite silk jumper ripped open, a sheet torn almost in two, and a couple of ornate napkins which will now have to serve as kitchen rags.

Another four of his soft collars are in shreds, two dress collars have been returned with the edges serrated like a saw, and a pair of white trousers is now conspicuously decorated with the outline of a large iron.

Testify to Ingenuity of German Clockmakers

The most famous small clock in Germany is that known as the "Schillinghaus" in Jena. Just before the hour strikes, an angel rings a small bell while a saint on the other side of the face reaches an apple on the end of his staff toward the devil. Who heard just shows beneath the foot of the saint and the angel. As the devil opens his mouth, the very saint draws the apple back and the devil must wait another hour before trying again for the tempting morsel.

A skeleton made its head solemnly and turns an hourglass when the hour strikes at Ochsensfont on the Main, while at the same time the figure of a long dead burgomaster with a long white beard opens and closes his mouth several times. Two windows above the burgomaster's head fly open and two city fathers lean out to listen to the words the burgomaster has been pondering for an hour. A third window springs open, revealing a woman who points proudly to the coat of arms of the city. The clock was built in 1565.—New York Times Magazine.

Pharmacy a Profession

Pharmacy is essentially a field of science with the art of compounding and dispensing drugs as its important function. Pharmacy is, however, also a profession, as such it is closely associated with the medical profession in the responsible duties of dispensing the agents used in curing disease. It requires integrity, a special knowledge and skill, and is practiced in accordance with a code of ethics accepted by the organized members of the profession. The practice is regulated by the state; the pharmacist is registered by a state board especially appointed for that purpose. The situation in pharmacy today is similar to that in medicine 15 years ago with too many ill trained and unqualified practitioners and too few who are well trained and highly qualified.

First "Imperial" Beard

Who was first to wear the beard "Imperial?"

Imperials, sartorially as well as politically, are out of style.

True was when men took pride in their facial, hirsute appendage. That time is past, probably forever—well, for a long time, anyway.

There was a period, however, when Imperials were the rage, when everybody who affected to be somebody sported one.

Like other symbols of style, this particular fashion came to us from France, where the Emperor Napoleon III started things by trimming his beard in the manner destined to be known to posterity as the Imperial.

Miss Barbara Fernald returned last Saturday from a visit to Mrs. Philip R. Webber (Grace Herrick) formerly of Winchester, in Ben Avon, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DIED FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

John O'Connell Struck by Automobile on Cross Street

John O'Connell, 65, of 4 Spruce street, died at 1:15 last Sunday afternoon in the Winchester Hospital of injuries sustained shortly before 6 o'clock the previous afternoon when he was struck by an automobile while walking on Cross street, not far from the Second Congregational Church parish house.

The car which struck Mr. O'Connell was a Ford roadster, driven and operated by Donald Higgins, 22, of 17 Kenwin road, who was driving east on Cross street. Mr. Higgins told the police that O'Connell was walking about 10 feet from the sidewalk in the road, and that he did not see him until his machine was too close to avoid striking him.

Mr. O'Connell was picked up and taken to the Winchester Hospital by John P. O'Donnell of 38 Hudson street, Woburn, and Coleman Flaherty of 218 Cross street, in O'Connell's automobile. Dr. Richard W. Sheehy was summoned and found the injured man was suffering from several broken ribs, a broken nose and a punctured lung. His name was placed upon the danger list, although he was able to answer questions asked him by Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy of the Police Department, who conducted the investigation of the accident, his advanced years made his recovery impossible. Police Chief William H. Rogers secured a complaint on Monday charging Higgins with operating a motor vehicle so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. Chief Rogers first asked the court to hold an inquest, but this request was denied.

John O'Connell was a familiar figure in Winchester, having made his home in this town for the past 40 years. He was seen frequently feeding the pigeons on the common, or ten being literally covered with the birds who showed no fear of him. For 30 years he was employed as watchman at the C. O. Whittier Co.

He was the son of Timothy and the late Ellen (Buckley) O'Connell, and was born in 1865 in Ireland. Most of the 40 years of his life in Winchester was spent on Cross street, his wife having died there about 10 years ago. Of late he had made his home at 4 Spruce street with his stepson, David Reardon, who survives him with a stepdaughter, Mrs. Edward Newhall of Spruce street, and two brothers, Timothy of Ayer and Charles O'Connell of Groton.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the undertaking rooms of E. P. Sullivan on Spruce street. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Mary's Church, followed by interment in Calvary Cemetery.

W. C. D. S. NOTES

Thursday afternoon the Winchester Country Day School football team journeyed to Fessenden School for the annual tilt which was rained out last Friday.

Next Monday the W. C. D. S. "midnight" team entertains the Fessenden midlets for a game starting at 3 o'clock on the local school field.

The school honor roll for the first month is as follows: Ned Bernard, Bryant French, "Jack" Cape, Howard Morrison, John Worcester.

EPISCOPALIAN MEN'S CLUB

Opening Dinner Held Wednesday Evening

Members of Epiphany Men's Club opened the first of a series of winter meetings last evening with a dinner in the parish house at 6:30, preceded by a social half hour before the opening of the dinner. Mrs. Ralph Gardner and Mrs. Samuel Best, assisted by a group of ladies from the Church Service League, took charge of the dinner, which was well attended.

After dinner, President Alton B. Jackson introduced Prof. Albert E. Bailey, of the Boston University faculty, now Educational Director for Temple Tours of Boston, who talked on the subject, "Climbing King Tut's Family Tree," illustrated by some finely colored lantern views. The story was told of Queen "Hat," the first militant suffragette; Thutmose III, likened to Alexander the Great; Amen Hotep III, who couldn't spend his income; and Akhnaton "the Wizard," whose devotion to pacifism cost him his empire.

Professor Bailey closed with a character study of King "Tut" the Boy Pharaoh and his extraordinary burial, touching also on hieroglyphics and Egyptian magic. His experiences as conductor of more than 20 Egyptian tours provided an interesting background of information, and he spoke with the ease of an accomplished traveler. After the meeting he talked informally on Mediterranean voyages and plans next year to journey to new points in Japan and the North Atlantic.

Announcement was made that the next meeting of the club will take place early in December and will also include a dinner.

EDMUND CHARLES COTTE

Edmund Charles Cotte, who died Monday after an illness of a day and a half of pneumonia, was the son of the late Fred E. and Emma (Greenleaf) Cotte, former well known residents of Woburn and Winchester. Mr. Cotte made his home for over 20 years in the latter town, moving to Boston six years ago and residing at Amherst since his death in Longwood Towers, Brookline. He was 38 years of age and was born in Woburn.

He had long been identified with the leather trade and was a member of the firm of E. C. Cotte & Co. of East street, Boston, and president of Frost, Inc.

He was a graduate of the Winchester schools and of the Allen School at West Newton, and had long been identified with sport and athletics, being a member of the Boston Athletic Association, the Kittansett Club of Marion and the Boston Yacht Club.

He married Miss Pauline Smith of Boston and Malden, who survives him, together with one brother, Fred Raymond Cotte of Brookline.

The funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Winchester Unitarian Church. Rev. George Hale Reed officiating. The burial was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery, Winchester.

Robert F. "Bob" Guild, old Harvard lineman and for many years coach of the Crimson second team, died at his home in Woburn, between Brown and Holy Cross at Providence.

CALUMET

CALUMET NOTES

The first afternoon of ladies' bowling brought out a good crowd at the club, Mrs. Verne Hall in charge and those present had a very enjoyable party. The prize winners and scores were as follows:

Best single strike—Miss Brown, 130.
Best single with handicap—Mrs. Albert Allen, 53 and 29 making 112.
Best two strike hit—Mrs. Wm. H. Smith, 162.

High two strike with handicap—Miss Bath, 152.

The next ladies' afternoon bowling party will be on the afternoon of Friday, Nov. 7, at 2:30 o'clock. The Mystic Valley League games opened on Monday, Calumet meeting the Central Club of Somerville at the latter's clubhouse. The local club made a good showing, taking 5 out of the 8 bowling points; three out of the four ball and four events and winning the carls 8 to 4.

In bowling the first team won all four points and the second team one.

For Winchester People—Winchester Service

THERE'S a lot more to real telephone service than connecting up an instrument, leaving a directory, and wishing the customer well.

Every telephone call is made to order. Each customer's requirements and difficulties call for individual consideration. The more intimate the contact between the customer and some one person in the telephone organization, the less likelihood of misunderstanding and friction.

Picture a Winchester Telephone Company run by Winchester people for Winchester people. Employees and customers would know each other personally. Local problems would be worked out together. There would be mutual trust, mutual confidence, the finest kind of relationship between such a company and the people it served.

That's exactly the atmosphere in which our Winchester business office

Euclid Avenue

Is one of Winchester's outstanding streets. Laid out with two parallel roadways separated by a grass plot, its total width is 80 feet. The substantial homes which have been built here are set back 10 feet from the street line giving 160 feet of open space between them. Its location, adjoining the beautiful Fells and only three blocks from the new George Washington School, is unsurpassed. Number 11 Euclid Avenue is a new house just finished and offered for sale. We would like to have you see it. It really is a gem. We will gladly show it at your convenience. Call Winchester 1100.
